

A. I. R. Publications — A Tribute from the Law Quarterly Review

"One cannot but marvel at the industry and wide scope of the activities of the authors. Each month, in All India Reporter, they give us an up-to-date selection of the rulings of all the superior Courts in India. They issue monthly and annual digests. From time to time they publish valuable encyclopedic commentaries on the more important statutes. It is unlikely that in any other country in the world is case-law collected and pigeon-holed in a way which makes it more easily available. No doubt the authors have a large number of assistants, but the burden of planning and supervising their work must occupy so much of their time that one suspects that, like Him that keepeth Israel, they neither slumber nor sleep. They are always willing to experiment." — (1958) 74 Law Quarterly Review.—Pages 316-17.

"The organisation required to produce such books exists at present only in India, and there is no prospect that anywhere but in Nagpur, will a small village of devoted workers be dedicated to the production of the reports, manuals and editions of standard works of reference that have given All India Reporter its unique position. Mulla and "A. I. R." are the great names in the Law Books for India; they are as different as chalk from cheese; and recent works appearing in their series confirm the impression that they will go on for ever"—(1964) 80 Law Quarterly Review.—Page 448.

PREFACE

(Reprinted from Vol. 1)

When the A.I.R. entered the field with the first edition of its "Manual" in the year 1947, it at once leapt to the first rank and carved for itself an unrivalled position in the field of such publications, although it was a newcomer in that particular field. This was due to certain settled principles of the A.I.R. to which it has been adhering steadfastly since its foundation more than 50 years ago. These principles may be summed up in three rules, which the A.I.R. has been having as its watchwords since the beginning: (1) thoroughness, (2) exhaustiveness, and (3) meticulous study of all possible ways by which the usefulness of a publication to the legal profession can be enhanced. All these three principles were given full effect to in the A.I.R. Manual.

2. The publication proved to be the most exhaustive and reliable collection of central statute-law together with all the relevant case-law bearing on it, summarised, arranged and presented in a most conscientious manner with a view to affording the maximum facilities to the legal profession, both on the Bench and at the Bar. These qualities meant very hard work both for the editorial staff engaged by the A.I.R. as well as for the management. But they have built up the reputation of the A.I.R. Manual on a most solid and enduring foundation. This reputation brought correspondingly good results as regards the actual sales of the publication and in a little over 20 years after the A.I.R. entered the field, a third edition of the Manual has become necessary to meet the insistent demand of the legal profession.

3. It is needless to dilate, at length, on the special features of the publication. It gives, as in the previous editions, both civil and criminal Acts, and the inconvenient and illogical division into civil and criminal portions has been rejected as in the previous editions. The post-Independence period has been extraordinarily prolific in the matter of legislative output, both at the Centre and in the States. The A.I.R. Manual aims at placing within the reach of the profession, at a reasonable cost, the entire body of central statute-law together with the relevant case-law arranged in a convenient form which has been developed, after patient thought and experimentation, as being the most suitable from the point of view of quick and efficient service to the profession, whenever its members may have to look up a point of law in the statutes of India. Needless to say that our statutes, unlike under the English system, constitute the staple of our law and, therefore, provide the most important and the bulkiest part of our law.

4. In the interval of about 8 years since the completion of the second edition, more than 100 new Acts have been added to the statute book and there have been also a very vast number of amendments and additions to the old Acts. This edition includes all the new Acts and all the up-to-date amendments, besides giving the State amendments also wherever it was possible to trace them.

5. Among the new Acts, special mention may be made of some which are of outstanding importance. Perhaps, the first place in this category will have to be given to the Limitation Act of 1963 which has taken the place of the Act of 1908 and not only overhauled the entire Law of Limitation but has revolutionised and simplified the law in many respects as, for instance, in regard to suits for possession of immovable property and applications for execution, which were two of the toughest and most confusing topics under the previous Limitation Act. The Advocates Act, 1961, has repealed the Bar Councils Act, 1926, and the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879 and has brought into existence a single unified Bar for the whole of India—which is itself a revolutionary change in the constitution of the Indian Bar and has been looked forward to, for a very long period by the whole Bar as an ideal to be realised.

6. The Arms Act, 1959, is another important Act which, by liberalising the provisions of the Arms Act of 1878 in a marked way, has shown itself to be a product of the post-Independence period. The Income-tax Act of 1961 has overhauled the whole structure of the Income-tax Act, 1922, and made a real attempt at simplification of the provisions of the law. Other Acts of the period also reflect the spirit of the times, each in its own way.

7. Above everything, however, this edition of A.I.R. Manual will be of special value to the Bench and the Bar as perhaps the most exhaustive and up-to-date reference book on the Constitution of India. The period, after the last edition, has witnessed an enormous growth and development of the Constitutional Law of India. Not only have there been a very large number of important amendments of the Constitution during this period but a phenomenally voluminous body of case-law which has accumulated on the Constitution.

8. This edition will not only contain the most authoritative version of the Constitution but also the most exhaustive collection of the case-law bearing on it. The subject is so voluminous that no ordinary text-book can be expected to cope with it and do full justice to it. This edition will be found to be practically unequalled as a book of reference on the Constitution of India.

9. All the special features of the previous editions, such as synopsis, "at-paging" of the Reports, etc., are continued in this edition and have also been considerably improved. These special features have been enumerated elsewhere at the beginning of this volume.

10. Before concluding, it is our pleasant duty to place on record our sense of gratitude to all our colleagues without whose unstinted labour and co-operation it would have been impossible to bring out such a vast publication. The editorial work, as can be seen, consists mainly of two branches: (i) that relating to preparing and editing the text of the various Acts, and (ii) the collection and editing of the notes of case-law bearing on the different Acts.

11. The responsibility for preparing and editing the text of the various Acts has been ably shouldered and executed by Sarvashri D. R. Rajandekar, B.A., LL.B., and A. G. Tambe, B.A., LL.B., assisted by Sarvashri P. A. Bakre, B.A., LL.B., H. G. Pathak, B.A., LL.B., and S. G. Kulkarni, B.A., LL.B.

12. The entire credit for organising and managing the editorial work in connection with the case-law must go to Shri V. B. Bakhale, M.A., LL.B., who has been assisted by a band of devoted workers, among whom may be chiefly mentioned

14. Scarcely less important than the work of the editors has been the work of Shri B. R. Abhyankar, who, with his devoted band of workers including Sarvashri M. S. Savarkar, B. R. Katankar, D. P. Alshi, W. J. Joshi, P. N. Deo, G. D. Deshpande, S. M. Lambe, L. S. Wavde and D. T. Joshi and others has manned the responsibility of preparing the manuscript for the press.

16. Last, but by no means least, our thanks are due to Shri W. W. Chitaley, B.A., LL.B., who has been in overall charge of the whole undertaking and whose exceptional talents, in organising and managing the business side of the undertaking are of inestimable value for the success of the gigantic undertaking that this publication obviously is.

(9) The pleasure referred to in Art. 310 cannot afford to be unconstitutional and can only be exercised in strict accord with the express provisions of the Constitution. Article 311, being an express provision, acts as a rider of limitation on the pleasure under Art. 310. AIR 1961 Cal 1 (5, 6) = 65 Cal WN 361 (SB)  AIR 1959 Bom 363 (365) = 1959 Nag LJ 93 (DB).

(10) As provided by Article 310 all Civil servants (including Railway servants) hold office during the pleasure of the President or the Governor as the case may be. This pleasure is subject only to the restrictions imposed by Art. 311 (2).

Subject only to the protection afforded by Art. 311 (2), a Civil servant who has been removed from service can have no justifiable cause in a Court of law. Once the procedure under Art. 311 (2) has been complied with the Courts are not entitled to determine whether the ground or charge upon which the authorities have proceeded against a civil servant is factually correct or sufficient to warrant the action taken against him. (11) Article 311 does not affect the principle that a Government servant holds office during the pleasure of the head of the State. It only imposes certain constitutional obligations before he can be dismissed, removed or reduced in rank. AIR 1955 Hyd 54 (55) = ILR (1954) Hyd 728 (DB)  AIR 1954 Madh B 54 (55) = ILR (1954) Madh B 301  AIR 1954 Madh B 49 (50) = ILR (1954) Madh B 314 (DB)  AIR 1952 Madh B 105 (108) = ILR (1952) Madh B 253.

[But see AIR 1956 Bom 601 (605).]

(16) The general rule that service is during pleasure of Crown or State is protected only to the extent and within the limits prescribed by relevant statute and while Courts will take care to see that cardinal requirements prescribed by statute are fulfilled and principles of natural justice have not been violated and public servant has had a fair deal, equally the Court will have discretion to refuse in suitable cases declaration on well settled principles applicable to specific relief. (1957) 70 Mad LW 965 (971) = (1957) 2 Lab LJ 668.

(17) State has power under Article 310 to dismiss or punish Government servant even for misconduct unconnected with his official duties — Article 311 does not restrict this power of State. AIR 1960 All 55 (59, 60, 61) = 1960 Cri LJ 26.

(18) Except in the cases of substantive appointments to permanent posts and of appointments to temporary posts for specified period, appointment gives no right to the post and his service may be terminated unless his service had ripened into quasi-permanent service. AIR 1958 SC 36 (42, 43) = 1958 All LJ 372. (AIR 1956 Nag 113 and AIR 1957 Punj 42 and AIR 1957 Punj 191 and AIR 1957 Raj 81, Overruled.)

(21) The paramount law as between Government and their servants is, as enunciated by Art. 310 (1) that the latter hold their office during pleasure of former subject only to two conditions, relating to disciplinary action embodied in Article 311 thereof. AIR 1959 Ker 338 (339) = 1958 KLT 1122.

(22) Under J and K Constitution, if termination of service of a civil servant in substance amounts to dismissal or removal, no matter what phraseology is used for such termination it will attract the provisions of Sec. 126 (2). AIR 1964 J and K 92 (95) = 1964 Kash LJ 271 (FB).

(23) Article 311 has to be read as a proviso or an exception to Article 310. It is only the Judges of the Supreme Court and of the High Courts, the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India, etc., for whom special provisions have been made in the Constitution that can be said to hold office during good behaviour. The tenure of office of others is at the pleasure of the President subject, of course, to Arti-

(24) The fact that a post is "held" under the Governor means that the Governor has full power to remove the employee from that post or to demote him from the same. This pleasure of the Governor is fettered only by express provisions of the Constitution. Article 310 of the Constitution does not, however, empower the Governor to refuse at its pleasure to pay him even for the period of his service. AIR 1965 Assam 109 (110) = ILR (1965) 17 Assam 253 (DB).

(25) Dismissal from service — Pleasure doctrine embodied in Articles 309, 310 — Limitations of — Rules under Article 309 designed purely for administrative guidance — Madras Police Standing Order No. 90 (3) (b) though considered as one under Article 309 is directory — Non-compliance does not involve error of jurisdiction. AIR 1966 Mad 203 = (1965) 2 MLJ 421 (FB).

(26) Natural justice requires that no person should be 'condemned unheard'. In a matter where the servant has to cease to hold office on account of the exercise of pleasure or policy pursued by an authority, the servant's mouth is shut as he has no right to be heard in opposition thereto. To punish a person at pleasure or on account of a policy regardless of any guilt of his, would be to condemn him unheard which is obnoxious to natural justice. Neither the pleasure nor the policy can, therefore, justify a punishment of a public servant by an order of dismissal. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 35 (40).

(27) The Parliament or the State Legislature can make a law regulating the conditions of service of a member of a public service, which includes proceedings by way of disciplinary action, without affecting the powers of the President or Governor under Article 310 read with Article 311. (28) The pleasure of the President or Governor to dismiss a public servant cannot be fettered by any provisions in the contract of service. ILR (1968) 2 Ker 664 (672, 673).

(29) Art. 309 gives power to the President or the Governor to make rules regulating the conditions of service of civil servants. The rules so framed put a fetter upon the powers of the President or the Governor to dispense with the services of an officer at pleasure. ILR (1961) 11 Raj 371 = 1961 Raj LW 298 (307) (DB).

(30) Our Constitution has ensured security of tenure against mala fide punishment and it is well known that Government servants cannot be hired and fired arbitrarily or at the whim and caprice of anybody, however great the power entrusted to him. AIR 1966 Punj 66 (81) = 1965 Pun LR (Supp) 674 (DB).

(31) Where a resignation of a Government servant has been accepted by Government and intimation about its acceptance is sent to him, the Government servant cannot withdraw his resignation without the permission of the Government as the servant holds office only during the pleasure of the Government. AIR 1966 Punj 221 (224) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 755.

(32) The principle embodied in Art. 310 (1) that Government servants hold office during the pleasure of the President or the Governor, as the case may be, is qualified by the 'provisions of Article 311 which give protection to Government servants. (1960) 1 Andh WR 256 = (1960) 2 Lab LJ 391 (393) (DB).

(33) The tenure of office of an employee of the Union or the State is only during the pleasure of the President and/or Governor; and accordingly, except as provided in the Constitution, there can be no justiciable cause available to a dismissed Government employee for getting relief in a Court of law. AIR 1960 Bom 431 (433 to 436) = 62 Bom LR 1.

(34) Substantive appointments to permanent post — No special contract governing the matter. Employee's service cannot be terminated except by way of punishment — Employee has a right to hold the post until he attains superannuation, or is compulsorily retired or the post is abolished. 1958 All LJ 372 (386, 387, 388) (SC).

(36) Appointment to temporary post for a specified period—Tenure of person—Appointment cannot be put an end to before the end of the period except by way of punishment. 1958 All LJ 372 (386) (SC).

(37) In respect of Government servants other than, Supreme Court Judges, High Court Judges, Comptroller and Auditor-General etc., the tenure of service is at the pleasure of the President or the Governor as the case may be subject to what is contained in Article 311. Article 311 is nothing but a Proviso to Article 310. AIR 1959 All 643 (654).

(38) The right of the President of India to terminate the services of public servants is subject to the restrictions imposed by Article 310 (2) and Article 311. (1967) 10 Law Rep 555 (573) (DB).

19. English law.— (1) The English Common Law rule regarding the holding of office by public servants only during the pleasure of the Crown has not been adopted by Article 310 (1) of the Constitution in its entirety and with all its rigorous implication. Article 311 gives a two-fold protection to persons who come within that Article viz., (1) against dismissal or removal by an authority subordinate to that by which they were appointed; and (2) against the dismissal, removal or reduction in rank without giving them a reasonable opportunity to show cause against the action proposed to be taken in regard to them. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 206 (210) = (1965) 1 Lab LJ 34 (DB).

(2) English Law—Civil servant holds office at pleasure of crown — Crown is not bound by any special control, let there be any—Servants are liable to be dismissed without notice and there is no right of action for wrongful dismissal. (1956) 2 Lab LJ 347 (351, 352) (Mad) (DB).

(3) When the Constitution of India accepts and adopts a doctrine well known to the common law of England, the doctrine that a civil servant holds his office at the pleasure of the Crown, it is futile to suggest that the Constitution makers did not wish that doctrine to have full sway. AIR 1960 Bom 14 (17) = 60 Bom LR 1302 (DB).

(4) The rule of English law pithily expressed in the Latin phrase 'durante bene placito' ("during pleasure") has not been fully adopted by Article 310 (1). The pleasure of the President is clearly controlled by the provisions of Article 311, and so, the field that is covered by Article 311 would be excluded from the operation of the absolute doctrine of pleasure. AIR 1964 SC 600 (609, 610, 621) = (1964) 5 SCR 683.

20. Age of superannuation — Alteration of rule as to.— (1) Once an employee attaining 55 years of age is found fit in efficiency and physical fitness tests memorandum dated 21st March 1963 issued by the Government of Assam under F. R. 56 gives right to such employee to continue in service upto 58 years. Therefore he cannot be compulsorily retired before 58 years on the ground that the pleasure of the Government, the Government may pick and choose any man for hostile treatment. The exercise of the pleasure of the Government under Article 310 is made subject to other express provisions in the Constitution. Therefore in exercise of its pleasure, the Government cannot deprive a person of his fundamental rights. AIR 1969 Assam 46 (50) = 1969 Lab IC 534 (DB).

(2) So long as age of compulsory retirement and period of qualifying service for such retirement fixed by rule are reasonable, Article 311 is not attracted. AIR 1969 Orissa 37 (43) = 34 Cut LT 1026 (DB).

(3) There is no legal or constitutional bar to the alteration of the Service Rules as to the age of superannuation for retirement purposes to the disadvantage of persons already in service. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 140 (142) = ILR (1952) Trav-Co 756 (DB) * AIR 1962 All 328 (332) (FB).

(4) Termination of service resulting from change in age of superannuation — Article 311 is not attracted. AIR 1965 SC 1567 (1569, 1570) = (1965) 2 SCA 95 = (1965) 2 SCJ 718 = (1966) 1 Lab LJ 45.

(5) No ministerial servant can claim as a matter of right to be in service till the age of 60 and if the employee concerned is made to retire at the age of 55, he cannot complain of any breach of statutory obligation. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 697 (702) = (1958) 2 Andh WR 598.

(6) Correction in date of birth of Government servant — Application has to be made within three years of the actual age of superannuation of the Government servant and not the age of superannuation as given in the record. AIR 1967 Assam 13 (14) = ILR (1966) 13 Assam 34 (DB).

(7) The age of compulsory retirement having been extended unequivocally by the Government from 55 to 58 years, an employee holding permanent post has a right to continue in service till that age, unless he has completed 30 years of service earlier and he cannot be asked to leave service without giving any reason therefor at any time before attaining that age. Hence in absence of compliance with the procedure prescribed in Article 311 (2), such action, if taken, would be illegal. AIR 1969 Orissa 45 (49) = 1969 Lab IC 288 = 34 Cut LT 1392 (DB). (AIR 1968 Ori 44, Disting.)

(8) U. P. State Law Officers Rules (1942). Rules 7, 14 — Petitioner appointed Additional Government Advocate for three years — No superannuation age fixed at time of original appointment — Post described as tenure post and classed as "special post" — New rule fixing 60 years as superannuation age — Services of petitioner terminated before completing three years, under new Rule — Order is "removed" — Petitioner is entitled to protection of Article 311 (2). AIR 1959 All 169 (171, 174, 176, 179) = 1959 All LJ 323 = ILR (1959) 1 All 591 (DB).

21. Scales of pay, alteration of.— (1) The President cannot, in the exercise of the pleasure, fix the scales of pay of Government servants. AIR 1958 All 345 (347).

(2) Civil servant re-instated after termination of disciplinary proceedings — Government transferring him to some other department on administrative grounds — Old scale of pay continued though under the new post a higher scale of pay existed — Held, Government could effect such changes so long as provisions under Article 311 are not violated. AIR 1968 Manipur 16 (18, 19) = 1968 Lab IC 150.

(3) Conditions of service of public servants may be statutory or contractual. (1967) 10 Law Rep 555 (573) (DB).

22. Pleasure, whether can be delegated.—

(1) The power of dismissing "at pleasure" a Government servant cannot be delegated. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 35 (40).

(2) Court is debarred from examining pleasure of President — However, it can examine whether in fact the pleasure has been exercised by the President or by one duly authorised by Constitution to act in his behalf — Pleasure cannot be delegated and expressed by an officer — Pleasure of executive officer of Government does not enjoy the immunity granted to President — What is required under Article 310 is pleasure of President and not of Union of India — Both are not identical — Hence dismissal by officer is wrongful. (1966) 70 Cal WN 925 (931, 939) = (1967) 2 Lab LJ 782 (DB).

(3) The pleasure of the President or the Governor mentioned in Article 310 must be exercised in accordance with the rules or the statute made in that behalf. ILR (1966) 2 Punj 305 (310) (FB).

(5) Power conferred by Article 310 can be delegated — Pleasure referred to in Article 310 is not strictly executive action to which Article 77 applies. AIR 1966 Cal 252 (258) = (1967) 1 Lab LJ 318 (DB).

(6) The President can delegate the powers under Article 310, but Article 309 cannot impair or affect the pleasure of the President therein specified. ILR (1966) 2 Punj 305 (310) (FB).

(7) The tenure of office of a person serving under the Union is at the pleasure of the President. The pleasure should be exercised by the President himself, and cannot be delegated to any subordinate authority. AIR 1963 Assam 94 (103) (FB).

[The view that the pleasure cannot be delegated by the President to any subordinate authority reversed in AIR 1964 SC 600.]

(8) The pleasure of the President is not a justiciable matter. (1965) 67 Pun LR 580 (583).

(9) Under Rule 146 of Railway Establishment Code issued by the President, the power of the President in respect of transfer of non-gazetted railway servants, may be exercised by an agent or by a lower authority to whom the Agent may re-delegate his power. AIR 1967 Punj 76 (78) = (1969) 2 Lab LJ 247.

23. Right to hold office whether Fundamental Right. See also Article 309.—

(1) Government servants have fundamental right to form associations under Article 19 (1) (c), but they have no fundamental right to be continued in employment and when their services are terminated by the State they cannot complain of infringement of any of their constitutional rights when no question of violation of Article 311 arises. AIR 1958 SC 232 (238)  AIR 1965 Ker 19 (23) = (1966) 2 Lab LJ 93.

(2) Every Government servant has a right of appeal in accordance with rules governing his service, against an appointment made by promotion which is likely to infringe his rights. When such an appeal is filed person affected is entitled to notice and to a reasonable opportunity of being heard. 1969 Lab IC 712 (715) = (1968) 1 Andh WR 86 (DB).

(3) Where a post is being held by the Government employee only temporarily and not substantively, then on the facts of the case there can be no question of his having any right to hold that post or rank. AIR 1966 Orissa 173 (178, 179) = ILR (1965) Cut 893 (DB).

(4) A civil servant can hold office only during the pleasure of the Rajpramukh and there is no such thing as a vested right in him which is inviolable and inherent in him notwithstanding the Constitution, and his removal would be governed by Article 311. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 479 (483) = ILR (1960) 2 Andh Pra 148 (DB).

(5) A dismissal for established delinquency entails a bar to reinstatement of the dismissed servant. It is a taint on his reputation and would affect his position in society. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 35 (40).

(6) Compulsory retirement — Fundamental Rules, Chapter IV, Rule 56 (b) (i) — Right of servant to be retained in service after age of 55 years — Rule does not confer any such right — Authority can retire servant even if he continues to be efficient — Enquiry into reasons for exercise of discretion by authority is not the concern of High Court. AIR 1966 Cal 483 (485) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 230 (DB).

24. "Dismissed" or "removed" —

General.— (1) The words "dismissed", "removed" and "reduced in rank" are all used in a special, technical sense. They must be understood in the sense in which they are used in the Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, where they denote the three major categories of punishments which can be imposed on civil servants. AIR 1953 SC 250 (251, 252) = 1953 SCR 655. (Expressions are taken from R. 49 of C. S. (C. C. & A) Rules.)  AIR 1958 SC 300 (304)  AIR 1958 SC 36 (47)  AIR 1954 Madh B 177 (180) (DB)  AIR 1954 Madh B 49 (51) = ILR (1954) Madh B 314 (DB).

(2) Dismissed or removed — Includes every kind of termination of service. AIR 1964 SC 600 (621, 632) = (1964) 5 SCR 683.

(3-4) Dismissal includes removal. The only difference between dismissal proper and dismissal in shape of removal from service is that the former ordinarily disqualifies the servant from future employment but the latter does not do so. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 261 (266) = 1961 MPLJ 558 (DB) AIR 1954 Mad 1155 (1160) = (1954) 2 MLJ 254 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1955 SC 817.)  ILR (1966) 1 Mad 206.

(5) The word 'removal' in Article 311 has a narrow and technical meaning involving the concepts of arraignment, guilt, stigma and punishment and future debarring of employment under Government service whereas termination does not. (1957) 70 Mad LW 965 (972) = (1957) 2 Lab LJ 668.

(6) In deciding whether a dismissal is justified, the test to be applied must vary with the nature of the business and the position held by the employee. (1964) 1 Lab LJ 500 (510) (Mad).

(7) Dismissal or removal — Does not include termination of service on expiry of fixed period of employment of temporary employee. ILR (1955) Hyd 711 (713) (DB).

(8) Dismissal involves some serious consequences to the person affected and is also a slur on his character. Therefore he should be afforded an opportunity. The same thing cannot be said of "dispensing with services" of a servant by his master, unless he was bound by some agreement not to do it. (1959) 1 Lab LJ 554 (555) (Andh Pra) (DB).

(9) Dismissal from Government service for disqualifying a person for being elected as a Pancha must be for misconduct and a declaration by competent authority that the person is ineligible for further employment in public service — Removal of Gumastha-Patwari from service for misconduct by competent authority debarring him from holding any public post — Though term 'removal' is used, removal amounted to dismissal. ILR (1964) Andh Pra 1237 (1240, 1241) (DB).

(10) It is not the motive for either terminating the services of a Government servant or reducing him that is material in determining whether or not it amounts to an order of dismissal or removal or reduction in rank, but it is the ground on which a person has either been dismissed or removed or reduced in rank. ILR (1967) 2 All 240 (DB). (AIR 1958 SC 36. Foll.)

(11) The mere passing of an order of dismissal is not effective unless it is published and communicated to officer concerned. AIR 1966 SC 1313 (1316) = (1966) 2 SCJ 777.

(12) Mere transfer is not punishment unless the step taken amounts to punishment of the servant concerned. ILR (1964) 2 Mad 813 (814)  AIR 1968 Andh Pra 129 (132, 133) = (1967) 2 Andh WR

(13) Government servant convicted for offence under Section 380, Penal Code, 1860, given benefit of Section 4 and released — Conviction cannot form basis for removal from service in view of Section 12 of Probation of Offenders Act (1958). (1967) 69 Punj LR 331 (333) = 1968 All Cri R 6.

(14-15) The words 'your work and conduct has not been found satisfactory' contained in the order of termination of service attach a stigma to the servant and cast an aspersion against his capacity as also against his conduct. Provisions of Art. 311 (2) must be complied with. 1968 Serv LR 734 (737) (DB) (Punj).

25. Article 311 (2) applies only when there is punishment.— (1) An order which would not otherwise be an order of removal does not become such merely because it follows an enquiry against the Government servant. AIR 1964 All 278 (280) (DB). (AIR 1963 All 390, Overruled.)

(2) The opportunity to show cause provided for in Clause (2) of Article 311 is required to be given only when the termination of service is resorted to as a punishment and not otherwise. Government servant is entitled to continue in service up to a particular time, the premature determination of his service before that time would, by itself, amount to a punishment (even though it may not purport to be such) and would, therefore, constitute 'dismissal' or 'removal' from service within the meaning of Article 311, Clause (2). (13) Appointment of Branch Postmaster under Posts and Telegraphs Extra Departmental Agents (Conduct and Service) Rules, 1959 — Not a public servant entitled to protection under Article 311. The fact that the Superintendent of Post Offices assigned a reason which is invalid does not render the order of removal in any way illegal or invalid. It is well settled that where services of a Government servant is liable to be terminated by a specified notice without assigning any reasons the existence of a reason for termination of the service does not convert the termination into an order of dismissal or removal. It follows that the order terminating the services of the petitioner is warranted by Rule 6, and cannot be questioned (1967) 1 An WR 228 (231).

(15) For termination of service of temporary railway servant under Rule 148 of Railway Establishment Code, not being by way of punishment does not amount to removal. AIR 1962 Raj 244 (246) = 1962 Raj LW 296.

(16) Termination purporting to be under Rule 148 of Railway Establishment Code, in substance by way of punishment — Procedure prescribed by Article 311 (2) not followed — Order is void and of no legal effect. 1965 Mad WN 271.

26. Termination of service, when amounts to punishment: Tests and Il-ustrations.— (1) If the order is based on the authority of a service rule, it must ordinarily be taken that the termination of service was in exercise of the powers conferred by that service rule. If, on the other hand, the order states that the temporary servant was guilty of misconduct or insubordination or was incompetent, etc., and if his service was terminated on the strength of any such ground, it would be a matter of punishment which would bring the case within the ambit of Article 311 (2). AIR 1960 J and K 97 (100).

(2) Services of temporary employee terminated without giving him chance of showing cause — Real motive behind termination that employee was not qualified — Employee is not entitled to any relief. AIR 1961 All 292 (293, 294). (AIR 1960 SC 689, Foll.)

(3) The question whether the particular order terminating his services was by way of punishment or only in the exercise of right under the contract will have to be determined on the facts and the circumstances of each case. Where the petitioner who held an officiating post was discharged from service on the ground that his past services were reported to be not good and honest:

Held, that the termination was by way of punishment and not in terms of contract of service and therefore the servant was entitled to the protection of Article 311 (2). AIR 1958 Assam 181 (182) (DB)  1965 Mad WN 271 (273)  ILR (1965) 2 Mad 24 (35) (DB)  1968 BLJR 815 (821) (DB).

(4) One test for determining whether the termination of service of a Government servant is by way of punishment is to ascertain whether the servant but for such termination has the right to hold the post. The other test may be whether he has been visited with the evil consequence such as the forfeiture of his pay or allowances and the loss of his seniority in his substantive rank or the stoppage or postponement of his future chances of promotion. If a person is compulsorily retired or his services are terminated under some rules, the termination does not bring about any evil consequence. If, however, a person has right to remain in the post and that right is curtailed by the exercise of the power under the contract, or under the conditions of service rules in one sense it does affect his right to remain in the post. But as such an action is taken in the exercise of the contractual right or in the exercise of the powers given under the conditions of service rules, it is not taken by way of punishment and thus it is not covered by Article 311 of the Constitution. In such a case even though no enquiry is made, there is no violation of Article 311 of Articles 310 & 311 — Note 26 (contd.) the Constitution as the termination does not come within Article 311 at all. AIR 1963 Assam 94 (98, 100) (FB). (6) Under the rules in the Railway Code a permanent servant has a right to hold the post until he reaches the age of superannuation, or until he is compulsorily retired under the relevant rule. If for any other reason that right is invaded and he is asked to leave his service, the termination of his service is in the nature of a penalty and amounts to removal. (8) Where a servant has a right to a post or to a rank either under terms of contract of employment, express or implied, or under rules governing conditions of service, termination of service of such a servant or his reduction to a lower post is by itself and prima facie a punishment, for it operates as a forfeiture of his right to hold that post or that rank and to get emoluments and other benefits attached thereto. (10) Where by an order the services of a temporary Government servant were terminated, without assigning any cause, it is not dismissal by way of punishment but simple termination under the terms of the

27. Termination of service of temporary servants. — (1) Both permanent and temporary members are within the protection of Cl. (2) of Art. 311. In the case of a temporary servant a mere termination of service per se does not amount to punishment. When a temporary service is terminated in pursuance of the terms of the contract or the rules governing it the termination is not a punishment. On the other hand, if the termination is founded upon misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualification attributed to the servant, it is a punishment attracting the protection afforded by Arti-

(2) A temporary servant has no lien over the post so long as it exists. (3) Though temporary Government servants appointed on contractual basis may be discharged from service in accordance with the terms of the contract, nevertheless, if such an order of discharge is passed by way of punishment the provisions of Art. 311 should be complied with.

An order discharging a temporary government servant for "unreliability, wilful absence from duty and disobedience of orders" after framing charges alleging specific instances of misconduct and asking him to show cause is without doubt a punishment and not merely an exercise of contractual right by the Government. ILR (1959) Cut 158 (160, 161) = (1959) 1 Orissa JD 87 (DB)  (1959) 1 Lab LJ 245 (248) (Andh Pra). (Termination for misconduct, negligence and inefficiency — It is punishment.)

(11-A) Where the employment of a temporary Government servant, even though liable to be terminated by notice of one month without assigning any reason, is not so terminated, but instead the superior officer chooses to hold an enquiry into his alleged misconduct, the termination of service consequent upon the report of the enquiring officer is by way of punishment, because it puts a stigma on his competence and thus affects his future career. (2) Even in the case of a temporary post, where termination of service or transfer to a lower post is actually resorted to as a measure of punishment, for same misconduct, negligence inefficiency etc., action of Government would amount to a dismissal or removal from service in one case and to reduction in rank in the other. AIR 1965 Ker 63 (63, 64) = 1964 Ker LT 36 (DB).

(4) If the lapse or misconduct is one which is known to the authority before the person is promoted and not one which comes to light subsequent to the promotion, and if the authority concerned knowing of this lapse or misconduct promotes the civil servant without any reservations, then it must be taken that the lapse or misconduct has been condoned, and thereafter the servant cannot be punished for his lapse or misconduct. (5) Where an order of discharge is attacked on the ground of mala fides and the authority in justifying the order refers to certain facts relating to the misconduct, negligence or inefficiency of the temporary servant it cannot be said that the order of discharge was made on a consideration of those facts set out in the plea made long after the passing of that order. AIR 1964 SC 449 (453).

(6) Termination of service of Government servant appointed on provisional basis — Order not indicating reason — Government alleging termination due to

(12) The constitutional requirement of Article 311 should not be allowed to be avoided in a case where a person is sought to be discharged or reverted on the ground that he is undesirable but, failing the charge of misconduct, reliance is placed upon the fact that his service is temporary. This would be a colourable use of the power of discharge of temporary servants and fraud on Article 311. AIR 1959 Tripura 2 (6).

(13-14) Participation by a Railway employee in peaceful strike before it is banned by an order Under Essential Services Maintenance Ordinance (1960) does not infringe Rule 3 of Railway Ser-

(17) An order of discharge of a probationer after an enquiry into charges of misconduct, negligence or inefficiency can generally be regarded as one by way of punishment. (2) A substantive appointment to a permanent post in public service confers normally on the public servant so appointed a substantive right to the post and the Government cannot terminate his service unless it is entitled to do so (i) by virtue of a special term of the contract of employment, for example, by giving the requisite notice provided by the contract, or (ii) by the rules governing the conditions of his service, for example, on attaining the age of superannuation prescribed by the rules, or on the fulfilment of the conditions for compulsory retirement, or (iii) subject to certain safeguards, on the abolition of the post, or (iv) on being found guilty, after a proper enquiry on notice to him, of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or any other disqualification. (4-5) If it is sought to dismiss any servant of the Union or the State, the procedure prescribed in Article 311 (2) must be followed. The guarantee conferred by the Constitution, is merely a guarantee that, if the servant is sought to be dismissed or removed from service, then the provisions of Art. 311 shall come into play. Dismissal or removal from service is to be judged by the consequences that the order brings about and by the tests laid down in Shyam Lal's Case, AIR 1954 SC 369. It is open to the Union or the State to enter into a contract of service and to provide for termination of the service by any notice that may be agreed upon as a term of the contract; and if there is termination of service under the terms of the contract, which does not cast a slur on the employee or deprive him of any benefit already earned by him, such termination cannot attract the provisions of Article 311 notwithstanding the fact that there was a suggestion of some misconduct against the servant and a preliminary enquiry was held, but no charge was framed against him. 59 Bom LR 1210 (1215, 1216) = (1958) 1 Lab LJ 456 (Bom.) (6) Where the Government does not choose to terminate the service of the Government servant in exercise of its power under the terms of the contract of employment, express or implied, or under the rules regulating the conditions of service of the Government servant, but decides to proceed against the Government servant on the basis of his misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or the like and to inflict on him the punishment of dismissal or removal from service, the Government would be bound to comply with the requirements of Article 311 of the Constitution of India. The right to terminate the service of a servant without any notice on account of misconduct is a right which is inherent in the master under the ordinary law of master and servant and is by its very nature a right which is exercisable by the master against the servant by way of punishment. This exercise of right which is necessarily and always by way of punishment, does not cease to have that character when it is embodied in the contract of service between the master and the servant. The exercise of such a right whether it be a part of the general law of master and servant or whether it be a part of the contract of service must always be in the nature of infliction of punishment and the termination of service of the servant in exercise of such right must necessarily amount to dismissal. (13) Where the service of a Government employee is terminated on one month's notice according to the terms of the contract of service, an irregularity in the notice will not entitle him to an order of re-instatement although he may be entitled to damages. AIR 1956 Pat 23 (28).

(14) Though in the case of removal from service by way of penalty the employer is not bound to give any notice or to pay any salary in lieu of notice, he may choose to be more generous to the employee and pay him something to which he is not entitled. The action of the employer in such a case cannot be construed as not enforcing the penalty, which he actually enforced or intended to enforce. AIR 1957 All 439 (445) (DB).

(15) Where, according to the terms of service, it can be terminated on one month's notice and it is so terminated, the mere fact that the Government servant was first charged with some misconduct, which charge was not pursued, does not show that the termination of service was by way of punishment and amounts to dismissal or removal. (18) Where the Government instead of terminating the services of a person according to the terms of the contract elects to dismiss him, as a punishment for some fault or misconduct, Article 311, Cl. (25) Proceedings taken against the petitioner, a railway employee, under the Railway Services (Safeguarding of National Security) Rules, 1949, for his subversive activities were withdrawn by the authorities and the suspension order was revoked directing the petitioner to resume his duties. The day on which he resumed his duties he was served with an order under Rule 148 of the Indian Railway Establishment Code, Vol. I, terminating his services.

Held, that there was nothing to indicate in the order that it was founded on any ground of misconduct on which Rule 148 of the Establishment Code permitted the action taken by the Authorities. The allegation of subversive activities might have been then the impelling factor but the actual order had been made on the authority of the Service Rules, and not as a measure of punishment against the petitioner. become valid by striking out that portion imposing the condition as to refund — Order to be examined as such in the light of Article 311. 1966 Cur LJ 813 (817) = 70 Pun LR 621 (DB).

(7) Even if an order of reversion is wholly innocuous and is not passed by way of punishment but either as a necessary consequence of the order of reversion or in pursuance of it some penal consequences ensue the provisions of Article 311 (2) would be attracted. (11) The question whether a particular order falls within one or other of the three categories of punishments mentioned in Article 311, Clause (2) is one of fact to be decided on the facts of each case. It is not the phraseology used by the Government that matters but the actual effect of the order made. Thus, where the Government servant is compulsorily retired a few years after his entertainment in service on the ground of his taking part in subversive activities, it is prima facie an order of "removal" within the meaning of Article 311. (13) In determining whether termination of service amounts to dismissal, the antecedent enquiry made by the employer is not material, but what is material is the actual action taken by him in pursuance of the opinion formed by him. Where the actual order passed was that the service had been terminated and that one month's salary was to be given in lieu of notice and it also stated that the employee concerned was entitled to know the reasons for the termination of his service and that he could obtain a copy of the finding regarding this if he wanted: Held, that his fact would not warrant the conclusion that the action taken by the petitioner was merely a camouflage. The action taken was not punitive so as to amount to dismissal. 60 Bom LR 72 (74) = 1957 Nag LJ 569 (DB).

(14) First orders by Vice-Chancellor, disapproving appointment of petitioner as lecturer but allowing him to continue for some time passed without notice to petitioner — Subsequent order disapproving appointment passed after issuing show-cause notice — Held, second order must govern petitioner's case as first order though illegal and void was superseded by second order. (2) Honorary Magistrate (Special 1st Class) appointed under S. 14 (1) Cr. P. C. holds "civil post" within meaning of Art. 311, even though he is not a salaried officer. 1961 (1) Cri LJ 657 (658) = 1960 Ker LT 708.

(3) Services of Honorary Medical Officer terminated by Government under its right to do so at any time without any notice and without any reason — Motive of Government behind order of termination is not material — Termination not by way of punishment — Officer not entitled to protection under Art. 311 (2). 1961 Ker LT 662 (686, 689) = (1963) 1 Lab LJ 362 (Ker).

34. Discharge. — (1) The word "discharge" has the same meaning as "removal". AIR 1955 Cal 556 (558) AIR 1953 Cal 188 (192) = ILR (1953) 2 Cal 249.

(2) Discharge from service on the grounds of notoriety for corruption and unsatisfactory service is clearly a punishment. AIR 1960 SC 689 (692).

[See also AIR 1965 Punj 28 (28, 29, 30) = 66 Pun LR 1224. (Order of discharge passed while charge of corruption was pending in criminal court—Court acquitting delinquent officer on merits — Circumstances held revealed that discharge was result of punishment and order amounted to dismissal — Non-compliance with Art. 311 (2) — Order cannot be sustained.)]

(3) Discharge of temporary public servant — Art. 311 does not apply. AIR 1964 SC 449 (453).

(4) Art. 311 would also apply to the case of a temporary servant if his services are terminated by way of punishment.

So long as the authorities do not make an order of discharge for misconduct but merely exercise their right to terminate the services, it is not open to an employee to complain.

In judging of the question whether or not an order of discharge is accompanied by punishment, one must look to the language of the order of discharge. AIR 1960 Bom 9 (10, 11, 12) = 60 Bom LR 624 (DB).

(5) The Government has a right to terminate the services of its temporary servants when the terms of the contract of employment or the specific service rules provide for it, when it will be a mere discharge simpliciter from service. The motive is immaterial and the factor inducing the Government to take action under the contract of employment such as misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualification will not make the action a punishment to attract the provision of Art. 311 (2) of the Constitution. Any enquiry conducted prior to such action by the Government will not affect the position. AIR 1967 Punj 129 (130) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 443 1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 487 (490). (Discharge in terms of service rules of temporary servant is neither 'removal' nor dismissal) AIR 1959 Pat 192 (196) = 1958 BLJR 593 (DB). (Discharge according to terms of contract — Absence of opportunity to show cause does not affect validity of discharge.)

(6) An employee coming under the category of "Industrial employee" which is of a temporary character can be discharged from service by the authorities under R. 75 (a) of the Army Instructions issued under the Army Act. Such discharge is not a penalty as contemplated by sub-rule (1) of Rule 212 of Army Instructions. A charge therefore need not be framed against him before such discharge. 1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 254 (257).

(7-8) The discharge of a temporary Government servant who has not attained the status of quasi-permanency even if it is done for misconduct will not amount to dismissal or removal within the meaning of Art. 311. AIR 1959 Manipur 33 (37).

(9) Under 'Sastry award' an order of discharge of an employee of State Bank made under paragraph 521 (10) (c) does not amount to punishment by way of disciplinary action and there is no necessity for giving a hearing to the employee.

An order discharging an employee for inefficiency must be taken to be one passed under para. 521 (10) (c) of the award. The mere fact that certain disciplinary proceedings had preceded the order would not render the order one by way of punishment when it was not made in consequence of such proceedings. AIR 1962 Cal 72 (74, 75) = 65 Cal WN 1101.

(10) An order of discharge with retrospective effect is bad in law. (1957) 61 Cal WN 880 (885).

(11) Authority stating reasons for not giving notice of discharge to employee — Non-compliance of Proviso (b) to S. 126, J. & K. Constitution regarding notice — Sub-clause (3) of S. 126 has no application — Reasons are justiciable. AIR 1965 J & K 53 (56) = 1964 Kash LJ 214 (DB).

(12) Word "discharge" does not occur either in Art. 311 or in the Civil Service Rules (Punjab) in regard to penalties — But definition of the word given in the Punjab Rules shows that it applies where a person's service is terminated for reasons given in (a), (b) and (c) of the explanation under R. 14.10 of the Punjab Rules. (13) Petitioner allowed to appear for competitive examination, as being duly qualified — Petitioner successful at examination — His appointment as probationer for two years — Discharge of petitioner after expiry of probationary period on ground that he was not qualified to appear for competitive examination — Negligence of Govt. — Petitioner becoming over-age at time of discharge — Principle of estoppel held operated against authorities in circumstances of case — Discharge held illegal. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 59 (62) = (1965) 2 Andh WR 437.

35. Retrenchment.— (1) In the absence of any special contract the substantive appointment to a permanent post gives the Government servant so appointed a right to hold the post until, he attains the age of superannuation or is compulsorily retired after having put in the prescribed number of years' service or the post is abolished. His service cannot be terminated except by way of punishment for misconduct, etc., on proper enquiry after due notice to him: (AIR 1958 SC 36, Rel. on.)

Where the petitioner held substantive post as Sub-Inspector in the Excise Section at the material time, which post was not abolished and he had never worked in the Customs section, but on a direction by the Government to retrench the staff of Customs section, the petitioner was served with the notice of retrenchment:

Held, that the action of the authority concerned in directing retrenchment on the ground of his being of the Customs section clearly amounted to punishment as the retrenchment on administrative grounds was unauthorised and the action contravened Article 311. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 239 (240, 241) = 1960 MPLJ 954.

(2) Miss B, juniormost clerk in the department was retained while A was relieved from service.

Held, that the order was in clear violation of the Government orders; but it could not be said that he had been dismissed or removed as a penal step. This was purely an administrative act. The jurisdiction of the High Court under Art. 226 could not be invoked. AIR 1959 Ker 59 (61, 62) = 1958 Ker LT 639 (DB).

[See 1969 Lab IC 730 (734) = (1968) 2 Mys LJ 479 (DB). (Abolition of posts — Services of juniors should first be terminated.)]

(3) Retrenchment of employee — Contention that retrenchment violates Art. 311 — Held on facts that contention must be repelled since no foundation was laid for any such contention at any stage and that employee had not acquired any right to post held by him. (4) If after giving all the possible retrenchees an opportunity to explain the bad record, a selection is made of those who after the inquiry are found to be worse than the others, there can be no objection at least on the ground of contravention of Article 311. But to select the apparently worse without following the principle laid down in Article 311 is wrong, and the element of punishment can be said to have entered into the matter. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 299 (302) = 1960 MPLJ 892 (DB).

(5) Under Merger Agreement the option to continue the State servants in the service of the Union left with Government — Refusal of employee asked to get himself medically examined before being absorbed in Union service and consequent retrenchment — Retrenchment order is not a dismissal or removal. AIR 1961 Tripura 29 (32).

(6) The creation of the new State of Madhya Bharat did not guarantee continuance of service of the former employee of the covenanting State. The retrenchment of such an employee under a scheme of reorganization according to the Retrenchment Rules cannot amount to a removal. 1960 Jab LJ 1089 = 1961 MPLJ 12 (13).

(7) Temporary servant — Retrenchment on basis of selective tests — Selective test held not discriminatory — Retrenchment cannot be questioned, whatever be the motive. AIR 1959 J and K 136 (139) (DB).

36. Discharge on account of abolition of post.— (1) Termination of service consequent upon abolition of posts does not involve 'removal' from service. AIR 1967 Bom 482 (490) = 69 Bom LR 218 (DB). (2) When a post, whether permanent or substantive, is abolished, the service of the servant holding the post, either on probation or as officiating automatically comes to an end. (3) Where a temporary post is abolished this does not amount to dismissal of the employee holding the post. AIR 1957 Hyd 12 (13) = ILR (1956) Hyd 622 (DB)  AIR 1956 Cal 662 (667)  AIR 1968 Andh Pra 307 (309) = 1968 Lab IC 1293.

(4) If further performance of a contract of service under Government becomes impossible as a result of the abolition of the office by statute, no cause of action for damages for breach of contract arises. (1934) 103 LJPC 41 (43) = 1934 App Cas 176, Reilly v. King.

[See AIR 1958 SC 36 (42, 48).]

(5-6) Article 311 (2) may apply to the case of termination of service as a result of abolition of post when the post is abolished to victimise and punish an individual servant. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 307 (309) = 1968 Lab IC 1293.

(7) Temporary post — Period of appointment expires when post is abolished — Termination of services on abolition of post cannot be by way of punishment — No question of violation of Article 311 (2) arises. 1960 Ker LT 1096 (1099). (AIR 1958 SC 36, Disting.)

(8) The mere fact that a certain post was a temporary one would not necessarily lead to the inference that a permanent appointment could not be made in the grade admissible for such post. The employer may well have in mind to fix up the employee at some other post of equal rank on the abolition of the post to which the latter is initially appointed. AIR 1962 Him Pra 41 (42).

(9) Where a temporarily appointed clerk in Government service is relieved from service on the ground of the termination of the vacancy and on his application to the Public Service Commission for registration, the Commission, purporting to act on the report of his last superior, refuses to entertain the application and further passes an order debarring the applicant from service for two years, such an order clearly amounts to an order of punishment and since the Commission is not empowered to pass such an order it is ultra vires its powers. AIR 1958 Ker 352 (354) = 1958 Ker LT 580 (DB).

37. Termination upon integration of States.— (1) Where on the abolition of the former Indian States as separate units and their integration into new units under the Constitution persons serving in the former States were absorbed into the services organised under the new set-up, on general principles of international law, all the appointments in the former States would come to an end automatically on the abolition of such States and the persons holding such appointments would have no rights enforceable against the new States which took their place except to the extent that such new States might have undertaken any obligations towards such persons. AIR 1958 SC 228 (232)  AIR 1960 Manipur 45 (46).

(2-3) Held, that the position of the State employees on 15th October, 1949, was no better than that they were retained in Government service pending decision of the question of their absorption as contemplated in Article 8 of the merger agreement which was entered into by the Maharaja of Tripura. That Article gave the Government the power to either continue the servant or to terminate his services and pay reasonable compensation. Pending decision of that question, the employee could not claim that he was entitled to the post. The Government could discharge him without having to follow the procedure laid down in Article 311 (2). AIR 1960 Tripura 28 (30).

38. Discharge from temporary post — Right of lien on substantive post. See also Note 135.— (1) A person who was holding a substantive appointment in a permanent post in the Hyderabad Municipal Corporation before his services were transferred to the Government Department is entitled to hold a lien on the former post. Under Section 3 of the Hyderabad Local Government Service (Declaration as State Civil Service) Act, such a person must be deemed to be in the civil service of the State. And where the termination of his services was not because of the abolition of his former post or as a result of any disciplinary proceedings taken against him, the termination of his services will attract the provisions of Article 311. In the circumstances his right to the permanent post which he held in the Municipal Corporation cannot be taken away. (1960) 2 Lab LJ 391 = (1960) 1 Andh WR 256 (259) (DB).

39. Discharge of Probationer.— (1) An appointment to a permanent post in Government service on probation means, as in the case of a person appointed by a private employer, that the servant so appointed is taken on trial. Such an employment on probation under the ordinary law of master and servant, comes to an end if during or at the end of the probation the servant so appointed on trial is found unsuitable and his service is terminated by notice. AIR 1958 SC 36 (42)  ILR (1965) 2 Mad 24 (31, 32) (DB).

(2) Probationer — Termination of service in accordance with rules governing conditions of service — Not a dismissal or removal — A probationer can be discharged during the period of his probation and such discharge will not amount to a removal or dismissal where it has been done in accordance with the service rules and not by way of punishment — No right to protection under Article 311 (2). AIR 1963 SC 1552 (1553, 1554) = (1964) 2 SCR 135  AIR 1958 SC 36 (49)  1967 Ker LT 896 (897) = 1969 Lab LJ 400.

(3) On expiry of probationary period probationer does not automatically become permanent unless rules so provide. AIR 1968 Manipur 58 (62) = 1968 Lab IC 1065.

(4) A probationer's service can be terminated at any time before the expiry of the period of probation without holding any enquiry on the ground of his unfitness for service. Order of termination need not give reasons. If reasons are given and they appear plausible but specious, it does not render the termination illegal, even assuming that the authorities acted mala fide. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 208 (210, 211) = 1960 MPLJ 515 (DB)  (1959) 2 Lab LJ 702 (703) (Andh Pra).

(5) If the Government takes the view that a simple termination of service of a probationer is not enough and the conduct of the probationer has been such that he deserves a punishment entailing penal consequences, in such a case, the Government may choose to proceed against the servant on the basis of his misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or the like and inflict on him the punishment of dismissal, removal or reduction carrying with it the penal consequences. In such a case the servant will be entitled to the protection of Article 311 (2). AIR 1960 Cal 314 (317).

(6-7) Person appointed on probation for one year — Person's services can be terminated before expiry of period of one year — No damages can be claimed. AIR 1954 Mys 175 (176) = 33 Mys LJ 90 (DB).

(8-9) If the termination of service of a probationer is based on the ground of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualification, and is resorted to by the Government as a measure of punishment, it will amount to "dismissal" or "removal" within the meaning of Article 311 and entitle the Government servant to the protection conferred by that provision. AIR 1958 SC 36 (42).

(10) Probationer — Discharge from service in terms of employment, but while enquiry for accepting illegal gratification was pending — Held, order though motivated by alleged misconduct could not be considered as by way of punishment — Protection of Article could not be claim-

(11) Probationer can be discharged in the manner provided by Rule 55-B of Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules. Mere termination of service does not carry with it any 'evil consequences'. Order discharging public servant, even if a probationer, in an enquiry on charges of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualification may appropriately be regarded as one by way of punishment but an order discharging probationer following upon an enquiry to ascertain whether he was fit to be confirmed, is not of that nature and Art. 311 (2) does not apply. AIR 1961 SC 177 (180) = (1961) 1 SCR 606. (24 Cut LT 441 = ILR (1958) Cut 77 = (1959) 1 Lab LJ 536, Reversed.)

(12) Probationer holding permanent post in another department and a lien on it; must revert to his permanent post on discharge from probation. AIR 1963 Manipur 25 (28).

(13) Petitioner appointed as headmistress on a contractual basis, on probation for a period of one year subject to termination if her work was unsatisfactory — Service of memorandum stating that her work was considered to be unsatisfactory and asked to explain why she should not be discharged—After service of order terminating her services. Held, if the management felt that her probation was unsatisfactory, it would be entitled to terminate the probation and discharge her. This they did after asking for her explanation and after giving her a personal hearing. Therefore there was no flaw in the order of discharge. (1964) 2 Lab LJ 158 (159) (Mad).

(14-15) The discharge of a probationer, whether during or at the end of probation period, for some specific fault or on ground of his unsuitability for the service amounts to a removal or dismissal. AIR 1961 Pat 339 (341) = 1961 BLJR 749 (DB).

(16) Where action against petitioner was prompted by unsatisfactory record or unfavourable reports, if not for specific faults, opportunity to show cause would be necessary. 1965 Pun LR (Supp) 586 (592) (DB).

(17-18) Probationer—No right to post—Enquiry to decide fitness for confirmation not provided — Discharge of probationer — Article 311 not attracted — Lien on permanent post in another department — Effect — He should be reinstated to such permanent post — Discharge from anterior date not legal. AIR 1963 Manipur 25 (27, 28).

(19) Where there is violation of the legal provisions regulating the procedure for the discharge of a public servant, order of discharge of a probationer must be held ultra vires and illegal. AIR 1961 Pat 339 (341) = 1961 BLJR 749 (DB).

(20) The discharge of a probationer on account of his unsuitability for service amounts to "removal" or "dismissal". AIR 1953 Nag 138 (141) = ILR (1953) Nag 522 (DB).

[But see AIR 1953 Orissa 329 (332) = ILR (1953) Cut 517 (DB).]

(21-22) An officer placed on probation cannot be deemed to be confirmed unless and until an express order of confirmation is passed. The mere expiry of the period of probation does not have the effect of automatically bringing about the confirmation. There has to be some lapse of time between the expiry of the period of probation and an order being passed confirming the officer or extending the period of his probation. It follows, naturally, that there would also be a similar lapse of time even when the competent authority intended to pass an order terminating the probation and reverting the officer. During this period the position of the officer is uncertain. AIR 1963 All 377 (379, 380) = 1962 All LJ 1015 (DB)  AIR 1961 All 450 (456) (FB). (ILR (1959) 1 All 226 and AIR 1959 All 536, Overruled.)

(23) In the very nature of the probationary period itself, when the period of probation is specified there can be no question of any notice being given for termination of service before the expiry of the probationary period. Even where a notice is required under the contract of his service, the order terminating his services does not become illegal because of the omission to give notice. In that case the probationer can at the most claim salary for the notice period. For that relief he has the remedy of a civil suit. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 208 (212) = 1960 MPLJ 515 (DB).

(24) Punishment — Order of removal from service — Whether by way of punishment, is a question of intention — Order discharging person on probation held was by way of punishment. AIR 1961 J and K 7 (8, 9).

(25) At the time when the appointing authority has to consider the confirmation of probation or the termination of the services of the employee, it is entitled to take into consideration all facts and merely because the authority is dissatisfied with the employee it does not follow that the action in terminating the services is penal in nature.

Under Statute 13 framed under the Institute of Technology Act of 1961 so long as the period of probation has not been completed and declared to have been completed satisfactorily the employee enjoys a status not higher than that of a temporary employee and it is open to the employer and equally to the employee to put an end to the service relationship by notice. (1964) 1 MLJ 70 (76, 77, 78) = (1964) 2 Lab LJ 311 (Mad).

(26) Probationer has no right to a post. His services may be terminated without enquiry when there is no charge of negligence, misconduct or inefficiency against him. AIR 1961 Pat 339 (340, 341) = 1961 BLJR 749 (DB).

40. Termination on ground of lack of competency or on ground of medical unfitness.— (1) Termination of service on the ground that an employee is lacking in ability or capacity to discharge his duties carries with it an imputation against the officer's conduct which may be controverted or explained by him. AIR 1958 All 141 (144)  AIR 1966 All 429 (430) = ILR (1965) 2 All 783 (DB). (Termination on ground of incapacity to perform duties is removal for disqualification — Article 311 (2) applies.)

(2) Termination of the services of a temporary employee on the ground of medical unfitness does not amount to a penalty and so does not constitute "removal" within Article 311. AIR 1956 Bom 455 (458) = ILR (1956) Bom 767 (DB)  AIR 1954 Raj 189 (191) = ILR (1954) 4 Raj 639 (DB)  1954 Raj LW 520 (524) (DB).

[But see AIR 1956 All 330 (332)  AIR 1954 Cal 399 (400) (DB)  AIR 1956 Bom 455 (458) = ILR (1956) Bom 767 (DB). (It is neither 'removal' nor dismissal.)]

(3-4) Where there is neither service contract nor service regulation, authorising premature termination of service of a permanent employee, such a termination cannot be effected.

Civilians in Defence Services (Classification Control and Appeal) Rules 1952 do not make any provision for termination of services of a permanent employee. Termination of services of a permanent labourer working in an ordnance factory on the ground of his having become permanently incapacitated due to an injury is not legal. (1964) 8 Fac LR 197 (200) (Cal).

(5) It is a condition implied in an ordinary contract of service that it comes to an end in the event of a supervening incapacity of an employee but where an employee is removed for a defect which he had when he was engaged then his removal from service after the probationary period cannot be justified on the basis of an implied condition of his employment, and therefore his discharge, amounts to a punishment. AIR 1958 All 844 (847) = 1958 All LJ 536 (DB). ((1874) 10 CP 125; (1876) 1 QBD 410 and (1907) 24 TLR 89, Rel. on.)

quences, the discharge is not by way of punishment. An enquiry as to the suitability of a temporary incumbent for being made permanent is not one under Article 311 (2). Termination of his service as a result of that enquiry is not by way of punishment with the result that the termination of his service was not a dismissal or removal within the meaning of Article 311 (2). AIR 1967 Cal 262 (265 to 268) = (1968) 2 Lab LJ 210 (DB)  AIR 1964 SC 449 (453).

(7-8) Simple termination of service of temporary Government servant under R. 5 of Central Civil Services (Temporary Service) Rules, 1949 — In reply to writ petition challenging order, affidavit alleging inefficiency and insubordination made — Held that termination was simple termination without attaching any stigma to the civil servant and Article 311 (2) had no application. AIR 1967 Cal 326 (330) = 70 Cal WN 1141 (DB).

(9) Petitioner failing to pass departmental examination — Services terminated under Rule 5, Central Civil Services (Temporary Service) Rules — Case is not one of removal or dismissal from service so as to attract Article 311. AIR 1960 Cal 314 (317).

(10) Schoolmaster — Termination of service on ground of incompetency — Rule requiring charges to be framed and opportunity to be heard complied with — Committee terminating services irrespective of charges — Termination held null and void. AIR 1957 Mad 561 (563) = (1957) 2 MLJ 24 (DB).

(11) If the ground of termination of the services of the temporary Government servant, is non-selection by the Public Service Commission, and the employee was not told when employed that he was liable to be removed if the Public Service Commission did not select him, then he is entitled to the protection offered by Article 311 (2). AIR 1958 Tripura 28 (33).

(12) It is not necessary for attracting Article 311 (2) that there must be misconduct; it can be attracted on other grounds also. If the reason is inefficiency or incapacity whether physical or mental then also Article 311 will be attracted. AIR 1958 Tripura 28 (33).

(13) An order discharging a public servant, even if a probationer in an enquiry on charges of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualification may appropriately be regarded as one by way of punishment. AIR 1961 SC 177 (180). (ILR (1958) Cut 77, Reversed.)

(2) Effect of Arts. 154 and 163 of the Constitution is that, a Governor rarely passes executive orders personally. He acts through his Ministers and subordinate officers. The words 'President' and 'Governor' appearing in Art. 310 should not be understood as the President and Governor in person. Even where an authority (not being the Governor) duly empowered on this behalf dismisses a subordinate civil servant, Art. 310 will be attracted. AIR 1959 All 771 (774).

(5) What cannot be delegated is the ultimate responsibility to dismiss or remove a civil servant so as to destroy a protection like the one afforded by Art. 311 (2). Any other power, in regard to which there is no constitutional protection or mandatory provision of law or rule having force of law, may be validly delegated. (13) In departmental enquiry the administrative agency making the findings must address itself to the evidence and on the evidence before it, conscientiously reach a conclusion which it deems to be just. A delinquent officer can only succeed if he is able to establish that the order challenged was made by punishing authority without directing its mind to the evidence in the case. ILR (1965) Andh Pra 482 (503) (DB).

46. Appeal from dismissal. — (1) Government of India Act, S. 246 — Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules (1930)—Punishment of civil servant in employment of State Government — Order made by Government — Appeal in regard to matter coming under Sch. 47. "Subordinate" meaning of. — (1) The word 'subordinate' in Art. 311 (1) of the Constitution means subordinate in rank and not with reference to the functions exercised. Consequently when no officer of equal rank to the appointing officer is available then the order of dismissal or removal will have to be passed by an officer of superior rank. In no circumstances can such an order be passed by an officer lower rank. Any rule or statute which permits such an action, must be held to be ultra vires as infringing the provisions of Art. 311 (1) of the Constitution. AIR 1963 Punj 370 (371, 372) = 65 Pun LR 964 (DB). (Lino operator appointed by Superintendent of

(2) Subordination refers to rank and not to powers and duties — Commissioner of Income-tax, Calcutta, not subordinate in rank to Commissioner of Income-tax, West Bengal. If a civil servant was originally appointed by the head of one department, he cannot be removed except by a person not lower in rank to the head of the department to which he is transferred. AIR 1962 Cal 3 (6, 7, 8) = (1961) 3 FLR 391.

(3) Article 311 (1) does not require that the dismissal must be by the very same officer who appointed him. The competent authority can be either the officer who initially made the appointment or any other officer who is co-ordinate in rank to him. No subordinate officer has jurisdiction to inflict any of the punishments contemplated by the Madras Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules.

Requirements of Art. 311 (1) are not satisfied where the order of compulsory retirement of the petitioner was passed by District Prohibition Officer, holding the rank of the Excise Assistant Commissioner, when the petitioner was appointed by the Commissioner of Excise. (4) An officer who is inferior in rank to the appointing authority is not necessarily subordinate to him. 1954 All L Jour 515 (517) (DB).

(5) The constitutional requirement in Article 311 that the dismissing authority should not be subordinate to the appointing authority operates when the former appointing authority exists and some other authority subordinate to it wants to exercise the power of dismissal over a civil servant. The constitutional expression 'an authority subordinate' indicates an existing subordination. But this sensible constitutional rule need not be converted into a senseless fetish by seeking to apply it to a situation where the authority dismissing the civil servant suffers no subordination because the post of the former appointing authority had ceased to exist. AIR 1958 Cal 356 (358, 359) = 62 Cal WN 531.

Under the rules in force in the Madhya Bharat State, a police constable could be removed from service by the Superintendent of Police. In the absence of any statutory rules creating a notional subordination it could not be held that the Superintendent of Police in the State of Madhya Bharat was an authority actually subordinate to the Dy. (10) So far as Railway servants are concerned, they are governed by the rules embodied in the Railway Establishment Code which is now accepted as being a body of rules promulgated by the President under Article 309. The Code itself lays down that in the case of non-gazetted posts the appointing authority is the General Manager or such other officer to whom he may delegate his power.

Though there is also provision in the Code, for the execution of a service agreement in the name of the President, a service agreement of this description is a mere formal document, and does not abrogate the rules embodied in the Code, which prescribes the 'appointing authority' for a staff belonging to class III or a non-gazetted staff.

(8) At the initial stage when charges are framed and served upon the delinquent officer, the punishing authority or the inquiring officer should not propose what punishment ultimately he is to be given. That is not the stage when any opinion as to the punishment can either be formed or expressed. Expression of such opinion amounts to prejudging the issue which is likely to create misapprehension in the mind of the delinquent officer. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 234 (235)  AIR 1961 Cal 626 (633) = 65 Cal WN 607 (DB). (Overruled on another point in AIR 1966 SC 951.)

(15) Where the original charges themselves were sufficiently serious to justify the dismissal of the civil servant on the proof of the charges and the authority has proposed to dismiss him on those charges, the failure to give fresh notice in regard to the additional charges will not invalidate the order of dismissal. AIR 1956 Pat 228 (232) (DB).

AIR 1963 SC 1612 (1615, 1616, 1618). (From the fact that enquiry report had suggested punishment of withholding of three increments while in show cause notice, action proposed was removal from service, it cannot be inferred that dismissing authority did not accept findings recorded by enquiring officer in favour of delinquent. AIR 1962 Assam 88, Reversed; AIR 1957 Orissa 184 and AIR 1960 Orissa 37, Overruled.)

(18) In issuing the second notice the dismissing authority has to come to a tentative or provisional conclusion about the guilt of the officer as well as about the punishment. AIR 1963 SC 1612 (1614, 1615).

(6) Enhancement of punishment made in exercise of revisional jurisdiction does not amount to a second punishment. AIR 1960 Bom 225 (230) = 61 Bom LR 1625.

(7) I. G. of Police could impose higher punishment only when the authority imposing the minor punishment has not got the powers to impose the major punishment. AIR 1958 Raj 284 (285) = 1959 Raj LW 641 (DB).

72. Powers of revising authority.— (1) Where a superior disciplinary authority in exercise of revisional power proposes to impose a penalty higher than the one originally imposed, it is at liberty to propose one of the more severe penalties but only tentatively and must keep an open mind, until consideration of the cause shown by delinquent against proposed penalty, whether or not to impose that penalty or any other major penalty. (1962) 66 Cal WN 54 (62) = 1962 (2) Cri LJ 529 = (1961) 3 Fac LR 274.

73. Bias and want of bona fides — See also Note 75 (d).— (1) If there are good reasons to think that the mind of tribunal or authority was prejudiced against person whose conduct was subject to scrutiny, by reason of something preceding it, then the tribunal's finding should not be allowed to stand. 1962 (2) Cri LJ 529 (531 to 533) = 66 Cal WN 54 (58, 60).

(5) Where the enquiring officer only appraises the evidence and submits his conclusions along with the record of enquiry to the authority competent to impose the punishment, there is no decision which is reached by the enquiring authority which can be challenged as being tainted by bias or for other like reasons. ILR (1965) 1 Mad 487 (495) (DB).

(6) Representation by the petitioner officer addressed to Chief Minister, Punjab — President's rule in Punjab when office notes were put up before Secretary of the Department — Representation ordered to be filed by Secretary — It cannot be said that Secretary had mala fide intention in withholding representation from the Chief Minister. AIR 1970 Punj 112 (125) = ILR (1969) 2 Punj 304 (FB).

74. Reasonable opportunity, what amounts to — General.— (1) The tests to be applied to find out whether a departmental enquiry was conducted in accordance with the principles of natural justice and whether the delinquent had reasonable opportunity or not are as follows: (i) Whether an opportunity to deny the guilt and establish his innocence had been given by framing definite charges and by disclosing the allegations on which the charges were based. (ii) Whether opportunity to defend himself by cross-examining the witnesses produced against him and examined in his presence and to examine himself or any other witnesses in support of his defence was given; (iii) Whether no materials had been relied on against the delinquent in the enquiry without his being given an opportunity to explain the same; (iv) Whether opportunity to make his representation as to why the proposed punishment should not be inflicted upon him had been given. 1968 Lab IC 1268 (1270) (Tripura)  1967 Raj LW 24 (27) = ILR (1966) 16 Raj 740 (DB)  AIR 1963 Tripura 20

(26, 27, 28)  AIR 1960 Pat 116 (123) (DB).

(2) What is reasonable opportunity has not been defined in the Constitution or the General Clauses Act. But the words have acquired a legal meaning and it cannot be left to the vagaries of each individual. The word 'reasonable' must therefore mean according to rules of natural justice which are rules of law. AIR 1958 All 532 (539, 540) = ILR (1958) 1 All 577.

(3) The essential element of reasonable opportunity is that the petitioner must know the precise charge against him and the evidence on which it is based. AIR 1960 All 323 (330).

(4) It is only when an action of the type, namely, dismissal or removal or reduction in rank is proposed that there should be an opportunity. This opportunity should be a reasonable one and therefore, the opportunity to show cause should cover both the points, namely, the question of guilt and the nature of punishment. A reasonable opportunity contemplated by Article 311 of the Constitution must refer to the opportunity to show cause against the truth of the charges framed and the opportunity must also cover the question of the nature of punishment. AIR 1963 Guj 244 (247, 248).

(5) All enquiries, judicial, departmental or other, into the conduct of individuals must conform to certain standards. (1959) 2 Mad LJ 15 (24, 25) = 1959 MLJ (Crl) 433.

(6) That the opportunity to show cause must be reasonable implies that the finding arrived at in the enquiry against the public servant and on which action is taken against him is a bona fide one and it is open to examination by the Court to see whether it is such that it could possibly be reached by any reasonable person. AIR 1956 Mad 220 (225)  AIR 1956 Pepsu 19 (26).

(7) What Clause (2) of Article 311 stipulates is "a reasonable opportunity of making representation on the penalty proposed". Such an opportunity should naturally permit not only a representation that penalty proposed is excessive in quantum or character but also a representation that he is innocent of charge and that the penalty proposed should not hence be imposed at all. AIR 1969 Ker 244 (245, 246) = 1969 Lab IC 1110 = 1968 Ker LJ 718 (FB). (1964 Ker LT 180, Overruled.)

(8) Question of reasonable opportunity to show cause is dependent on peculiar facts of each case. What is reasonable is not necessarily what is best but, what is fairly appropriate under all circumstances of case. AIR 1969 Delhi 145 (147) = 1969 Lab IC 539 (DB)  AIR 1956 Punj

58 (62) = ILR (1956) Punj 236 (DB)  AIR 1954 Bom 351 (355) = 56 Bom LR 172 (DB). (Impliedly Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 375.)

(9) What constitutes a 'reasonable opportunity' will generally depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 322 (327) = 1959 MPLJ 623 (DB)  AIR 1945 FC 47 (58) = 1945 FCR 103 = ILR (1945) Kar (FC) 101  AIR 1958 Raj 1 (6) (DB)  AIR 1957 All 274 (275) (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 414 (417) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 402 (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 197 (200) (DB)  ILR (1957) Andh Pra 715 (738)  AIR 1969 All 11 (14) = 1969 Lab IC 1  AIR 1958 All 532 (537, 538) = ILR (1958) 1 All 577.

(10) Where orders were made against a person, it becomes duty of the authority to hear judicially that is to say, in an objective manner impartially and after giving reasonable opportunity to parties concerned in dispute, to place their respective cases before it passing an order which affects a person. without giving him an opportunity of being heard would be held to be vitiated as being contrary to principles of natural justice. 1969 Lab IC 712 (716) = (1968) 1 Andh WR 86 (DB).

(11) If the safeguards provided by Article 311 are not to be rendered illusory, the words 'reasonable opportunity' must be deemed to mean 'a real and adequate opportunity which is not merely nominal or a sham one.' AIR 1958 Punj 327 (329, 330) = 59 Punj LR 532 (DB). (Delinquent asked to defend himself before person who is already biased against him — Order of dismissal quashed.)

(12) Where reasonable opportunity has been given the failure to give "reasonable facilities" is not a ground of complaint. AIR 1955 Pat 305 (315) = ILR 34 Pat 625 (DB).

(13-14) Reversion on ground of antecedents and unsatisfactory character — Confidential information — Exclusion from service on ground of antecedents and unsatisfactory character may affect his reputation and make him ineligible for future employment — This entitles the civil servant to opportunity to defend himself. AIR 1965 Ker 149 (152) = 1964 Ker LT 1066.

(15) Order of removal from service which denied to non-applicant reasonable opportunity of defending himself in disregard of protection afforded by Article 311 (2), was a nullity and non-existent in eye of law. (1968) Jab LJ 1036 (1039).

(16) It is not for the delinquent Government servant to dictate the manner in which an enquiry shall be held in respect of his misbehaviour. He cannot even claim an enquiry as of right. All that he is entitled to under Art. 311 (2) of the Constitution is to have a notice of the charges levelled against him with opportunity to submit his explanation thereto and a further notice of the punishment that is proposed to be inflicted on him with a like opportunity to submit whatever he has to say in answer thereto. AIR 1962 Ker 43 (47) = (1961) 2 Lab LJ 50 = 1961 Ker LT 486 (DB).

(17) In the context of Article 311 (1) of the Constitution which forbids removal of a civil servant from service by way of punishment 'by an authority subordinate to that by which he was appointed' it is reasonable to construe the provision in paragraph 1 of Rule 17 (2), Kerala Rules, as implying that it is the same authority that can initiate and pursue the steps enjoined by it. Article 311 (2) does not purport to define what is reasonable opportunity; it does not leave it to be defined by rules either. What reasonable opportunity means, has therefore, to be determined by the Court. It means reasonable according to the rules of natural justice which are rules of law. AIR 1960 Ker 279 (280 to 284) = 1960 Ker LT 222 = 1960 Ker LJ 239 = (1960) 2 Lab LJ 398.

(18) In answer to a second show-cause notice under Article 311 (2), a Government servant is entitled to make his representation both on the merits as well as on the quantum of punishment. In other words he is entitled to show two things viz., (1) that he is not guilty and (2) that the punishment is severer than warranted. AIR 1961 Guj 130 (135, 136, 137) = (1961) 2 Guj LR 331 (DB).

(19) Memo of charge mentioning proposed punishment violates Article 311 (2) — It shows that even before the charges were enquired into and a finding arrived at on the basis of the enquiry the Government servant had been prejudged. AIR 1964 Mad 375 (375, 376) = (1963) 2 Lab LJ 62.

(20) A punishment of suspension for a short period of six months as a result of departmental proceedings is not one of the type of punishments covered by Article 311 and where it is proposed to inflict such a punishment it is unnecessary to issue a second show cause notice to the person proceeded against. AIR 1964 Mad 518 (518) = (1964) 2 MLJ 97.

(21) Question whether sufficient opportunity under Article 311 (2) was given to Government servant before his dismissal is one of fact — Concurrent finding by Courts below that sufficient opportunity was given — Finding is binding on High Court in second appeal. ILR (1961) 2 All 90 (93) (DB).

(22) The question whether reasonable opportunity has or has not been afforded to Government servant must depend on facts of each case. AIR 1960 SC 1302

(23) Departmental Enquiry — Person who had not given evidence at preliminary investigation as witness examined as witness at close of departmental enquiry — Prayer of delinquent for short adjournment for cross-examination of witness refused — Delinquent had not even time to copy out deposition in chief before he had to cross-examine — Held delinquent was not given reasonable opportunity to defend himself. (1963) 6 FLR 26 (34) = (1963) 1 Lab LJ 708 (Cal).

(24) When the Government servant concerned did have the opportunities referred to envisaged in Art. 311 (2) the mere fact that the show cause notice at the second stage mentioned all the three punishments referred to in Art. 311 will not make the notice bad. AIR 1969 SC 538 (539, 540, 541) = 1959 Supp (1) SCR 892  AIR 1969 Delhi 145 (149) = 1969 Lab IC 539 (DB)  AIR 1964 Cal 68 (71, 73) = 68 Cal WN 720 (DB).

(25) The reasonable opportunity contemplated by Article 311 (2) has manifestly to be in accordance with the rules framed under Article 309. AIR 1963 SC 779 (785, 786) = (1963) Supp (1) SCR 648.

(26) In determining the reasonableness of opportunity to show cause against action proposed, court cannot be influenced by considerations which are extraneous to legal issue involved viz. resort to hunger strike and similar extra-legal methods for enforcement of legal rights. AIR 1969 Cal 397 (401, 402) = 1969 Lab IC 1094 = 73 Cal WN 803.

(27) Compliance with Rule 55 of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules is necessary. The person proceeded against should have an opportunity of rebutting evidence that is proposed to be used against him. ILR (1957) 9 Assam 223 (242) (DB).

(28) Under Article 310 the tenure of an employee under State Government is at the pleasure of the Governor. This pleasure being restricted by the provisions of Article 311 of the Constitution, an order of dismissal can only be set aside on the ground that the provisions of Art. 311 (2) have been violated. AIR 1962 Assam 17 (18) (DB).

(29) The protection granted to the petitioner under Article 311 of the Constitution is confined to an opportunity being given to him to disprove the charges and establish his innocence. AIR 1960 Assam 141 (143, 147, 148) (DB).

(30) Dismissal order passed without giving reasonable opportunity to dismissed teacher to defend himself — Order is against the principles of natural justice and invalid and therefore, liable to be quashed under Articles 226 and 227. 1968 Lab IC 80 (81) = 33 Cut LT 171 (DB).

(31) Restrictions in regard to the right of representation as provided in Clause 5

Articles 310 & 311 — Note 74 (contd.) of the Rule 11 of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules are not unreasonable and do not amount to a denial of fair and reasonable opportunity to the delinquent Government servant to defend himself. A Government servant is in a responsible and privileged position. The opportunity that can be afforded to him to explain the charges against him need not be identical with that which is allowed to an ordinary accused. It is sufficient if the opportunity is a reasonable opportunity: (1964) 1 Mys LJ 333 = (1964) 9 FLR 98 (DB).

(32) The expression giving reasonable opportunity means opportunity, the vital elements of which are timely notice and full opportunity to the person concerned, to present all the evidence and arguments which he deems important for the purpose of his case. The enquiry officer must conduct the hearing with open-mindedness, fairness and impartiality and must approach the hearing without bias and without prejudgment of the issues. AIR 1958 Punj 402 (412, 413) = 61 Punj LR 167 (DB).

(33) A Government servant cannot claim a right to be associated with the investigation which culminates in the enquiry against him either under any statute or rules or even under the principles of natural justice. (1965) 67 Punj LR 763 (766).

74 (a). Two opportunities.— (1) There must be two enquiries or opportunities, the one as regards charges and another as regards the punishment. AIR 1955 SC 160 (164) = 1955 SCR 1011  AIR 1958 Andh Pra 269 (272) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 780 (DB)  AIR 1958 Raj 1 (3) (DB)  AIR 1957 All 439 (447) (DB)  AIR 1963 SC 1612 (1614, 1615) = (1964) 2 SCR 1  1957 All LJ 62 (67) = 1956 All WR (HC) 759.

(2) Two opportunities are essential — the first is a matter of natural justice, the second is a constitutional injunction. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 269 (272) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 780 (DB).

(3) Under Article 311 there are two stages in the proceedings, the first being when the charges are enquired into and at this stage the person required to meet the charges should be given a reasonable opportunity to enter into his defence; and the second stage is when after the enquiring authority has come to the conclusion on the charges and there arises the question of the proper punishment to be awarded. A notice has then again to be given to show cause against the punishment proposed. AIR 1964 Pat 168 (171)  1968 BLJR 815 (821, 822) (DB)  1959 Andh Pra 497 (503) (DB)  AIR 1961 J and K 25 (26, 27) (DB).

(4-5) The opportunity under Clause (2) should include opportunity to show cause not only against the punishment but also against the grounds on which it was proposed to award the punishment. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 240 (251) (DB)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 370 (373) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 26  AIR 1956 Bom 483 (489)  AIR 1956 Pat 228 (232) (DB).

(6) A further opportunity to show cause as contemplated by Article 311 (2) implies that reasons for coming to conclusion about civil servant's guilt must be communicated to him. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 318 (320) = 1964 MPLJ 493 (DB).

(7) Under Section 126 of the State Constitution, the civil servant against whom a departmental enquiry is held is entitled to have an opportunity of showing cause at two stages, once at the enquiry stage against the charges brought against him and again after he is found guilty and punishment is provisionally proposed — against the punishment so proposed upon the finding. AIR 1958 J and K 28 (29) (DB).

(8) Reasonable opportunity as contemplated by Article 311 (2) envisages (a) an opportunity to deny guilt and establish innocence, which the petitioner can only do if he is told what the charges levelled against him are and the allegations on which such charges are based; (b) an opportunity to defend himself by cross-examining the witnesses produced against him and finally (c) an opportunity to make his representation as to why the proposed punishment should not be inflicted on him, which he can only do if the competent authority, after the enquiry is over tentatively proposes to inflict one of the three punishments and communicates the same to the Government servant. AIR 1960 Ker 63 (65, 66) = 1959 Ker LT 961 = (1960) 1 Lab LJ 311  (1959) 2 Lab LJ 271 (272) (DB) (Andh Pra).

(9) Finding of inquiry officer or summary thereof should be supplied along with show cause notice. AIR 1965 Orissa 81 (84, 85, 86, 87) = (1965) 7 OJD 93 (DB).

(10) Judicial officer in State service — Enquiry started against him by appointing Enquiry Commissioner — Enquiry conducted properly — Show cause notice issued by punishing authority — Officer is not entitled to be heard orally at this stage — This is so even when punishing authority differs in some respects from Enquiry Commissioner. AIR 1963 Ker 92 (98, 99).

(11) Reasonable opportunity should be given to a civil servant to show cause against the charges made against him and that is also a protection afforded to a civil servant under Article 311, though it does not provide in express terms for any notice to show cause against the charges. AIR 1958 All 532 (537) = ILR (1958) 1 All 577.

(12) The opportunity of showing cause contemplated by Art. 311 is the opportunity after the issuing of the show cause notice and it is always open to a Government servant against whom an enquiry has already been held to urge before the dismissing or removing authority that on the basis of the material on the record the proposed punishment should not be awarded to him. AIR 1959 All 47 (49) = 1958 All LJ 280 = 1958 All WR (HC) 429.

(13) Opportunity to show cause against proposed punishment — Mere mention of proposed punishments in charge-sheet not sufficient — Second opportunity to show cause against proposed punishment must be given when Authority decides to punish delinquent officer after considering enquiry report. AIR 1965 All 492 (493, 494) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 427.

(14) If reasonable opportunity has not been afforded at the first stage, it can be afforded afterwards, before the second stage is entered upon. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 126 (132)  AIR 1957 Punj 42 (45) = ILR (1957) Punj 198 (DB)  AIR 1956 Madh B 257 (258) (DB).

(15) The words 'but only on the basis of the evidence adduced during such enquiry' occurring at the end of the amended Cl. (2) of Article 311 leave no doubt that the Government servant is not entitled to adduce fresh or additional evidence at the second stage. At the second stage the Government servant can also urge that the charges levelled against him have not been proved or established and that no penalty of any kind should be imposed on him or that on the findings reached at the enquiry the proposed penalty should not be imposed on him. AIR 1968 Madh Pra 132 (134, 135) = 1968 Lab IC 939 = 1968 MPLJ 14 (DB).

(16) As regards the second notice, namely, the notice to show cause against the proposed punishment under Art. 311, Clause (2), it has been held that the proper authority to give such notice would be the authority competent to dismiss, remove or reduce. (2) On the ending of the suspension, the officer is simply allotted his job and there is no question of any "re-instatement" in the proper sense of the term, as the question of "re-instatement" can only arise in case of dismissal or removal from service, or termination of service in any other manner. AIR 1958 Cal 239 (241).

(3) Contention that civil servants who were reverted should have asked for their reinstatement in particular post and removal of another occupying that post instead of asking to quash order of reversion — Held, contention was not acceptable. AIR 1967 Mys 225 (231) = (1966) 8 Law Rep 448 (DB).

(4) Suit for salary by Government servant — Consequences of setting aside order of dismissal of Government servant were that he could have been reinstated on the date of the suit and could have asked for arrears of salary. AIR 1960 Cal 278 (282) (AIR 1954 SC 245, Foll.).

AIR 1967 Mys 136 (138) = (1966) 2 Mys LJ 584 (DB).

(6) Since no punishment at all was imposed on the petitioner on the basis of a finding that he was guilty of the charges which were framed against him, the direction that the petitioner should be treated as being on leave without allowance for the interim period held could not be sustained, and the petitioner was right in claiming his salary for that period. AIR 1962 Mys 43 (44) = 39 Mys LJ 576 (DB).

84. Domestic enquiry. — (1) Domestic enquiry cannot be equated to enquiries under Art. 311. AIR 1968 SC 236 (238) = (1968) 1 SCR 307.

(2) A domestic inquiry against a Government servant is in a way of a quasi-criminal nature. It is for the prosecution to produce evidence to establish the guilt of the person charged. 1965 Punj LR (Supp) 66 (78) = ILR (1965) 2 Punj 319.

(3-4) Domestic enquiry — Dismissal of civil servants — Charge cannot be sustained if not based on any evidence, or if proved facts cannot possibly lead to conclusion of proof of charge or if the charge sought to be established against employee at the bar is not the one he has been called upon to meet. 1968 Lab IC 259 (263) (Delhi).

(5) In a domestic enquiry, Evidence Act does not apply and the Enquiry Officer is entitled to collect evidence not hedged in any way by limitations prescribed under Evidence Act (e. g. leading questions.) (1966) 12 Fac LR 80 (84) = (1966) 2 Lab LJ 282 (Cal).

(6) Natural justice — Domestic enquiry — Examination of witness — Reading out his statement already recorded behind the back of delinquent servant — Procedure, though irregular, does not vitiate enquiry. 1969 Lab IC 1441 (1447) (Goa).

(7) Domestic enquiry — Statements need not be recorded as questions and answers — There is no rule that statement recorded in narrative form would prejudice worker in such enquiry. 32 FJR 214 (216) = (1967) 2 Mad LJ 199.

(8) Domestic inquiry — Principles of natural justice — Enquiry Officer not bound to tell employee about his right to lead evidence in defence or ask him whether he wants to adduce evidence — Failure on the part of Enquiry Officer to do so, not violative of principles of natural justice. AIR 1967 Bom 147 (152) = 68 Bom LR 749 (DB).

(9) Domestic enquiry — Matters of record — Leading questions about them, put to delinquent — Not improper. AIR 1968 SC 236 (239) = (1968) 1 SCR 307.

(10) Domestic enquiry — It is wise to ask the delinquent whether he would like to make a statement first or wait till the evidence is over; but failure to question him in this way does not ipso facto vitiate the enquiry unless prejudice is caused. AIR 1968 SC 236 (239) = (1968) 1 SCR 307.

(11) It is not an invariable rule that in a domestic enquiry all the evidence against a delinquent must be led before he is asked anything. AIR 1968 SC 236 (239) = (1968) 1 SCR 307.

(12) It is not fair in domestic enquiries against a Government servant just as against industrial employees that the said servant should be closely cross-examined at the very commencement of the enquiry, even before any other evidence is led against him. 1965 Pun LR (Supp) 66 (77, 78) = ILR (1965) 2 Punj 319.

(13) Domestic enquiry — Report by Enquiry Officer regarding findings and recommending mode of punishment — Supply of report along with show cause notice to delinquent — Part of report relating to punishment cannot be withheld. AIR 1969 SC 1204 (1296) = 1969 Lab IC 1547 = (1969) 2 SCJ 740.

(14) Domestic inquiry into misconduct of employee during pendency of a parallel inquiry before Court in the absence of stay order does not amount to contempt. AIR 1969 SC 30 (32, 33) = 1969 Cr LJ 267 = 1969 Lab IC 194 = (1968) 2 SCJ 955.

(15) Domestic enquiry — Charge against petitioner of accepting illegal gratification — Defence that the amount was subsequently reimbursed but no receipt for reimbursement produced — Held, though party paying gratification was not required to produce receipt for payment of gratification, punishment of petitioner relying on non-production of receipt for reimbursement, could not be interfered with on the ground that different standard of proof was adopted. AIR 1968 Delhi 26 (28) = 1968 Lab LC 24 (DB).

(16) Per Sen J. :— Civil Court cannot sit in appeal over decision of an Enquiring Officer, a domestic tribunal. Enquiring Officer is not bound to follow strict rules of law of evidence. The scope of reasonable enquiry cannot be extended in the manner suggesting that reasonable opportunity implies correct decision by enquiring officer. AIR 1966 Cal 42 (49) = (1968) 2 Lab LJ 617 (DB).

(17) Enquiry officer orally hearing parties and giving findings without recording any evidence — Government setting aside his report and appointing another officer unconnected with the office of the delinquent servant and accepting his findings — Order of Government held was within its powers and no mala fides could be attributed. AIR 1969 Manipur 36 (40) = 1969 Lab IC 561.

(18) Domestic Tribunal — Delegation of its essential functions by designated authority will render its decision invalid. AIR 1968 Delhi 26 (28) = 1968 Lab IC 24 (DB).

85. Fresh proceedings in respect of same matter. — (1) If a disciplinary proceeding is commenced with respect to an accusation and that disciplinary proceeding has reached the stage when an enquiry has been completed that disciplinary proceeding must end either in the imposition of a punishment or in exoneration. If that disciplinary proceeding has not been terminated in that way, the commencement of another disciplinary proceedings with respect to these charges is plainly incompetent. (1969) 1 Mys LJ 405 (406) = 1969 Serv LR 362 (DB).

(2) Where the circumstances in which the first disciplinary proceeding was discontinued support no other inference than that the discontinuance was the outcome of the acceptance of the explanation offered by the petitioner, it is not within the competence of the disciplinary authority to exhumate those charges and to make them the subject-matter of another disciplinary proceeding. 1968 Lab IC 756 (757) (Mys) = (1966) 2 Mys LJ 324.

(3) Where a Government servant is censured departmentally for a certain matter, the punishment may be enhanced by a higher authority in revision even assuming that a fresh departmental proceeding cannot be drawn up against a Government servant on the same material. AIR 1955 Assam 240 (242) = 1955 Cri L Jour 1474 (DB).

(4) Where a certain decision has been taken with regard to a Government servant by a competent authority and it has been acted upon and is in effective operation, the successor-in-office of the authority cannot reopen the matter and give a totally different decision. (5) Departmental enquiry — Proceedings quashed by Civil Court on ground of irregularity in procedure — Fresh departmental enquiry can be held on same facts. AIR 1962 SC 1334 (1336).

86. ARTICLE 311 (2), PROVISOS
Proviso (a).

(1) Under Proviso (a), where a Government servant has been convicted on a criminal charge and is subsequently dismissed from service on the same accusation it is not necessary that he must be again given an opportunity to defend himself before he is so dismissed. AIR 1957 Orissa 51 (54) = ILR (1956) Cut 615 (DB)  AIR 1957 Punj 97 (98)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 72 (76) = (1965) 2 Andh WR 423.

(2) The Proviso to Art. 311 (2) will apply only when a person while in Government service was convicted on a criminal charge and he was dismissed on the ground of conduct which led to such conviction. AIR 1960 Tripura 31 (34). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1960 SC 601.)

(3) The whole object of the proviso is to avoid duplication of enquiry in the matter where already there has been a regular trial by a competent court and the person has had ample chance of defending himself. AIR 1959 Assam 134 (135) (DB).

(4) Proviso to Art. 311 (2) becomes applicable only if a person has been convicted on a criminal charge. Conviction here can have only one meaning, namely, that the person must have been convicted finally. AIR 1959 Punj 401 (402) = 60 Punj LR 597.

(5) The words "led to his conviction on a criminal charge" in Proviso (a) to Art. 311 (2) can only mean a criminal charge which has finally resulted in conviction of person proceeded against. AIR 1961 All 336 (337, 338) (DB).

(6) Where the dismissal orders against certain Railway employees were passed when appeals against their convictions under the Penal Code by the trial Court were already pending before the appellate Court which ultimately allowed them, the case of the employees is not covered by Art. 311 (2) Proviso, Clause (a). AIR 1960 All 538 (539).

(7) Removal from service on ground of conviction on criminal charge — Conviction set aside in appeal — Government not entitled to benefit of sub-clause (a) of proviso — Claim of departmental enquiry under Art. 311 (2) is justified. AIR 1969 All 414 (419) (FB).

(8) Proviso (a) contemplates 'conviction' finally and not by trial Court AIR 1965 Punj 153 (154, 155) = 67 Pun LR 84 AIR 1961 Mad 486 (492, 493) = (1961) 1 Mad LJ 273.

(9) A charge under Sections 120 and 121, Railways Act, on which a person is convicted falls under the proviso as the offences covered by the aforesaid sections can be regarded to be criminal in the sense in which that expression is used in the proviso. AIR 1959 Punj 169 (169) = ILR (1959) Punj 218. (AIR 1946 Mad 375, Rel. on.)

(10) The words 'criminal charge' in the proviso (a) to Art. 311 (2) connote nothing more nor less than criminal accusation. If this were not so, it will lead to starting results in cases where no charge is framed under the Criminal Procedure Code. A conviction under Section 70 (c), Hyderabad City Police Act is a conviction on a criminal charge within the meaning of the proviso. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 72 (72, 73) = (1965) 2 An WR 423 = 1966 Cri LJ 251 (DB).

(11) Where a Government servant is convicted for contempt of Court, such conviction constitutes conviction on a "criminal charge" for the purpose of proviso (a). AIR 1946 Mad 375 (377).

(12) Conviction for contempt of Court — Dismissal on the ground of contempt and also for forgery — R. 15 of Central Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1957 attracted — Rule 18 (1) which is to the same effect as Art. 311 (2) Proviso (a) not attracted — Opportunity to explain his case not given — Dismissal is illegal. AIR 1966 Punj 447 (449) = 1965 Pun LR (Supp) 453.

(13) Bihar and Orissa Boards Miscellaneous Rules (1928), Rule 176 (c) — Criminal prosecution started against Government servant — Acquittal on ground of benefit of doubt — This does not preclude the Government department from proceeding against said servant and punishing him after following rules of enquiry. AIR 1962 Orissa 125 (127) = (1962) 4 Orissa JD 61 (DB).

(14) Only two exceptions can be treated as valid in dealing with the scope and effect of protection afforded by Art. 311 (2). If a permanent public servant is asked to retire on ground that he has reached age of superannuation which has been reasonably fixed, Art. 311 (2) does not apply because such retirement is neither dismissal nor removal. If he is compulsorily retired under rules which prescribe normal age of superannuation and provide for a reasonably long period of qualified service after which alone compulsory retirement can be ordered, that again may not amount to dismissal or removal. AIR 1964 SC 1585 (1589, 1590) = 1964 (2) Cri LJ 481 = (1964) 7 SCR 587 (Art. 9.1 of Pepsu Service Regulations as amended by Notification dated 19th January, 1960, held invalid.)

(15) Misconduct by Government servant — Conviction by criminal Court — Government passing order of suspension and of dismissal — Latter order amounts to second punishment for same misconduct and is illegal — Order held not covered by Proviso (a) to Article 311 (2). 1964 (1) Cri LJ 112 (113) = (1963) 2 Mys LJ 28.

Proviso (b).

(16) In all disciplinary proceedings against a Government servant he is entitled to be given a 'reasonable opportunity' at two stages. In respect of both the stages in special circumstances the superior authority may dispense with the service of notice on the delinquent public servant. In the first stage he may proceed with the enquiry ex parte if the person concerned has absconded or were it is for other reasons considered impracticable to communicate with him, but this he can do only "for special and sufficient reasons to be recorded in writing." At the second stage also he may dispense with the issue of notice if he is satisfied that for some reasons to be recorded in writing "it is not reasonably practicable" to give the public servant concerned an opportunity of showing cause against the proposed punishment. AIR 1964 Ori 29 (31, 32, 33) = (1964) 6 Ori JD 91 = (1964) 2 Lab LJ 539 (DB).

Proviso (c).

(17) Under Proviso (c) where the President or Governor, as the case may be, is satisfied that in the interest of the security of the State it is not expedient to give a civil servant an opportunity to show cause, the satisfaction is that of the President or the Governor and so long as he acted in good faith, it is not justiciable in a Court of law. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 619 (621)  AIR 1958 Andh Pra 288 (291) = ILR (1958) Andh Pra 310 (DB).

(18) Satisfaction contemplated is the subjective satisfaction of the competent authority. AIR 1967 Raj 194 (198, 199) = 1967 Raj LW 164 (DB)  AIR 1969 All 422 = 1968 All LJ 554.

(19) What Article 311 (2), Proviso (c) requires is satisfaction of the President about the expediency of not giving an opportunity to the employee concerned in the interest of the security of the State. AIR 1958 Bom 283 (289) = 1958 Nag LJ 50 (DB).

(20) It cannot be said that under Clause (c) of the proviso to sub-sec. (2) of Article 311, one of the two enquiries,

namely, the second enquiry has been dispensed with and that it is still obligatory to hold an enquiry as to whether the charges levelled against the Government servant have been substantiated and to give an opportunity to him to be represented in such enquiry. AIR 1962 Cal 481 (482, 483) = (1963) 2 Lab LJ 161.

(21) Order issued under Article 310 (1) terminating services of employee — Order challenged on ground of it being issued without satisfaction contemplated under Article 311 (2), Proviso (c) — Satisfaction not proved — Order violates Article 311 (2). AIR 1969 All 422 (423).

(22) The applicability of Clause (2) of Article 311 requiring 'reasonable opportunity of showing cause against the action' is excluded by virtue of sub-clause (c) of the Proviso. Sub-clause (c) of the Proviso would be devoid of any meaning and content if it is held that the first or even the second opportunity under Article 311 (2) falls outside the purview of the President's satisfaction. AIR 1962 Punj 400 (401).

(23) Civil Rules will not be applicable to a case where the President or the Governor decides under Proviso (c) to Article 311, Clause (2) that in the interest of the security of the State it is not expedient to give to the Government servant concerned the opportunity to show cause under Article 311, Clause (2). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 288 (291) = ILR (1958) Andh Pra 310 (DB).

(24) Matters dealt with under Article 311 can be disposed of in the manner contemplated by Article 77 of the Constitution which deals with the conduct of "Government business" since this expression means in generic sense the exercise of the executive authority of the Union which certainly comprises the discharge of the executive function of the President under Article 311. AIR 1967 Raj 194 (198) = 1967 Raj LW 164 (DB).

(25) Question of sufficiency of the data on which the satisfaction is based cannot be gone into — It can only be attacked on the ground of mala fides — In the absence of any specific allegation as to who was animated by ill-will or bad faith towards the concerned employee, the plea of bad faith on the part of the authority held could not succeed. AIR 1967 Raj 194 (198, 199) = 1967 Raj LW 164 (DB).

(26) If a party establishes by placing relevant material before the Court that the order was made mala fide or for ulterior purposes, the order may be set aside on the ground that it is a fraud on the Court. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 619 (622)  AIR 1958 Andh Pra 288 (291) = ILR (1958) Andh Pra 310 (DB).

(27) Opportunity of being heard deprived under Proviso (c) — President need not assign reasons for so depriving. AIR 1962 Punj 400 (401, 402).

(28) Satisfaction contemplated under the proviso is not personal satisfaction of the Governor but of Government. AIR 1962 Cal 481 (484) = (1963) 2 Lab LJ 161.

(29) Order removing Railway servant from service and dispensing with holding of inquiry for security purposes — Matter disposed of by Railway Minister in person — Order issued in the name of President, reciting his satisfaction and authenticated by a Deputy Director of Railway Board — Order cannot be challenged on ground that it is not an order or instrument made by the President — Personal satisfaction of the President is not necessary. AIR 1967 Raj 194 (196) = 1967 Raj LW 164 (DB).

87. Article 311 (3). — (1) The application of Clause (3) of Article 311 does not come in except with reference to sub-clause (b) of the Proviso. AIR 1954 Assam 18 (22) = ILR (1954) 6 Assam 107 = 1954 Cri L Jour 31 (DB).

88. Voluntary resignation or voluntary retirement. — (1) Where a civil servant has attained the age of fifty-five years and for some reason or other himself confesses his inability to continue in service any longer and seeks permission for retirement, it would be a useless formality to ask him to show cause as to why his service should not be terminated, before the order for his retirement is passed. Article 311, Cl. (2) cannot have any possible application in such circumstances. AIR 1954 SC 548 (586)  AIR 1957 Assam 77 (80) (DB).

(2) Where a civil servant applies for and is granted permission to retire on his completing the age of fifty-five years and he accordingly retires, he cannot subsequently change his mind and ask for the cancellation of the retirement order, though he may be on 'post-retirement leave' and such leave may not have expired at the time. AIR 1954 SC 584 (587).

(3) A civil servant can withdraw his resignation at any time before it is accepted. AIR 1956 All 153 (154).

(4) Where a letter of resignation is expressly made operative only from a future date, it can be withdrawn at any time before such date. AIR 1956 All 70 (71).

(5) Where a person's services are terminated on the ground of his having tendered his resignation while as a matter of fact he has not done so, and he is not given any opportunity of showing why he should not be dismissed or removed from service, the order cannot stand. AIR 1954 Bhopal 25 (30).

Articles 310 & 311 — Note 86 (contd.)

(6) As in the case of a temporary Government servant, a probationary Government servant also may terminate his service by one month's notice. AIR 1963 Cal 359 (364) = (1962) 2 Lab LJ 541.

89. Suspension — See also Note 105.—
(1) Article 311 is not concerned with suspension from service. AIR 1962 SC 630 (632).

(2) Suspension is of two kinds, interim suspension and suspension as a penalty. Suspension pending departmental enquiry or pending criminal proceedings is called interim suspension after departmental enquiry, public servant may be found guilty and penalty by way of suspension may be imposed, in which case it is called suspension as a penalty. AIR 1966 All 552 (554)  AIR 1964 SC 787 (792, 793).

(3) Suspension is of two kinds, namely suspension as punishment and suspension pending enquiry. Suspension during enquiry may however also be of two kinds, for a distinction must be drawn between suspending an employee from service and suspending him from performing duties of his post or office. If there is contract of service in strict sense, first kind of suspension involves suspension of contract, while second involves only a suspension of employee from performance of his duties on the basis that contract is subsisting. AIR 1961 All 580 (582) = 1961 All LJ 350 (DB).

(4) Suspension order does not put an end to the service under the Government. Real effect of suspension order is that though he continues to be a member of the Government service, he is not permitted to work and further during the period of his suspension he is paid only some allowance generally called "subsistence allowance." AIR 1963 SC 687 (690, 691).

(5) The authority entitled to appoint a public servant would be entitled to suspend him pending a departmental enquiry into his conduct or pending a criminal proceeding, which may eventually result in a departmental enquiry against him. This general principle is illustrated by the provision in Section 16 of the General Clauses Act which is in consonance with the general law of Master and Servant. AIR 1964 SC 787 (792, 793) = (1964) 5 SCR 431.

(6) Even under old Rule 49 of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1930, a civil servant could be suspended while an enquiry into his conduct was pending. Though suspension as a punishment could only be the result of an enquiry and an act of judgment on the part of the competent authority, still suspension during the pendency of an enquiry was made. AIR 1963 Punj 87

(89) = 65 Punj LR 40 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1964 SC 787.)

(7) Interim suspension — Public servant should be paid subsistence allowance in accordance with any statute or rule there may be to govern the matter — If there is no rule he will be entitled to full emoluments during the period of suspension. AIR 1964 SC 787 (793).

(8) An employee can be suspended by way of punishment, but in that case it is the suspension which is the substantive punishment and there is no other punishment. Suspension pending a departmental enquiry of a criminal charge is a different matter altogether and the servant concerned is asked not to associate himself directly with the activities of his employment. In such a case, some interim arrangement is made for a subsistence allowance and it is implied that if the proceedings enure in his favour, he would get full wages.

Rule 7 (v) of the Bengal Subordinate Civil Services Rules speaks about suspension as a substantive punishment. The rules expressly exclude the case of suspension pending the proceedings. But it is the inherent right of Government in respect of its servants to make an order of suspension pending the determination of any criminal proceedings against the servant concerned. The petitioner, a civil servant, was suspended from service on the basis of a First Information Report in respect of certain offences alleged to have been committed by him. The petitioner was, however, discharged at the subsequent trial on the technical ground of want of proper complaint. On the same day a fresh complaint was filed in accordance with law and it was subsequently ordered that the suspension order should stand. Held, that the suspension order had not come to an end by the discharge of the petitioner but continued till the final determination of the criminal proceeding. AIR 1961 Cal 225 (225, 226) = 65 Cal WN 129.

(9) Under Rule 13 of the Punjab Tahsildari Rules, 1952, it is true that the Commissioner alone is competent to pass an order of suspension by way of penalty against a Tahsildar but an order of suspension pending departmental enquiry passed by the Financial Commissioner cannot be challenged on the ground that it was not passed by the competent authority. There is distinction between suspension by way of punishment and suspension pending enquiry. Appendix 'A' relates to suspension by way of punishment and does not purport to deal with suspension pending enquiry.

Rule 12 lists the penalties which can be imposed upon a member of the service and suspension figures as one of such penalties not as an ad interim step taken while the enquiry is proceeding. A public servant is liable to be suspended pending departmental enquiry in which case the suspension is ad interim; and if as a result of the enquiry he has been found guilty, the suspension may be imposed as a substantive punishment. Moreover, according to Rule 3, the appointing authority to the post of Tahsildar is the Financial Commissioner. As provided in S. 14 of the Punjab General Clauses Act (1898), power to appoint includes the power to suspend or dismiss any person. This power to suspend has not been taken away by any provision of the Tehsildari Rules. AIR 1968 Punj 406 (412) = 1968 Lab IC 1773 = ILR (1969) 1 Punj 378.

(10) Suspension is one of the punishments which may be imposed on a civil servant under Rule 49 of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules. Apart from such suspension of a punitive nature, Government has an inherent power to suspend an officer from performing the duties of his office pending an inquiry into charges against him. AIR 1955 Pat 131 (134) (DB)  AIR 1952 All 681 (683) = ILR (1952) 2 All 965 (DB).

(11) 'Suspension' is an implied incident of removal, and an employee can be suspended pending final determination of charge. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 273 (277) = 1960 MPLJ 433 (DB).

(12) An order of suspension does not amount to an order of reduction in rank. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 35 (36) (DB)  AIR 1958 Ker 72 (74) = ILR (1958) Ker 131 (DB)  AIR 1957 Assam 77 (82) (DB)  AIR 1957 Mad 46 (46) (DB)  AIR 1956 Cal 662 (667)  AIR 1955 Pat 131 (134) (DB).

[But see AIR 1954 Ajmer 22 (25)  AIR 1952 Pepsu 69 (71, 72) = ILR (1952) Patiala 110  AIR 1949 Nag 118 (120) = ILR (1948) Nag 576 (DB).]

(13) The basic idea underlying the root word "suspend" and all its derivatives is that a person in the service of the Government, while holding an office and performing its functions or holding a position or privilege, should be interrupted in doing so and debarred for the time being from further functioning in the office or holding the position or privilege. He is intercepted in the exercise of his functions or his enjoyment of the privilege and put aside as it were, for a time, and excluded, during the period, from his functions or privileges. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 619 (623)  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 44 (45) (DB)  AIR 1957 Assam 77 (82) (DB)  AIR 1957 Punj 130 (131, 132) = ILR (1957) Punj 1059 (FB)  AIR 1954 Cal 340 (343) = ILR (1955) 2 Cal 399 (DB).

(14) Government's power to suspend its servant from service is inherent and unlimited — Pendency of departmental enquiry not necessary for its exercise.

1968 Serv LR 816 = ILR (1969) 2 Punj 148 (153, 155) (Punj).

(15) An order of suspension with retrospective effect is a contradiction in terms, and invalid. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 619 (623, 624)  AIR 1958 Cal 239 (241)  AIR 1958 Madh Pra 44 (45, 46) (DB)  AIR 1957 Orissa 51 (54) = ILR (1956) Cut 615 (DB)  AIR 1956 Cal 662 (666)  AIR 1954 Cal 340 (343) = ILR (1955) 2 Cal 399 (DB)  AIR 1963 Punj 298 (311, 312) = ILR (1962) 2 Punj 642. (But such an order is not absolutely void but is operative from the date the Government servant is actually relieved of his duties and placed under suspension.)  (1962) 3 Gui LR 492 = (1962) 2 Lab LJ 507 = AIR 1962 Gui 197 (203) (DB)  AIR 1960 Bom 274 (275, 276) = 1959 Nag LJ 427 (DB)  1960 Raj LW 385 (388, 389, 390) = ILR (1960) 10 Raj 952  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 404 (407) = 1960 MPLJ 153 (DB) (Order is effective from the day it is passed for the future, but it is ineffective ex post facto).

(16) Order of dismissal with retrospective effect is in substance an order of dismissal as from date of order with super-added direction that order should operate retrospectively as from anterior date — The two parts are severable. Though the court cannot pass new order of dismissal, it can give effect to valid part of order. AIR 1966 SC 951 (953) = (1966) 2 SCR 204. (AIR 1961 Cal 626 and 61 Cal WN 880, Overruled.)

(17) Suspension pending enquiry not provided by bye-law of Co-op. Society — Suspension order with retrospective effect is illegal. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 289 (293) = 1961 MPLJ 1059 (DB).

(18) Government servant suspended by competent authority under Rule 31 of Jammu and Kashmir Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules (1956) — Fact that order was confirmed by Government after some time makes no difference — No question that order was given retrospective effect arises. AIR 1964 J and K 14 (16) = 1963 Kash LJ 125 (DB).

(19) Order of suspension with retrospective effect — Order of suspension cannot be made to operate retrospectively — Court, while declaring retrospective part invalid, may allow prospective part of the same order to stand — But Court will not do so if that amounts to passing of 'new' order. AIR 1965 Cal 13 (15, 16) = (1964) 9 Fac LR 204  AIR 1966 Cal 485 (487, 488) = (1966) 2 Lab LJ 71. (On facts held that since petitioner was treated as continuing in service during his absence order dismissing him from date of his absence was meaningless and was invalid to that extent but prospective part could still be given effect to.)

(20) An order of suspension passed before the date of charge-sheet and continued beyond 4 months without obtaining approval of higher authority concerned is not sustainable under Rule 1711 (b) (as it stood on 18-4-57) and is void. Compliance with procedure as laid down in Rule 1711 is essential for validity of order passed for suspension under Railway Establishment Code may it be a punitive suspension or a suspension pending enquiry. AIR 1964 Pat 168 (172, 173).

(21) Courts of law are not bound by departmental interpretation of rules, but have to interpret these rules according to the language and other canons of interpretation. The post-retirement leave can by no stretch of imagination be treated as extension in service. Since his service had ceased, no order of suspension or dismissal could be passed with regard to him, because an order of suspension or dismissal could be passed only with regard to a person who was in actual service on the date when such an order was passed. AIR 1958 J & K 41 (42) (DB). (AIR 1954 SC 584, Foll.)

(22) Where an officer is suspended, there can be no "re-instatement" with retrospective effect. AIR 1958 Cal 239 (241).

(23) Government servant — Order of suspension in contemplation of departmental inquiry — Subsequent order of discharge set aside as illegal — Order of suspension merged in the order of discharge, and was not revived when the order of discharge was set aside — Subsequent order of suspension with retrospective effect — Such order could not be passed and must be set aside. AIR 1956 Cal 447 (448) = 60 Cal WN 628.

(24) The power to suspend an employee lies only with the appointing authority. Where an employee was appointed by executive officer of Municipality, the power to suspend lies only with that Authority and not with his subordinate. U. P. Municipalities Act (1916) being repealed by U. P. Nagar Mahapalika Adhiniyam (2 of 1959), the executive officer succeeded by Mukhya Nagar Adhikari, alone could suspend an employee appointed by him and not the Nagar Swasthya Adhikari. AIR 1966 All 552 (555).

(25) An order of suspension followed by an order of dismissal comes to an end on the order of dismissal being passed. Where the order of dismissal is subsequently set aside or declared invalid, the order of suspension is not thereby revived. AIR 1955 SC 600 (603) = 1955-2 SCR 391 = ILR (1956) 1 All 131. If the order of dismissal is held illegal and set aside the order of suspension is not automatically set aside.)

(26) Government servant on leave preparatory to retirement — Leave revoked by Government — Government servant suspended and departmental enquiry ordered against him — Held, no breach of service rules. AIR 1964 SC 72 (81).

(27) Court must take into account subsequent events — Illegal order of suspension supplanted by another order of suspension — Earlier order will not be quashed. AIR 1959 All 686 (688).

(28) Where an order of suspension is passed against a Civil servant pending a departmental inquiry and thereafter the order of removal is passed for reasons not connected with the departmental enquiry, no departmental enquiry can be held thereafter to punish the employee as the relationship of master and servant ceased. The order of suspension merged into the order of removal, and it could not revive when the latter order was cancelled. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 295 (296) = 1959 MPLJ 1168 (DB). (AIR 1955 SC 600, Rel. on.)

proceedings are initiated against him on other charges, his suspension on such charges can be continued notwithstanding his acquittal in the criminal case. AIR 1957 All 436 (438) = ILR (1957) 1 All 269.

(33) Temporary government servant under suspension — Relationship of employer and employee suspended for the time being, obligations imposed on both sides are suspended — There cannot be any termination of services by notice. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 231 (234) = 1967 MPLJ 39 (DB).

(34) There is no question of suspension of a temporary servant whose services are intended to be terminated. AIR 1960 Manipur 45 (47).

(35) A Government servant may be placed under suspension pending a criminal charge against him although no departmental proceedings are initiated against him at the time. AIR 1957 Orissa 51 (54) = ILR (1956) Cut 615 (DB)  AIR 1958 Ker 374 (375) = 1958 KLT 320 (DB). (Suspension pending inquiry into conduct, in terms of service Rules valid.)

(36) Suspension pending departmental inquiry is not punishment and is not hit by Article 311. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 295 (297) = 1959 MPLJ 1168 (DB).

(37) Suspension from service — Exoneration of employee by Court — Railway authority intending to hold departmental enquiry — Order of suspension from date of dismissal which was set aside by Court — Order of suspension is valid under Clause (4) of Rule 40 of Railway Protection Force Rules (1959). AIR 1967 Bom 332 (334) = 68 Bom LR 560.

(38) Suspension of an officer pending an enquiry into his conduct is not a penalty under any of the Service Rules. The expressions 'honourably acquitted' and 'acquitted of blame' occurring in Rules 108 (b) (i) and 109 (Jammu and Kashmir Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules (1956)) have been used to describe an acquittal based on the positive innocence of the accused. Provisions of Rules 107 and 108 (b) also show that an officer cannot claim as of right any salary or allowance equal to salary for the period of his suspension. This is not a penalty but one of the conditions of service governing a civil servant. The Government is expressly empowered by Rule 31 (1) to place a Government servant under suspension where an inquiry into his conduct is contemplated and the effect of the suspension is to put an end to his right to ask payment of salary for the period of suspension. AIR 1962 J and K 68 (70, 72) = 1962 Kash LJ 70.

(39) An order of suspension, though it may be of a punitive nature, is not covered by Article 311. AIR 1954 Madh B 49 (50, 51) = ILR (1954) Madh B 314 (DB)  AIR 1958 Andh Pra 35 (36) (DB)  AIR 1956 Punj 102 (104) = ILR (1956) Punj 361.

(40) It cannot be said that there was no power to suspend Government servant without first framing charge against him. AIR 1963 Punj 298 (311) = ILR (1962) 2 Punj 642 (DB).

(41) Not being covered by Article 311, Clause (2), an order of suspension against a civil servant, even if it is passed as a form of punishment against him, would not require for its validity that it should be preceded by a show cause notice under that clause. AIR 1956 Bom 483 (484) (DB)  AIR 1956 Punj 58 (71) = ILR (1956) Punj 236 (DB)  AIR 1954 Cal 60 (63) = ILR (1955) 2 Cal 28.

(42) Where a person is suspended pending an enquiry against him which culminates in his dismissal and the validity of the dismissal or the enquiry which results in the dismissal is not questioned, any informality or irregularity with regard to the order of suspension before the enquiry proceedings will not affect the validity of such proceedings or the order of dismissal. AIR 1956 Punj 102 (104) = ILR (1956) Punj 361  AIR 1956 Sau 14 (16) (DB).

(43) The suspension referred to in Section 45 (1) of Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951) is the final order of punishment passed by the Deputy Commissioner after enquiry into the charges was made. The suspension referred to in S. 45 (3) of the Act is during the period when the enquiry into charges is pending as Section 47 (2) refers only to the suspension which is ordered by way of punishment under Section 45 (1) under a final order. ILR (1966) Andh Pra 964 (966).

(44) It is one of the implied stipulations of a contract of service that the employer will not, by any act of commission or omission, add or suffer to be added to the employment new conditions involving obligations, dangers or inconveniences which were not incident to it and were not within the contemplation of the employee when he was engaged. Normally a change of duty may be possible without the consent of the employee if it does not entail any of the above consequences. But where they do, they can only be changed with the concurrence of the employee. Thus, where a municipal committee ordered its primary school teachers to attend certain latrines to count the persons using them and on their refusal to do so, suspended them. Held, that no rule of law had been shown which could be called in aid to compel them to perform this additional duty. The order was, therefore an unlawful order which the teachers were not bound to obey. AIR 1955 Nag 206 (207) = 1955 Nag LJ 424 (DB).

(45) Where a Government servant had been exonerated by the Government in respect of certain charges into which an enquiry had already been made previously the commencement of a new enquiry into those dropped charges along with a charge not dropped is in excess of jurisdiction and an order of suspension under Rule 10 (1) of Mysore Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules (1957), passed by the Government must be regarded to have been based on irrelevant considerations, and the order of suspension has to be set aside. AIR 1961 Mys 37 (43, 44) = 38 Mys LJ 828 (DB).

(46) There is inherent power in the Government to suspend a Government servant on a charge of misconduct. AIR 1963 Punj 298 (310, 311) = ILR (1962) 2 Punj 642 (DB).

(47) All India Services (Discipline and Appeal) Rules (1955), Rule 20 — Right to submit memorial to President is similar to right of appeal of a Government servant against order of suspension — There is no curtailment of right guaranteed under Article 314. AIR 1963 Punj 87 (89) = 65 Punj LR 40 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1964 SC 787.)

(48) The objection that an employee could not be dismissed from date of his suspension was of importance only in relation to payment of salary to him for period of suspension — If dismissal order was validly passed, the order was no doubt effective from the date of making of that order — Effect of order of suspension was to suspend contract of service as a whole and no claim of pay during period of suspension could be made. AIR 1963 Madh Pra 298 (300) = 1963 MPLJ 631 (DB).

(51) Where the Government has no power to suspend the employee, the Government remains under an obligation to pay to such employee the full salary for the

(61) Where it was stated in the impugned order of suspension that Government considered that in view of the nature of the charges framed against the petitioner, he should be placed under suspension pending the proposed enquiry into those charges: Held, that the recital in the impugned order clearly revealed that in the opinion of the Government the suspension of the petitioner was necessary in the public interest and the omission to reproduce the very words of the rule in the impugned order was immaterial. 90. Retirement on superannuation.—

(1) The retirement of a Government servant on superannuation according to the Service Rules is not dismissal or removal from service within Art. 311. AIR 1958 SC 36 (48)  AIR 1953 Trav-Co 140 (143, 144) = ILR (1952) Trav-Co 756 (DB).

(2) The decision of the Supreme Court in AIR 1964 SC 600 does not lay down an invariable rule that in no case can a person be retired compulsorily before the normal prescribed age of superannuation. Where a public servant is asked to retire on the ground of his having reached the age of superannuation which has been reasonably fixed, Article 311 (2) would very probably not be attracted because an order of this nature is neither a dismissal nor removal. If under the rules, such public servant is compulsorily retired after a period of qualified service, which is reasonably long, then the order would neither amount to dismissal nor to removal within the contemplation of Article 311 (2). Where the petitioner has attained the age of 55 years which is reasonably long, his compulsory retirement cannot be considered to amount to removal. It is an order of compulsory retirement which is within the permissible power of the authority passing the impugned order. AIR 1966 Punj 297 (301) = ILR (1965) 1 Punj 671 (DB).

(3) Where a Government servant is made to retire from service on the ground of superannuation in consequence of a decision of the Government to calculate the age of officers similarly placed according to their college records in preference to the entries in the Civil List, it cannot be said that the retirement of the Government Officer is a punishment, although the calculation of his age in accordance with his college records, instead of in accordance with the entry in the Civil List, may have operated to his disadvantage. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 32 (33)  1968 LIC 1348 (1349, 1351) = 1968 Raj LW 341. (According to date of birth mentioned in application.)  AIR 1963 Punj 104 (110) = ILR (1962) 2 Punj 597. (Even when it is according to incorrect date of superannuation.)

(4) Where there was superannuation in accordance with the terms of service, it was neither a case of dismissal, discharge nor reduction in rank, and therefore was not governed by Article 311 of the Constitution. AIR 1958 Cal 411 (412, 413).

(5) Bihar Service Code, Rule 74 — Appellant retained in service after superannuation — Extension of service not granted — Appellant ordered to retire under Rule 74 — Order does not offend against Article 311 of the Constitution. AIR 1965 Pat 186 (187) = 1965 BLJR 86 (DB).

(6) Government of India Act (1935), Section 241 (1) (b) — Rules framed in Assam, Rule 56 — Tenure of service — Retirement of Government servant — Order as to extension of service made on date when servant has ceased to be in service — Order is nullity. (7) Bihar Government Instructions, dated 24th August, 1963 — Three months' notice given to Government servant — Power to terminate his service can be exercised any time between 55th and 58th years. AIR 1967 Pat 30 (31) = 1965 BLJR 884 (886) (DB).

(8) Withdrawal of option to retire by civil servant on date of retirement itself — He cannot be retired unless final decision is taken on withdrawal application by competent authority or Government. 1969 Lab IC 61 (65, 66) = 1969 Raj LW 37.

(9) Held on facts that (i) Article 311 had no application to the termination of the Government employee's service. The termination of service resulting from change in the age of superannuation did not amount to removal within the meaning of Art. 311. AIR 1964 SC 600, Dist. (ii) that the new rule reducing the age of retirement from 58 years to 55 years could not be said to be retrospective. The proviso to the new rule and the second notification were only methods to tide over the difficult situation which would arise in the public service if the new rule was applied at once and also to meet any financial objection arising out of the enforcement of the new rule. The new rule, therefore, could not be struck down on the ground that it was retrospective in operation. AIR 1965 SC 1567 (1569, 1570) = (1965) 1 SCR 693.

(10) Memorandum D/- 21-3-1963 issued by Government of Assam under F. R. 56 — Compliance with test under memorandum by employee attaining 55 years —

(12) Merely because a regular departmental proceeding has been initiated against the servant and is still in its preliminary stage when the order compulsorily retiring him is passed, that order will not amount to punishment. AIR 1968 Pat 113 (116) = ILR 46 Pat 462 = 1968 Lab LJ 457 (DB). (The absence of evidence in support of specific charges, made in a departmental proceeding against a public servant, will not by itself suffice to show that, if on a review of the entire official career of the public servant, the superior authority decides that he is an unsuitable employee and should be weeded out on his attaining the age of superannuation, such a decision is either mala fide or involves the element of punishment.)

(13) Compulsory retirement of public servant during pendency of departmental enquiry — Order passed under para. 6 of Government of India Notification O. M. No. 33/18/62 Ests. (A) dated 30-11-1962 on the ground that the servant is unsuitable employee and has attained the age of superannuation — Order is valid. (14) Orissa Protection Rules, (Rules for protection of officers of old Bihar and Orissa Services) Rule 8 — Officer in old Bihar and Orissa Secretariat transferred to Orissa on formation of that State — Confirmation as Registrar in Secretariat on 14-10-1958 while Officer (junior to him) in old Bihar and Orissa Secretariat confirmed as Registrar in Bihar on 23-8-1956 — Contravention of protection afforded to transferred officers — Date of confirmation for purpose of pension must be taken as 23-8-1956. AIR 1964 Orissa 65 (68) = 30 Cut LT 49 (DB).

(15) Departmental enquiry pending — Government servant asked to apply for leave preparatory to retirement without waiting for enquiry to conclude—Offer not availed of — Enquiry dropped before Government servant was retired on his attaining age of superannuation — Held there was no inhibition against his retirement — Order refusing leave after retirement held valid. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 293 (295) = 1961 MPLJ 1357 (DB).

(16) Railway employee who had declared himself as Anglo-Indian and had enjoyed privileges for Anglo-Indians was retired after attaining 55 years— Held he could not contend that he was Indian

Christian and as such liable to retirement only after attaining 60 years — Order does not amount to punishment — Employee has no right to hold the post until 60 years. (1962) 2 Lab LJ 584 (586) (Andh Pra).

91. Withholding of increments.— (1) The withholding of increments does not amount to a reduction in rank. ILR (1956) Punj 1213 (1222, 1223).

(2) Reduction in rank is not the same thing as withholding of increment, which is merely an instance of loss of prospects of earning more than what the employee may be earning at the time. If a reasonable notice, to meet the charges levelled against the petitioner, was, in fact, given during the course of the inquiry then, if the proposed action to be taken against him is merely of withholding of increment he would not be entitled to the right conferred by Article 311 (ii) of the Constitution nor would failure to give such second notice violate any rule of natural justice. AIR 1959 Punj 643 (645).

(3) Withholding of increments or reduction to a lower stage in the same time scale do not amount to reduction in rank. 1967 RLW 266 (270) = 1969 Lab IC 330 = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 475.

(4) The petitioner was suspended from services on basis of certain complaints on 29-8-1959. Despite this he was allowed to attend a refresher course from 31-1-1960 to 29-2-1960 and was paid full salary for that period. On 18-11-1960, a charge-sheet was given to him to which he replied on 29-11-1960. Later a show cause notice was given proposing that the period of suspension would be treated as leave without pay, and the petitioner replied to it. Again a second show-cause notice was served on him, stating that he was guilty of misbehaviour and neglect of duties and hence his next increment should be stopped. It was not clear on the record whether the petitioner sent any reply or not. But on 7th July, 1963, an order was passed which stated that since the charges against the petitioner had been proved, the next increment should be stopped and that his period of suspension was not to be treated as period on duty and was to be ignored for all purposes. Held, that the order amounted to removal from service for the period of suspension and since the provisions of Article 311 had not been complied with the order should be quashed. 1967 Cur LJ 419 (421) (Punj).

(5) Rude and improper behaviour by Police Constable in private life — Withholding of increment and reduction to lower stage in time scale in contravention of the provisions of C. P. and Berar Police Regulation 217 (a) — Order held legal. AIR 1960 Bom 285 = 1959 Nag LJ 441 (DB).

(7) Rajasthan Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1950 — Stoppage of increments is also covered by Rule 16 — Non-compliance Rule 16 gives cause of action to the public servant. 1967 Raj LW 266 (271) = 1969 Lab IC 330 = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 475.

(8) Withholding of increments is a penalty provided under service rules. Where an order of termination of service was accompanied by a penalty or punishment causing a monetary loss to Government servant, it would be illegal and ineffective if the provisions of Article 311 (2) were not complied with. AIR 1960 Punj 126 (131) = ILR (1959) Punj 2189 (DB).

92. Compulsory retirement.— (1) (Obiter) — If any Rule permits the appropriate Authority to retire compulsorily a civil servant without imposing a limitation in that behalf that such civil servant should have put in a minimum period of service, that Rule would be invalid and the so-called retirement ordered under the said Rule would amount to removal of the civil servant within the meaning of Article 311 (2). AIR 1964 SC 600 (617) = (1964) 5 SCR 683.

(2) Natural justice — Principle not applicable to compulsory retirement in accordance with rules of service. AIR 1965 All 142 (150) = 1964 All LJ 791 (FB).

(3) A person who retires or is made to retire from service no longer remains a member of the service or holds a civil post. Once an order of retirement becomes effective he cannot be demoted removed or dismissed from service and therefore an inquiry cannot be held against him. AIR 1967 Raj 82 (84) (DB).

93. Compulsory retirement on proportionate pension in terms of specific service Rule is not dismissal or removal.—

(1) Compulsory retirement of a Government servant on proportionate pension before the age of superannuation but on completion of service for the prescribed number of years according to the rules or on attainment of the prescribed age according to the rules does not amount to dismissal or removal from service within the meaning of Article 311, although such compulsory retirement necessarily means the termination of service of the Government servant. (2) It has been held that in view of the "rule of pleasure" enunciated in Article 310, Clause (1), the Government has always the power to terminate the services of a Government servant by compulsory retirement on proportionate pension even before the age of superannuation, irrespective of any specific Service Rule permitting such a course. (7) When a civil servant is compulsorily retired in accordance with R. 27 of Bank of Patiala (Staff) Rules (1954) without, however, visiting him with any penal consequences but allowing him to enjoy all the benefits that had already accrued to him by remaining in service till the date of his retirement, Article 311 (2) would not be attracted to his case. (2) 'Removal' to fall within the purview of Article 311, should be by way of punishment or penalty and a compulsory retirement of a Government servant does not per se amount to 'removal' within

(15) Person who substantively holds permanent post has right to continue in service subject to rule of superannuation and rule of compulsory retirement. If for any other reason that right is invaded and he is asked to leave his office, termination must mean defeat of his right to continue in service and it will be in nature of penalty and will amount to removal. If he has not attained age of superannuation and there is no minimum age prescribed under rules for compulsorily retiring any Government servant and most of the servants are retired after short period of service, such retirement would amount to removal. (16) Where, a Government servant under his terms and conditions of service or under his contract of service has a right to continue in a post and his service is terminated by an order of compulsory retirement on the basis of a charge of misconduct or inefficiency or incapacity, it would be a case of punishment of removal or dismissal, even though there may be no loss of benefits already earned. 1963 All LJ 934 (942, 943) = (1964) 1 Lab LJ 113 (All).

(17) Misconduct or inefficiency furnish merely a background in the case of retirement and an enquiry, if held, is for the satisfaction of the authorities. But in the case of dismissal or removal they form the very basis of the order which is made. AIR 1960 SC 1305 (1308).

(18) Compulsory retirement of officer under service Rules for "administrative reasons" — After officer's own insistence to be supplied with grounds which led to the decision, certain charges were communicated to him — Officer allowed full pension — Fact that consideration of misconduct or inefficiency weighed with Government in coming to its conclusion, does not amount to any imputation or charge against officer — Order is not by way of punishment. As Section 240 of the Government of India Act, 1935, did not apply to the former Indian State of Mandi, the public servant who has been compulsorily retired on 18th November, 1948 (that is before the commencement of the Constitution of India) cannot claim, as of right that a show cause notice should have been given to him before he was compulsorily retired. (8) Retirement under service rule providing for compulsory retirement at any age whatsoever, irrespective of the length of service cannot necessarily be regarded as dismissal or removal. AIR 1960 SC 1305 (1309).

(9) The liability to retire earlier under Rule 161 of the Bombay Civil Service Rules is a term of service. The effect of the orders requiring a person to retire in pursuance of Rule 161 is not dismissal removal or reduction. The orders are also not passed on the basis of any implied stigma such as inefficiency or incapacity or misconduct. The termination of service resulting from such orders is the termination of service simpliciter flowing from a condition of service and is not either a dismissal, removal or reduction within the meaning of Art. 311. Article 311 (2) is not therefore attracted in such cases. (1963) 4 Guj LR 945 (952) = (1964) 2 Lab LJ 253 (DB).

(10) An order passed in the name of the Governor by an Under Secretary to the Government, under Note 1 to R. 285 of the Mysore Civil Service Rules, directing a Government Servant to retire compulsorily from service, cannot be held to be invalid for failure to give valid notice 'at least three months before date' as required by 'Note 1'. A compulsory retirement neither being a reduction nor removal nor dismissal within the meaning of those expressions found in Article 311 the 'Note' must be considered as containing merely administrative instructions. It cannot have any binding force. The notice mentioned in the 'Note', therefore, cannot be regarded as a condition precedent to a valid compulsory retirement. Even assuming that the 'Note' is valid and binding on the Government, the expressions "shall" and "at least 3 months before that date" by themselves do not show that its requirements are mandatory. They can still be directory. 1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 437 (440, 441).

(11) Age of retirement raised from 55 to 58 in U. (18) A permanent civil servant has a right to remain in service until he reaches the age of superannuation and if there is no rule made under Article 309 giving to the Government the power to order his compulsory retirement before he reaches the age of superannuation, then the Government servant cannot be so retired. (20) Premature retirement is definitely a form of punishment and comes within the purview of compulsory retirement under Rule 30 of the Kashmir Civil Service Rules. A Government servant cannot therefore be prematurely retired without there being good and sufficient reason as provided in the rules. Under Article 32 of the Kashmir Civil Service Rules which have the force of law, it is provided that no order of dismissal, removal or reduction shall be caused on a member of a service unless he has been informed in writing of the grounds on which it is proposed to take action and has been given adequate opportunity of defending himself. Where nothing of that sort has been done in the case and a mere, executive fiat has been issued and the person has been deprived of what was otherwise due to him, writ of mandamus will issue. (21) The services of temporary hands who are governed by temporary service rules contained in Schedule IX to J. and K. AIR 1964 J & K 92 (98, 99) = 1964 Kash LJ 271 (FB).

(22) It cannot be urged that a compulsory retirement in any case does not amount to dismissal or removal under Article 311 (2), because it entails no forfeiture of the rights and benefits that have already accrued. A compulsory retirement, where a person had a right to continue in office except on ground of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualification, is a punishment. But a compulsory retirement, where a public servant has no right to continue in office, is not a punishment. The test is whether a right to continue in the post except for misconduct, negligence, inefficiency, or other good and sufficient cause is claimed. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 251 (254) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 393 (DB).

(23) A permanent Government servant has a right to continue in service till the age of superannuation under the rules or until such time as his services are terminated by compulsory retirement in terms of a specific Service Rule, unless the post itself is abolished in the meanwhile. (26) Order for compulsory retirement for "good and sufficient reason" a phrase used in Rule 9, Kerala Civil Services (C. C. A.) (27) Though compulsory retirement per se does not attract Article 311 (2) even in cases of compulsory retirement before the age of superannuation, it is open to the Government servant to establish that it is resorted to mala fide or by way of penalty for some alleged misconduct. 1968 Lab IC 731 (733, 734) = 71 Cal WN 205.

(28) Any valid rules relating to premature compulsory retirement must satisfy three conditions— (1) that the rules have fixed both an age of superannuation and an age for compulsory retirement; (2) that the services of a civil servant compulsorily retired under the rules are terminated between these two points of time, and (3) that the minimum period of qualifying service after which alone an order for compulsory retirement can be effected is reasonable. 96. Compulsory retirement based on charges of misconduct, negligence, etc., is dismissal or removal.— (1) Where, the order of compulsory retirement was passed against a Sub-Inspector of Police because he had been found guilty of misconduct and that he was not awarded full pension and gratuity to which he was entitled to under the rules, the compulsory retirement order amounted to order of removal within Article 311 and was by way of punishment. (8) In cases of compulsory retirement where the order is not actually founded on any charge of inefficiency, misconduct or the like, the mere fact that the inefficiency, misconduct or the like is the motive of the Government in taking action will not make the order one of punishment so as to attract the provisions of Article 311. 103. Extension of superannuation.— (1) Once the right of a permanent civil servant to hold the post comes to an end on attaining the age of superannuation no fresh right to hold the post is created in him merely because he is permitted to remain in service for a certain period. A right is not conferred upon him under which he can insist to hold the post till the expiry of the extended period of service. The mere fact that the Officers were permitted to remain in service vested the competent authority with an implied power to revoke the permission under which they continued to remain in service after superannuation. Unless the termination of their service is on ground personal to them and carries with it a stigma it cannot attract the provisions of S. 126 (2) of the State Constitution (corresponding to Article 311 (2) of the Indian Constitution). (3) Refusal of an extension cannot be equated with a removal — Extension amounts to retention in service, and the right to such extension must be acquired under Government notification of 15th August, 1956, on the formation of the opinion by the appropriate authority that the conditions on the existence of which alone an extension could be granted exist. AIR 1968 Mys 116 (118) = (1967) 1 Mys LJ 354 (DB).

(4) Petitioner a patwari entitled to continue in service under the service conditions upto the age of 65 if he was not found unfit after the age of 60 — Services of the patwari extended after the age of 60 but further extension was

Articles 310 & 311 — Note 103 (contd.) refused even though he had not attained the age of 65 and even though he was not found unfit for service and was made to retire — Held the service conditions did not permit the services of the petitioner being terminated otherwise than in accordance with Article 311 (2). 1968 Cur LJ 523 (525).

(5) Retention of service of civil servant beyond date of superannuation for purpose of holding departmental enquiry cannot be said to be on public grounds — Such action is permissible under Rule 73 (f) Bihar Service Code only if the Civil servant is suspended before his date of compulsory retirement. AIR 1966 Pat 227 (229) = (1965) 1 Lab LJ 99 (DB).

(6) West Bengal Civil Service Rules, Rule 75 (a) — Retention of service for the purpose of conducting a departmental enquiry is not proper and extension of service beyond date of compulsory retirement for this purpose is illegal. AIR 1966 SC 447 (449) = (1965) 2 SCA 884 = (1966) 2 SCWR 169.

104. "Reduction in Rank".— (1) The expression "rank", in Article 311 (2) has reference to a person's classification and not his particular place in the same cadre in the hierarchy of the service to which he belongs. Therefore, losing some places in the seniority list in the same cadre, does not amount to reduction in rank, within the meaning of Article 311 (2). AIR 1962 SC 1704 (1710) = (1963) 1 SCR 437  AIR 1968 All 276 (278, 279). (Petition challenging an order which has resulted only in loss of seniority is not maintainable under Article 311.)

(2) The expression 'grade promotion' occurring in Audit Instruction No. 3 under Fundamental Rule 23 does not debar a Government servant from retaining his old pay until he had promotion to a next higher grade. Held, on facts, that the petitioner's subsequent fixation on a lower salary by the Registrar was not justified and, that being so, the petitioner must be held to have been reduced in rank. AIR 1960 All 193 (198).

105. Suspension is not reduction.—(1) Suspension does not amount to reduction in rank and Article 311 is not attracted — Government servant is not entitled to opportunity of explanation. AIR 1963 Punj 298 (311) = ILR (1962) 2 Punj 642 (DB)  (1964) 66 Pun LR 1227 (1229) = 1964 Cur LJ 489  AIR 1969 Orissa 224 (225) = 1969 Lab IC 1221 (DB).

(2) The petitioner was not treated on duty while on suspension from service pending departmental enquiry and period of suspension was treated as leave without pay. This was held not to amount to reduction in rank. AIR 1962 Raj 239 (240) (DB).

(3) The consequences of suspension are different from consequences of order of reduction and do not per se attract Article 311 (2). (1967) 14 FLR 449 (452) (Cal). (AIR 1962 SC 630, Rel. on.)

(4) An order of suspension is not by way of penalty. All that it does is to make the person affected refrain from discharging his functions in a particular office for a certain period. ILR (1961) 11 Raj 892 (898) (DB).

(5) As the Civil Service Rules make a clear distinction between suspension and reduction in rank, suspension will not be reduction in rank, for the purpose of Article 311, Clause (2), though under Rule 49 of the Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, suspension is one of the penalties that may be imposed on a Government servant. AIR 1954 Madh B 49 (52) = ILR (1954) Madh B 314 (DB).

(6) The fact that while under suspension a Government servant is not considered for promotion to a higher post or a rank available does not mean that there has been a present reduction in his rank, grade or post. AIR 1954 Madh B 49 (52) = ILR (1954) Madh B 314 (DB).

106. Reduction must be by way of penalty.—(1-2) In order to constitute 'reduction in rank' within meaning of Article 311 (2), two elements must co-exist; (1) there must be a physical degradation in rank (2) such degradation must be ordered by way of penalty. (1967) 14 FLR 449 (451) (Cal).

(3) In order to find out whether an order of reduction or dismissal is penal or not, Court has to apply two tests: (1) If Government servant has right to particular rank, then the very reduction from that rank will operate as a penalty for he will then lose the emoluments and privileges of that rank. (2) (a) If the Government servant has no right to particular rank, his reduction to substantive lower rank will not ordinarily be punishment (b) But the mere fact that the servant has no title to the post or rank, does not mean that an order of reduction of a servant to a lower post or rank can in no circumstances be a punishment. The real test is to find out if the order also visits the servant with any penal consequences. (1967) 14 FLR 449 (452, 455) (Cal). (AIR 1958 SC 36 Foll.)  AIR 1969 Orissa 215 (217) = 1969 Lab IC 1118 = 35 Cut LT 267 (DB)  AIR 1964 Cal 265 (268, 269, 270, 271) = (1968) 2 Lab LJ 376  AIR 1958 Cal 559 (562, 563) = ILR (1959) 2 Cal 664 (DB).

(4) If a particular Government servant is entitled to hold a substantive post in a category of service his demotion to a lower category entailing evil consequences will prima facie mean a penalty to which the provisions of Article 311 (2) could be attracted. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 118 (123) = (1969) 1 Andh WR 85.

(5) A reduction in rank, which is not by way of punishment does not attract the provisions of Article 311. AIR 1961 All

(6) Northern Railway Discipline and Appeal Rules for Non-Gazetted Railway Servants, Chapter IV and Chapter VI, Rr. 51 and 53 — Withholding of increment affecting future increments and seniority is not reduction in rank. AIR 1967 All 112 (114) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 301.

(7) Reduction to a lower post or on a lower emoluments by way of punishment would amount to reduction in rank. AIR 1962 Raj 239 (240) (DB).

(8) Reduction by way of punishment to lower stage in the same time-scale of pay of a Government servant amounts to reduction in rank within the meaning of Clause (2) of Article 311. AIR 1959 Orissa 167 (168, 169) = ILR (1959) Cut 89 (DB). (AIR 1958 Raj 239, Diss. from.)

(9) The right to hold the post should flow either from the terms of contract of employment or from the rules governing the conditions of service. The service rules provide that when there are two claimants to a post and one of them is confirmed on that post the other may appeal against the confirmation and have it set aside. It follows that under these rules, the confirmation of the former is subject to an administrative appeal and, if it is set aside in appeal as contemplated by the rules there is or can be no question of punishment. Therefore where the main argument in support of the petition is that the petitioner had been confirmed on a post and so he had a right to hold that post and his reversion to a lower post must per se be regarded as punishment the argument is not sound. 1965 MPLJ 990 (991, 992) = 1965 Jab LJ 1087 (DB).

(10) If a particular Government servant is entitled to hold a substantive post in a category of service, his demotion to a lower category entailing evil consequences will prima facie mean a penalty to which provisions of Article 311 (2) could be attracted. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 118 (123) = (1969) 1 Andh WR 85.

(11) Person holding permanent post appointed to higher post by "selection" — Reversion to permanent post by way of punishment — Art. 311 is attracted. AIR 1964 All 528 (529, 530) (DB). (AIR 1958 All 656, Reversed.)

(12) Every demotion involves transfer from a higher to lower post and in its turn entails transfer from one place to another. The transfer of an employee after he is demoted by way of punishment is only consequential and it cannot be regarded as punishment. AIR 1967 Cal 29 (33) = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 300.

(13) Reduction to a lower post being a punishment under Rule 49, Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, the transfer of a Government officer from a gazetted to a non-gazetted post, though in a different department, would be a reduction in rank. AIR 1956 Mani 34 (37).

(14) The transfer from a higher post to a lower post or to one carrying lower salary will not amount to "reduction in rank" unless such transfer is made as a penalty or punishment. AIR 1958 Mad 53 (64) = ILR (1958) Mad 158  (1957) 61 Cal WN 815 (823) (DB)  AIR 1956 Madh B 172 (173, 174) (DB).

(15) Transfer to post carrying same scale of pay and rank but not the same status — Posting does not amount to reduction in rank. AIR 1967 SC 1864 (1867) = (1967) 3 SCR 627.

(16) Where after termination of disciplinary proceedings, Government servant was posted to another department on a post carrying a higher scale of pay, but he was given his original scale of pay it was held that the order was one penalising the employee and hence bad under Art. 311. AIR 1968 Manipur 16 (19) = 1968 Lab IC 150.

(17-18) According to Rule 49 C. S. (C. C. A.) Rules, reduction to lower time scale necessarily involves reduction in rank. Hence a Dist. Judge is bound by virtue of Rule 55 of the said Rules read with S. 240(3), Government of India Act (1935) to formulate specific charges and give the Nazir a reasonable opportunity of defending himself not only in respect of charges but also in respect of the proposed punishment. ILR (1954) Cut 684 (704) (DB).

(19) Employee holding post in substantive and permanent capacity — Acceptance by Government of recommendation of Pay Rationalization Committee enhancing pay-scale of that post — Employee is entitled to new scale — Change in designation of post with reduction in pay scale — Amounts to reduction in rank — Compliance with Article 311 (2) is necessary. 1969 Lab IC 1412 (1413) (All).

(20) Reduction resulting from a normal administrative decision to correct a mistake does not involve any penalty — Article 311 (2) not attracted to such case. AIR 1967 Delhi 67 (68).

(21) Officiating Tahsildars in State of Pepsu confirmed as Tahsildars although no posts were available for confirmation — Supernumerary posts of Tahsildars created subsequently by Rajpramukh of Pepsu, to provide liens for confirmed Tahsildars — Merger of Pepsu with Punjab by virtue of operation of States Reorganization Act — Subsequent order of successor (Punjab) Government cancelling previous order of confirmation — Article 311 (2) not attracted. AIR 1964 SC 521 (524, 525, 526, 527) = 1964 Cur LJ (SC) 52.

(22) The transfer of a civil servant from a permanent post in one department or service to another permanent post in another department or service without the consent of the civil servant concerned Articles 310 & 311 — Note 106 (contd.) does not amount to a reduction in rank when there is no reduction in the scale of pay or in the grade. AIR 1957 Raj 230 (231) (DB).

107. Tests for determining whether reversion amounts to reduction in rank and illustrative cases.— (1) In determining whether a particular order of reversion amounts to the reduction in rank it is not only the form or the wording of the particular order which is to be treated as conclusive but it is the substance of the matter which has to be determined after consideration of the totality of the circumstances. If the real intention is found to be to penalise or punish the official then notwithstanding the form of the order the reversion would be held to amount to reduction in rank. 1966 Cur LJ 318 (339) (Punj)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 116 (117, 118) = (1964) 2 Andh WR 477 (DB)  AIR 1963 Andh Pra 412 (415) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 216 (DB). (Approved probationer under Rule 2 (3) of State Service Rules — Order of reversion without assigning reasons — Inference to be drawn from sequence of events held was that reversion amounted to reduction in rank.)  AIR 1967 Punj 145 (147) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 748.

(2) Reversion by itself to the substantive post is not a reduction in rank and it does not involve any punishment. The servant has no right to continue to hold an officiating post, his tenure by its very nature being temporary and at the will of the Government. Unless penalties also are expressly imposed when reversion is ordered the reversion cannot be a reduction in rank. AIR 1959 All 135 (139, 140) (DB). (AIR 1958 SC 36, Rel. on.)

(3) In the case of an officiating employee Government have simultaneously two powers to effect his demotion: (i) under the rules or contract of service and (ii) by way of punishment. In the second case Government must launch a regular formal enquiry under Article 311 (2). ILR (1966) Cut 503 (539) = 8 Ori JD 290 (DB)  1969 Lab IC 68 (77) (Tripura)  AIR 1966 Orissa 173 (179) = ILR (1965) Cut 893 (DB). (Rules of contract of service.)  AIR 1965 Punj 491 (492, 493). (Officiating Government Servant — Reduction in rank by Controlling authority on the advice of Superior authority — Reduction held was by way of penalty.)

(4) Tests for holding that reduction is punitive are: (1) whether the servant had a right to the post or rank or (2) whether he has been visited with evil consequences. ILR (1966) Cut 503 (526) = 8 Ori JD 290 (DB)  ILR (1968) Cuttack 394 (397) (DB).

(5) In considering the circumstances of each case the motive of the relevant authorities in reverting the official concerned is wholly irrelevant but the mind or the intention to inflict punishment or to revert in ordinary course would certainly be relevant. The mere fact that it is found that it was the official's unsatisfactory work which resulted in his reversion, will not vitiate the order. To such a case Article 311 (2) will not apply. 1966 Cur LJ 318 (339) (Punj).

(5-A) A normal order of reversion would be by way of punishment:

- (i) if it is expressed to be so;
- (ii) if evil consequences ensue from the order as direct result thereof;
- (iii) if a stigma is cast on the official by an order of reversion beyond the mere finding of the officer being not suitable to hold the higher post. 1966 Cur LJ 318 (336) (Punj)  12 Law Rep. 647 (650) = (1967) 2 Mys LJ 582 (DB). (Order of reversion said that the petitioner was found incompetent, inefficient, grossly deficient and unsuitable for post—Order caused stigma on petitioner.)  (1966) 68 Punj LR 882 (885). (Reversion of temporary Patwari as 'undesirable' — Order causing stigma to be attached is an order by way of punishment.)

(6) No stigma can be said to be attached to an order of reversion where, subsequent to the order and in reply to the query of employee he is told that the reason was that "his work was found unsatisfactory by competent authority." (1968) 72 Cal WN 817 (821) = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 37.

(7) Where a person holding a substantive appointment in a lower rank is posted to a post in a higher rank in an officiating capacity and is then reverted to his original substantive post, such reversion will not amount to "reduction in rank" within Article 311, Clause (2) unless the order of reversion provides or entails any further consequences of a penal nature such as loss of seniority, stopping of promotion, etc., or is based on charges of misconduct etc., against the Government servant. AIR 1958 SC 36 (49)  AIR 1958 All 741 (746) (FB)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 116 (117, 118, 119) = (1964) 2 Andh WR 477 (DB). (9) Where a cadre officer in the junior scale of pay was promoted to officiate in a post in the senior scale of pay and was thereafter reverted to his substantive post while other cadre officers junior to him continued to officiate in posts in the senior scale of pay, it would only indicate that the action taken against the cadre officer so reverted was only by way of penalty or punishment. AIR 1968 SC 754 (759) = (1969) 1 SCJ 217.

(10) In reverting a person officiating in higher service no reasons need be recorded. All that the Explanation (iv) to R. 13 of the Central Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, postulates is that even if a person after trial was found unsuitable for such higher service, grade or post, or on administrative grounds unconnected with his conduct, it should not be regarded as a penalty. It does not follow from this that reversions which are not specified within this clause automatically constitute a penalty. This clause does not carry with it the implication that all other cases of reversion from higher service, though made on a temporary basis and until further order would amount to penalty. If the reversion does not partake the character of a punishment, then the provisions of Article 311 (2) are not attracted and therefore the procedure indicated therein need not be followed. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 116 (118) = (1964) 2 Andh WR 477 (DB).

(11) Although the Government may have a right to transfer a person who holds an appointment to a higher post only on an officiating basis to a lower post at any time purely at its will and pleasure without assigning any reasons for its action, where the Government chooses to order such transfer as a penalty and bases the order on a charge of corruption, misconduct, negligence, inefficiency, etc., against the Government servant, the order will amount to one of punishment and would constitute an order of reduction in rank against the officer within the meaning of Article 311, Clause (2). AIR 1958 SC 36 (49)  AIR 1958 Cal 623 (624)  AIR 1957 All 70 (73)  AIR 1956 Madh B 172 (173) (DB).

(12) Where a clerk in the Collectorate holding a permanent post was appointed to a higher post of Panchayat Inspector as a result of 'Selection' and was drawing a salary higher than what he was drawing as a clerk and the nature of duties in the two posts was different, his reversion from the higher post to his permanent post amounts to a reduction in rank. Where in the above case it is clear from the facts of the case that the reduction was by way of punishment, the provisions of Art. 311 are attracted. AIR 1964 All 528 (529, 530) = 1964 All LJ 331 = 1964 (8) Fac LR 291 (DB). (AIR 1958 All 656, Reversed.)

(13) Where the order of reversion provides for or entails under the Rules any penal consequences in the form of loss of benefit already accrued, over and above the mere reversion to the lower post, the order of reversion will amount to a punishment and will constitute reduction in rank. AIR 1958 SC 36 (49).

(14) If the order of reversion entails or provides for the forfeiture of his pay or allowances or the loss of his seniority in his substantive rank or the stoppage or postponement of his future chances of promotion, the order would amount to one of punishment and hence would constitute a reduction in rank. AIR 1958 SC 36 (49)  AIR 1956 Madh B 172 (173, 174) (DB)  AIR 1966 Tripura 8 (11)  1966 Cur LJ 318 (339) (Punj).

(15) The petitioner, railway clerk, was selected to a higher post in an officiating position in Vigilance Department. Later on, on an anonymous complaint challenging his integrity a departmental enquiry was started against him and he was reverted to his parent Department without com-

Articles 310 & 311 — Note 107 (contd.) plying with the provisions of Article 311. The reversion was not due to the fact that the Vigilance Department was going to be wound up and that the real incumbent of the post that he was holding had come back: Held, that the order of reversion was hit by Article 311. AIR 1967 Punj 145 (147) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 748.

(16) Every reversion or reduction in rank by way of reversion, does to a certain extent affect the chances of promotion. After all, a person might be found inefficient to discharge a particular post, but when he is sent back to his substantive post, he may prove his efficiency with regard to the substantive post or by his subsequent display of merit establish his efficiency entitling him to promotion. In other words, the future right of promotion that must be affected is something which must not be indirect or remote but must arise directly out of the order of reversion. AIR 1958 Cal 546 (550) = 62 Cal WN 546.

(17) A civil servant is not entitled as of right to be promoted from a lower rank to the higher rank and once he is reverted to a lower rank, then his promotion is governed by the rules regulating promotions in his service. Promotion to a post is done according to seniority and efficiency. An officer cannot also claim that as he crossed the efficiency bar in the substantive grade and as the Head of the Department gave good reports about him, the Government was bound to promote him. The matter is one in which the discretion and judgment of the officer or authority concerned must prevail. His decision may be open to review by an administrative agency. But it cannot appropriately be a matter for judicial review. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 216 (217) = 1960 MPLJ 365 = (1960) 2 Lab LJ 419 (DB).

(18) Order reverting Officiating Sub-Inspector of Police to his substantive post of Assistant Sub-Inspector — Order though not stating specifically so had the effect of removal of the petitioner's name from the District Approved List of Assistant Sub-Inspectors expected to be suitable for promotion as Sub-Inspectors, maintained under Rule 742 of the Police Regulation— Held, the order list had a penal consequence on the petitioner to the effect that it indefinitely postponed his future chances of promotion and the removal of his name from the Approved List was done in an illegal manner. (1964) 8 Fac LR 331 (333) = (1964) 2 Lab LJ 195 (Cal).

(19) Where an Assistant Police Sub-Inspector is appointed as Sub-Inspector and his name also included in the promotion list, his reversion to the lower post after he serves in the higher post for several years, primarily on the ground of his name not being found in the list, is reduction in rank. When subsequently his name also is removed from the list the reversion is by way of punishment as it results in the penal consequence of his losing chances of promotion. As such, the reversion is hit by Art. 311 (2). 1966 Cur LJ 896 (898) (Punj).

(20) In a case where the Education Department having the material to prove as a fact that the teachers who were promoted to the selection grade were in the knowledge of the condition imposed on their promotion that they would have to refund the difference of salary between the time-scale and the selection grade in a certain contingency, omitted to produce such evidence, then, it could not be held that the teachers had knowledge of such condition. Therefore an order directing refund of the difference in salary was a penal or evil consequence of the reversion and hence the reversion was not maintainable because provisions under Article 311 were not followed. A reversion accompanied by an evil or penal consequence would amount to reduction in rank. Neither the fact that the teachers drew salaries in the higher or selection grade or that large number of copies of the letter in question containing the condition were prepared and sent to various authorities could prove that the teachers concerned knew its contents. 1966 Cur LJ 813 (816) (Punj) = 70 Punj LR 621 (DB). (25) Confirmation of approved probationer in substantive post — Subsequent reduction to lower rank on interpretation of relevant Rules — Probationer not qualified to hold substantive post under relevant rules — The question still was whether action based upon interpretation of Service Rules had resulted in a penal consequence — Though the order did not expressly purport to be reduction in rank in truth and reality it was so. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 450 (452) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 161.

(26) Petitioner charge-sheeted for making representation direct to higher authorities against his immediate superior — Explanation offered by petitioner — Matter not pursued — Reversion to lower post — Order of reversion assigning no reasons — Held, dominant motive was to punish petitioner — Order of reversion held was vindictive and mala fide — Non-compliance with provisions of Article 311 (2) held rendered order of reversion illegal. AIR 1964 Punj 528 (529, 530) = 1964 Cur LJ 320.

(27) A substantive pro tempore appointment under the Hyderabad Civil Services Regulations is not a temporary appointment. Hence a substantive pro tempore appointment confers on the officer concerned a right to the post subject only to the superior lien of another officer in whose place he may have been appointed. Reversion of an officer appointed on a substantive pro tempore basis without complying with the provisions of Art. 311 will therefore be invalid. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 491 (494, 495, 496) = ILR (1966) Andh Pra 153 = (1966) 2 Lab LJ 350 (DB).

(28) Where a Government servant, with lien on his permanent post, is promoted temporarily and on probation to a higher post, lien on which is retained by another employee, reversion of such Government servant without making an enquiry as contemplated by Article 311 (2) is not invalid. The promotion being temporary and on probation and since the reversion does not entail evil consequences or any stigma, the case does not fall under Article 311 (2). Since no employee can claim as of right a promotion, unless he can do so under a statutory provision or an enforceable condition of service and ordinarily it is for the State or the promoting authority to determine the suitability of employee for promotion, the reverted Government servant cannot challenge the reversion on the ground of his junior being given promotion. Thus the order of his reversion to the permanent post is one of reversion simpliciter and is not attracted by the provisions of Article 311 (2). 1969 Lab IC 68 (76, 77) (Tripura). (AIR 1964 Andh Pra 491, Distinguished.)

(29) Where an officer appointed on probation is allowed to continue in the same post even after the expiry of the period of probation, without extension of such period, he may well be deemed to have been confirmed and he acquires a lien to that post and his subsequent appointment to a post carrying a lesser scale of pay would amount to reduction in rank offending Article 311. AIR 1962 Him Pra 41 (42, 43).

(30) When the order reverting an employee shows that he is not qualified, although this is not a fact then the basis of the order itself being incorrect the order cannot be sustained. Even if the employee was a temporary servant, he was eligible to all the protection given by the article. 1965 Kash LJ 179 (189).

(31) Termination of service according to terms of contract or conditions of service — Appointment of Government servant to another department not on deputation — Termination of services requiring one month's notice — Reversion to original department — Notice essential — Non-compliance — Order of reversion illegal. AIR 1963 Him Pra 54 (56).

(32) The petitioner was placed under grade I by order dated 24-10-1949. His probation was declared to have been completed satisfactorily on 27-2-1953 and he was also given certain increments. The effect of what was alleged to be refixation of seniority was undoubtedly demotion of the petitioner from grade I to grade II which carried lesser pay resulting in loss in his salary. Held that the demotion of the petitioner operated as reduction in rank. (1960) 2 Lab LJ 387 (389) (Andh Pra).

(4) Article 311 (2) does not deal with the question of pension at all. The reduction in pension is not equivalent to reduction in rank. Reduction in rank applies to a case of a public servant who is expected to serve after the reduction. AIR 1960 SC 247 (251) = (1960) 1 Ker LR 59 = 38 Mys LJ 1 = 1960 SCJ 516 = (1960) 1 Lab LJ 798 = (1960) 1 SCR 981.

(5) Reduction in rank must be a reduction in rank in praesenti and not any loss of prospects of future advantage. Withholding of increment or of promotion or stoppage at the efficiency bar or reduction to a lower stage in time scale are all instances of loss of prospects of earning more than what the employee may be earning at the time. The reduction to a lower post or on a lower emolument by way of punishment would amount to reduction in rank as contemplated in Article 311 of the Constitution. AIR 1958 Raj 239 (240) = 1958 Raj LW 235 (DB).

(6) There is no forfeiture of any right where a person is reverted from a higher post on which he was officiating. The reversion cannot be described as reduction in rank by way of punishment and provisions of Article 311 (2) will not be attracted. The fact that the servant stands to suffer loss of higher salary is not the test for seeing whether the order of reversion is one passed by way of penalty. If the Government, after considering the suitability of a particular incumbent who had not by then acquired the right to hold the post, reverts him to his substantive rank or terminates his services, in case he is temporary, in accordance with the service rules, then that action cannot attract the provisions of Article 311. The crux of the matter is whether it can be inferred, that the Government really intended to take disciplinary action against the Government servant concerned. Whether a particular termination or reversion would amount to punishment within the meaning of Article 311 (2) would depend upon the facts of each case and such determination will ultimately depend upon the action taken by the Government which finally leads to the order of termination or in a case of officiating appointment to an order of reversion. 1966 Raj LW 262 (269) = ILR (1965) 15 Raj 664  AIR 1963 All 358 (360, 361) = ILR (1961) 1 All 940.

(7) The words "reduction in rank" mean degradation in rank or status of an officer, in physical sense and by way of penalty — A appointed as teacher-in-charge — Subsequently B appointed as senior teacher-in-charge without interfering with A's rank — A not reduced in rank. (8) Where a person holds no permanent appointment in Government service at all but holds only a post on an officiating basis and is then transferred to a lower post, there is clearly no reduction in rank. AIR 1957 Raj 81 (84) (DB).

(9) Inasmuch as a person holding a higher post in an officiating capacity has no right to that post, it is immaterial for what reason he is reverted, as he cannot be said to be "reduced" in rank when he has no right to the higher post at all. 1958 Jab LJ 187 (199)  AIR 1957 Raj 81 (82) (DB).

(10) 'Reduction in rank' in Article 311 (2) means reducing to a lower rank due to some personal default of the Officer. A fortiori the same word in other statutory provisions should be similarly construed. If the initial appointment to the post be not valid, no question of reduction in rank would arise, nor would a notice be required in such a case. The order in question was not one of reduction but of setting aside something which was not according to the rule, and for this, the relevant part of the rule does not require notice. The words 'the authority or person concerned' in the Proviso to Section 36 (1) of the Madras District Municipalities Act (V of 1920), should not be construed as entitling both to be heard, the word 'or' in the Proviso is obviously meant to be alternative but not cumulative. Notice would not be required when the reason for the order is not the conduct of the person claiming the notice. Also loss to him would not require notice if he be deprived of what he is not legally entitled to. (1959) 2 Andh WR 482 (483, 484) = (1959) 2 Lab LJ 562 (Andh Pra). (AIR 1956 All 460, Not followed.)

(4) Before charging a person with disobedience, a disciplinary authority must be sure of a prima facie case against such person. To charge a person with disobedience, without being so sure, reveals a fault finding mind and a mala fide disposition. Further in a case where the person charged had not shown cause but had asked for being relieved from showing cause, it is of utmost necessity that disciplinary authority examine case with greater care, before he makes up his mind about guilt of the person. (6) Merely to say that an order or action taken by the authority is mala fide has no meaning. When mala fide is alleged, the particulars and details of facts on which it is based or the reasons upon the basis of which it is urged have to be stated in the petition so as to enable the authority concerned to have an opportunity to give a proper reply to any such allegation. Mere allegations without giving opportunity to meet them would go against the principles of natural justice. (7) According to Article 320 (3) (b) a State Service Commission has to be consulted in making appointments and on the suitability of candidates promoted. It is a constitutional duty which a Public Service Commission performs. Even if it is considered as a provision not enforceable in a Court, yet the advice given under it is entitled to due respect and it is an eminently relevant consideration for the State Government in promoting or continuing the promotion of an officer. If after considering the advice and the other relevant materials the State Government takes a decision, it cannot be said that the decision is mala fide. (8) If any party wants to invoke the jurisdiction of the High Court on the allegation that the State or its Officers were actuated in superseding his claim on the ground of mala fides, then that

(9) Malice would vitiate the exercise of any statutory power. But it has to be established by sufficient materials. (10) An enquiry against an employee is not tainted with bad faith at its inception just because the employee is asked in the charge sheet itself to show cause why he should not be punished or because the enquiring officer had been required to hold the enquiry on receipt of the employees' written statement. The charge sheet merely suggests that in view of the charges made against the employee, he is to show cause why he cannot be awarded any of the three modes of punishment contemplated by Art. 311 and if at the enquiry the enquiring officer is satisfied that the charges are baseless there is no question of punishment. As such, it cannot be said that the enquiry was started with the sole object of punishing the employee. The enquiry is not therefore tainted with bad faith at its inception. The enquiring officer must hold the enquiry to submit a report even when the written statement of the employee is so convincing that the charges automatically fall to the ground. Hence if the enquiring officer is asked to hold the enquiry after receiving the written statement, it does not show that the enquiry is tainted with bad faith at its inception. AIR 1967 Cal 29 (30) = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 300.

110. Reversion from officiating post on ground of incompetency or unfitness. —
(1) In cases of reversion from officiating higher post to a substantive lower post on the ground of incompetency to hold the higher charge, reversion is only a matter of ordinary administrative course and not a punishment, so as to amount to a "reduction in rank." (2) State cadre officer of Indian Administrative Service — Promotion to tenure post under Government of India — Reversion to State Service before expiry of tenure period — Reason for reversion, unsatisfactory performance — Reversion amounts to reduction in rank involving stigma — Non-compliance with Article 311 (2) — Order not sustainable. AIR 1970 SC 77 (Prs 13, 16) = (1969) 2 SCWR 1.

(3) Person officiating reverted for unsatisfactory work — Reversion does not amount to reduction in rank — Government has a right to consider suitability of person to hold position to which he had been appointed to officiate and it is entitled for that purpose to make enquiries about his suitability — Losing some places in seniority list is not tantamount to reduction in rank. AIR 1966 SC 1529 (1532, 1534, 1535). (W. P. No. 531 of 1961, D/- 12-12-1962, Reversed.)  AIR 1970 Orissa 12 (15) = 1970 Lab IC 50 = 35 Cut LT 1144 (DB). (4) Where a person is reverted from an officiating post to his substantive post on the ground of unsuitability, he cannot be said to be reduced in rank. (1955) 59 Cal WN 859 (867) (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 244 (247). (Reversion on being found not upto the mark after trial.)

(5) Cadre officer in junior scale promoted to officiate in senior scale reverted to substantive post on the ground of unsuitability and non-cadre officer appointed in his place — Not a penalty. AIR 1968 SC 754 (759) = (1969) 1 SCJ 217.

(6) Rule 49 of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules enumerates different forms of punishment. Reversion to the substantive rank is not one of the prescribed punishments. This may take place under the rules in the ordinary course. An employee may in a given case be reduced for proved unfitness or incapacity. ILR (1957) 9 Assam 223.

(7) Where the petitioner who was Office Superintendent in the office of the District Magistrate was reverted to the post of a clerk on the ground that he was not up to the mark but just before four or five days before the reversion order was passed he was regarded by the District Magistrate as very efficient.

Held, that it must be inferred that the reversion order was by way of penalty on the ground that he was held not up to the mark. AIR 1959 Tripura 2 (4).

(8) All the relevant factors have got to be considered, for finding out as to whether even in the case of a Government servant who is holding an officiating post, an order of reversion to his lower substantive post does or does not amount to reduction in rank. If the order of reversion entails the postponement of the Government servant's future chance of promotion, then, such reversion must be only after compliance with the provisions of Article 311. AIR 1965 Mys 164 (166, 167) = (1964) 2 Lab LJ 421 (DB). (Government servant reverted from higher officiating post to his substantive lower post without giving any reason for reversion — Subsequently he was informed that reversion was on account of confidential report unfavourable to him — Reversion resulted in postponement of his further promotion for one year and his juniors became his seniors — Held, that reversion amounted to reduction in rank for purposes of article and order of reversion without giving reasonable opportunity to show cause against such reduction in rank was illegal.)

(9) Even in the case of a civil servant who is officiating in a higher post, reversion to a substantive post which involves a stigma and a penal consequence amounts to reduction in rank within the meaning of the article. A reversion which imperilled future chances of promotion entails penal consequences. Where in reverting an officiating Aval Karkun to his substantive post of a clerk an imputation is made against him that his work was unsatisfactory and his record was not good, it is a clear stigma on his work as an Aval Karkun and entails penal consequences, as his future chances of promotion would undoubtedly stand imperilled.

If the person was not yet found eligible for confirmation, it might have been possible for the confirming authority to desist from making the confirmation, and the postponement of confirmation in that way would not have amounted to a reduction in rank. But when the confirming authority did not stop with the postponement of the confirmation, but reverted him to his substantive post on the ground that he had not given a good account of himself as an Aval Karkun and that his record in that post was not good, the reversion is a punishment, and so a reduction in rank. And since it was not made after affording a reasonable opportunity the impugned order cannot be sustained. 1968 Lab IC 838 (840) = (1967) 2 Mys LJ 140 (DB).

(11) Engine driver found medically unfit for the post being absorbed in another post carrying less emoluments does not amount to reduction in rank within meaning of Article 311 (2). AIR 1966 Pat 184 (186) = 1966 BLJR 115 (DB).

(12) P working as Assistant Station Master — Selection of P as Section Controller — Subsequent confirmation of P in that post — On finding P physically unable to carry out duties of Section Controller, appointment of P as Asst. (13) Punjab Educational Service (Provincialised Cadre) Class III, Rules (1961), Rule 6 — Proviso to Rule 6 (3) prohibits extension of period of probation beyond three years — Probationer officiating in permanent post — Allowed to continue in that post after expiry of three years — No express order of confirmation passed — He must be deemed to have been confirmed in that post — Subsequent removal from service without following procedure in Punjab Civil Services (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1952 or conforming to constitutional requirements of Article 311 is invalid. (14) Appointment on probation to Punjab Civil Service — Requisite probationary period over — No formal order extending the probationary period — Enquiry consisting only of charge-sheet and explanation of Civil Servant — No further proceedings undertaken — Reversion to substantive post — Order of reversion, held, did not amount to punishment — Civil Servant could not, by virtue of the probationary period being over, claim to have a substantive appointment — Reversion by itself did not amount to punishment. (15) Appeal by petitioner against order dated 4-9-62 promoting two of his colleagues as Head Assistants, on recommendation of Departmental Promotion

Committee, in preference to petitioner who was seniormost Assistant in Department — Appeal allowed by Lieutenant Governor on 2-2-66 inter alia on ground that promotion committee had adopted procedure of selection on basis of merit-cum-seniority instead of seniority-cum-merit — Order of Secretary dated 1-4-66 appointing petitioner as Head Assistant with immediate effect in pursuance of appellate order — Lieutenant Governor's successor reviewing his predecessor's order on 17-6-66 and holding that correct way to carry out that order was to refer matter afresh to Selection Committee — In pursuance of order petitioner reverted as Assistant on 2-7-66 — Held, on construction of order dated 2-2-66, that petitioner was entitled to be appointed as Head Assistant with effect from 4-9-62 and order of Successor Lieutenant Governor was liable to be quashed — Held, further, assuming petitioner was appointed Head Assistant in officiating capacity by order dated 1-4-66, the reversion from officiating rank in pursuance of illegal order dated 17-6-66 amounted to reduction in rank within meaning of Article 311 (2) and provisions thereof not having been complied with, order of reversion was unconstitutional and void. AIR 1967 Him Pra 34 (37, 38).

111. Demotion on ground of financial stringency. — (1) Petitioner confirmed in the post of Headmaster of Primary School — Reversion to post of Asst. Master with lower salary on account of financial stringency — The order of demotion deprived the petitioner of a higher salary, as such it amounted to punishment even though the reduction is not on account of misconduct on his part but due to financial stringency — Petitioner entitled to protection granted under rule at page 193 of District Board Manual. AIR 1956 All 460 (461, 462) = 1956 All LJ 361.

112. Extension of probationary period — See also Note 7. — (1) An order of the Government imposing a penalty upon a person who is no longer in its service is a nullity. An order, however, passed by the Government with respect to the service term of its servant merely extending his probation does not amount to imposition of penalty within the meaning of the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 1130 (1135).

(2) It is permissible for an appointing authority to extend the period of probation for the purpose of enabling it (the appointing authority) to decide whether the person appointed to a service, class or category, is fit for the full membership. An order extending the period of probation does not amount to imposing a penalty on the Government servant. In such a circumstance it is not, correct to say that either Article 311 (2) of the Constitution or Rule 17 (b) of the Civil Services

(Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules has been violated as no charges were framed and no opportunity given to the said servant to defend himself. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 1130 (1137, 1139, 1140)

(3) Where the extension of the probation is not one made before the expiry of the first period of probation, Rule 26 of General Rules for State and Subordinate Services does not apply. Hence there can be no question of giving a notice to the employee before passing an order of extension. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 1130 (1137).

(4) An order passed against an employee in Government service to the effect that until he has been declared to have satisfactorily completed his probation, he does not become a full member of the service, and to continue him as a probationer till the date of his retirement cannot be urged to be in the nature of reduction in rank. Such an order is neither a case of dismissal nor removal. The order does not constitute a punishment within the meaning of Art. 311 (2). Equally inapplicable is R. 17 (b) of Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 1130 (1139).

(5) Held, on facts that from Rr. 26 and 27 of the Madras State Subordinate Service Rules it cannot be inferred that the appointing authority can, without reference to probation or the tests of qualifications acquired during the probation, declare the suitability of the probationer for the full membership of the service and thereafter by implication arising out of any deeming clause to have made the probationer occupy the substantive post. Any order of an appointing authority declaring the probationer to have satisfactorily completed the probation when he has not passed the tests, is invalid and also inoperative and has no legal force to enable the probationer to have his promotion of binding nature on the Government so as to render the Government in any way bound by that order of declaration. When, as a qualification for the suitability of a probationer for full membership, the process prescribed under Rule 26 has become imperative the appointing authority cannot ignore a part of the rules and make use of another part. It is impossible to hold that the petitioner had been legally holding the substantive post and that by reason of the impugned order he was reduced in rank, or has been punished in any manner. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 357 (359, 360, 361, 362) = (1962) 2 Andh WR 455 (DB).

(6) Probationer — There is no automatic confirmation after expiry of probationary period. AIR 1961 All 450 (455, 456) (FB). (AIR 1959 All 536 and ILR (1959) 1 All 226, Overruled.)

(7) The stopping of increments of a probationer whose period of probation is extended under Rule 28 of the General

Rules for State and Subordinate Services cannot be called in question as it is expressly stated in the rule that such a stoppage cannot be treated as a penalty. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 1130 (1140).

(8) Reversion long after completion of probation period without compliance with Article 311 (2) needs to be quashed. It violates R. 6 of Punjab Consolidation of Holdings State Service Class III (Executive Service) Rules 1962. AIR 1969 Punj 324 (327, 330) = 1969 Lab IC 1236.

(9) Held on facts that though the appointment to a permanent service on probation can be terminated at any time during the period of probation, after the expiry of the period of one year, the petitioner did not continue as a probationer but became a permanent servant and therefore was entitled to all the protection guaranteed by the Constitution; the orders extending the period of probation and discharging the petitioner were illegal and should be quashed. There was no provision of the Mysore Civil Service Rules (1958), which form the conditions of service of the petitioner, empowering the Government to extend the period of probation; nor did the order of appointment by virtue of which the petitioner held his office enable the Government to extend the period of probation. AIR 1960 Mys 65 (67, 70, 71) = 37 Mys LJ 725 (DB).

113. Officiating appointments and temporary posts.— (1) Even in the case of a temporary post, where the termination of service or transfer to a lower post is actually resorted to as a measure of punishment, for some misconduct, negligence, inefficiency, etc., the action of the Government would amount to a dismissal or removal from service in the one case and to reduction in rank in the other, so as to attract the application of Article 311. AIR 1958 SC 36 (49)  AIR 1957 SC 886 (887)  AIR 1958 All 741 (746) (FB).

(2) So far as the precariousness of the appointment is concerned, there is no difference between a substantive appointment to a temporary post and one on an officiating basis to such post. In both cases, the service is terminable at the mere will of the Government. The only difference is that in the case of a substantive appointment there used to be certain advantages with regard to pay and leave. AIR 1958 SC 36 (42).

(3) The expression 'reduction in rank' is not restricted in its application to cases of persons who are reduced from permanent posts. Officiating employees also may not be punished by reduction in rank without having any opportunity of being heard. ILR (1957) 9 Assam 223 (234) (DB).

(4) Where a petitioner is appointed to a higher post on an officiating basis, then under the general law the implied term of such appointment is that it is termin-

 able at any time on reasonable notice by the Government and, therefore, his reduction does not operate as a forfeiture of any right and cannot be described as reduction in rank by way of punishment. AIR 1963 All 415 (421). (AIR 1958 SC 36, Foll.; AIR 1962 SC 8, Disting.)

(5) Where the order of reversion simply says that the petitioner is reverted to his substantive post, there is no stigma attached to the order, and an order of reversion from an officiating appointment does not constitute reduction in rank to attract Article 311 (2), without more, because by an officiating appointment the Government servant acquires no title to the higher appointment. But it may attract Article 311 (2) if it entails penal consequences, in addition to the reversion e.g., stopping his future chances of promotion, loss of seniority in his substantive rank or forfeiture of pay which he has already earned. If the order does not entail any such consequences it would not attract Article 311 (2) even if the motive for reversion is some misconduct or inefficiency or unsatisfactory work of the employee. (1968) 72 CWN 817 (820, 821) = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 37.

(6) Where a person, temporarily appointed for a fixed period to officiate in a post, is reverted to a lower rank before the expiry of such period and nothing in the appointment order permits such premature termination, the reversion is illegal. Such employee had acquired a right to hold the post till the expiry of that period and his service cannot be prematurely terminated unless he is guilty of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or other disqualifications and proceedings under the rules read with Article 311 (2) are taken. AIR 1969 Orissa 61 (63) = 1969 Lab IC 293 = 34 Cul LT 1052 (DB).

(7) Temporary appointment is not different from officiating appointment — Government servant appointed in higher post 'to act until further orders' — Appointment is a temporary one. AIR 1964 Cal 265 (274, 275, 276) = (1968) 2 Lab LJ 376. (AIR 1958 SC 36 = 1958 SCJ 217, Rel. on.)

(8) Mere reversion from a temporary post does not per se amount to reduction in rank. ILR (1966) Cut 503 (525) = 8 Ori JD 290 (DB).

(9) Temporary posts — Reasonable opportunity to show cause against proposed action must be given even to temporary civil servant. 1967 Cur LJ 342 = 69 Punj LR 482 (483).

(10) There is nothing in the wording of Article 311 (2) that the protection guaranteed thereunder was to be extended only in case the proposed reduction in rank was permanent. The clause is unqualified, and will apply even when the reduction in rank is temporary. AIR 1963 Mys 193 (196, 197) = 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 87.

(11) Officiating at higher rank — Reversion to substantive post — Such reversion is not demotion or reduction in rank or penalty — Notion of a person officiating implies with it the term that he has no legal right to that post — Not penal. AIR 1966 Cal 402 (408) = (1968) 1 Lab LJ 633 (DB). (A. F. O. O. No. 369 of 1958, D/- 4-5-1965 (Cal), Reversed; AIR 1954 Nag 229 Held overruled by AIR 1962 SC 794; AIR 1958 SC 36, Explained; AIR 1960 SC 689, Disting.)

(12) The appointment, whether substantive or on an officiating basis, to a temporary post will not create any right to the post and the Services of a Government servant so appointed can be terminated at any time at the mere will and pleasure of the Government without alleging or proving any charge against the Government servant. AIR 1958 SC 36 (42, 49).

(13) Even in the case of a temporary post where the service has ripened into what is called under the Civil Service Rules, quasi-permanent service, the Government servant cannot be removed arbitrarily from service without being given an opportunity to show cause against such removal. AIR 1958 SC 36 (42).

114. Reversion from officiating post to permanent post Not reduction where incapacity is only background or motive and not basis of reversion — (1) Where the order for reversion is not based on any charges of misconduct, inefficiency, etc., but has only been promoted as a matter of fact by reasons connected with such misconduct, inefficiency, etc., the misconduct, inefficiency, etc., would only constitute the motive behind the Government's order and not its basis and it is only in cases where the misconduct, inefficiency, etc., constitute the basis of the Government's order, it would amount to punishment. AIR 1958 SC 36 (49)  AIR 1957 SC 892 (894)  AIR 1954 SC 369 (375) = ILR (1955) 1 All 324 = 1955 SCR 26.

[But see AIR 1955 Trav-Co 12 (13, 14)  AIR 1952 Orissa 285 (289) = ILR (1952) Cut 326 (DB).]

(2) The reversion from a temporary post held by a person does not per se amount to reduction in rank and so far as the temporary servants, probationers and servants holding posts in officiating capacities are concerned, they stand on a different footing. In case of an appointment to a permanent post in a Government Service on probation or on an officiating basis, the servant so appointed does not acquire any substantive right to the post and consequently cannot complain, any more than a private servant employed on probation or on an officiating basis can do, if his service is terminated at any time. Mere deprivation

Articles 310 & 311 — Note 114 (contd.) of higher emoluments as a consequence of reversion cannot amount to the "evil consequences" referred to in the second test in Dhingra's case; they must mean something more than mere deprivation of higher emoluments. That being so, they include for example, "forfeiture of substantive pay, loss of seniority, etc." Reversion from a temporary post held by a person does not per se amount to reduction in rank because the temporary post held by him is not his substantive rank. (1964) 1 Mys LJ 422 (429, 438) (DB).

(3) Government servant sent on deputation for stipulated period — He has no right to hold that post for all times — Reversion to his substantive post in parent department from higher officiating post before expiry of stipulated period — It is not case of punishment even though the servant lost benefit of appointment to higher rank and necessary loss of some higher pay or allowances or even of promotion. 1969 Lab IC 721 (724) = 73 Cal WN 939.

(4) Held, on facts of the case that the impugned order of reversion was not passed by way of punishment and did not amount to reduction in rank so as to attract the provisions of Article 311 (2). AIR 1967 Punj 139 (143) = 1966 Cur LJ 711 (DB). (C. W. No. 1506 of 1964, dated 9th September, 1965 (Punj), Reversed.)

(5) Where a Government servant holding a substantive appointment in a lower rank is appointed in an officiating capacity to a higher post and then reverted to his lower substantive post in the ordinary course of administration, such reversion will not amount to a punishment and will, therefore, not amount to a reduction in rank within the meaning of Article 311, Clause (2). AIR 1958 SC 36 (42)  1958 Jab LJ 187 (199) (DB)  AIR 1957 All 70 (72, 73)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 254 (255) (DB)  AIR 1957 Assam 143 (144, 145) (DB)  (1957) 61 Cal WN 849 (854, 855)  (1957) 2 Mad LJ 515 (516)  (1966) 1 Lab LJ 879 (882) (Punj). [But see AIR 1952 Orissa 285 (289) = ILR (1952) Cut 326 (DB).]

(6) U. P. Police Regulations, Paragraphs 406 (a), 534 and 537 — Head Constable not entitled to post of Sub-Inspector according to seniority as of right — Head Constable promoted as Sub-Inspector on probation — Probationer found unsuitable and reverted to substantive post of Head constable — Reversion alleged to be result of ex parte enquiry by which entry of misconduct was made in probationer's training sheet and integrity certificate was withheld — Held subsequent reversion though impelled by prior ex parte enquiry could not amount to reduction in rank as prior enquiry was not conducted to impose any of the three punishments mentioned in Article 311 — Use of word 'unsuitable' could not also render order of reversion as one by way of punishment. (1965) 10 Fac LR 278 = (1966) 2 Lab LJ 75 (80) (All).

(7) When a Government servant has a right to a particular rank, the very reduction from that rank operates as a penalty to attract Article 311 (2), as he then loses the emoluments and privileges of that rank. When he is appointed to a post on officiating basis, he does not acquire any substantive right to that post so that he cannot complain if his service is terminated at any time. Article 311 (2) would not apply where a Government servant had been promoted to a higher post on officiating basis and thereafter reverted to his substantive lower post. The motive or ground behind reversion is immaterial in such cases. Though his future chances of promotion would be indirectly affected by such reversion on account of inefficiency or unsuitability, it is not sufficient to attract Article 311 (2). If however there is anything in the order of reversion which would stand in the way of his earning future promotion by subsequent display of merit, it is undoubtedly a penal consequence. AIR 1966 Tripura 8 (11).

(8) Where a Government servant's service record in his officiating rank has been found to be throughout indifferent and unsatisfactory, his reversion to his substantive post is not as a measure of punishment but only on administrative grounds. Article 311 of the Constitution is not attracted. When a person is given an officiating post to test his suitability to be made permanent in it later, it is an implied term of the officiating appointment that if he is found unsuitable, he will have to go back. In the instant case, the action taken by the authority in reverting him to substantive post is in accordance with such terms. It is in no way a punishment within the meaning of Article 311. The fact that persons junior to him have been promoted to higher ranks while he remained in the same post is not a criterion because it is but a natural consequence of his reversion. 1963 Lab IC 854 (856, 857) (Punj). (9) Post held on provisional basis — Reversion to substantive post — No reduction in rank — Article not attracted — Confidential report regarding suitability to higher post — Notice of, need not be given — Order of reversion casting no aspersion, could not be attached — (Civil Services). 1969 Cur LJ 58 (65) (Punj).

(10) Kerala State and Subordinate Service Rules (1958), Rule 10 (b) (ii) — Petitioner provisionally appointed as Panchayat Executive Officer — Reversion to original post on ground that on verification character and antecedents of Petitioner were found not to be acceptable to Government — Article 311 would not apply as there was no dismissal or reduction in rank within the meaning of Article. AIR 1965 Ker 149 (150, 151) = 1964 Ker LT 1066.

(11) Where an impugned order merely states that the Government servant is reverted from his officiating appointment to substantive appointment, it contains no stigma. An order of reversion from an officiating appointment does not constitute reduction in rank to attract Article 311 (2), without more, because by an "officiating appointment", the Government servant acquires no title to higher appointment. (1968) 72 Cal WN 817 (820) = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 37  (1967) ILR 46 Pat 1288 (1290) (DB). (12) Probationer in the post of Tahsildar submitting false travelling allowance bills and not passing departmental examinations — Order reverting him to substantive post after an enquiry — Order not punitive in character, enquiry being merely to ascertain if conditions for determining the probation exist — Enquiry cannot be treated to be one under R. 55 (3) of Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, which prescribes procedure for enquiry under R. 14 of Subordinate Revenue Executive Service (Tahsildar) Rules — Article 311 not infringed. AIR 1966 SC 1842 (1845, 1846, 1847) = (1966) 3 SCR 821. (AIR 1963 All 377, Reversed.)

(13) Where the State Government has in the case of a doubtful record of service of a Government servant provisionally or temporarily promoted him to a higher post, it is not precluded from reverting the officer to his substantive post after it has before it, the advice of Public Service commission in that respect which it considers along with record of service of officer. (Removal of name from 'may be tried list' for promotion has no effect at all and such an action could not be said to amount to reversion accompanied with penalty.)

(14) Reversion from officiating to substantive post — Petitioner cannot complain — On facts held, there was no violation of Fundamental Rule 113 also. AIR 1969 Cal 525 (529, 530, 531) = 1969 Lab IC 1334 = 73 Cal WN 249 (DB). (1968 Lab IC 320 (Cal), Reversed.)

(15) The petitioner who was a lecturer, was appointed by the State Government as acting junior professor on 19th September, 1957. On 23rd August, 1958, she was reverted to her former post as a lecturer: Held (i) that the petitioner's appointment was only on a provisional or temporary basis and that it must be deemed to have been made subject to the general order of 27th November 1956, (ii) that the order applied also to appointment by promotion from subordinate service; (iii) that the order applied to appointment made by the State Government and that the petitioner was appointed by the State Government under the Kerala University Act; (iv) that the appointment by selection did not by itself import permanency in the tenure of the service of the candidate chosen; (v) that the appointment having been made provisionally and therefore on officiating basis, the rule in Dhingra's case, AIR 1958 SC 36, Applied; (vi) that the reversion of the petitioner not being by way of punishment, Article 311 (2) was not attracted; (vii) that the petitioner could not complain that she was being discriminated against. AIR 1960 Ker 260 (261, 262) = 1960 Ker LT 257.

(16) It cannot be said that where an appointment to a higher post is only on an officiating basis, the transfer to a lower post can never be a reduction in rank. There can be a "reduction in rank," even in such cases in certain circumstances. (1955) 59 Cal WN 859 (866) (DB).

(17) Even where an employee had no substantive right to post or rank from which he has been reverted, Article 311 (2) may be attracted if besides physical degradation or reversion to lower post, order for reduction also visits the Government with penal consequences. AIR 1966 Tripura 8 (11).

(18) If a Government servant was holding a particular post in his parent department and was sent to another department on deputation, on his reversion from that department to his parent department, he becomes entitled according to Bombay Government Circular dated, 31-10-1950, not only to all increments which he would have secured in his parent department but also to the restoration to him of every one of the higher posts which he would have in normal course of events occupied in his parent department had he remained in it, without having been deputed to another. An order placing him on lower position contrary to the circular, was quashed. AIR 1962 Mys 146 (149, 152) = 40 Mys LJ 76 (DB).

(19) Transfer from a specified statutory post to other post cannot be made — Petitioner who was permanently appointed as Registrar of Rent Controller's office under West Bengal Act XII of 1956 by Articles 310 & 311 — Note 114 (contd.) way of promotion cannot be transferred as a Certificate Officer under Bengal Act VIII of 1918 a post with lesser pay — Payment of difference in pay was only to get over the condition presented by R. 24 (1) of W. 115. Retrospective reversion.— (1) In the process of fixing seniority, the petitioners who were senior clerks were promoted to the posts of Assistants but were subsequently reverted to the position of senior clerks. The order of reversion was made to operate retrospectively. As a result of the impugned order, they became liable to refund the difference between the emoluments drawn by them as Assistants and the emoluments to which they would be entitled as senior clerks: Held, that the reversion order entailed penal consequence and amounted to a punishment. The order would not have amounted to penalty if it were to have operated prospectively. If no opportunity, much less a reasonable opportunity was afforded to the petitioners to show cause against the order of reversion that portion of it, which gave effect to it retrospectively, was in conflict with the provisions of Clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution of India. AIR 1960 Him Pra 24 (26, 27, 28).

(2) Reduction in rank — May amount to punishment or may be an innocuous thing — Police Sub-Inspector promoted to selection grade — Misconduct in investigation — Reversion with retrospective effect during period of probation — Order amounts to punishment only so far as it was retrospective — Order quashed only to that extent — Punjab Police Rules (1934) (as applied to Himachal Pradesh), Rules 13, 18, 16, 4. AIR 1962 Him Pra 35 (37, 38, 39, 40) = (1962) (1) Cri LJ 721.

(3) Surveyor and Draftsman-cum surveyor treated at par in matters of pay scale — No proof that they belong to same class of service and perform exactly same duties — Guarantee of equable treatment under Articles 14 and 16 held not available on ground of being differently treated — Reduction in pay of scale of post of surveyor — But petitioner, a surveyor allowed provisionally to draw pay in higher scale — Subsequent reduction on lower pay with retrospective effect and order for return of overpayment — Order resulted in evil consequences — Art. 311 (2) attracted—He could not be reduced in rank otherwise than in compliance with Article 311 (2). 1969 Cur LJ 4 (17).

(4) Provisional promotion of teachers — Subsequent reduction on lower pay with retrospective effect and order for return of overpayment — Held, Art. 311 (2) was attracted as the order for return for overpayment was not included in terms of conditions of service it amounted to punishment. AIR 1966 Punj 46 (48, 49) = 1965 Cur LJ 402. (AIR 1963 Cal 563; AIR 1964 SC 521 and AIR 1958 Mad 53, Disting.)

116. Abolition of post and reversion to lower rank.— (1) Where the post held by a Government servant is abolished and on such abolition he is appointed to another post of a lower grade or carrying a lower salary or scale of pay, there is no question of his being reduced in rank. AIR 1957 Pat 555 (559) (DB).

(2) Affording of opportunity against order of reversion — Not necessary when reversion is due to abolition of temporary post. 1969 Lab IC 1435 (1438) = 1969 Ser LR 504 (Punj).

117. Integration of services upon abolition of former Indian States and on reorganisation of States.— (1) Petitioner, the District Welfare Officer in former Vindhya Pradesh, allowed to continue in the same post in M. P. after reorganisation — In integration list District Welfare Officer, post in V. P. equated with post of Circle Officer in M. P. — Petitioner's posting as Circle Officer in M. P., held did not amount to reduction in rank so as to attract Article 311 (2) and it was also not by way of punishment. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 134 (135) = 1965 MPLJ 825 (DB).

(2) When one State is absorbed in another whether by accession, conquest, merger or integration, all contracts of service between the prior Government and its servants automatically terminate. Thereafter those who elect to serve in the new State, and are taken on by it, serve on such terms and conditions as the new State may choose. This is nothing more than an application of the principle that underlies the law of master and servant, when there is a change of masters. So, on the merger of Manipur State, with the Union territory of India, the service conditions of the employee of the erstwhile State of Manipur prior to the merger came to an end. AIR 1968 Manipur 58 (61) = 1968 Lab IC 1065. (It is also doubtful whether such an employee can take advantage of Article VIII of the Manipur Merger Agreement as he was not a party to the agreement and as the agreement was only between the two high contracting parties, viz., the erstwhile Sovereign of Manipur and the new Sovereign State of India. AIR 1965 SC 1196, Rel. on. Held, however, the Article VIII does not apply to the petitioner as he was not a permanent employee of the erstwhile State of Manipur.)

(3) Officiating Tahsildars in Pepsu confirmed and provided lien in supernumerary post — Merger of Pepsu State with Punjab — Successor State has power in view of Section 116 (2), States Reorganization Act to deprive them of permanent status — Article 311 (2) not attracted. AIR 1964 SC 521 (524, 525, 526). (L. P. A. Nos. 358 to 361 of 1959 D/- 23-11-1959 (Punj), Reversed.)

(4) The right of the new State to absorb or not to absorb any servant of the previous State cannot be questioned in a municipal Court. Even as a permanent employee of the State he has no rights which he can claim against the new State in a Municipal Court because all such engagements lapse with former sovereignty and it is in the discretion of the new State whether to recognize them or not. If the servant was a permanent employee of the erstwhile State, either he had to be absorbed in the permanent post or not at all. It is illegal to convert his claim into one for a temporary post and compel him to qualify for a permanent post by appearing before Union Public Service Commission. Where such a permanent servant continued to be treated as a permanent servant and take his pay as such servant in the new State for several years after integration, he must be taken to have enjoyed the benefits of Article 311. He could not be removed from service except under its terms. If he is to be removed from service, he is entitled to the benefit of Art. 311. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 136 (139, 140, 141) = 1959 MPLJ 257 = (1959) 1 Lab LJ 512 (DB).

(5) An appointment to a post on an officiating basis for no fixed period, can give to the servant so appointed no right to that post, and his service in that post can be terminated, unless it has ripened into a quasi-permanent service under the service rules. A reduction in rank by way of punishment only, can attract the operation of Article 311 (2). If a Government servant is appointed to a post on probation, or on officiating basis, the service in that post being liable to be terminated, such termination of service does not per se amount to punishment. The real test is to find out whether the order for reduction in rank visits the Government servant with any penal consequence. A mere loss of seniority would not amount to a reduction in rank within Article 311 (2). Where the petitioner had before his promotion to the higher post on officiating basis, held a higher rank in his substantive post and others had been assigned higher ranks over him on integration of services, as a result of reorganisation of States, it would be too unrealistic to say, that the reduction in his rank in the substantive post itself, is the direct consequence of his termination of service in the post in which he was officiating. AIR 1960 Ker 231 (232, 233, 234) = 1960 Ker LT 55.

(6) Reduction of a servant of a State from a post on which he was previously confirmed is only a test for ascertaining whether he was or was not reduced in rank as a measure of punishment. It is not of universal application. It has to be considered with due regard to facts and circumstances of each case whether reduction in rank was by way of punishment. 1961 Jab LJ 454 = 1961 MPLJ 579 (585, 586) (DB). (Petitioner erstwhile Gwalior State employee, was fixed as Head clerk in the office of Director of Education of Madhya Bharat during integration in Education Department — On his representation M. B. Government ordered him to be made office Superintendent — Government reviewed its order and cancelled its previous order and appointed S (whose claim was said to have been overlooked) to the post of office Superintendent without giving petitioner an opportunity to be heard — Held that the petitioner could claim to serve only on such terms and conditions as the new State of Madhya Bharat chose to give him, (as Head clerk by the final order) and that Article 311 (2) was not attracted as there was no reduction in rank by way of punishment.)

(7) Ad hoc promotion of Sub-Inspectors of Police as Circle Inspectors, when they were transferred from Hyderabad State to the new State of Mysore, as result of States Reorganisation Act — Reversion, on permanent incumbents coming back — Reversion, whether reduction in rank — As promotion on officiating basis is generally according to seniority, subject to fitness for promotion juniormost person reverted is usually person promoted last. AIR 1966 SC 175 (178, 179, 180, 181) = (1964) 6 SCR 279.

(8) An officer appointed to a higher post on an officiating basis has no right to continue in that post and can be reverted to his substantive post for administrative reasons. AIR 1964 SC 1361 (1365) = (1964) 2 SCR 982. (ILR (1961) 11 Raj 260, Reversed.)

(9) Person holding certain substantive post in former Indian State — Merger of such State in Orissa — Person must prove that his former substantive post was recognised expressly or impliedly by the new State — Entries in service book were merely a mechanical reproduction of entries prior to merger without sanction of competent authority. AIR 1962 Orissa 189 (190) = (1962) 4 Ori JD 136.

(10) Article 16 of Covenant creating United State of Madhya Bharat—Absorption in the service of the new State — Mere continuation in service from before formation of new State does not amount to such absorption. AIR 1954 Madh B 54 (57) = ILR (1954) Madh B 301 (DB).

(11) Officer from old regime appointed on temporary basis — His previous service must be deemed as having been terminated and he must be regarded as re-employed. AIR 1956 All 10 (11).

(12) On the formation of Union of M. B., some officers of the Covenanted States were retrenched and compulsorily retired without being absorbed in the service of the new State in pursuance of the administrative policy — It was held that the provisions of Arts. 14 and 16 were not violated. AIR 1954 Madh B 177 (181) (DB).

(13-14) Petitioner in permanent service of integrating State declared surplus to requirement by new Government — Subsequent absorption of petitioner in permanent service on condition that period of discontinuance could be treated as of leave — Petitioner accepting offer — After retirement petitioner claiming salary for period of discontinuance of service — Held that Clause (16) of the Covenant of the Covenanted States of Madhya Bharat did not create any legal right amongst the Civil Servants of merged States to claim to be in service in the new State — The order stood as a whole and it could not be dissected so as to enable the petitioner to claim benefit under one part and be relieved from the obligation under the other part. If the order that enabled him to be absorbed in service was subject to certain terms the right claimed could not be claimed independent of those terms. AIR 1957 Madh B 100 (103) (DB).

(15) A, Assistant Master in High School, appointed to post of Special Officer for Hindi by process of selection — Review of promotions made irregularly on basis of provisional Inter-State Seniority List as superseded by final Inter-State Seniority List — Reversion of A from Class II to Class III post — Reversion is illegal and must be quashed as the new appointment was made on the basis of eligibility and qualifications prescribed by State Government when it created that special post and not upon the rank which A held in antecedent post. (1969) 1 Mys LJ 169 (172) = 16 Law Rep 450 (DB).

118. Cancellation of promotion. — (1) Where a Government servant holding a lower post is promoted to a higher post but thereafter, such promotion is cancelled for some reason by order of the higher authorities whereupon the Government servant is reverted to his original post, there is no question of reduction in rank. AIR 1957 All 152 (153) (DB)  AIR 1955 All 528 (530, 531) = ILR (1956) 1 All 537  AIR 1955 Cal 385 (391) (DB).

(2) Reduction in rank — Government has power to reduce a civil servant who was previously promoted to higher rank. AIR 1960 Him Pra 24 (27)  AIR 1963 Mys 109 (110, 111) = (1963) 1 Mys LJ 127 (DB). (Revocation of the order of promotion on the ground that it was passed through mistake does not amount to reduction in rank so as to attract the provisions of Art. 311.)

(3) It is no point of law that because the Railway Administration made an error in promoting the petitioner, the Administrator must always be anchored to their error and must not be permitted to correct the same. The erroneous promotion does not invest the petitioner with a right to continue in the promoted post. His reversion, therefore, to his substantive rank does not amount to a reduction in rank as contemplated in Article 311 (2) of the Constitution. (1966) 12 Fac LR 53 (54) (Cal).

(4) Where another person's promotion need be set aside before making an order for promotion, rules of natural justice require that the authority must hear the person before making an order adverse to him, particularly when done on the theory that he was unworthily promoted. (1966) 12 Fac LR 264 (271) (Cal).

(5) Government servant promoted to permanent post on substantive basis — Reversion without following procedure in Section 126 of J. and K. Constitution, illegal. AIR 1966 J and K 24 (26) = 1966 Kash LJ 116 (DB).

(6) Constitution of India (1950) Article 311 (2) where a Government servant is given a chance to officiate on a post on a trial basis it is implicit in the promotion awarded to him that he would be reverted on account of unsatisfactory performance. Since he has no right to the post, he cannot complain on reversion to substantive post that he has been deprived of a position to which he was legally entitled — The order of reversion was not by way of punishment and it did not amount to reduction in rank. ILR (1967) 2 All 240 (242, 245) (DB).

(7) Promoted officer cannot be reverted on the ground that he did not pass the departmental examination, when no departmental examination was specifically prescribed under Service Rules. (1966) 2 Mys LJ 129 (130, 131) (DB).

(8) Reduction in rank — A, Assistant Master in High School, appointed to post of Special Officer for Hindi by process of selection — Review of promotions made irregularly on basis of provisional Inter-State Seniority List as superseded by final Inter-State Seniority List — Reversion of A from Class II to Class III post — Reversion is illegal and must be quashed. AIR 1969 Mys 306 (308) = (1969) 1 Mys LJ 169 = 1969 Lab IC 1219 (DB).

(9) Cadre officer in junior scale of pay promoted to officiate in senior scale — Subsequent reversion to substantive post — Juniors allowed to continue to officiate in senior scale — Action taken Articles 310 & 311 — Note 118 (contd.) is by way of penalty because it not only amounts to reduction in rank but also to a withholding of promotion to which he is entitled under the Rules depending on availability of posts and seniority. AIR 1968 SC 754 (759) = (1969) 1 SCJ 217.

(10) Petitioner Police Inspector of former Coorg State and promoted as Deputy Superintendent of Police by new Mysore State Government subsequently reverted as Police Inspector — Petitioner being over 52 years of age stated as ground for reversion — Police Service Rule imposing age restriction of 52 years for promotion as Deputy Superintendent of Police relied upon — Prior approval of Central Government before promulgation of Rule, not obtained — Proviso to sub-section (7) of Section 115, States Reorganisation Act (1956) held attracted — Rule held invalid for want of prior approval of Central Government — Order reverting petitioner as Police Inspector set aside. AIR 1965 Mys 19 (25) = (1964) 1 Mys LJ 217.

119. Refusal to promote. — (1) Promotion — Cannot be claimed as of right — Decision not to promote does not amount to imposing penalty. AIR 1969 All 213 (214) = 1969 Lab IC 518  1970 Lab IC 160 (163) (Orissa) (DB).

(2) Among the well-known attributes of public service, one that is least subject to exception is that no employee can claim as of right a promotion from one position to another unless he could do so under a statutory provision or an enforceable condition of service; a variety of considerations govern the promotion of an employee, none of which alone can render an employee suitable for promotion; ordinarily, it is for the State or the promoting authority to determine such suitability after an assessment of all relevant considerations, such as seniority, competence, rectitude, and antecedent official records, none of which is less important than the other, for the preservation of purity and efficiency in public service; the basic or governing consideration in all promotions is what may be shortly described as merit or suitability; seniority is in substance one of the elements in the assessment of merit. (1963) 2 Mys LJ 248 (249) (DB)  (1964) 1 Mys LJ 226 (228, 229).

(3) Refusal to select a person for a particular post though resulting in loss of some place in seniority is not reduction in rank. AIR 1964 All 356 (358).

(4) Promotion is in the discretion of the competent authority, and no Government servant can say that he has a legal right to be promoted. Hence no legal action would lie to enforce an alleged right that he is entitled to be promoted. The remedy of the Government servant aggrieved in such a case lies only by way of appeal to the superior authorities. AIR 1958 Manipur 35 (37). (Promotion from one grade to a higher grade is not to be made only on the basis of seniority but is to be made primarily on the basis of merit and efficiency, although seniority is also a factor to be taken into consideration.)  AIR 1961 All 315 (316) = 1960 All LJ 50 (DB).

(5) In a selection post a person cannot claim to be promoted merely on the ground of seniority. It is only when definitely a finding is arrived at by the authority that the work of the senior is not efficient and another person is found more suitable, that a junior would be entitled to be appointed in preference to the senior. That is a matter which would not be justiciable in a writ petition. AIR 1961 All 316 (319, 320).

(6) Right of promotion in a cadre — Creation of separate cadre is essential. AIR 1970 Pat 25 (Pr 32) = 1970 Lab IC 53 = 1969 BLJR 405 (DB)

(7) Refusal to promote on ground of inefficiency — Does not amount to discrimination. AIR 1958 J and K 43 (45).

(8) A mere non-promotion of a Government servant after consideration of his case for promotion does not amount to punishment. (1964) 1 Mys LJ 226 (230) (DB).

(9) Non-selection to post in selection grade is not removal or reduction in rank. AIR 1970 Delhi 1 (5) = 1970 Lab IC 31.

(10) It is the fundamental right of every public servant to seek higher promotion if he is eligible therefor and to obstruct his path of promotion amounts to infringement of his fundamental right under Article 16. Promotion of employee by order of Chief Minister with instructions that his work be observed for six months — His reversion before expiry of that period is illegal — Amounts to deprivation of his right to promotion. 71 Pun LR 439 (446) = 1969 Cur LJ 146.

(11) Promotions in Government service — Seniority by itself does not confer an absolute right to promotion — Decision of the Government as to suitability for promotion is final — Superseding senior member without more does not amount to 'reduction in rank' — No discrimination is practised by promoting a member lower in seniority order over his superior — Idea of selection not ruled out in considering equality of opportunity — Superseding a senior member of the services is not 'reduction in rank' of the senior member. (1963) 2 Mys LJ 248 (250) (DB).

(12) Promotion given by process of selection — Review of promotion made irregularly and promotee reverted — Reversion must be quashed. AIR 1969 Mys 306 (308) = (1969) 1 Mys LJ 169 (DB).

(13) Non-promotion of petitioner on the ground of unsuitability and promoting another who is junior cannot be viewed as reduction in rank of the petitioner or as a punishment imposed on him. (1964) 1 Mys LJ 226 (229) (DB).

(14) Petitioner refused promotion on two occasions — Authorities passing an order that he should not be offered any promotion for two years — Held the refusal of promotion if he was allowed the option to refuse it could not justify proscription for future promotion. If by reason of seniority he became entitled to promotion he could not be set aside on the ground of earlier refusal. (1966) 2 Mys LJ 187 (188) = (1966) 7 Law Rep 616 (DB).

(15) The authorities while considering the question of suitability for promotion and taking a decision thereon were not acting judicially and an opportunity to put forward explanation by concerned employees need not be given. (1964) 1 Mys LJ 226 (229) (DB).

(16) When the withholding of the promotion was not by way of punishment Article 311 is not attracted. Even assuming that the doctrine of pleasure of the Governor reiterated in Article 310 relates only to tenure of office and not to the other conditions of service and there may be a justiciable right independent of Article 311 where there is a contravention of a statutory rule dealing not with the tenure of office but with the other conditions of service, it cannot be held that there was any contravention of any rule relating to conditions of service, in not promoting a government servant, where the very conditions of service under which he was holding his post clearly laid down that promotion can be made only on the basis of merit and not on the ground of seniority alone and he was fully aware of it. ILR (1962) Cut 243 (245, 246) (DB).

(17) Promotion of teacher of private school receiving grant-in-aid from Government is within power and discretion of superior authority and is not justiciable unless it is decided in contravention of provisions of some specific rules — Where there are no rules, promotion cannot automatically go by seniority — Merit, general suitability etc. are some of the matters which have to be taken into account — Promoting authority only is the judge of it. AIR 1959 Manipur 1 (7).

(18) Reduction means demotion, that is, putting an employee in a Lower Grade, or post or on a lower scale of pay. It may even include a case where an employee is reduced to a lower stage of pay in the same scale, but by no stretch of imagination it is possible to conceive that when a man has not been allowed to go up by way of promotion as he was not found fit for the higher post there was a reduction in his rank. AIR 1958 Manipur 35 (37).

(19) Deputy Magistrate working as S. D. O. — Punishment by stoppage of promotions and censure in character roll — Period of suspension directed not to be treated as on duty — There is no reduction in rank — No further opportunity to show cause against punishment necessary. AIR 1966 Pat 97 (101) = ILR 45 Pat 1019 (DB).

(20) Supersession in the matter of promotion — Appeal Court holding it to be unjust — Government servant entitled to all ancillary benefits flowing from such redressal — Government Notification cannot deprive him of the right. (1969) 17 Law Rep 650 = (1969) 1 Mys LJ 197 (198) (DB).

120. Reversion and departmental enquiry for same cause. — (1) Where the petitioner, who was a permanent Government servant, and who was promoted to a higher post purely on a temporary basis and until further orders, is found unsuitable for the post on account of misconduct, two courses are open to the Government. The first was to revert him to his former post without any notice and without assigning any cause, and the second, by taking disciplinary action. But both the courses are not open to the Government simultaneously, and the methods are only alternative. Where therefore it is found that the authorities have reverted the petitioner to his former post, it is not open to the authorities to start proceedings for disciplinary action either themselves or through another authority. AIR 1958 SC 36, Rel. on. AIR 1958 Tripura 45 (47).

121. Retrospective orders under the Articles. — (1) The notice of termination of services which adversely affects the employee will take effect from the date on which it is actually or constructively communicated to him. The words, 'commencing with immediate effect' in the notice would only mean commencing from the date on which the notice was served and not from the date of issue. AIR 1965 Him Pra 55 (57, 58).

(2) Order of dismissal cannot have effect from any date prior to that on which it is communicated to delinquent Government servant. AIR 1969 Cal 397 (399) = 1969 Lab IC 1094 = 73 Cal WN 803  AIR 1963 Manipur 28 (35)  AIR 1958 Cal 470 (471) = 62 Cal WN 690  (1956) 60 Cal WN 1023 (1026) = (1957) 1 Lab LJ 223.

(3) Order of dismissal with retrospective effect is in substance an order of dismissal as from date of order with superadded direction that it should operate retrospectively as from an anterior date. The two parts are clearly severable — Court has power to give effect to valid and severable part of order but it cannot pass new order of dismissal. AIR 1966 SC 951 (953) = (1966) 2 SCR 204. ((1957)

(4) There can be no suspension of a person with retrospective effect. (1963) 2 Lab LJ 177 = (1963) 6 Fac LR 225 (227) (Cal).

122. Censure. — (1) Government servant cannot legitimately complain that the penalties of censure and suspension were imposed upon him without affording him an opportunity to show cause against the imposition of such penalty. AIR 1969 Orissa 224 (226) = 1969 Lab IC 1221 (DB).

(2) An enquiry as contemplated in cases falling under Article 311 (2) would not be necessary for punishments other than dismissal, removal or reduction in rank, that is, in cases of lesser punishments including censure. AIR 1958 Manipur 35 (37).

(3) The constitutional protection afforded by Article 311 does not extend to a Government servant with regard to whom a censure entry in his character roll is ordered to be made. AIR 1957 Raj 230 (231)  AIR 1954 Ajmer 22 (25).

123. Determining order of seniority. — (1) Rules of natural justice — Application of, while determining seniority — Exclusion of name of certain employee from final seniority list though included in provisional seniority list — Opportunity of making representation must be afforded before such exclusion. 1969 Lab IC 893 (895) = (1969) 1 Mys LJ 325.

(2) The right of the Government to regulate or determine inter se seniority of its employees is implicit in the theory that the civil servants of a State hold office at the pleasure of the President or Governor and that so long as any statutory inhibition is not shown to be contravened, the employee cannot complain before a Court or claim any relief on the basis of the failure or refusal of the Government to assign to him his proper position in the seniority list. AIR 1958 Mad 243 (247) = ILR (1958) Mad 295  AIR 1958 Mad 53 (64, 65) = ILR (1958) Mad 158  AIR 1956 Pepsu 26 (29) = ILR (1955) Patiala 703.

(3) Persons already declared to have completed their probation — Subsequent Order of Government to prepare integrated seniority list to receive their promotions with retrospective effect — Illegal. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 118 (123) = (1969) 1 Andh WR 85.

(4) Article is attracted when reduction is as a punishment; it does not apply to the case of a public servant whose rank is reduced in the fixation of seniority list. AIR 1961 Ker 203 (207) = 1960 KLT (1200)  AIR 1962 SC 1704 (1710).

(5) Whenever the Government wanted to change the rules as to seniority or to refix the seniority with reference to a particular service the persons in service likely to be affected need not be given an opportunity of being heard and no principle of natural justice can be said to have been violated if such opportunity was not given.

A person who had obtained a benefit in the way of seniority by relaxation of rules and who has been deprived of that benefit by a subsequent cancellation of such relaxation cannot claim as of right any particular rank in his substantive cadre and least of all can he seek to enforce such a right. AIR 1959 Mad 1 (4, 5, 6, 7) = (1958) 2 Mad LJ 379 (DB).

(6) Fixation of seniority — Service Rules vesting discretion in authorities — No arbitrary exercise of discretion — Courts will not interfere with the order — Posts and Telegraphs Manual, Vol. IV, Chapter II, Rule 38. AIR 1962 Orissa 20 (21) = ILR (1961) Cut 303 (DB).

(7) The expression 'rank' in Article 311 (2) has reference to a person's classification and not his particular place in the same cadre in the hierarchy of service to which he belongs. AIR 1966 SC 1197 (1200)  AIR 1962 SC 1704 (1710).

(8) Losing some places in seniority list is not tantamount to reduction in rank within Article 311 (2). AIR 1966 SC 1197 (1199, 1200) = (1966) 3 SCR 61. (AIR 1960 Cal 209, held overruled in AIR 1962 SC 1704.)  AIR 1966 SC 1529 (1533, 1534) = (1966) 3 SCR 106. (W. P. No. 531 of 1961, dated 12-12-1962 (Mys), Reversed.)  AIR 1962 SC 1704 (1710)  AIR 1968 All 276 (278, 279) = 1968 Lab IC 1027. (Petition challenging an order which has resulted only in the loss of seniority is not maintainable under Art. 311.)  (1966) 2 Lab LJ 374 (389) = (1964) 8 Fac LR 375 (All). (Seniority of Munsif reduced in same cadre — Art. 311 (2) held not applicable since order did not amount to reduction in rank.)

(9) Government servant — Fixation of his seniority in cadre — No law as to — It depends upon discretion of Government — No writ of mandamus can be issued. AIR 1963 All 358 (360).

(10) Refusal to select person for particular post — Losing place in seniority list in same cadre — Not reduction in rank. AIR 1964 All 356 (358).

(11) Reduction in rank — What constitutes — Reversion of Government servant from officiating post to his substantive post resulting in loss of seniority in that post — Reversion must be held to be by way of punishment — Appeal No. 138 of 1956, dated 26-7-1956 (Bom), Reversed — Government of India Act (1935), Section 240 (3). AIR 1962 SC 8 (10, 11) = (1962) 1 SCR 886.

(12) Railway servant — Reduction in rank by way of seniority — Order held not justiciable. AIR 1959 Mad 68 (71) = 71 Mad LW 750 (DB).

(13) Orissa Administrative, Finance and Police Service (Direct Recruitment) Rules (1950), Rules 2, 7 (2) (b), 7 (2) (a) (i) and Appendix I — Combined competitive examination in accordance with Rule 2 — While drawing up the results, separate ranking of candidates only for police service in separate column is invalid — Unilateral decision of State Government to demote a police officer to lower place in list of seniority affects his future chance of promotion to higher rank — Non-compliance with provisions of Article 311 and principles of natural justice — Decision is invalid. 1969 Lab IC 738 (741, 742) (Orissa) (DB).

(14) Unaccepted officiating Patwaris — Such Patwaris are not included in R. 16 Punjab Revenue Patwaris Class III Service Rules — Names of such persons are not maintained in the register kept in specified form for other Patwaris — Unaccepted Patwaris terminated as a result of their participating in strike — Subsequent re-instatement — Past service ordered to be counted only for the purpose of pension under Rule 4.20 (a) of Punjab Civil Service Rules — Government order fixing seniority — Candidates continuing to work during strike given seniority over candidates participating in strike — Order is only administrative — No discrimination violating Arts. 14 and 16 of the Constitution — Order fixing seniority does not amount to dismissal, removal or reduction in rank within the meaning of Art. 311—Art. 311 not attracted. (1967) 69 Punj LR 1036 (1041).

(15) An alleged breach of service rules does not give to an employee of the Government any cause of action. Hence, to a suit to get an order fixing the seniority of the plaintiff, an Assistant Surgeon in the Punjab Civil Medical Service, in contravention of Government Service Rules declared illegal and ultra vires, the provision of Article 310 of the Constitution is attracted and the matter is not justiciable. 64 Punj LR 774 (780) = (1962) 2 Lab LJ 725.

(16) Integration of services on reorganization of State — List prepared by considering all relevant factors — Revised list and refixing particular servant's seniority — Representation of all affected servants not considered — Revision is whimsical and arbitrary and violative of Article 14 — Mysore Government Order No. G. A. D. 20 I. G. S. 62 dated 20-7-63 held ultra vires and illegal. AIR 1966 Mys 31 (35) = (1965) 1 Mys LJ 392 (DB).

(17) Whenever the Government proceed to modify or amend the rules relating to seniority and refix the seniority of the Government servants with reference to such rules, the affected servant cannot contend that his reduction in rank is by way of punishment. The loss of seniority of the petitioner which resulted from the refixing of the seniority inter se between the petitioner and another would not amount to a reduction in rank of a penal nature so as to attract the application of Article 311 (2). AIR 1960 Mys 255 (257, 258) = 38 Mys LJ 522 (DB)  AIR 1958 Mad 53 (68) = ILR (1958) Mad 158. (Re-adjustment of the order of seniority will not amount to a reduction in rank.)

(18) Promotion of assistant teacher as headmaster in Railway High School — Provisional panel made by General Manager in accordance with Railway Board's letter No. E. (N. G.) 57 P. M. 1-24, dated 8th October, 1958, according to which fresh panel to be made after existing one is exhausted — Final panel rearranging seniority affecting the petitioner — Held, this was not a rectification of clerical mistake and General Manager could not invoke even his inherent power. 1969 Lab IC 483 (484) = 16 Fac LR 440 (Cal).

(19) In respect of selection grade posts a selection has to be made from amongst the officers in that cadre, and only that officer who in the opinion of the authority making the selection is considered fit is selected for the post. Hence no Government servant in a particular cadre can claim a post in the selection grade in that cadre as of right on the ground of his seniority. His suitability for that post must obviously depend on the subjective satisfaction of his superior officers. ILR (1962) Cut 243 (245) (DB).

(20) I. P. S. (Regulation of Seniority) Rules (1954), Rr. 2 (g) and 3 (3) (b) — 'Senior Post' — State Government has been given power to declare any post as 'Senior I. P. S. Post' and no form has been prescribed for such declaration — For purpose of applying Rule 3 (3) (b), definition in R. 2 (g) is sole guide and whether person acting in an equivalent post was on deputation from Army or was promoted to State Police ranks is immaterial — If definition in R. 2 (g) included only officiation subsequent to appointment to I. P. S. cadre after termination of deputation from parent Department, second part of definition would become unnecessary and meaningless and it would involve an interregnum which cannot be reasonably imputed to Service Rules. (1967) 14 Fac LR 72 (81, 82) = (1967) 2 Lab LJ 289 (Cal).

(21) Government taking over management of private trust fund and treating its employees as Government servants from 20-11-55 — Held on facts that B who became a second grade clerk in 1951 was clearly entitled to a higher rank than A, a Government servant, who became a second grade clerk only on 4-12-1953 — Services rendered by B in private trust fund are to be treated as part of services rendered under Government. AIR 1969 Mys 346 (347, 348) = (1969) 1 Mys LJ 415 (DB).

124. Grounds of dismissal or removal. —

(1) A Government servant may be dismissed or removed for any good and sufficient reason. Where the Government Servants' Conduct Rules prohibit the doing of certain thing, a breach of the rule will be a good and sufficient reason for dismissal. AIR 1956 Raj 28 (29)=ILR (1955) 5 Raj 887 (DB).

(2) So long as it is not complained that there has been an infringement of Arts. 310 and 311, High Court would not be justified in setting aside an order of removal (for disobedience of transfer order) of Governor whose pleasure with regard to termination of services of Government Servant serving in a State is final. 1958 All LJ 218 (221).

(3) Where a Government servant is dismissed or removed from service on certain charges, it is open to the Court to go into the question of the sufficiency of the reasons on which the order of dismissal or removal is based in order to satisfy itself whether the reason given can at all be a "good and sufficient reason" for the dismissal or removal. ILR (1958) 8 Raj 432 (434) (DB).

(4) The Court can consider not only whether the reason given for dismissal or removal can at all be a reason for such action but also whether the finding of the dismissing authority that a certain ground has been made out is a bona fide one. AIR 1956 Mad 220 (225)  AIR 1956 Pepsu 19 (26).

(5) Dismissal of public servant based on two charges — Subsequent finding of guilt on one charge only — Order of dismissal cannot be maintained. AIR 1963 Punj 336 (338)=65 Pun LR 571 (DB).

(6) Order of dismissal based on charges, findings on some of which are vitiated — Order of dismissal is to be set aside and cannot be justified on the basis of remaining charges. AIR 1962 Orissa 78 (81, 82)=27 Cut LT 265 (DB). (Findings on charges vitiated.)

(7) If a person has been guilty of indiscipline and has been punished on previous occasions those factors are usually taken into consideration in awarding punishment though they should not be taken into consideration in finding the applicant guilty of that particular charge. AIR 1959 All 624 (625)= ILR (1957) 2 All 246.

(8) Where the guilt of taking bribe is proved against the public servant, it is sufficient to entail dismissal from service and the fact that the enquiry officer exceeded the scope of enquiry on other counts is immaterial and the dismissal cannot be challenged on this ground. AIR 1960 All 618 (619)= ILR (1960) 1 All 214= 1960 Cr LJ 1290 (DB).

(9) Where a Government servant was dismissed merely on the ground that he had received some money from one person for being paid over to another which he accordingly did, it was held that this was no reason at all for punishing him. ILR (1958) 8 Raj 432 (435) (DB).

(10) It is not necessary that the ground on which a public servant is dismissed must amount to or be akin to a criminal charge. AIR 1951 Mad 882 (882) (DB).

(11) Dismissal or removal of a Government servant may be justified on grounds of inefficiency, insubordination and general reputation of corrupt conduct. AIR 1951 Mad 882 (882, 883) (DB).

(12) The guarantee provided in Art. 311 did not refer only to the procedural aspect — Matters wholly unconnected with conditions of employment could not be taken into consideration in imposing punishment. (1963) 1 Lab LJ 512 (516, 517) (Mad).

(13) In order to enable a master to take disciplinary action against his servant it is not a condition precedent that misconduct on the part of the servant must arise within his employment and not outside his employment. There is no reason why this principle should not apply to public servants. AIR 1960 Bom 285 (286, 287)= 61 Bom LR 1537= 1959 Nag LJ 441 (DB).

(14) Disrespectful statements made against a superior in an appeal to the higher authorities will amount to indiscipline and misconduct for which Government servant may be dismissed. AIR 1956 Orissa 99 (101)= ILR (1956) Cut 29 (DB)  AIR 1954 Him Pra 1 (4).

(15) The High Court will not normally question the correctness of the decision of punishing authority where the Government servant has been given a reasonable opportunity as contemplated by Article 311, Clause (2). AIR 1956 Bom 483 (487)  AIR 1956 Bom 455 (458)= ILR (1956) Bom 767 (DB)  AIR 1956 Raj 28 (29)= ILR (1955) 5 Raj 887 (DB).

(16) Enquiry into integrity of public servant — Defence that assets were increased on account of gifts from father or mother — Onus to prove on delinquent. AIR 1964 Cal 415 (417)= (1966) 1 Lab LJ 111.

(17) Order of removal on ground of acceptance of private service by Government servant — Inaccurate references in order to Rule 13, Government Servants Conduct Rules instead of Rule 15 and also to a particular Government Order which was not applicable — Held did not affect validity of the order. AIR 1959 SC 536 (542)= 1959 Supp (1) SCR 892.

(18) Mere passing of resolution of strike — No breach of Disciplinary Rules. AIR 1959 All 614 (616).

Article 310 and 311 (contd.)

125. Grounds of dismissal — Subversive activities — See also Note 41. — (1) Reference in charge sheet only to political leaning but not to any objectionable activity having relation to politics amounting to misconduct — Dismissal on basis of charge sheet — Dismissal amounts to fundamental error on basis of record. AIR 1967 Mad 392 (394, 395) = 1965 Mad WN 26 (DB). (W. P. No. 113 of 1960 (Mad), Reversed.)

(2) A rule providing for the discharge or compulsory retirement of a Government servant for being involved in subversive activities prejudicial to national security is not open to impeachment on the ground of its being too vague and indefinite and as such as being violative of Article 14. AIR 1958 SC 232 (237)  AIR 1958 Andh Pra 288 (292, 293) = ILR (1958) Andh Pra 310 (DB).

(3) The rules governing the conduct and discipline of Government servants may provide for the dismissal or compulsory retirement of persons involved in such subversive activities and in such cases a special short procedure may be provided and the provisions of such special procedure would not be an infringement of Article 14 of the Constitution. AIR 1958 SC 232 (237, 238)  AIR 1956 Mad 220 (223)  AIR 1956 Pepsu 19 (23, 24).

(4) The subversive activity for which a Government servant can be dismissed or compulsorily retired must be an unlawful activity. Being a member of the Communist Party or of a Labour Union, which is not declared to be unlawful, will not amount to "subversive activity". AIR 1958 Mad 220 (224).

(5) Government servant cannot be held to be guilty of misconduct by being member of an association formed by Government servants, which has not been recognised by Government. AIR 1960 All 353 (356, 357, 358) = ILR (1959) 1 All 787 (DB).

(6) Public servant's freedom to vote for any political party does not mean 'active membership' and open participation in subversive organisation. Concealment of the fact of 'active membership of a subversive organisation' would certainly be a concealment within the meaning of R. 1706 of Railway Est. Code relating to dismissal. AIR 1958 Cal 654 (656) = 62 Cal WN 352.

(7) Mere association with persons who are engaged in subversive activities is not enough to justify dismissal or compulsory retirement of Government servant unless he is associated with the others in the subversive activities in which they are engaged. AIR 1956 Mad 220 (224)  AIR 1956 Pepsu 19 (25).

(8) Where the authorities have the power under the relevant Service Rules to terminate the services of an employee simply by giving notice and also have power under a different rule to terminate his services on the ground of his engaging in subversive activities prejudicial to national security, and the authorities profess to follow the latter course, the procedure prescribed by the Rules in this connection must be followed. AIR 1958 SC 232 (236).

(9) The termination of service of a Government servant on the ground of his being a Communist or Trade Unionist does not infringe his Fundamental Right under Article 19 (1) (c). AIR 1958 SC 232 (238).

(10) The termination of the services of a railway servant by notice under Rule 3 of the Railway Services (Safeguarding of National Security) Rules, 1949, does not constitute a punishment so as to amount to dismissal or removal within the meaning of Article 311. AIR 1958 SC 232 (238).

(11) The Railway Services (Safeguarding of National Security) Rules, 1949, are prospective in their operation and action can only be taken under them in regard to subversive activities being presently indulged in or likely to be indulged in. AIR 1958 SC 232 (239).

(12) West Bengal Government Servants Conduct Rules (1959), Rule 4 — Association of public servant with girls taking intoxicating drinks alleged to be unbecoming conduct — Held case not covered by Rule 4 — Rule 4 not retrospective. AIR 1964 Cal 503 (514, 515) = 68 Cal WN 215.

(13) Even in the absence of a specific rule in the Government Servants' Conduct Rules prohibiting strikes a Government servant in an administrative department going on strike will be guilty of serious indiscipline. AIR 1956 Raj 28 (29) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 887 (DB).

126. Criminal proceedings against officer. — (1) The fact that the officer has committed an act for which he may be criminally prosecuted is no bar to his being departmentally proceeded against and dismissed if he is found guilty in such departmental enquiry. AIR 1956 Mad 460 (461) = 1956 Cri L Jour 1081  AIR 1955 Pepsu 97 (98) = ILR (1955) Patiala 416  AIR 1951 Cal 179 (181).

[But see AIR 1954 Assam 18 (21) = ILR (1954) 6 Assam 107 = 1954 Cri L Jour 31 (DB).]

(2) Even where a civil servant has been acquitted of charges in the criminal proceedings in a Court departmental proceedings under Article 311, Clause (2) in respect of identical charges would not be without jurisdiction. AIR 1955 Pepsu 97 (98) = ILR (1955) Patiala 416  AIR 1953 Cal 316 (319) = ILR (1952) 2 Cal 254  AIR 1967 Mad 315 (316, 317) = 78 Mad LW 692 (DB).

[See AIR 1957 Orissa 51 (54) = ILR (1956) Cut 615 (DB).]

Punj 77 (DB)  1951 Nag L Jour 593 (595) (DB).]

(3) It cannot be said that in the case of an acquittal by a criminal Court the departmental proceedings cannot be initiated on the same facts. Even in the case of acquittal the departmental proceedings may follow when the acquittal is 'other than colourable'. 1968 Lab IC 63 (65) = 79 Mad LW 635  (1966) 13 Fac LR 405 = (1967) 1 Mad LJ 146 (147).

(5) Where a criminal case on same allegations was pending the enquiring officer ought to have stayed the departmental enquiry pending conclusion of Criminal case. AIR 1966 J and K 73 (75) = 1966 Kash LJ 142.

(6) As mere prosecution is not conviction and the pendency of a criminal prosecution is no proof of the guilt of an accused, to call upon a man to show cause why he should not be dismissed from Government service because of the pendency of a criminal prosecution against him is only to make a nonsense of a charge of misconduct. AIR 1961 Cal 626 (629) = 65 Cal WN 607 (DB). (Overruled on another point in AIR 1966 SC 951.)

(7) It is not the true position of law to state that wherever it is possible to prosecute a Government servant in a Court of law the authorities would be precluded from proceeding against him departmentally under any conceivable circumstances. Whether the concerned Railway Code provides for disciplinary proceedings after acquittal by a criminal Court or not, the right to exercise the disciplinary jurisdiction is always, there when a charge of sufficient gravity is alleged against an employee. (1966) 1 Mad LJ 306 (307) = 78 Mad LW 692  AIR 1967 Mad 315 (316, 317).

(8) In an enquiry against a Government servant once a properly constituted authority has arrived at a decision, then its successor in office cannot enter upon a reconsideration of the matter so as to arrive at another and totally different decision. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 413 (414, 415) = 1959 MPLJ 465 = 1958 Cr LJ 1485.

(9) The Government servant, who has been dismissed from service by way of departmental action for corruption, can be later on prosecuted and punished in a Court of law. See AIR 1954 SC 375 (378) = 1954 SCR 1150 = 1954 Cri L Jour 993.

(10) Although Government employee may have been acquitted by a criminal Court on a charge of Criminal misappropriation, he may still be held responsible for the loss and may be removed from service. AIR 1956 All 43 (45).

(11) Criminal charge against public servant — Acquittal on basis of benefit of doubt — Departmental inquiry in respect of same charge is not against natural justice — Standard of proof in criminal case and departmental inquiry not same — Orissa Service Code, Vol. II Rule 5 (c). AIR 1963 Orissa 73 (78, 79) = ILR (1962) Cut 125  AIR 1956 Pat 228 (230) (DB).

(12) Suspicion of theft without actual proof of theft at a departmental inquiry is a sufficient reason for the removal of a turner in a railway machine shop. AIR 1957 Hyd 13 (13) = ILR (1956) Hyd 644 (DB).

127. Suit for declaration. — (1) In a suit for declaration that the plaintiff's dismissal from service was wrongful and for arrears of pay it is not necessary for the plaintiff to refer to Article 311 (2). 1963 MPLJ 28 = 1963 Jab LJ 94 (DB).

(4) A declaration cannot be granted where at the time of the decree the circumstances have changed and on account of the highly advanced age of the plaintiff and other circumstances, he cannot be properly restored to his office. AIR 1953 Cal 188 (193) = ILR (1953) 2 Cal 249 (DB).

(5) Where a Civil servant, whose dismissal from service was found ultra vires and illegal, had prayed for a declaration that the dismissal was ultra vires and illegal — Held that the plaintiff was entitled to a declaratory decree prayed for, taking into account the circumstances of the case. AIR 1960 Pat 366 (370, 371) = 1960 BLJR 312 (DB).

(6) Suit by Government servant for declaration that order of his dismissal was void and he still continued in service — Plaintiff reaching age of superannuation pending decision of appeal against the decision in suit — Held it would not be proper for the appellate Court to grant plaintiff-appellant declaration that he continued in service up to the date of decision of appeal. AIR 1963 Raj 57 (62) = 1963 Raj LW 128.

(7) Person appointed as additional Government Advocate which at the time was tenure post — Subsequent alteration of Rules providing for superannuation at the age of sixty — Termination of services of appointee under new rules before the expiry of period of tenure for which he had been appointed — Proper remedy is civil suit. Articles 310 and 311 — Note 127 (contd.)

(8) Suit for declaration that the charge-sheet issued to the plaintiff in a departmental enquiry is illegal on the ground that there is no evidence to support it, is in law maintainable. AIR 1964 Pat 168 (174).

(9) Where a suit was brought challenging an order of dismissal of a public servant, on the ground that the order was passed by an officer subordinate to the officer by whom the dismissed public servant had been appointed, and pending the suit an order of dismissal is passed by the proper authority, the Court will not pass a declaratory decree to the effect that the dismissal of the plaintiff is void and that he is still in service. AIR 1950 All 212 (223) = ILR (1950) All 1222 (DB).

(10) Where in a suit for a declaration that the order dismissing the plaintiff from service was illegal, null and void and for consequential reliefs and to recover arrears of salary, etc., it is proved that the show cause notice against the proposed punishment was vitiated, the plaintiff would be entitled to the declaration that the plaintiff was in the service of the Government on the date of the suit and to arrears of salary only upto the date of the suit. AIR 1963 Guj 244 (250).

346. Official language for communication between one State and another or between a State and the Union.—The language for the time being authorised for use in the Union for official purposes shall be the official language for communication between one State and another State and between a State and the Union:

Provided that if two or more States agree that the Hindi language should be the official language for communication between such States, that language may be used for such communication.

347. Special provision relating to language spoken by a section of the population of a State.—On a demand being made in that behalf the President may, if he is satisfied that a substantial proportion of the population of a State desire the use of any language spoken by them to be recognised by that State, direct that such language shall also be officially recognised throughout that State or any part thereof for such purpose as he may specify.

CHAPTER III

LANGUAGE OF THE SUPREME COURT, HIGH COURTS, ETC.

348. Language to be used in the Supreme Court and in the High Courts and for Acts, Bills, etc.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this Part, until Parliament by law otherwise provides—

- (a) all proceedings in the Supreme Court and in every High Court,
- (b) the authoritative texts—

- (i) of all Bills to be introduced or amendments thereto to be moved in either House of Parliament or in the House or either House of the Legislature of a State,

- (ii) of all Acts passed by Parliament or the Legislature of a State and of all Ordinances promulgated by the President or the Governor^a [° ° °] of a State, and

- (iii) of all orders, rules, regulations and bye-laws issued under this Constitution or under any law made by Parliament or the Legislature of a State, shall be in the English language.

Article 348 — Note 1

(1) Under Clause (3) of this article it is the English version of an Act or rule, regulation, etc., that is to be treated as the authoritative text in case of conflict between the English version and that in Hindi or other language. (2) The doctrine that if there be two versions of a statute in two different languages, one version can be used to interpret the other does not apply in India, as Clause (3) of this article clearly provides that where laws are passed in an Indian language and translated into English, the authoritative version shall be the English one. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 16 (19).

(3) Where the English translation of a statute or rule, etc., has not been published as contemplated by this clause, this will not render the Act or Rule null and void. AIR 1957 Madh B 26 (28) (DB).

(4) Under the Official Language Act of the Pondicherry Legislature both Tamil and English have been elevated to the status of the official languages to come into effect upon a date to be notified. Even if the date be not actually notified, yet, until that is done, the procedure that seems to prevail, with regard to the language of the Court, is that there is prepared a French Text of the judgments of the Superior Court of Appeal which will be the official text of the judgment. AIR 1968 Mad 298 (307) = (1967) 2 Mad LJ 85.

(5) The validity of the U. P. Government Servants' Conduct Rules (1946) is not affected because they were published only in English version and not in Hindi version — Both versions are equally authoritative. AIR 1962 All 507 (509) = 1962 (2) Cri LJ 459 = 1962 All LJ 355. (AIR 1962 All 240, Foll.)

(2) Notwithstanding anything in sub-clause (a) of clause (1), the Governor a[* *] of a State may, with the previous consent of the President, authorise the use of the Hindi language, or any other language used for any official purposes of the State, in proceedings in the High Court having its principal seat in that State:

Provided that nothing in this clause shall apply to any judgment, decree or order passed or made by such High Court.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in sub-clause (b) of clause (1), where the Legislature of a State has prescribed any language other than the English language for use in Bills introduced in, or Acts passed by, the Legislature of the State or in Ordinances promulgated by the Governor a[* ] of the State or in any order, rule, regulation or bye-law referred to in paragraph (iii) of that sub-clause, a translation of the same in the English language published under the authority of the Governor a[ *] of the State in the Official Gazette of that State shall be deemed to be the authoritative text thereof in the English language under this article.

[a] The words 'or Rajpramukh' were omitted by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, S. 29 and Schedule (1-11-1956).

349. Special procedure for enactment of certain laws relating to language.— During the period of fifteen years from the commencement of this Constitution, no Bill or amendment making provision^a for the language to be used for any of the purposes mentioned in clause (1) of Article 348 shall be introduced or moved in either House of Parliament without the previous sanction of the President, and the President shall not give his sanction to the introduction of any such Bill or the moving of any such amendment except after he has taken into consideration the recommendations of the Commission constituted under clause (1) of Article 344 and the report of the Committee constituted under clause (4) of that article.

CHAPTER IV SPECIAL DIRECTIVES

350. Language to be used in representations for redress of grievances.— Every person shall be entitled to submit a representation for the redress of any grievance to any officer or authority of the Union or a State in any of the languages used in the Union or in the State, as the case may be.

^a[350A. Facilities for instruction in mother-tongue at primary stage.—It shall be the endeavour of every State and of every local authority within the State to provide adequate facilities for instruction in the mother-tongue at the primary stage of education to children belonging to linguistic minority groups; and the President may issue such directions to any State as he considers necessary or proper for securing the provision of such facilities.]

[a] Inserted by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, S. 21 (1-11-1956).

Article 350 — Note 1

(1) The languages contemplated by Article 350 have reference to those in the Eighth Schedule which does not contain English language. No person can claim to make a representation in English by virtue of Article 350. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 208 (210) = 1959 MPLJ 478 (DB).

repugnant to Article 350. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 208 (211) = 1959 MPLJ 478 (DB).

(3) In considering the applicability of this article to complaints presented before a Court of law, two points have to be considered. Firstly, whether a complaint presented before a Court of law can be said to be a representation for redress of a grievance. Secondly, can a Court of law be properly described as an officer or authority of a State. AIR 1963 All 546 (547) = 1963 All LJ 243 (DB).

(2) By the combined operation of Articles 352, 353 and 250 (1), Parliament has the right to make laws with respect to all the three lists in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution during a period of emergency. This power of Parliament is not confined to the making of laws alone but includes the power to confer jurisdiction and impose duties both upon the Union of India and its authorities as respects any law made during the operation of proclamation of emergency. 359. Suspension of the enforcement of the rights conferred by Part III^a during emergencies.—(1) Where a Proclamation of Emergency is in operation, the President may by order declare that the right to move any Court for the enforcement of such of the rights conferred by Part III as may be mentioned in the order and all proceedings pending in any Court for the enforcement of the rights so mentioned shall remain suspended for the period during which the Proclamation is in force or for such shorter period as may be specified in the order.

(2) An order made as aforesaid may extend to the whole or any part of the territory of India.

(3) Every order made under clause (1) shall, as soon as may be after it is made, be laid before each House of Parliament.

ARTICLE 359 — SYNOPSIS

1. Presidential Order — General.
2. Order affecting a class of persons.
3. Right to bring action to enforce specified fundamental rights suspended.
4. Legislative or executive acts can be challenged on other grounds.
5. Fundamental rights themselves are not affected by order.

1. Presidential Order — General. (1) During the period of emergency Article 19 only is suspended temporarily under Article 358 and all other rights except those specifically suspended by the President under Article 359 remain untouched. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1656) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

(2) The power confided to the President under Article 359 for making a selection of the fundamental rights to suspend their enforcement is absolute. (1965) 1 Mys LJ 176 (DB).

(3) President can suspend enforcement of any of the fundamental rights. AIR 1968 SC 765 (768) = 1968 Cri LJ 972 = (1968) 2 SCR 227.

(4) How long the proclamation of emergency should continue and what restrictions should be imposed on the fundamental rights of citizens during the pendency of emergency are matters which must be left to the executive. AIR 1964 SC 381 (408) = (1964) 1 Cri LJ 269 = (1964) 4 SCR 797.

(5) The fact that emergency may last for a long period and as a consequence citizens may be precluded from enforcing fundamental rights under Articles 14, 21 and 22 during the period of the order has no bearing on the validity of detention under Defence of India Act. AIR 1964 SC 381 (403) = 1964 (1) Cri LJ 269 = (1964) 4 SCR 797.

(6) The fact that during the operation of the Presidential order the executive may abuse the powers and the citizens would have no remedy is essentially a political question and its impact on the constitutional question is at best indirect. AIR 1964 SC 381 (403) = 1964 (1) Cri LJ 269 = (1964) 4 SCR 797.

(7) President's order under Article 359 providing that enforcement of fundamental rights under Articles 14, 21, 22 would be suspended if any person is deprived of such right under Defence of India Ordinance (later replaced by the Act) or the rules or orders made thereunder — Held. it was not necessary to make any express provision in Defence of India Act or the rules for the suspension of the enforcement of fundamental rights under Articles 14, 21 and 22. AIR 1968 SC 765 (770) = 1968 Cri LJ 972 = (1968) 2 SCR 227.

(8) Presidential order suspending enforcement of rights under Articles 14, 21 and 22 during period of emergency — By indirectly validating Laws in infringement of Articles 14, 21, and 22 the Order does not become a fraud on powers under Article 359. AIR 1964 SC 381 (415) = (1964) 1 Cri LJ 269 = (1964) 4 SCR 797.

(9) In construing the Presidential Order issued under Article 359 (1) it is necessary to remember the general rule of construction that an order purporting to suspend the fundamental rights must be strictly construed in favour of the citizen's fundamental rights. AIR 1966 SC 657 (660) = 1966 Cri LJ 586 = (1966) 2 SCR 406  AIR 1967 Guj 229 (247) = 7 Guj LR 597.

(11) An order passed under Article 359 (1) cannot be tested with the aid of Article 13 (2) under that very fundamental right the enforcement of which it suspends. AIR 1968 SC 765 (768, 769) = 1968 Lab IC 872 = 1968 Cri LJ 972 = (1968) 2 SCR 227. (AIR 1967 SC 1335, Overruled.)

AIR 1967 SC 1335 (1339) = 1967 Cri LJ 1204 = (1967) 2 SCR 271. (Order in respect of persons such as foreigners and persons governed by the Defence of India Rules. (3) Writ Petition filed during pendency of emergency — Validity of Rule 149 of Indian Railways Establishment Code, Vol. I challenged — In view of Order made by President petitioner not wishing to challenge under Article 14 but under Art. 16 — He cannot do so. (5) A fundamental right may be enforced in many ways. (3) The fact that the President or the Governor is personally immune from legal proceedings in a Court in respect of his official acts does not mean that his acts cannot be questioned in a Court of law in proceedings against the Government. AIR 1952 Nag 330 (333) = ILR (1952) Nag 409 (DB).

(4) Article 361 only gives personal protection to the Governor. Where a writ issued by the High Court directing arrest of the accused is returned unexecuted on account of an order issued by the Governor under Article 161 suspending the sentence of the accused, Article 361 is no bar to the examination by the Court of the legality of the Governor's order in order to determine whether there was a valid return to the writ issued by the High Court. AIR 1960 Bom 502 (505) = 1960 Cri LJ 1558 = 62 Bom LR 383 (FB).

(5) Under Article 361 (1) the Governor cannot be made a party to any proceedings in Court, where his decision could have been questioned on grounds available to a citizen against other authorities justifying the quashing of an impugned order. The second proviso to Article 361 (1) however shows that the party can file a writ petition against the State Government without making the Governor a party. 6. AIR 1964 Cal 91 (93).

(2) Article 361 (4) which requires a notice to be delivered to the Governor before he is sued applies to all cases in which a Governor is sued in that way irrespective of the fact whether he was or was not the Ruler of the former Indian State. ARTICLE 362 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. "Any such covenant or agreement as is referred to in Article 291."

3. Personal rights and privileges.

4. Privileges in regard to legal proceedings.

5. Interpretation of covenants and merger agreements.

1. Scope.— (1) This article gives constitutional recognition to the personal rights, privileges and dignities which were guaranteed to Indian Rulers in the merger agreements made with them when their territories were incorporated into the Indian Union. AIR 1955 Bom 195 (196) = ILR (1955) Bom 62 (DB) *° AIR 1962 SC 73 (75) = (1962) 1 SCR 702 *° AIR 1960 Punj 565 (567) = 1960 Cri LJ 1491 = ILR (1960) 2 Punj 371.

(2) This article in terms provides that due regard shall be paid to the guarantee or assurance given under the agreement of merger. AIR 1952 Punj 97 (98) = ILR (1951) Punj 470 (DB).

(3) Article 362 does not import any legal obligation enforceable at the instance of the erstwhile Ruler of a former Indian State. AIR 1961 SC 196 (199) = (1961) 1 SCR 779.

(4) Unless the guarantee of exemption from personal appearance in Court given in the merger agreement and in this article is enacted in the form of law, it will stand only on the footing of an agreement, and cannot be given effect to in a Court of law. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 254 (256) = ILR (1952) Madh Bha 405 = 1953 Cri L Jour 1718.

(5) This article does not override Article 14 of the Constitution. AIR 1955 Bom 195 (197) = ILR (1955) Bom 62 (DB).

(6) Agreement between the ruler of a former native State and the Dominion of India transferring the administration of the State to Dominion — Special privileges granted to the ruler — His status held was that of a subject and not of a sovereign, for there cannot be two sovereigns in a State. AIR 1963 Pat 475 (477) = 1963 BLJR 570.

(7) Section 41 of the C. P. Court of Wards Act (24 of 1899) (as modified by Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950), in so far as it provides for assuming superintendence of such estates does not contravene Arti-

2. "Any such covenant or agreement as is referred to in Article 291.— (1) Art. 362 is not restricted in its recommendation to agreements relating to privy purse and covers all agreements and covenants entered into by the Rulers of the Indian States before the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1961 SC 196 (199)= (1961) 1 SCR 779 *° AIR 1955 Bom 195 (196, 197) = 57 Bom LR 60 °° AIR 1953 Nag 86 (88)= 1953 Nag LJ 1 (FB) °° AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (42).

(2) The reference to Article 291 in Article 362 merely indicates that those covenants or agreements were meant which the Ruler of any Indian State had entered into with the Central Government before the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1962 SC 73 (75)= (1962) 1 SCR 702.

3. Personal rights and privileges. — (1) This article refers only to the personal rights, privileges and dignities of a Ruler of a merged State. It does not refer to his prerogative rights as sovereign of his State. AIR 1956 SC 142 (145)= (1955) 2 SCR 1022= 1956 Cri L Jour 315 *° AIR 1954 Hyd 15 (16)= ILR (1953) Hyd 620 (DB).

(2) Where the merger agreement recognizes the properties of the ex-Ruler as the private property of the Ruler, there is no violation of the covenant in acquiring the property by the Government compulsorily. AIR 1952 SC 252 (267) = 1952 SCR 889, 1020 and 1056= ILR 31 Pat 565 °° AIR 1963 Pat 475 (478)= 1963 BLJR 570.

(3) The covenant is not violated by the application to the merged area, of a statute which confers occupancy rights on the tenants of the Ruler because the whole legislation in that case proceeds on the basis of the Ruler being the owner of the lands. AIR 1958 SC 239 (243). (AIR 1954 Orissa 101, Reversed.)

[See (1955) 21 Cut LT 102 (DB).]

(4) The guarantee or assurance given to a Ruler under the terms of the Covenant with regard to the private property of the Ruler is not infringed by the passing of the Pepsu Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (13 of 1955) adversely affecting such a guarantee — The covenant was subject to a new legislation. After due consideration is paid to the guarantee given to him, the ex-ruler like an ordinary citizen enjoys no other immunity from the applicability of this provision to him. The Covenant is not infringed in the absence of any proof that due regard was not paid by the Legislature to the guarantee contained in the Covenant entered into by the Union of India with the Ruler. ILR (1963) 1 Punj 401 (427)= 65 Pun LR 82 (DB). (AIR 1958 SC 239, Rel. on.)

(5) The fixing of fair rent under the Rent Act in regard to the home-farm lands of the Ruler does not amount to any breach of the covenant assuring the recognition of his private property. AIR 1957 Orissa 24 (25, 26)= ILR (1957) Cut 169 (DB).

(6) Where the ex-Ruler has granted a lease of the lands and after merger the State has accepted the obligations under the lease, there is nothing to prevent the Legislature from making a law terminating the lease and releasing the State from its contractual obligation, although this cannot be done by a mere executive order. AIR 1956 Sau 32 (34, 35) (DB).

(7) Article 362 has nothing to do with an executive power like the suspension, remission or commutation of a sentence passed by a competent Court, but concerns itself only with the guarantee or assurance given under such covenant or agreement as is referred to in Cl. (1) of Article 291 with respect to the personal rights, privileges and dignities of the Ruler of an Indian State. ILR (1955) Trav-Co 788 (793, 794)= 1955 Ker LT 727.

(8) The use of the words 'personal rights' qua the Ruler has nothing to do with rights over private properties. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 423 (432) (DB).

(9) Certificate recognising person as sole successor to all private properties held by late Nawab — Government of India has no power or jurisdiction to issue such certificate — Rights in respect of private property will be governed by ordinary law of land including law of inheritance. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 423 (437) (DB).

(10) The personal rights, privileges and dignities which are for historical reasons recommended to be respected by Art. 362, avail the Rulers in their status as Indian Citizens and not in recognition of any sovereign authority continuing to remain vested in them. AIR 1964 SC 444 (447)= (1964) 5 SCR 1. (Whether commencement of proceedings under Industrial Disputes Act for adjudication of industrial dispute between Ruler of former Indian State and his employees infringes the guarantee under Article 362 (Quaere).)

(11) The guarantee or assurance to which due regard is to be had under Article 362 is limited to personal rights, privileges and dignities of the Ruler qua a Ruler. It does not extend to personal property which is different from personal rights. AIR 1961 SC 196 (198)= (1961) 1 SCR 779. (Ex ruler is a 'person' within the meaning of Section 2 (i) of the Orissa Agricultural Income Tax Act and cannot claim exemption from payment of agricultural Income Tax in respect of property — Resistance to payment of tax, held amounted to enforcement of merger agreement, which he could not do by virtue of Article 363.) *° AIR 1966 SC 1260 (1263)= (1966) 2 SCR 296. (Merger agreement with Nizam of Hyderabad — Articles 3 and 4 of the agreement guarantee only the personal privileges of the ex ruler — Those privileges do not justify a claim to immunity from taxation under Income-tax Act. AIR 1961 SC 196, Rel. on.)

(12) The personal rights, privileges and dignities referred to in Article 362 will not include exemption from civil proceedings in Courts. This is made clear by Ss. 82 to 87B of the Civil Procedure Code. AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (42).

(13) Immunity from civil action may be described as a privilege, because the word privilege is sufficiently wide enough to include an immunity. Hence the words 'personal rights and privileges' are sufficiently comprehensive to embrace an immunity of this character. AIR 1962 SC 73 (75, 76) = (1962) 1 SCR 702.

4. Privileges in regard to legal proceedings. — (1) Under Section 87-B of the Code of Civil Procedure read with Section 86 of the Code, the Rulers of former Indian States cannot be sued without the consent of the Central Government. This is only a recognition of the privilege which, before the merger, Rulers of Indian States enjoyed namely, the privilege of being exempt from being sued in the Courts in British India without the consent of the Governor-General. This personal privilege was guaranteed by the merger agreement and it is with regard to that personal privilege along with other personal privileges that this article casts an obligation upon Parliament and the Legislature of State to give due regard in passing any legislation. AIR 1955 Bom 195 (197) = ILR (1955) Bom 62 (DB).

[See also AIR 1965 SC 1798 (1800, 1801) = (1965) 3 SCR 201. (The rulers of former Indian States cannot claim immunity under Sections 86 and 87B Civil P. C. from proceedings other than suits such as a proceeding under Section 14 read with Section 17, Arbitration Act.)

[See however AIR 1953 Sau 180 (188) (DB).]

(2) This Article does not override Article 14 of the Constitution. Section 87-B of the Civil Procedure Code is valid as it is based upon a reasonable classification and does not offend against Article 14. AIR 1955 Bom 195 (197) = ILR (1955) Bom 62 (DB)  AIR 1962 SC 73 (76) = (1962) 1 SCR 702. (Section 87-B, Civil P. C. cannot be challenged as discriminatory because it arises from a classification based on historical facts.)

(3) In regard to criminal proceedings Section 197-A, Code of Criminal Procedure, provides that no Court shall take cognizance of any offence alleged to have been committed by the Ruler of a former Indian State except with the previous sanction of the Central Government. This section has been enacted in pursuance of the power given by this Article. AIR 1953 Madh B. 254 (256) = ILR (1952) Madh B 405 = 1953 Cri L Jour 1718  AIR 1963 Madh Pra 162 (163) = 1963 (1) Cri LJ 600 = 1965 MPLJ 333.

(4) As regards the exemption from personal attendance in Court, Section 133 of the Civil Procedure Code provides that persons, to whom S. 87-B of the Code applies that is, Rulers of former Indian States, are entitled to exemption from personal appearance in Court. See AIR 1952 Punj 97 (98) = ILR (1951) Punj 470 (DB).

(5) As regards criminal cases, there is no provision exempting a complainant from personal attendance in Court. In the absence of a legal provision granting such exemption from personal attendance, the Ruler of a former Indian State will not be entitled to exemption merely on the strength of the covenant in the merger agreement. AIR 1953 Madh B 254 (256) = ILR (1952) Madh B 405 = 1953 Cri L Jour 1718.

(6) The Court will not coerce by arrest or any such process the attendance of the former Ruler as a witness except with the sanction of the Central Government. At the same time he is not entitled as of right to be examined on Commission in his own criminal complaint. The discretion rests with the Magistrate whether to allow the application under Section 503, Criminal P. C. AIR 1963 Madh Pra 162 (164) = 1965 MPLJ 333 = (1963) 1 Cr LJ 600. (Claim of right as Ruler to be exempted from personal attendance — Burden of proving it is on Ruler — Such claim not justified by Section 503 or Section 197-A, Cri. P. C. or by Constitution — Statement of White Paper on States not a statutory provision.)

(7) On the strength of the Covenant and constitutional guarantee the Ruler of a former Indian State is entitled to claim immunity from personal appearance in Court in a criminal case as a witness. AIR 1960 Punj 565 (567) = 1960 Cri LJ 1491 = ILR (1960) 2 Punj 371. (AIR 1953 Madh Bha 254, Diss. From.)

5. Interpretation of covenants and merger agreements. — (1) A merger agreement is more akin to a treaty entered into by various States rather than a statute passed by a Legislature, and hence the rules to be applied to its construction are those applicable to treaties rather than those applied to interpretation of legislative enactments. AIR 1952 Madh Bha 57 (62) = ILR (1952) Madh Bha 178 (FB).

(2) Travancore-Cochin Covenant, Art. 21 — Maharaja of Cochin cannot invoke powers of suspension, remission or commutation of death sentences reserved to him under Arti-

363. Bar to interference by courts in disputes arising out of certain treaties, agreements, etc.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in this Constitution but subject to the provisions of Article 143^a, neither the Supreme Court nor any other Court shall have jurisdiction in any dispute arising out of any provision of a treaty, agreement, covenant, engagement, sanad or other similar instrument which was entered into or executed before the commencement of this Constitution by any Ruler of an Indian State and to which the Government of the Dominion of India or any of its predecessor Governments was a party and which has or has been continued in operation after such commencement, or in any dispute in respect of any right accruing under or any liability or obligation arising out of any of the provisions of this Constitution relating to any such treaty, agreement, covenant, engagement, sanad or other similar instrument.

(4) The covenant entered into by the Rulers of Madhya Bharat States was an act of State and the guarantee given by the Government of India was in the nature of a treaty obligation which could not be enforced in municipal Courts. Its sanction is political and not legal. No doubt the guarantee for the periodical payments as privy purse was continued by Article 291 of the Constitution but its essential political character was preserved by Articles 362 and 363. Hence the periodical payments as privy purse on political considerations and political sanctions and not under a right legally enforceable in municipal courts were strictly political pensions within Section 60 (1) (g), Civil P. C. and as such exempt from attachment in execution. AIR 1965 SC 1798 (1802) = (1965) 3 SCR 201. (AIR 1962 MP 320, Reversed.)

ARTICLE 363 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. Disputes arising out of agreements of accession or merger.

3. Disputes arising out of provisions of treaty, agreement, covenant, etc.

4. Rights of subjects of ex-Rulers — Enforcement after merger or accession.

5. Covenants — Interpretation.

6. Jurisdiction.

1. Scope.— (1) There are two conditions for the applicability of this article (i) The covenant with the Ruler of Indian State must have been entered into before the coming into force of the Constitution, and (ii) the covenant must continue in force after the commencement of the Constitution. ILR (1955) 2 Cal 109 (150) (DB).

(2) The article refers to the numerous agreements and covenants entered into between the then Government of India and the Rulers of Indian States. These agreements and covenants were in the nature of treaties between two States and as such were Acts of State outside the purview of municipal Courts. AIR 1954 SC 447 (452) = 1955 SCR 415  AIR 1951 SC 253 (261) = 1951 SCR 474  AIR 1955 Pepsu 3 (14) = ILR (1955) Patiala 215 (DB)  AIR 1952 Sau 49 (54) (FB).

(3) If the question involved is of the nature contemplated by this article, even a suit or other proceeding which was pending in the Federal Court at the commencement of the Constitution and which stood transferred to the Supreme Court under Article 374 (2) would be beyond the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. AIR 1951 SC 253 (258) = 1951 SCR 474.

(4) This article is applicable not only when there is a direct dispute between the State and the citizen but even when the dispute arises in a case to which the State of India is not a party and a claim is made either on behalf of the State or by any other party to the dispute that the subject-matter of the dispute is covered by Article 363. AIR 1969 Raj 52 (58) = 1968 Raj LW 527 (DB)  AIR 1955 Pepsu 3 (10) = ILR (1955) Patiala 215 (DB).

(5) It is not necessary for the application of the article that the dispute must have arisen after the coming into force of the Constitution. AIR 1951 SC 253 (258) = 1951 SCR 474  AIR 1955 Pepsu 3 (9) = ILR (1955) Patiala 215 (DB).

(6) If a dispute falls under Article 363, it cannot be decided by any Court in India. The remedy lies in making an appeal to the President to make a reference to the Supreme Court of India under Article 143 of the Constitution. AIR 1969 Raj 52 (58) = 1968 Raj LW 527 (DB).

(7) Article 363 is a provision which shuts out the jurisdiction of a Court of law and like any other provision of similar nature, it is to be construed

(2) In this article—

- (a) "Indian State" means any territory recognised before the commencement of this Constitution by His Majesty^b or the Government of the Dominion of India as being such a State; and
- (b) "Ruler" includes the Prince, Chief or other person recognised before such commencement by His Majesty or the Government of the Dominion of India as the Ruler of any Indian State.

[a] Article 143 deals with power of the President to refer a dispute of the kind mentioned in Art. 131(1).

[b] The meaning of these words is neither given in Art. 366 nor in the General Clauses Act, 1897. The words are to be taken to refer to the King of the United Kingdom.

strictly so that a citizen of India may not be denied the opportunity, except when the case strictly falls under this Article to get his right adjudicated and decided by a civil Court. AIR 1969 Raj 52 (58) = 1968 Raj LW 527 (DB).

(8) In order to know whether any dispute arises out of the merger agreement or not, the Court has first to ascertain prima facie whether the subject-matter of the dispute falls within the scope and ambit of the agreement. If this is not so, it will be difficult to say whether in fact any dispute arises out of such an agreement. (1969) 1 Andh WR 425 = ILR (1969) Andh Pra 442.

(9) It is only in such cases where the court is satisfied that conflicting rights have to be decided between the parties that it must decline to decide the rights and must stay the action, but it ought not to stay the action before that point is reached. AIR 1969 Raj 52 (60) = 1968 Raj LW 527 (DB).

(10) The paramountcy which the British Crown enjoyed vis-a-vis the Indian States is not now enjoyed by Central Government. AIR 1963 Punj 461 (467).

(11) Acquisition of territories of Goa, Daman and Diu by military action is an Act of State by Government of India and is not justiciable in municipal Courts. AIR 1969 Goa 76 (82) = 1969 Lab IC 942.

(12) To be treated as a Ruler under Article 363 (1) the claimant must be recognised by the President of India as a Ruler under Article 366 (22). AIR 1966 Cal 570 (572) (DB).

2. Disputes arising out of agreements of accession or merger.— (1) In view of the provisions of Article 363 (1) any dispute arising out of the Merger Agreement or the Instrument of Accession is beyond the competence of the Courts to enquire into. AIR 1961 SC 775 (777) = (1961) 2 SCR 501  AIR 1953 Nag 86 (88) = 1953 Nag LJ 1 (FB)  (1958) 60 Bom LR 721.

(2) If the Parliament or State Legislature makes laws inconsistent with personal rights, privileges of a Ruler of a State, the exercise of that legislative authority cannot be questioned in any Court by relying on agreement or covenant in spite of any guarantee in that respect. AIR 1961 SC 196 (199) = (1961) 1 SCR 779  AIR 1961 All 280 (280, 281) (DB).

(3) Question whether The Rampur Thekedari and Pattedari (Abolition) Act (U. P. Act 10 of 1954) contravenes Para 8 of States Merger (Governor's Provinces) Order, 1949 — Court has no jurisdiction to decide by virtue of Article 363. AIR 1955 All 518 (520) = 1955 All LJ 398 (DB).

(4) The decision of a dispute between the Raja of Mandi and the Government, as to whether a certain property was the private property of the Raja would inevitably involve a reference to, and the interpretation of the Merger Agreement and the Note of Acceptance. Article 363 (1) bars the jurisdiction of the Courts to inquire into it. AIR 1967 Him Pra 6 (8, 9).

5. Covenants — Interpretation. — (1) The Covenant is more akin to a treaty entered into by various States rather than a Statute passed by a Legislature, and accordingly it is only appropriate if the rules to be applied to its construction are those applicable to treaties rather than those applied to interpretation of Legislative enactments. Any attempt to apply all the technical rules ordinarily used for the interpretation of a Statute or to put a legalistic and narrow interpretation upon such a document would be improper and defeat the intention of the parties thereto and the purposes for which it was brought into existence. AIR 1952 Madh Bha 57 (62) = ILR (1952) Madh B 178 (FB).

(2) The principle that time is of essence which is often discussed in Law Courts in cases arising out of breach of contracts cannot be applied to interpretation of the Covenant. AIR 1952 Madh Bha 57 (64, 65) = ILR (1952) Madh B 178 (FB).

367. Interpretation.—(1) Unless the context otherwise requires, the General Clauses Act, 1897, shall, subject to any adaptations and modifications that may be made therein under Article 372, apply for the interpretation of this Constitution as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of the Legislature of the Dominion of India.

(2) Any reference in this Constitution to Acts or laws of, or made by, Parliament or to Acts or laws of, or made by, the Legislature of a State ^{a[° °]}, shall be construed as including a reference to an Ordinance made by the President or, to an Ordinance made by a Governor, ^{b[° ° °]} as the case may be.

ARTICLE 367 — SYNOPSIS

1. Applicability of General Clauses Act to interpretation of the Constitution — (Clause (1)).

2. “Foreign State” Clause (3).

3. Definition of State. See Notes under Art. 12.

4. Person.

5. Pre-Constitution Laws.

1. Applicability of General Clauses Act to interpretation of the Constitution — (Clause (1)).— (1) The General Clauses Act, 1897, was enacted for the purpose of the interpretation of the enactments of the Central Legislature. Under Art. 372 this Act continues in force even after the Constitution. AIR 1951 All 703 (708) = ILR (1953) 1 All 458 = 52 Cri LJ 1094.

(2) The word “interpretation” in the clause has been used in the sense which would include “construction” also. AIR 1951 All 703 (708) = ILR (1953) 1 All 458 = 52 Cri LJ 1094.

(3) Not only the “general definitions” in the General Clauses Act, but also the “General Rules of Construction” in the Act will apply to the Constitution. AIR 1951 All 703 (708) = ILR (1953) 1 All 458 = 52 Cri LJ 1094. (AIR 1951 Bom 188 (FB), Rel. on.)

(4) The General Clauses Act is to be used for all purposes for which it is used in respect of Acts. AIR 1951 All 703 (708) = ILR (1953) 1 All 458 = 52 Cri LJ 1094.

(5) Under Section 5 (3) of the General Clauses Act, an Act comes into operation immediately on the expiration of the day preceding the commencement of the Act. Applying the same principle to the Constitution (which under Article 394 came into force on the 26th January 1950, except certain provisions), it must be deemed to have come into operation immediately on the expiration of the 25th January 1950 and not after 10 A. M. on the 26th January 1950 when the President took the oath. AIR 1952 Madh B 31 (35) = ILR (1952) Madh B 145 (DB).

(6) Notification, dated 25th May, 1961 altering age of superannuation from 58 years to 55 years — Governor was competent to issue notification in view of Article 309 read with Article 367 (1). AIR 1962 All 328 (332) = 1962 All LJ 31 (FB).

(7) By virtue of S. 16 of the General Clauses Act, the power of “appointment” conferred by Article 229 (1) of the Constitution on the Chief Justice of a High Court would include the power of dismissal. AIR 1956 SC 285 (291) = (1955) 2 SCR 1331.

(8) Definition of ‘offence’ contained in Section 3 (38) of the General Clauses Act applies to Article 20 (3). AIR 1958 Cal 682 (685) = 1958 Cri LJ 1469 (DB). (Overruled on another point in AIR 1962 SC 759.)

(9) Applying Section 21 of General Clauses Act read with Article 367 (1), it becomes clear that power of Rajpramukh or Governor under Article 309 includes a power to add, to amend, vary or rescind the Civil Service Rules once made. AIR 1961 Mys 37 (41) = 38 Mys LJ 828 (DB).

(10) Interpretation of Statutes — Provisions should be so read as to harmonise one with the other and as to advance the remedy intended by the statute. (1967) 2 Andh WR 53 = (1967) 1 Andh LT 253 (DB).

(11) On reading Sections 14 and 21 of the General Clauses Act, it would follow

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

In its application to the State of Jammu and Kashmir, to Art. 367 shall be added the following clause, namely :—

“(4) For the purposes of this Constitution as it applies in relation to the State of Jammu and Kashmir,—

- (a) references to this Constitution or to the provisions thereof shall be construed as references to the Constitution or the provisions thereof as applied in relation to the said State.
- (aa) references to the person for the time being recognised by the President on the recommendation of the Legislative Assembly of the State as the Sadar-i-Riyasat of Jammu and Kashmir, acting on the advice of the Council of Ministers of the State for the time being in office, shall be construed as references to the Governor^a of Jammu and Kashmir;
- (b) references to the Government of the said State shall be construed as including references to the Governor of Jammu and Kashmir acting on the advice of his Council of Minister :

Provided that in respect of any period prior to the 10th day of April, 1965, such references shall be construed as including references to the Sadar-i-Riyasat acting on advice of his Council of Ministers; that the power to make rules regulating the conditions of service also implies a power to vary, amend or rescind these provisions issued in the form of Notifications, Orders or Rules. (1967) 10 Law Rep 555 (DB).

(12) Inclusive definition of State in Section 3 (58), General Clauses Act, being repugnant to subject or context of Article 246 does not apply by virtue of Article 367. AIR 1968 SC 637 (641) = (1968) 2 SCR 103.

(13) By virtue of this article, Section 3 (58), General Clauses Act applies to interpretation of Article 3. Hence “State” in that article includes Union Territories. AIR 1966 SC 644 (648) = (1967) 1 SCR 430. (The contrary assumptions in AIR 1966 SC 845 held not correct.)

2. “Foreign State” — (Clause (3)). —

(1) When a question arises as to the boundary between one country and foreign country adjacent to it, the municipal Courts can only act on the view of the Government of the country and cannot decide the question independently. AIR 1949 FC 143 (146, 147) = 1949 FCR 309 = ILR (1950) 1 Cal 530.

(2) Under the proviso to clause (3) read with Article 392 (3), the Governor-General has promulgated the Constitution (Declaration as to Foreign States) Order, 1950. The effect of the Order is only that a State in the Commonwealth is not a foreign State for the purpose of the particular article of the Constitution in which the expression “foreign State” occurs. AIR 1957 Madh B 1 (3) (DB)  AIR 1956 Madh B 211 (213) (DB).

(3) Where the question was whether a decree passed on 3-1-1951 by Palghat Court which was a foreign Court vis-à-vis the State of Travancore by virtue of the definition in Section 2 (5). Travancore Civil P. C. (1100 M. E.), could be executed in a Court at Perumbavoor in Travancore it was held that the interpretation clause in Article 367 (3) could not have any effect on the question. AIR 1958 Ker 15 (17) = ILR (1957) Ker 1036 (FB).

(4) Declaration as to Foreign States Order, 1950 does not have the effect of making citizens of Pakistan, Indian citizens for purposes of Article 7. AIR 1961 Pat 112 (115, 116) = 1961 (1) Cri LJ 412 = 1961 BLJR 60 (DB).

(5) By reason of Article 367 (3) State of West Bengal was no longer a foreign State with reference to the State of Mysore. But this only applied to judgments pronounced after commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1960 Mys 1 (6) = 37 Mys LJ 645 (DB).

(6) The old Mysore State and State of Madras are now not foreign States in relation to each other. AIR 1952 Mys 69 (73) = 30 Mys LJ 69 (DB).

(7) Pakistan may not be foreign State by virtue of Clause 2 of the Constitution (Declaration as to Foreign States) Order, 1950 — But that does not mean that a citizen of Pakistan becomes a citizen of India in order to claim fundamental right under Article 19. AIR 1965 Cal 312 (320) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 679 (DB).

(8) The Constitution (Declaration as to Foreign States) Order 1950, made under Article 392 (3) read with Article 367 (3) does not take Pakistan outside the category of foreign powers. Pakistan is a foreign power for purpose of Section 3 of Preventive Detention Act (1950). AIR 1960 SC 625 (627, 628) = 1960 Cri LJ 764 = (1960) 2 SCR 784.

3. Definition of State. See Notes under Article 12.

(2) Word 'person' — Managing Committee of School is a 'person' as per definition in Section 3 (42) of the General Clauses Act. AIR 1969 Orissa 30 (31) = 34 Cut LT 1162 (DB).

(3) Under Section 3 (42) of the General Clauses Act, "person" shall include any company or association or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not. The same meaning must be applied to the word "person" used in Article 226 or elsewhere in the Constitution also. AIR 1953 Cal 289 (291).

(4) A corporation which is a person by virtue of Section 3 (42), General Clauses Act read with Article 367, is a citizen and eligible for rights under Article 19. AIR 1961 Ker 268 (280) = 1961 Ker LT 54.

5. Pre-Constitution Laws. — (1) The expression 'Law made by the Legislature of State' in Article 254 (1) and Art. 367 (2) refers to a post-Constitution law. AIR 1960 Bom 532 (538, 539) = 62 Bom LR 277 (DB).

(2) Consultations under Article 234 held before 26-1-1950 — Section 6 of the General Clauses Act read with Article 367 will save validity of the consultation.

ARTICLE 368 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Methods of amendment.
3. Procedure.
4. Amendment of Fundamental Rights.
5. Constitution (17th Amendment) Act 1964.

1. Scope.— (1) Any attempt to amend the Constitution by a Legislature other than the Parliament and in a manner different from that provided in the article will be void and inoperative. AIR 1958 Bom 94 (98) (DB).

ity of the total membership of that House and by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the members of that House present and voting, it shall be presented to the President for his assent and upon such assent being given to the Bill, the Constitution shall stand amended in accordance with the terms of the Bill :

Provided that if such amendment seeks to make any change in—

- (a) Article 54, Article 55, Article 73, Article 162 or Article 241, or
- (b) Chapter IV of Part V, Chapter V of Part VI, or Chapter I of Part XI, or
- (c) any of the Lists in the Seventh Schedule, or
- (d) the representation of States in Parliament, or
- (e) the provisions of this article, the amendment shall also require to be ratified by the Legislatures of not less than one-half of the States a[* * *] by resolutions to that effect passed by those Legislatures before the Bill making provision for such amendment is presented to the President for assent.^b

[a] The words “specified in Part A or Part B of First Schedule” omitted by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, S. 29 and Schedule (1-11-1956).

[b] For matters not deemed to be amendments of the Constitution within this Article, See Art. 4 (2); Art. 169 (3); Art. 240 (2); Sch. V, Para. 7 (2); Sch. VI, Para. 21 (2).

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

In its application to the State of Jammu and Kashmir, to Art. 368, a proviso shall be added, namely :—

“Provided further that no such amendment shall have effect in relation to the State of Jammu and Kashmir unless applied by order of the President under clause (1) of Art. 370”—See Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (15).

Article 368 — Note 1 (contd.)

(2) Section 9 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, cannot take away the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226, inasmuch as such right can only be abridged by an amendment as provided in this article. AIR 1951 Raj 161 (163) = ILR (1951) 1 Raj 361 (DB).

(3) It cannot be said that the power of amending the Constitution provided for under this article is conferred not on Parliament but on the two Houses of Parliament as a designated body. AIR 1951 SC 458 (461) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(4) Since constitutional amendment falls within the exclusive power of Parliament, the fact that the effect of such amendment is to save matters covered by the State List in the Seventh Schedule is of no consequence. AIR 1951 SC 458 (464) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(5) This article does not in terms exempt Article 1 or the First Schedule from its operation. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 734 (736) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 345 (DB).

(6) Article 4 is as much a part of the Constitution as this article. Both of them should, therefore, be read together. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 734 (738) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 345 (DB)  AIR 1957 Bom 165 (168) = ILR (1958) Bom 32 (DB)

 AIR 1960 SC 845 (859) = (1960) 3 SCR 250. (Overruled in AIR 1966 SC 644 on another point.)  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 50 (53) = (1960) 2 Andh WR 479 (DB).

(7) Section 6 (a) of the Judicial Commissioners' Courts (Declaration as High Courts) Act, 1950, does not purport to amend any part of the Constitution and, therefore, it is not ultra vires. AIR 1952 Him Pra 5 (6) = 1952 Cri LJ 114.

(8) It was held by the Supreme Court that the adaptation of this article made by the President by the Constitution (Removal of Difficulties) Order No. 2 of 26-1-1950 was within the powers conferred on him by Article 392 and was valid and constitutional. AIR 1951 SC 458 (462, 463) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(9) Dispute regarding boundaries between India and Pakistan — Reference to Tribunal by both countries — Transfer of certain territory to Pakistan in pursuance of award — It is not cession of Indian territory — No alteration in Article 1 involved — Constitutional amendment under Article 368 not necessary. AIR 1969 Delhi 64 (71, 72) (DB).

(10) Debates in Constituent Assembly cannot be taken into account for interpretation of Article 368. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1682, 1728) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

(11) Preamble cannot prohibit or control in any way or impose any implied prohibitions or limitations on powers to amend Constitution contained in Article 368. Nor can the marginal note to it control the meaning of Art. 368. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1682, 1683) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

(12) Power of Parliament to amend Constitution is derived from Articles 245, 246 and 248 read with Sch. VII, List I, Item 97 and not from Article 368 which only deals with procedure. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1669) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

(13) Article 368 provides for the procedure for the amendment of the Constitution. The power to amend Constitution must inevitably include the power to amend Article 1 and that logically would include the power to cede national territory in favour of a foreign State. AIR 1960 SC 845 (856) = (1960) 3 SCR 250.

(14) Division of Berubari Union No. 12 — Act intends division half and half in substance and not in a mathematical way. AIR 1966 SC 644 (650) = (1966) 1 SCR 430.

(15) The Chandernagore Merger Act promulgated by Parliament under Article 3 is not to be deemed to be an amendment of the Constitution for purpose of Article 368. AIR 1962 Cal 248 (250) = (1961) 43 ITR (ED) 59.

2. Methods of amendment.— (1) There are constitutions which can only be altered with some special formality, while there are other constitutions the terms of which may be modified or repealed with no other formality than is necessary in the case of other legislation. The former may be described as "controlled" and the latter as "uncontrolled" constitutions. AIR 1920 PC 91 (96).

(2) The Indian Constitution is a controlled Constitution. AIR 1951 All 257 (295) = ILR (1951) 1 All 269 (FB).

(3) Various methods of constitutional amendments have been adopted in written constitutions, such as by referendum, by a special convention, by legislation under a special procedure and so on. AIR 1951 SC 458 (461) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(4) The Indian Constitution provides for three classes of amendments. AIR 1951 SC 458 (461) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(5) Amendment of the Constitution — Procedure to be followed — Alteration of text of existing provision not necessary. AIR 1966 All 377 (382).

(6) In India the procedure followed to amend the Constitution was to alter the text of any existing provision by adding or deleting or substituting words. AIR 1966 All 377 (382).

3. Procedure. — (1) This article is not a "complete code" in respect of the procedure provided by it. There are gaps in the procedure as to how and after what notice a Bill is to be introduced, how it is to be passed by each House and how the President's assent is to be obtained. AIR 1951 SC 458 (461) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(2) Assuming that amendment of the Constitution is not legislation even where it is carried out by ordinary legislation by passing a Bill introduced for the purpose and that Articles 107 to 111 cannot in terms apply when Parliament is dealing with a Bill under Article 368, there is no obvious reason why Parliament should not adopt, on such occasions, its normal procedure, so far as that procedure can be followed consistently with statutory requirements. AIR 1951 SC 458 (462) = 1952 SCR 89 = 30 Pat 1176.

(3) Indo-Pakistan Agreement relating to division of Berubari Union and Exchange of Cooch-Bihar Enclaves — Involves cession of national territory in favour of Pakistan — Implementation of agreement by legislative action essential — Law relating to Article 368 would be sufficient. AIR 1960 SC 845 (855, 461) = (1960) 3 SCR 250. (Overruled in AIR 1966 SC 644 on another point.)

(4) Amendment of Constitution — Ratification by State Legislatures — Assent of Governor not required — Legislature does not include Governor — Constitution (Fifteenth Amendment) Act (1963) — Amendment valid. AIR 1964 Cal 500 (502, 503) = 68 Cal WN 958.

(5) Ratification — Amendment need not be placed before or considered by all States. AIR 1964 Cal 500 (502, 503) = 68 Cal WN 958.

(6) The broad scheme of Article 368 is that if Parliament proposes to amend any provision of the Constitution not enshrined in the proviso, the procedure prescribed by the main part of the Article has to be followed. The Bill introduced for the purpose of making the amendment in question, has to be passed in each House by a majority of the total membership of that House and by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the members of that House present and voting. After the bill is passed as aforesaid, it has to be presented to the President for his assent and when he gives his assent, the Constitution shall stand amended in accordance with the terms of the bill. That is the position in regard to the amendment of the provisions of the Constitution to which the proviso does not apply. AIR 1965 SC 845 (850, 851) = (1965) 1 SCR 933.

(7) Article 226 is one of the constitutional provisions which fall under Cl. (b) of the proviso; and so if Parliament intends to amend the provisions of Article 226, the bill proposing to make such an amendment must satisfy the requirements of the proviso. AIR 1965 SC 845 (851) = (1965) 1 SCR 933.

(8) If the direct effect of the amendment of fundamental rights is to make a substantial inroad on the High Courts' powers under Article 226, it would become necessary to consider whether the proviso would cover such a case or not. The proviso would apply where the amendment in question seeks to make any change, inter alia, in Article 226, and the question in such a case would be does the amendment seek to make a change in the provisions of Article 226? The answer to this question would depend upon the effect of the amendment made in the fundamental rights. AIR 1965 SC 845 (851, 852) = (1965) 1 SCR 933.

(9) Chapter VI of Part VI is not covered by the Proviso to Article 368. So it was not necessary to follow the procedure laid down in the proviso in order to add Article 233-A in Part VI Chapter VI. AIR 1969 All 594 (599) (FB).

4. Amendment of Fundamental Rights. — (1) Fundamental rights are outside amendatory process and Parliament will have no power in future to amend provisions of Part III so as to abridge or take away fundamental rights therein — Any further inroad into these rights will be illegal and unconstitutional unless it complies with Part III in general and Article 13 (2) in particular. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1669, 1718) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

(2) The Constitution (First Amendment) Act, 1951, (Fourth Amendment) Act, 1955, and (Seventeenth Amendment) Act 1964 abridge the scope of the fundamental rights. But on the basis of earlier decisions they were declared valid by applying the principle of prospective overruling. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1669, 1692, 1718, 1727, 1742) = (1967) 2 SCR 762  AIR 1968 SC 1395 (1401) = 1968 Lab IC 1525 = (1968) 3 SCR 712 = 71 Bom LR 141.

(3) In view of the decision in Golaknath's case. AIR 1967 SC 1643, the following cases holding that fundamental rights in Part III of the Constitution can be modified or abridged may be treated as impliedly overruled and no longer good law. AIR 1951 SC 458 = 1952 SCR 89  AIR 1965 SC 845 = (1965) 1 SCR 933 in so far as it conceded the power of the Parliament to amend Part III of the Constitution (on an erroneous interpretation of Articles 13 (2) and 368.)  (1967) 33 Cut LT 263 = ILR (1967) Cut 333 (DB)  AIR 1967 Guj 229 (241) = 7 Guj LR 597 (DB).

(4) Per Hidayatullah, J.— We cannot abridge or take away the Fundamental Rights by the ordinary amending process. Parliament must amend Article 368 to convoke another Constituent Assembly, pass a law under Item 97 of the First List of Schedule VII to call a Constituent Assembly and then that assembly may be able to abridge or take away the Fundamental Rights if desired. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1705) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

5. Constitution (17th Amendment) Act 1964. — (1) Per majority. — Pith and substance of the Act falls within substantive part of Art. 368 and not under Cl. (b) of proviso to Article 368 — Act is constitutionally valid. AIR 1965 SC 845 (853, 854) = (1965) 1 SCR 933.

(2) Per majority:— The Act is not ultra vires of Parliament under Arts. 245 and 246 — It is not land legislation falling under Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 18 but merely validates land legislation passed by States. AIR 1965 SC 845 (853, 854) = (1965) 1 SCR 933.

(3) Per majority. — Power to amend Constitution can be exercised retrospectively — Constitution (17th Amendment) Act 1964 not unconstitutional on ground that it validates Act added to ninth schedule but declared invalid. AIR 1965 SC 845 (854) = (1965) 1 SCR 933.

(4) It is declared by the Special Bench that the Constitution (Seventeenth Amendment) Act (1964) is valid though on different reasonings. Hidayatullah, J. however upheld the validity of S. 2 of the Constitution (Seventeenth Amendment) Act, 1964, but declared that S. 3 was ultra vires the amending process. AIR 1967 SC 1643 (1669) = (1967) 2 SCR 762.

(5) Acts included in Sch. 9 — Amendments to those Acts made subsequent to such inclusion are not entitled to protection under Art. 31-B. AIR 1959 J and K 35 (39, 41) (FB).

(6) Ninth Schedule as amended by Constitution (17th Amendment) Act (1964), together with Article 31-B saves Assam Act 9 of 1961. AIR 1966 Assam 51 (54).

Article 369 — Note 1

(1) This article gives power to Parliament for a period of five years from the commencement of the Constitution to respect to the following matters as if they were enumerated in the Concurrent List, namely :—

- (a) trade and commerce within a State in, and the production, supply and distribution of, cotton and woollen textiles, raw cotton (including ginned cotton and unginned cotton or kapas), cotton seed, paper (including newsprint), foodstuffs (including edible oilseeds and oil), cattle fodder (including oil-cakes and other concentrates), coal (including coke and derivatives of coal), iron, steel and mica;
- (b) offences against laws with respect to any of the matters mentioned in clause (a), jurisdiction and powers of all courts except the Supreme Court with respect to any of those matters, and fees in respect of any of those matters but not including fees taken in any court;

but any law made by Parliament, which Parliament would not but for the provisions of this article have been competent to make, shall, to the extent of the incompetency, cease to have effect on the expiration of the said period, except as respects things done or omitted to be done before the expiration thereof.

[a] Substituted for 'Temporary and Transitional Provisions' by the Constitution (Thirteenth Amendment) Act, 1962, S. 2 (a) (w. e. f. 1-12-1963).

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

In its application to the State of Jammu and Kashmir, Art. 369 shall be omitted—
See Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. 16(a).

370. Temporary provisions with respect to the State of Jammu and Kashmir.—

(1) Notwithstanding anything in this Constitution,—

- (a) the provisions of Article 238^a shall not apply in relation to the State of Jammu and Kashmir; make laws with respect to certain matters mentioned in Clauses (a) and (b), as if they were matters mentioned in the Concurrent List. AIR 1951 Cal 120 (123) = ILR (1952) 2 Cal 296 = 52 Cri LJ 934 (FB).

(2) The effect of the words "as if they were enumerated in the Concurrent List" is that the provisions of Art. 254 are attracted in respect of the laws passed by Parliament in exercise of the powers conferred by this article. See AIR 1955 Bom 35 (36) = ILR (1955) Bom 49 (DB).

(3) The duty under the Dhoties (Additional Excise Duty) Act, 1953, is an excise duty which Parliament has the authority to levy under Entry 84 of List 1. The validity of the legislation cannot be questioned on the ground of Parliament's encroachment on the State field under Entries 24 and 27 of List 2 as production, supply and distribution of cotton textiles is the matter mentioned in Cl. (a) of this article and as the legislation is made within the period of five years prescribed by the article. AIR 1955 Raj 114 (119) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 832 (DB).

(4) The words "things done or omitted to be done before the expiry thereof" authorise the trial and conviction of a person after the expiration of a temporary Act for the offence committed during the life of the Act. AIR 1956 Orissa 194 (199) = ILR (1956) Cut 374 = 1956 Cri LJ 1334 (DB).

(5) The Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, being a law made by Parliament, did come to an end after expiry of five years as provided by Article 369 but a prosecution started against accused could be continued even after expiry of the temporary Act. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 93 (93, 95) = 1959 Cri LJ 325 = 1959 MPLJ 65.

(6) The phrase "things done or omitted to be done" is sufficiently wide to continue a prosecution not completed under a temporary Act. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 93 (94, 95) = 1959 Cri LJ 325 = 1959 MPLJ 65.

(7) Defence of India Rules (1962), Rule 35 (5) — Essential commodity — Inclusion of wheat and wheat products — Not repugnant to any Article in Constitution. AIR 1964 Cal 279 (283) = 1964 (1) Cri LJ 662.

Article 370 — Note 1

(1) The policy of the Constitution which appears from this article is that the Constitution was framed for the entire Union of India but the provisions of that Constitution should not apply to the territories of the State of Jammu and Kashmir until and unless the President made an order that they shall apply. AIR 1956 J and K 1 (3) = 1956 Cri LJ 48 (FB).

(2) The effect of the article was to give jurisdiction to the Union Parliament to make laws for the State on matters specified either in the Instrument of Ac-

(b) the power of Parliament to make laws for the said State shall be limited to—

- (i) those matters in the Union List and the Concurrent List which, in consultation with the Government of the State, are declared by the President to correspond to matters specified in the Instrument of Accession governing the accession of the State to the Dominion of India as the matters with respect to which the Dominion Legislature may make laws for that State; and
- (ii) such other matters in the said Lists as, with the concurrence of the Government of the State, the President may by order specify.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this article, the Government of the State means the person for the time being recognised by the President as the Maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir acting on the advice of the Council of Ministers for the time being in office under the Maharaja's Proclamation dated the fifth day of March, 1948;

(c) the provisions of Article (1) and of this article shall apply in relation to that State;

cession or by later additions made with the concurrence of the State Government. AIR 1953 J and K 25 (30) = 11 J and KLR 1 (DB).

(3) The President under this article can issue an Order applying the provisions of the Constitution after a mere consultation with the State Government only where those provisions relate to a matter specified in the Instrument of Accession itself. AIR 1956 J and K 1 (13, 14) = 1956 Cri LJ 48 (FB)  AIR 1953 J and K 25 (32) = 11 J and K LR 1 (DB).

(4) The power conferred on the President by this article to make Orders is not a delegated power. Hence the considerations which apply to delegated legislations cannot be applied to the Orders made by the President under this article. AIR 1956 J and K 1 (3) = 1956 Cri LJ 48 (FB).

(5) The article empowers the President to make exceptions and modifications when applying the provisions of the Constitution to the State of Kashmir. The words "exceptions" and "modifications" cannot be interpreted by reference to the meaning given to them when they occur in the other provisions of this Constitution. AIR 1956 J and K 1 (4) = 1956 Cri LJ 48 (FB). (President can except particular thing, person or place from operation of provision.)

(6-8) In the context of the Constitution the court must give the widest effect to the meaning of the word 'modification' used in Article 370 (1) and in that sense it includes an amendment. Therefore the President had the power to make the modification which he did in Art. 81. AIR SCR 688  AIR 1956 J and K 1 (13, 14) = 1956 Cr LJ 48 (FB).

(9) The expression "modification" also means addition. AIR 1959 J and K 35 (40) (FB).

(10) When the President added Cl. (c) to Article 35 what he did was to modify the provisions of that article and hence had not acted beyond his powers. AIR 1966 J and K 1 (4, 13, 14) = 1956 Cri LJ 48 (FB).

(11) Clause (c) added by the President to Article 35 in its application to Jammu and Kashmir engrafted an exception on the Constitution in respect of Fundamental Rights and was not ultra vires the power of the President. AIR 1956 SC 197 (201) = (1955) 2 SCR 1101 = 1956 Cri LJ 421 (2).

(12) The President on 26-1-1950 issued the Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Order, 1950. By that Order he specified the matters in the Union List which corresponded to the matters mentioned in the Instrument of Accession and also made the Constitution applicable to the State with certain omissions, exceptions and modifications. That Order was later on superseded by the Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Order, 1954.

(13) J. and K. Big Landed Estates (Abolition) Act (XVII of 2007) was passed when Yuvaraj had plenary legislative powers and hence its validity cannot be challenged. AIR 1959 SC 749 (761) = (1959) Supp (2) SCR 270.

(14) The inclusion of an Act or provision of an Act in the ninth Schedule is not made as a matter of course — What was brought into the Act subsequently was outside the scope of the Ninth Schedule and consequently outside the scope of the protection of Article 31-B. AIR 1959 J and K 35 (38, 39) (FB).

(15) Jammu and Kashmir Detention Act, 13 of 1964 — Not ultra vires of State Legislature. AIR 1969 J and K 77 (87) = 1969 Cri LJ 907 (DB).

- (d) such of the other provisions of this Constitution shall apply in relation to that State subject to such exceptions and modifications as the President may by order^b specify :

Provided that no such order which relates to the matters specified in the Instrument of Accession of the State referred to in paragraph (i) of sub-clause (b) shall be issued except in consultation with the Government of the State :

Provided further that no such order which relates to matters other than those referred to in the last preceding proviso shall be issued except with the concurrence of that Government.

(2) If the concurrence of the Government of the State referred to in paragraph (ii) of sub-clause (b) of clause (1) or in the second proviso to sub-clause (d) of that clause be given before the Constituent Assembly for the purpose of framing the Constitution of the State is convened, it shall be placed before such Assembly for such decision as it may take thereon.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this article, the President may, by public notification, declare that this article shall cease to be operative or shall be operative only with such exceptions and modifications and from such date as he may specify :

Provided that the recommendation of the Constituent Assembly of the State referred to in clause (2) shall be necessary before the President issues such a notification.

[a] Part VII, which contained Art. 238, is now omitted by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956. There is no change made by the said Act in Art. 370.

[b] See the Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Order, 1954, as amended from time to time.

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

In exercise of powers conferred by clause (3) of Art 370, the President, on the recommendation of the Constituent Assembly of the State of Jammu and Kashmir, is pleased to declare that, as from the 17th day of November, 1952, the said Art. 370 shall be operative with the modification that for the "Explanation" in clause (1) thereof the following Explanation is substituted, namely:—

"Explanation.—For the purposes of this Article the Government of the State means the person for the time being recognised by the President on the recommendation of the Legislative Assembly of the State as the Sadar-i-Riyasat^a of Jammu and Kashmir, acting on the advice of the Council of Ministers of the State for the time being in office." — See C. O. 44 published in Gaz. Ind., 1952, Pt. II, S. 3, Ext., p. 916.

[a] Sub-sec. (3) of S. 2 of the Constitution of Jammu and Kashmir (as inserted by the J. and K. Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1965, S. 3) runs as follows :

"(3) Any reference in this Constitution to the Sadar-i-Riyasat shall, unless the context otherwise requires, be construed as a reference to the Governor."

Section 27 of that Constitution as substituted by the said Amending Act, speaks of appointment of a Governor by the President (of India) by warrant under his hand and seal.

9. Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950.

10. “Any such adaptation or modification shall not be questioned in a Court of Law” — Clause (2).

11. Explanation III.

1. Scope. — (1) Clause (1) of the article provides for the continuance of all the law in force notwithstanding the repeal of the Indian Independence Act, 1947, and the Government of India Act, 1935 by Article 395. The continuance of the law contemplated by this clause is subject to the other provisions of the Constitution. AIR 1956 SC 142 (145) = (1955) 2 SCR 1022 = 1956 Cri L Jour 315.

(2) For the purpose of bringing the provisions of any law in force in the territory of India into accord with the provisions of this Constitution, the President may by order make such adaptations and modifications of such law,^a whether by way of repeal or amendment, as may be necessary or expedient, and provide that the law shall, as from such date as may be specified in the order, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications so made, and any such adaptation or modification shall not be questioned in any court of law.

(3) Nothing in clause (2) shall be deemed—

(a) to empower the President to make any adaptation or modification of any law after the expiration of ^b[three years] from the commencement of this Constitution; or

(b) to prevent any competent Legislature or other competent authority from repealing or amending any law adapted or modified by the President under the said clause.

Explanation I.—The expression “law in force” in this article shall include a law passed or made by a Legislature or other competent authority in the territory of India before the commencement of this Constitution and not previously repealed, notwithstanding that it or parts of it may not be then in operation either at all or in particular areas.

(3) This article does not have the effect of making Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, applicable to the Defence of India Act, 1939, and to the rules and orders made thereunder. AIR 1957 Punj 265 (268) (DB).

(4) The rule of construction that the Crown is not bound by a statute save by express provision or by necessary implication cannot be called the law of the land after the Constitution. It is not ‘a law in force’ within Article 372. AIR 1967 SC 997 (1007)= 1967 Cri LJ 950= (1967) 2 SCR 170. (AIR 1960 SC 1355 and AIR 1947 PC 34, Overruled.)

(6) Between the provision in Art. 372 (3) (b) of the Constitution and the words in Section 120 of the States Reorganisation Act, 1956, there is no distinction. The law as adapted or modified occupies the field for purpose of future amendments equally effectively in both cases. AIR 1959 Ker 182 (182, 183)= 1958 Ker LT 1144 (FB).

(7) Article 372 cannot be invoked for the purpose of coming to the conclusion that Section 122, Civil P. C. ceased to be in force on commencement of Constitution — Applicability of Article 372 postulates that there is inconsistency between Section 122 Civil P. C. and Proviso to Article 227 of Constitution. AIR 1969 Guj 18 (20)= 9 Guj LR 873 (DB).

(8) By the execution of the agreement between President of India and Rajpramukh of Travancore-Cochin, the effect of Article 277 has been completely wiped

(2) Article 372 saves Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, in spite of the repeal of the Indian (Central Government and Legislature) Act, 1946 on the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1952 Pat 185 (191)= ILR 31 Pat 97= 1952 Cri L Jour 493 (FB).

Explanation IV.—An Ordinance promulgated by the Governor of a Province under Section 88 of the Government of India Act, 1935, and in force immediately before the commencement of this Constitution shall, unless withdrawn by the Governor of the corresponding State earlier, cease to operate at the expiration of six weeks from the first meeting after such commencement of the Legislative Assembly of that State functioning under clause (1) of Article 382,^c and nothing in this article shall be construed as continuing any such Ordinance in force beyond the said period.

(3) The purpose of the first clause of this article was clearly to negative the possibility of any existing law being held to be no longer in force by reason of the repeal of the law which authorised its enactment and it is a safeguard usually inserted by draftsmen in similar circumstances. AIR 1941 FC 16 (24) = 1940 FCR 110 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 72.

(4) The use of the expression "notwithstanding the repeal by this Constitution" can be fully explained as one designed to stress the fact of the subsidiary legislation being still alive while the present Act stands repealed. AIR 1956 Cal 222 (224) (DB).

(5) Even an Act repealed by Article 395 will continue in force subject to the other provisions of the Constitution by virtue of this article. AIR 1957 SC 540 (556) = 1957 SCR 488.

(6) Section 6 of the General Clauses Act 1897, had no application to the repeal of statutes made by Parliament in England, (which repeal has been brought about by the Constitution) and it is for this reason that this article provides that notwithstanding the repeal of those statutes, the laws enacted under them and in force immediately before the commencement of the Constitution shall continue in force thereafter also. AIR 1954 SC 683 (686) = 1954 Cri L Jour 1736.

(7) Section 6 of the General Clauses Act which is made applicable to the interpretation of the Constitution by Article 367 (1), can have no application to preserve rights and privileges acquired while the Government of India Act was in force. AIR 1954 SC 158 (163) = 1954 SCR 541.

(8) The effect of the words "notwithstanding the repeal" is that the existing laws have been continuous in their operation. See AIR 1945 FC 25 (29) = 1945 FCR 1 = ILR (1945) Kar (FC) 39.

5. Explanation I.— (1) This Explanation provides that even though a law has not been brought into force at all or in any particular area, it shall still be regarded as a 'law in force' if it has been passed by a Legislature or other competent authority in the territory of India and has not been repealed. AIR 1956 Cal 222 (225) (DB).

(2) The Constitution has given an extended meaning to the expression "law in force" by including therein any law or any part thereof which may not be in operation at the date of the commencement of the Constitution at all or in particular areas. AIR 1952 Bom 16 (23, 24) (DB).

(3) The phrase "in the territory of India" in Expl. I to Article 372, governs the expression 'the law made by the authority'. AIR 1956 Andhra 161 (165) = ILR (1956) Andhra 13 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1049 (FB).

(4) The term "other competent authority" in Explanation I is wide enough to include the Governor or any other authority which has been empowered to make rules and regulations having the force of law. AIR 1954 All 813 (814, 815) = ILR (1955) 2 All 800 (DB).

(5) When the Constitution intends to refer to a law which is in force at the time of the Constitution it uses the expression "law in force" and "existing law" means law enacted before the Constitution though it may not have been brought into operation in whole or in part. AIR 1954 Mad 621 (631, 632) (DB).

(6) In this Explanation the emphasis is on laws duly passed by a Legislature but not yet brought into force. It thus contemplates a particular class of Acts and does not seek to restrict the scope of the expression "law in force" in clause (1) of the article. AIR 1956 Cal 222 (225) (DB).

(7) The Police Act, 1861, is a piece of legislation which though in existence does not come into force in any area by itself. In view of this Explanation, this Act would be a "law in force". AIR 1957 Raj 28 (29) = ILR (1956) 6 Raj 636 (DB).

(8) Held on facts that the expression "cease to be in force" in Clause 8 of Provinces and States (Absorption of Enclaves) Order (1950) was not analogous to repeal; it only suspended the operation of the C. P. and Berar Panchayats Act on 20-1-50 so far as the village in question was concerned and, therefore, that Act continued to be in force in that village as it was a "law in force" as expounded by this Explanation. AIR 1954 Madh Bha 78 (80) = ILR (1954) Madh Bha 366 = 1954 Cri L Jour 795 (DB).

(9) The Indore Stamp Act Adaptation Act (5 of 1950), which received the assent of the Rajpramukh on 24-11-1949, but became operative from 29-1-1950 is a law continuing in force after the commencement of the Constitution by virtue of this article read with the Explanation. AIR 1956 Madh Bha 177 (178) = ILR (1956) Madh Bha 339 (DB).

(10) In order that a law not in operation at the date of the commencement of the Constitution may be included in the expression "law in force" it is necessary that it should have been passed or made by a Legislature or other competent authority before the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1958 All 126 (131).

(11) The High Court is a "competent authority" for the purpose of the Rules of Procedure made by it under the Code of Civil Procedure. AIR 1956 Andhra 161 (165) = ILR (1956) Andhra 13 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1049 (FB).

(12) The phrase "in the territory of India" in this Explanation governs the expression "the law made by the authority." If the authority though residing outside the territory of India, had jurisdiction to make law in India, it is a law made by an authority in the territory of India. AIR 1956 Andhra 161 (165) = ILR (1956) Andhra 13 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1049 (FB).

6. "In the territory of India."— (1) This article refers to those laws which were in force in the territory of India and does not in terms continue any laws which had international implications. AIR 1951 Punj 356 (356).

(2) This article has not the effect of keeping alive Section 122 of the British Bankruptcy Act, 1914 (4 & 5 Geo. V, C. 59). AIR 1951 Punj 356 (356).

7. "Until altered or repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority."— (1) The article recognises the contingency of an existing law being altered, repealed or amended. AIR 1953 Mad 260 (260) (DB).

(2) The article confers necessary power on a competent Legislature or other authority to alter, repeal or amend, although the expression "until altered or repealed, etc." is expressed in a negative form. (1953) 24 ITR 280 (297) (DB) (Cal).

(3) Letters Patent (Bombay), Clause 16 — States Reorganisation Act (1956), Sections 52 and 69 — High Courts Act (1861), Sections 1 and 9 — Jurisdiction conferred by Clause 16 of Letters Patent — Not impervious to legislative interference by State Legislature. (6) The word "until" ordinarily connotes a point of time and the expression "until altered, repealed or amended" is equivalent to saying "until the alteration, repealment or amendment." AIR 1941 FC 16 (31) = 1940 FCR 110 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 72.

(7) The word "until" in this article does not refer to the date on which the law altering or repealing or amending the existing law may be made, but refers to the date with effect from which such law may be made to operate, whether that date be in the future or in the past. (1953) 24 ITR 280 (297) (DB) (Cal).

(8) There is nothing in this article which debars a competent Legislature, which has altered, repealed or amended a previously existing law, from giving the new provision a retrospective effect from dates earlier than when the Act was passed. AIR 1941 FC 16 (31) = 1940 FCR 110 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 72. (10) Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act (II of 1927), Section 69 — Constitutionality — Act was valid and continued to be in force till it was replaced by Madras Act (XIX of 1951) by reason of Article 372. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 292 (294, 295) (DB).

(11) It is not absolutely necessary that a statute must be repealed by express language. Repeal, and certainly alteration or amendment, can be effected by necessary implication. AIR 1941 FC 16 (31) = 1940 FCR 110 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 72.

(12) The prerogative of the Maharaja of Cochin relating to the execution of the death sentences must be deemed to have been repealed or abrogated by competent legislative authority after the coming into force of the Constitution. AIR 1956 SC 142 (145) = (1955) 2 SCR 1022 = 1956 Cri L Jour 315.

(13) The Acts, which are repugnant to each other, need not necessarily be of different Legislatures; one may be the main Act and the other, an amending one. 1955 All L Jour 325 (326).

(13-A) The provisions of the two statutes should be so incompatible that obedience to one should necessarily mean the breach of the other. AIR 1956 Madh Bha 199 (206) = ILR (1956) Madh Bha 353 (DB).

(14) There is a considerable difference between a case of an implied repeal and the contention that an existing State law shall not prevail because it is repugnant to the law made by the Parliament. What is repealed ceases to exist, and is, excepting for certain limited purposes, as if it was never enacted. But that is not so with the latter case. AIR 1956 Madh Bha 199 (206) = ILR (1956) Madh Bha 353 (DB).

(15) Bombay City Land Revenue Act (2 of 1876), was in force in India immediately before the commencement of the Constitution and it must continue in force until altered or repealed or amended. AIR 1955 Bom 305 (313) = 57 Bom LR 345 (DB).

(16) Coal Production Fund Ordinance (1944) was permanent — Repealing Ordinance (6 of 1947) after its expiry could not have any effect on Ordinance of 1944 to the extent saved. AIR 1962 SC 1281 (1286) = (1962) Supp 3 SCR 436.

(17) The "Mulki Rules" in force in former Hyderabad State to the extent they were not inconsistent with the constitutional provisions were good law even after the Constitution came into force until they were repealed by a Parliament Act 44 of 1957. ILR (1968) Andh Pra 101 (109) (DB).

8. President's power to make adaptations and modifications of any law in force — Clause (2).— (1) This clause empowers the President to make such adaptations and modifications of any law in force as may be necessary or expedient and provides that thereafter that law will have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications so made. AIR 1950 Nag 203 (206) = 51 Cri L Jour 1372 (DB).

(2) The power to make adaptations and modifications was given to the President to suit the new circumstances brought about by the Constitution. AIR 1951 Cal 120 (122) = ILR (1952) 2 Cal 296 = 52 Cri L Jour 934 (FB).

(3) By the expression "any law in force" in this clause must, of course, be understood existing law as defined by Article 366, Clause (10), for non-statutory law, cannot obviously be subject to any adaptation or modification. AIR 1952 Bom 84 (89) = ILR (1951) Bom 775 = 1952 Cri L Jour 354 (DB).

(4) The general intent of the Constitution is that existing laws are to operate after the Constitution only so far as they are consistent with the Constitution and that so far as they are not so consistent, they are to cease to operate. AIR 1955 Cal 451 (455) (DB).

(5) The governing direction in this clause is that the dealing by the President with existing laws must be for the purpose of bringing such laws "into accord with the provisions of this Constitution." AIR 1956 All 321 (323) (DB)  AIR 1955 Cal 451 (455) (DB).

(6) As the President has only power to make adaptations and modifications for the purpose of bringing an Act into conformity with the provisions of the Constitution, it follows that an adaptation which is inconsistent with any provision of the Constitution will be invalid. AIR 1958 SC 468 (488)  AIR 1956 All 321 (323) (DB)  AIR 1955 Cal 451 (455, 456) (DB).

(7) An adaptation actually made must be construed as if the President had not intended to exceed his powers unless the words used make it wholly impossible to do so. AIR 1955 Cal 451 (455) (DB).

(8) The mere fact that an Act has been made the subject of an Adaptation Order will not make the Act valid if it is otherwise invalid as offending any provision of the Constitution. AIR 1941 Lah 182 (184) (FB)  AIR 1950 Cal 274 (276) = 51 Cri L Jour 1110 (SB)  AIR 1958 Mad 729 (732) = 1953 Cri L Jour 1364 (DB)  AIR 1950 Pat 265 (270) = ILR 29 Pat 335 = 51 Cri L Jour 1081 (DB).

(9) The President cannot, by an Adaptation Order, direct the continuance of an Act repealed by the Constitution. AIR 1954 Mad 543 (547) = ILR (1954) Mad 643 (DB).

(10) Clause (2) is strictly limited to bringing an Act into accord with the provisions of the Constitution. AIR 1951 Cal 120 (122) = ILR (1952) 2 Cal 296 = 52 Cri L Jour 934 (FB).

(11) The fact that an Act has not been adapted by the President does not affect the question whether it continued in force after the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1953 Mad 729 (732) = 1953 Cri L Jour 1364 (DB).

(12) There is nothing in the clause to prevent the President from repealing the whole or a part of any existing law. AIR 1951 SC 128 (129) = 1951 SCR 228 = ILR (1951) Hyd 294 = 52 Cri L Jour 860  AIR 1954 Bom 505 (507) = ILR (1954) Bom 1367 (DB).

(13) Where the President, under Art. 373, exercises the powers of Parliament conferred by Article 22 (7) it is not tantamount to exercising his power of adaptation under this clause. AIR 1950 Nag 203 (206) = 51 Cri L Jour 1372 (DB).

(14) After the imposition of the Presidents' rule in Pepsu under Article 356 the President was competent to promulgate under Article 309 read with Articles 313 and 372, the Bank of Patiala Regulation and Management Order, 1954 superseding the commands of the Ruler of erstwhile Patiala State dated 8-4-1941 which had the force of law. AIR 1963 Punj 345 (349, 350) = ILR (1963) 1 Punj 621 (DB).

9. Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950.—

(1) Clause 3 of the Order does not in any way confer, recognise or continue the power of the High Court to prescribe court-fees for the Original Side of the High Court, nor does clause 22 thereof save such power. AIR 1954 Mad 543 (547) = ILR (1954) Mad 643 (DB).

(2) Clause 19 of the Order cannot be so construed as if it purported to keep in force even laws which might be inconsistent with the Constitution. AIR 1955 Cal 451 (457) (DB).

(3) Clause 23 of the Order cannot be said to substitute the Supreme Court in the place of the State Judicial Committee of the former Hyderabad State. AIR 1956 Hyd 136 (138) = ILR (1956) Hyd 555 (DB).

(4) It has been held that Clause 28 of the Order which directs a Court to construe the law with all such adaptations as

^a[372A. Power of the President to adapt laws.—(1) For the purposes of bringing the provisions of any law in force in India or in any part thereof, immediately before the commencement of the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, into accord with the provisions of this Constitution as amended by that Act, the President may by order^b made before the 1st day of November, 1957, make are necessary for the purpose of bringing it into accord with the provisions of the Constitution, notwithstanding that the Order makes no provision is contrary to the express provisions of clause (2) of this article. AIR 1950 Cal 274 (285, 286) = 51 Cri L Jour 1110 (SB).

(5) It has been held that the adaptation or modification made by way of amending Section 1 (3) of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, so as to substitute "the 1st day of April 1951" for the period originally mentioned in the sub-section was neither illegal nor beyond the competency of the President within the meaning of this clause. AIR 1952 Pat 185 (191, 192) = ILR 31 Pat 97 = 1952 Cri L Jour 493 (FB).

(6) Article 225 in terms preserves the powers of the High Court derived under the Letters Patent and the rules already made by the High Court are continued under this article. Even assuming that the Order by implication revoked the powers of the High Court conferred by the Letters Patent, the rules already made are saved under the express provisions of clause 17 of this Order. AIR 1956 Andhra 161 (165) = ILR (1956) Andhra 13 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1049 (FB).

(7) The Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict., c. 69), has been left severely alone in the Adaptation Order. It has, therefore, ceased to be in force after the Constitution. AIR 1954 SC 517 (519) = 1955 SCR 280 = 1954 Cri L Jour 1337.

(8) The definition of 'State' in Section 3 (58) (b) of the General Clauses Act, adopted under Article 372 by the Adaptation of Laws Order 1950 can be used to interpret the word 'State' used in the Constitution only when a State is Part A, B or C. AIR 1969 Delhi 246 (252, 253) = 1969 Lab IC 974 (DB).

10. "Any such adaptation or modification shall not be questioned in a Court of law."— Clause (2).— (1) In spite of these words in clause (2), it is the established view that an adaptation, which is inconsistent with any provisions of the Constitution, is invalid and its validity can be questioned in a Court of law. AIR 1958 SC 468 (488)  AIR 1955 Cal 451 (456) (DB).

(2) The last words of clause (2) only precluded the action of the President in making the adaptation from being questioned in a Court of law. AIR 1955 Cal 451 (455) (DB).

(3) Under clause (2) the President cannot legislate except for the purpose of bringing the provisions of any law in force into accord with the provisions of the Constitution and so, he cannot, by an Adaptation Order extend the life of an Act. AIR 1951 Cal

120 (122) = ILR (1952) 2 Cal 296 = 52 Cri L Jour 934 (FB).

(4) A provision made by the President by virtue of his special power under clause (2) is, nonetheless, a "law" although under the last words of clause (2), such provision, unlike legislative provisions in general, is specially made exempt from being questioned in a Court of law. AIR 1958 SC 468 (487, 488).

11. Explanation III.— (1) The Explanation III does not apply to the Indian Independence Act, and hence, notwithstanding the repeal of the Act, the Indian Independence (Legal Proceedings) Order, 1947, continues in force under clause (1) of this article. AIR 1956 Cal 222 (223) (DB).

(2) The expression "temporary law" in Explanation III was held to include an Ordinance promulgated by the Rajpramukh of a Part B State. AIR 1951 Madh Bha 149 (153) = 52 Cri L Jour 1467 (FB).

(3) The Explanation merely provides that temporary statutes will not have their lives automatically extended by virtue of the provisions of clause (1). AIR 1952 Cal 118 (120) = ILR (1953) 1 Cal 71.

(4) If as a result of the operation of any other article, a legal position, which was brought about by a temporary law, is perpetuated and continued after the Constitution, the result cannot be avoided by invoking Explanation III. AIR 1951 Madh Bha 149 (152) = 52 Cri L Jour 1467 (FB).

(5) Where a temporary Act mentions a certain period for its duration and the President's Adaptation Order, purely as a matter of adaptation under clause (2) of this article, replaces the words used in the temporary Act relating to its duration by words which specify a certain date for the expiration of the Act, there is no question of the temporary Act being continued in force beyond the date on which it would have expired and hence, Explanation III does not come into play in such a case at all. AIR 1952 Pat 185 (192) = ILR 31 Pat 97 = 1952 Cri L Jour 493 (FB).

(6) Where a temporary Act expires, it should be regarded as having never existed except as to matters and transactions past and closed. AIR 1957 Punj 265 (268) (DB).

Article 372-A — Note 1

(1) Definition of 'State' in Section 3 (58) (b) General Clauses Act as adopted under Article 372-A not applicable for interpreting Constitution. AIR 1969 Delhi 246 (252, 253) = 1969 Lab IC 974 (DB).

(2) Delhi Special Police Establishment Act (1946), Section 2 — Substitution of words "Union Territories" for words "Part C States" by Adaptation of Laws Order (3 such adaptations and modifications of the law, whether by way of repeal or amendment, as may be necessary or expedient, and provide that the law shall, as from such date as may be specified in the order, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications so made, and any such adaptation or modification shall not be questioned in any court of law.

(2) Nothing in clause (1) shall be deemed to prevent a competent legislature or other competent authority from repealing or amending any law adapted or modified by the President under the said clause.]

Power of President to make order in respect of persons under preventive detention in certain cases.—Until provision is made by Parliament under clause (7) of Article 22,^a or until the expiration of one year from the commencement of this Constitution, whichever is earlier, the said article shall have effect as if for any reference to Parliament in clauses (4) and (7) thereof there were substituted a reference to the President and for any reference to any law made by Parliament in those clauses there were substituted a reference to an order made by the President.

(3) Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946, which has been enacted validly prior to the Constitution cannot become unconstitutional merely because of the adaptation made into it by the President under Article 372-A. AIR 1969 Delhi 330 (344) (DB).

Article 373 — Note 1

(1) Neither the Parliament nor the President acting under Article 373 can prescribe what it or he is empowered to do under Article 22 (7) (a) and (b) in respect of detention made under a law in force prior to the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1951 Mad 1015 (1041) = 1952 Cri LJ 170 (DB).

(2) Powers of President under Article 373 are not wider than those conferred on Parliament by Article 22 (7) and therefore he cannot order the continuance of detention of a person even in a case not covered by that clause. AIR 1950 Nag 203 (207) = 51 Cri LJ 1372 = 1951 Nag LJ 1 (DB).

(3) Section 2 (1) (a) being still extant, is 'any law' within the meaning of expression used in sub-clause (a) of clause (7) of Art. 22 and hence the President can by virtue of powers conferred on him, by order, prescribe the circumstances under which the period of detention may extend beyond three months without obtaining the opinion of the Advisory Board. AIR 1950 Nag 203 (207, 208) = 51 Nag LJ 1372 = 1951 Nag LJ 1 (DB).

(4) The Preventive Detention (Extension of Duration) Order dated 26th January 1950 and purported to be signed by Governor-General is of no value at all for purposes of adaptation of the Constitution Act; nor can it be of any value for purpose of Article 373 because under that Article, it is only the President who can act after the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1950 Pat 265 (280) = 51 Cri LJ 1081 = ILR 29 Pat 335 (DB).

374. Provisions as to Judges of the Federal Court and proceedings pending in the Federal Court or before His Majesty in Council.—(1) The Judges of the Federal Court holding office immediately before the commencement of this Constitution shall, unless they have elected otherwise, become on such commencement the Judges of the Supreme Court and shall thereupon be entitled to such salaries and allowances and to such rights in respect of leave of absence and pension as are provided for under Article 125 in respect of the Judges of the Supreme Court.

(2) All suits, appeals and proceedings, civil or criminal, pending in the Federal Court at the commencement of this Constitution shall stand removed to the Supreme Court, and the Supreme Court shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the same, and the judgments and orders of the Federal Court delivered or made before the commencement of this Constitution shall have the same force and effect as if they had been delivered or made by the Supreme Court.

(3) Nothing in this Constitution shall operate to invalidate the exercise of jurisdiction by His Majesty in Council to dispose of appeals and petitions from, or in respect of, any judgment, decree or order of any court within the territory of India in so far as the exercise of such jurisdiction is authorised by law, and any order of His Majesty in Council made on any such appeal or petition after the commencement of this Constitution shall for all purposes have effect as if it were an order or decree made by the Supreme Court in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred on such Court by this Constitution.

(4) On and from the commencement of this Constitution the jurisdiction of the authority functioning as the Privy Council in a State specified in Part B of the First Schedule^a to entertain and dispose of appeals and petitions from or in respect of any judgment, decree or order of any court within that State shall cease,

(1) Where a suit in respect of a dispute concerning a document of the description referred to in Article 363 was filed in the Federal Court before the Constitution came into force and stood transferred to the Supreme Court under clause (2) of this article after the Constitution came into force, the Supreme Court will have no jurisdiction to hear and determine those matters by virtue of Article 363. AIR 1951 SC 253 (258) = 1951 SCR 474.

(2) The latter part of clause (2) has not the effect of endowing the judgments of the Federal Court delivered before the commencement of the Constitution with the same authority as judicial precedents as the decisions of the Supreme Court. (4) By virtue of combined operation of Sections 2, 4 (b), 5 and 8, Abolition of Privy Council Jurisdiction Act, 1949 and Articles 135 and 374 (2) of the Constitution, Supreme Court must be deemed in law to be the Court which passed the decree and therefore competent to entertain an application for cancellation of decree under Section 10, Bombay Hereditary Offices Act. AIR 1960 SC 808 (809, 810) = (1960) 3 SCR 221.

(5) Drawing up of decrees passed by the Judicial Committee of Hyderabad having been vested in the High Court of Hyderabad under a statutory Regulation, such proceeding was not pending before the Judicial Committee and hence was not liable to be transferred to the Supreme Court. latter Act, but not including the Abolition of Privy Council Jurisdiction Act, 1949, are hereby repealed.

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

Article 395 shall be omitted—See Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (17).

Article 395 (contd.)

1. Effect of repeal of enactments mentioned in the article. — (1) The general principle is that where a parent Act is repealed, all the laws passed under that Act stand repealed, unless there is a saving provision in the repealing enactment. AIR 1940 All 272 (280) = ILR (1940) All 455 (FB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1941 FC 16.)

(2) In the case of the Indian Constitution a saving clause is contained in Art. 372, notwithstanding the repeal of the Indian Independence Act, 1947 (10 and 11 Geo. VI, c. 30) and the Government of India Act, 1935 (26 Geo. V and 1 Edw. VIII, c. 2), together with all enactments amending and supplementing the latter Act, all the legislation passed under those Acts continues in force even after the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1952 Pat 185 (192) = ILR 31 Pat 97 = 1952 Cri L Jour 493 (FB).

(3) The Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Act, 1947, is one of the enactments amending or supplementing the Government of India Act, 1935, and as such, was repealed by Article 395. AIR 1957 SC 540 (556) = 1957 SCR 488. (Overruling AIR 1953 Mad 878 (FB), AIR 1951 Mad 1051, AIR 1954 Cal 289, AIR 1956 All 321, AIR 1956 All 638, AIR 1956 Punj 228).

[But see AIR 1954 Mad 543 (547) = ILR (1954) Mad 643 (DB).]

(4) Where a Government notification was void under the Government of India Act 1935, the mere fact that the Government of India Act, 1935, has been repealed by Article 395 will not make such notification valid from the date of the coming into force of the Constitution. AIR 1953 Assam 170 (175) = ILR (1953) 5 Assam 363 (DB).

2. Applicability of S. 6, General Clauses Act. — (1) Notwithstanding the provision of Art. 367, Sec. 6 of the General Clauses Act has no application to the repeal of a statute made by Parliament in England and the repeal of which has been brought about by this Constitution. AIR 1954 SC 683 (686) = 1954 Cri L Jour 1736  ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (392) (FB).

[See also AIR 1954 SC 158 (163) = 1954 SCR 541. (AIR 1951 Raj 94 (2), Reversed.)]

(2) Article 372 was enacted providing that notwithstanding the repeal by this Constitution of the enactments referred to in Article 395, the law in force in the territory of India immediately before the commencement of the Constitution shall continue in force therein until altered or repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority. AIR 1954 SC 683 (686) = 1954 Cri L Jour 1736  AIR 1957 Punj 265 (268) (DB).

(3) Article 372 has no application to laws that had previously been repealed or which had died a natural death on the expiry of the period during which they were to continue. AIR 1954 SC 683 (685) = 1954 Cri LJ 1736.

(4) With the repeal of the Government of India Act, 1935, by Article 395 of the Constitution, Section 76 of the former Act also vanished and a Bill pending before the Governor-General could not survive the repeal. Section 6 of the General Clauses Act cannot apply to the case. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (391, 392) (FB).

3. Repeal of Indian Independence Act, 1947 (10 and 11 Geo. VI, c. 30). — (1) On the maxim expressio unius, exclusio alterius, the Orders passed under the Indian Independence Act, 1947, must be deemed not to have been repealed by Art. 395, and further these Orders are continued in force by virtue of Article 372. 4. "But not including the Abolition of Privy Council Jurisdiction Act, 1949". — (1) The Constitution by Article 395 continued the Abolition of Privy Council Jurisdiction Act, 1949. Though the latter Act being an Act amending or supplementing the Government of India Act, 1935, was repealed yet notwithstanding such repeal the provisions of the Act were continued in force under Article 372 (1) subject to the other provisions of the Constitution. AIR 1957 SC 540 (556) = 1957 SCR 488.

5. "Enactments amending or supplementing Government of India Act, 1935. — (1) The Letters Patent is not an enactment which amends or supplements the Government of India Act. Therefore, it does not stand repealed under the express terms of Article 395. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 333 (335) = 1958 MPLJ 298 (DB).

(2) Section 3 (2) of the Santhal Parganas Settlement Regulation (3 of 1872) restricting the applicability of enactments unless otherwise expressly named has lost its force after the coming into force of the Constitution. REMOVAL OF DIFFICULTIES

Paragraph 2 of the Constitution (Removal of Difficulties) Order, No. IV provides that as from 26-1-1950, the Second Schedule to the Constitution of India shall have effect subject to the following adaptation, namely:—

“(2) In sub-para. (2) of Paragraph 10, for all words after clause (b), the following shall be substituted—

“shall, in respect of time spent on actual service as such Chief Justice or other Judge, as the case may be, be entitled to receive in addition to the salary specified in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph as special pay the amount, if any, by which that salary falls short of the salary payable to the Chief Justice, or, as the case may be, any other Judge, of the High Court, in the Province immediately before the commencement.”

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“Sometimes it becomes necessary to appoint a retired district Judge as a Judge of the High Court. In the absence of a legal provision for withholding the pension due to such a Judge, it has been the practice to obtain from him an undertaking that he would not claim the pension for the period for which he serves as a High Court Judge. Since this is obviously unsatisfactory, it is proposed to add a Proviso to Paragraph 10(1) of the Second Schedule on the same lines as the Proviso to Paragraph 9 (1) thereof regulating the salary of a Judge of the Supreme Court in similar circumstances”—Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Pt. II, S. 2, Ext., p. 222.

[c] Paragraph 10—Substituted for sub-paragraph (1) by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, S. 25.

[d] Paragraph 10—Substituted for sub-paragraphs (3) and (4), ibid.

(3) The entries in the Lists in the Seventh Schedule should be so construed as to give effect to all of them and a construction which will result in any of them being rendered futile or otiose must be avoided. AIR 1963 SC 90 (95) = (1963) 3 SCR 209.

(4) The principles governing the interpretation of the entries in the three lists are:— (1) Liberal construction with widest amplitude. (2) Broad interpretation to ambit of an express legislative power at the expense of unspecified residuary powers. (3) Reconciliation to avoid conflict. (4) In considering validity doctrine of "pith and substance" should be followed. AIR 1962 Bom 12 (15) = 63 Bom LR 379  (1967) 11 Law Rep 40 = (1968) 1 Mys LJ 524 (DB).

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

In entry 67, omit the words ‘and records’.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“Entry 67 of the Union List refers to ancient and historical monuments and records and archaeological sites and remains, declared by Parliament by law to be of national importance”. A large number of ancient monuments, archaeological sites, etc., have been declared to be of national importance by an Act of Parliament. It requires another Act of Parliament to make the slightest alteration, in, or in addition to, the Lists in the Act which seems to be an unduly cumbrous procedure. It is therefore proposed to amend the entry by substituting for the words ‘declared by Parliament by law’, the words ‘declared by or under law made by Parliament’. The same amendment is proposed to be made in the connected provisions. Entry 12 of the State List, Entry 40 of the Concurrent List and Article 49.”—Gaz. Ind., 1956, Pt. II, Section 2, Ext., p. 222.

(6) If legislation relating to imposition of an exclusive medium of instruction in a regional language or in Hindi, is likely to result in lowering of the standards, that legislation would necessarily fall within item 66 of List 1 and to that extent would be deemed to be excluded from the amplitude of the power conferred by item 11 of List II. AIR 1963 SC 703 (717) = (1963) Supp 1 SCR 112.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 78 — Note 1

(1) The constitution and organisation of the High Courts has been made a Central subject because (a) it was necessary to have uniformity in the organisation of all High Courts and this could only be effected by Parliament, and (b) the Constitution provides for extension of the jurisdiction of a High Court beyond the State where it has its principal seat and also for a common High Court in two States or two States and a Union territory and this can only be effected by Parliament. AIR 1957 Cal 534 (544).

(2) The setting up of the Calcutta Civil Court and vesting it with general jurisdiction, by the Calcutta Civil Court Act (21 of 1953) and taking away of the same jurisdiction from the Calcutta High Court did not affect the 'constitution and organisation' of the High Court and hence there was no infringement of Entry 78. AIR 1957 Cal 534 (544).

(3) The subject-matter of Sec. 411-A, inserted by the Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1943, in the Criminal Procedure Code was held not to fall within the expression "constitution and organisation of all Courts" in Item I of List 2 of Schedule VII of the Government of India Act, 1935. AIR 1949 Mad 481 (487) = ILR (1949) Mad 739 = 50 Cri L Jour 684 (FB).

(4) The change in the number of Judges by whom a second appeal is to be decided cannot be regarded as affecting the constitution or organisation of the High Court. In this view, the amendment of Section 15 of the Mysore High Court Act (Mysore Act 35 of 1951), cannot be impeached as ultra vires. AIR 1952 Mys 75 (76) = ILR (1952) Mys 279.

(5) The Indian Bar Councils (U. P. Amendment) Act (24 of 1950) is a legislation with respect to 'persons entitled to practise before the High Courts' in Entry 78 and hence ultra vires the State Legislature. AIR 1954 All 728 (732) = ILR (1954) 2 All 191 = 1954 Cri L Jour 1485 (DB).

(6) The phrase "persons entitled to practise before the High Courts" obviously seeks to bring all persons practising the law in the High Courts in various forms and capacities under one comprehensive term. AIR 1952 Cal 178 (183) (SB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1952 SC 369.)

(7) It cannot be said that the proviso to Section 8 (2) (b) was not within the legislative competence of Parliament. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (65) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 467 (SB).

(8) The rate of stamp duty on an application for enrolment as Advocates is not one of the matters provided for in Items 91 and 78 of List 1. AIR 1966 Mys 138 (140) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 119 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 80 — Note 1

(1) The Delhi Police Establishment is a "Police force belonging to any State" within the meaning of this Entry. AIR 1969 Delhi 330 (338, 339) (DB).

(2) Substitution of the words "in Delhi" for the words "for the State of Delhi" by the Delhi Special Police Establishment (Amendment) Act (26 of 1952) does not make any change in the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946, which conflicts with this Entry or with any other provision of the constitution. AIR 1969 Delhi 330 (339, 341) (DB). (AIR 1962 SC 145 and AIR 1954 SC 587, Distinguished.)

(3) Substitution of the words "Union Territories" for the words "Part C, States" in the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act (1946) by the Adaptation of Laws Order (3 of 1956) does not bring the Act into conflict with this Entry (as amended by the Constitution (7th Amendment) Act (1956)). AIR 1969 Delhi 330 (342) (DB).

(4) The expression 'belonging to' does not mean that the police force must be under the employment of a Provincial Government or of a Chief Commissioner as distinct from the Central Government. AIR 1969 Delhi 330 (338) (DB).

(2) Section 7, Bombay Refugees Act (22 of 1948) is ultra vires the Provincial Legislature, inasmuch as the definition of 'refugees' in that Act embraces within its scope a person who has come into the Province from another Province, and to the extent to which it does so the Act falls within Item 50, List 1 of Schedule VII of the Government of India Act, 1935. AIR 1953 Bom 415 (417) = ILR (1953) Bom 836.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 82

1. Scope.— (1) The power to levy taxes on income has been parcelled out by the Constitution between the Union and the States, the former having authority under List I, Entry 82, to legislate with regard to 'taxes on income other than agricultural income' and the latter having authority under List II, Entry 46 with respect to taxes on agricultural income. AIR 1942 FC 8 (14) = 1942 FCR 1 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 1 Supp = ILR 21 Pat 521.

[See also AIR 1968 Ker 31 (32) = 1967 Ker LT 751 (DB).]

(2) 'Agricultural income' in List 1, Entry 82 and List 2, Entry 46 has the same meaning as contained in the definition given in Section 2 (1), Income-tax Act, 1922. AIR 1942 FC 8 (14) = 1942 FCR 1 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 1 Supp = ILR 21 Pat 521  AIR 1954 Cal 225 (231) (DB).

(3) Entries 82 to 92-A of List 1 enumerate various kinds of taxes which the Union is competent to legislate upon. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (401) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 285 (DB).

(4) This entry does not indicate whose income may be taxed; no limitation is placed on the power of the Union Parliament as to the person, who should be taxed in respect of his income. AIR 1954 Mad 1120 (1123) = ILR (1955) Mad 702 (DB). (AIR 1952 Bom 261, Rel. on.)

(5) The expression "income" in Entry 82 of List 1 should be widely and liberally construed so as to enable a Legislature to provide, by law, for the prevention of evasion of income-tax. AIR 1965 SC 1862 (1865) = (1965) 3 SCR 1  AIR 1965 SC 1375 (1376) = (1965) 1 SCR 909  AIR 1962 SC 123 (125, 126) = (1962) 2 SCR 983  AIR 1961 SC 736 (743) = (1961) 1 SCR 482  AIR 1963 Mad 183 (185) = (1963) 48 ITR 756

(DB)  (1962) 1 Mad LJ 155 (156) (DB).

(6) A provision of income-tax law which provides for the incidence of taxation not on the person whose income is assessed to tax but on another cannot be held to be ultra vires of the powers of Parliament under this entry. AIR 1957 Mad 133 (138) = ILR (1957) Mad 251 (DB)  AIR 1956 Mad 387 (388) = ILR (1956) Mad 1154 (DB)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 342 (347) = (1964) 54 ITR 643 (DB).

(7) Provisions of Income-tax Act, Section 34 (1-B), (1-C) and (1-D) are matters which are necessarily ancillary to the matter of taxation and therefore are not beyond the legislative competence of the Parliament. AIR 1960 Assam 76 (83) = (1961) 41 ITR 80 (DB).

(8) The general conception as to the scope of income-tax underlying the legislative practice in the United Kingdom finds a place in the phrase 'taxes on income' in this entry. AIR 1948 PC 118 (120) = 75 Ind App 36 = 1948 FCR 1.

(9) The Central Legislature had power to levy a fee as a condition for preferring an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal under Section 33 (3), Income-tax Act, by virtue of Item 54 read with Item 59 of List 1, Schedule VII of the Government of India Act and as such Section 33 (3), Income-tax Act, was not ultra vires. AIR 1954 Mad 806 (808) = ILR (1954) Mad 1236 (DB)  AIR 1960 Cal 619 (622) = 65 Cal WN 60 (DB).

(10) Articles 245 and 246 read with this entry empower Parliament to make laws with respect to taxes on income for the whole of the territory of India and no limitation or restriction is imposed in regard to retroactive legislation. AIR 1954 SC 158 (162) = 1954 SCR 541.

(11) Taxes on income other than agricultural income — Assessment of tax by Panchayat under Section 57 of West Bengal Panchayat Act on basis of income from trade or business carried on within its jurisdiction — Provisions are saved by Article 271 (1), Constitution of India. AIR 1964 Cal 590 (592) = 68 Cal WN 1132.

(12) Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act (1950), Sec. 3 — Travancore Taxation of Income (Investigation Commission) Act (14 of 1124) — Keeping in force by Parliament of Act 14 of 1124 by Act of 1950 not illegal. AIR 1962 Ker 38 (41) = 1961 Ker LT 558 (FB).

income. AIR 1966 SC 619 (624) = (1966) 2 SCR 22.

2. Income.— (1) The word 'income' in the Income-tax Act connotes a periodical return coming in with some sort of regularity from definite sources. The source must be one whose object is the production of a definite return, excluding anything in the nature of a mere windfall. AIR 1932 PC 138 (140) = 59 Ind App 206 = ILR 59 Cal 1343.

(2) The word 'income' in this Entry should be interpreted in its natural and grammatical meaning and should be given its widest connotation in view of the fact that it occurs in a legislative head conferring legislative power. AIR 1955 SC 58 (62) = 1955 SCR 829  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 342 (345) = (1964) 54 ITR 643 (DB).

(3) The expression 'income' is wide enough to include capital gains. Hence the Income-tax and Excess Profits Tax (Amendment) Act, 1947, introducing a new head of income — capital gains — in Section 6 and inserting the new Section 12-B, is intra vires the powers of Central Legislature under this entry. AIR 1955 SC 58 (62) = 1955 SCR 829  AIR 1962 Punj 337 (343) = 64 Pun LR 504 (FB)  AIR 1961 Mad 146 (151) = (1961) 1 Mad LJ 93 (DB)  AIR 1960 Mad 96 (97) = (1960) 1 Mad LJ 58 (DB).

(4) The word 'income' is wide enough to include within its scope income which has not actually accrued but which is supposed notionally to have accrued. AIR 1954 SC 155 (157) = 1954 SCR 444.

(5) Though the incidence of tax does not fall on the person to whom the income has accrued in the first instance but on some one else it is none-the-less an "income" within the purview of Entry 82. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 342 (347) = (1964) 54 ITR 643 (DB).

(6) J. and K. Immovable Property Tax Act, 1962 is within the legislative competence of the State and is not covered by Entry 82 of List 1. AIR 1968 J and K 105 (107) = 1968 Kash LJ 144 (DB).

(7) A tax on income is on that which is received: a tax on net wealth is on that which accumulates. Parliament in enacting Wealth Tax Act has not committed trespass on the State field of legislation in imposing a tax on net wealth, part of which may have sprung from agricultural income. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (115) = 1961 Ker LT 905 (DB).

(8) Madhya Pradesh Nagariya Sthavar Sampatikar Adhiniyam does not levy a tax on income of capital value of the assets but a tax on lands or buildings. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 268 (271) = 1967 MPLJ 47 (DB).

(9) Even if accumulated profits in the hands of a company are derived from agriculture, the money received by the shareholders would not retain that character. In other words, neither a dividend nor a deemed dividend paid out of agricultural income is itself an agricultural income. (1962) 1 Mad LJ 155-157.

3. Tax on income and tax on profession, trade, calling, etc.— (1) Where a tax is payable by any person practising a trade, calling or profession irrespective of whether he derives any income from it or not, will be a tax on trade, calling or profession and not a tax on income. Such a tax falls within Entry 60 of List 2 which is exclusively a State subject and no question of its invalidity can arise and recourse to Article 276 is not necessary for its validation. AIR 1957 All 433 (436) (DB). (Overruled on another point in AIR 1969 All 40 (FB).)

(2) The tax on the receipt of pension or on the income from investments which is referred to in the last part of Section 111 (1) of the Madras City Municipal Act is in truth and substance a tax on income. At the time the tax is levied the pensioner is in no employment but is only in receipt of income though it might be for past services, in an employment. AIR 1964 SC 1172 (1178) = (1964) 4 SCR 265.

(3) Property tax levied by Section 3, Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act, 1940, falls in pith and substance, within List 2, Item 42 and is not a tax on income falling within List 1, Item 54, Government of India Act, 1935. AIR 1949 FC 81 (88) = 1948 FCR 207.

(4) Distinction between tax on income and tax on circumstances and property pointed out. AIR 1948 All 382 (386) = ILR (1949) All 26 (FB)  AIR 1969 All 40 (42) = 1968 All LJ 665 (FB). (1961 All LJ 743 and 1955 All LJ 630 and AIR 1957 All 433, Overruled.)

(5) If a State tax, by whatever name it may be called, is based on income derived by the assessee from trade, calling or profession, it may be a tax on income falling within the exclusive jurisdiction of Parliament under this entry. AIR 1957 All 433 (436) (DB).

(6) A State law relating to taxes for the benefit of the State or of a municipality in respect of profession, trade, callings etc., falls within Item 60 of List II of Schedule 7 although it is to be realised on the basis of income. 1967 BLJR 135 (149) (DB).

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 83 — Note 1

(1) Customs duties are, in their essence, trading taxes and may be said to be more concerned with the commodity in respect of which the taxation is imposed than with the particular person from whom the tax is extracted. (1934) 103 LJPC 1 (6, 7) = 1934 App Cas 45. Attorney-General of British Columbia v. Kingcome Navigation Co.

(2) Export tax is normally collected on merchantable goods in course of transit in pursuance of commercial transactions. AIR 1930 PC 173 (175, 176).

(3) Whether an export tax is ultimately borne by the exporting seller at home or by the importing buyer abroad depends on the terms of the contract between the parties. AIR 1930 PC 173 (175, 176).

(4) A sales tax is a tax on transactions of sale. It is in no sense a tax on goods exported outside a territory. AIR 1954 Mad 1090 (1091) (DB).

(5) Entry 83 of List 1 is concerned only with customs and export duties and has nothing to do with taxes to be collected on goods imported into a local area. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 234 (241, 242) = ILR (1960) Andh Pra 42 (DB).

(6) Levy of customs duties (export or import) by Union on property of State — Levy not covered by exemption and can be validly imposed. AIR 1963 SC 1760 (1777) = (1964) 3 SCR 787.

Schedule 7, List 1 Entry 84

1. Scope.— (1) The Bengal Excise Act 1909 and the Rules and the Notifications thereunder even after the Constitution are covered by the State subjects in Schedule VII, List II, Entry 51. AIR 1958 Cal 203 (207)  ILR (1956) 2 Cal 22.

(2) Customs duties are levied on goods going abroad or imported from abroad, while duties of excise on the other hand, are levied on home-made goods or goods made in the taxing country and intended for home consumption. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (255) (SB)  AIR 1955 Raj 114 (118, 119) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 832 (DB).

(3) The words "manufactured or produced in India" are an integral part of the entry, and excise duties, though on goods, are connected with their manufacture or production. AIR 1955 Raj 114 (118, 119) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 832 (DB).

(4) In construing the expression duty of excise as it occurs in Entry 84 of List 1 in Schedule VII of the Constitution the Court is not concerned so much with whether the tax is direct or indirect as upon the transaction or activity on which it is imposed. AIR 1962 SC 1006 (1011, 1013 to 1019, 1027, 1028) = 1962 Supp (2) SCR 1.

(5) The licence fee levied under Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1087) is not a duty levied upon a manufacturer or producer in respect of a commodity manufactured or produced. Therefore the levy cannot be said to be duty of excise coming within the ambit of Entry 84 of the Union List. AIR 1958 Ker 129 (133) = 1957 Ker LT 1184 (FB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 922.)

(6) The levy of duty upon consumption of electrical energy cannot be regarded as duty of excise falling within Entry 84 of List 1 in Schedule 7 of the Constitution. The Central Provinces and Berar Electricity Duty Act, 1949, does not fall under Entry 84, List 1 but under Entry 53, List 2. AIR 1963 SC 414 (419, 420, 421) = 1962 Supp (1) SCR 282.

(7) A Tax on the income derived from the cultivation of tobacco does not amount in substance and effect to a duty of excise within the ambit of Entry 84 of the Union List but amounts only to a tax on agricultural income within the meaning of Entry 46 of the State List. Hence the levy of an agricultural income-tax on the income derived from the cultivation of tobacco under the Agricultural Income-tax Act, 1950, is not beyond the powers of the State Legislature. AIR 1961 Ker 111 (112) = 1960 Ker LT 820 (DB).

(8) The excise duty cannot be avoided on the ground that the goods were meant for the producer's own consumption. AIR 1957 Cal 326 (331, 332).

(9) The excise duties are to be charged from the manufacturer or producer in respect of the goods manufactured or produced. AIR 1955 Raj 114 (118, 119) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 832 (DB).

(10) Merely because the imposition of excise duty may have the effect of exercising control on a certain trade, that would not take the matter out of the exclusive competence of Parliament. AIR 1955 Raj 114 (118, 119) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 832 (DB).

(11) The excise duty is not a tax on the process of production or manufacture. It is no answer to a demand for excise duty to say that the excisable goods were produced prior to the enactment levying an excise duty. AIR 1952 Nag 139 (142) = ILR (1955) Nag 156 (DB)  AIR 1963 Punj 549 (551) = 65 Pun LR 515 (DB).

(12) If the Legislature has the competence to impose an excise duty that competence can be exercised upon goods at any point of time from the time they are manufactured or produced till the time they are consumed. ILR (1955) Bom 336 (345) (DB).

(13) The words "duties of excise" are wide enough to admit of such a duty being charged from a manufacturer on goods at a stage even after their issue from their place of manufacture. AIR 1956 Pat 131 (132, 133) (DB)  AIR 1955 Raj 114 (120) = ILR (1955) 5 Raj 832 (DB)  AIR 1964 Punj 465 (468) = 66 Pun LR 947  1962 (2) Cri LJ 407 (408) (All).

(14) Parliament has the power to levy excise duty with retrospective effect and where the Parliament has, by a process of legal fiction, related back the levy of duty to the stage of manufacture or production, the duty imposed retains its character of an excise duty. AIR 1957 All 84 (86) (DB)  AIR 1956 Pat 131 (132) (DB)  AIR 1952 Nag 139 (141, 142) = ILR (1952) Nag 156 (DB)  AIR 1962 SC 1006 (1011, 1013 to 1019, 1027, 1028) = 1962 Supp 2 SCR 1.

(15) This entry does not conflict with Entry 52 in List 2 which refers to "taxes on the entry of goods into a local area for consumption, use or sale therein." AIR 1950 SC 11 (14) = 1950 SCR 15  AIR 1942 All 156 (168, 169) = ILR (1942) All 302 = 43 Cri L Jour 674 (2).

(16) Octroi duty on raw materials cannot always be taken to be included in excise duty. AIR 1957 All 159 (172) (DB).

(17) In the case of a sales tax the liability to pay taxes arises on the transaction of a sale, but in the case of an excise tax, the liability arises in respect of the manufacture or production of the commodity taxed. (18) A tax levied on the first sale of goods must in the nature of things be a tax on the sale by the manufacturer or producer; but it is levied upon him qua seller and not qua manufacturer or producer. (19) The tax on transportation of goods provided in Entry 56 of the State List is quite a different kind of impost in its nature from that of excise duty payable by the manufacturer or producer. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (255) (SB).

(20) It is true that under Entry 51 of List II which relates to imposition of excise duty, the power of the State Government to impose excise duty on medicinal and toilet preparations has been taken away; but that does not affect the power of the State Government to charge sales tax on such preparations which is independently given to them under Entry 54. 1961 MPLJ 1397 = (1962) 13 STC 64.

(21) Excise Acts of States imposing duties on medicinal and toilet preparations must be held to be repealed by the Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act 1955 enacted by Parliament under Entry 84, List 1, Schedule 7. AIR 1963 SC 622 (625, 626) = (1963) 3 SCR 957. (22) The Parliament has not the power to make legislation in regard to licences to be taken for the possession and sale of medicinal and toilet preparations containing alcohol. AIR 1962 Mys 192 (195, 196) = 40 Mys LJ 840 (DB).

(24) Levy of excise duties by Union on property of State — Levy not covered by exemption and can be validly imposed. AIR 1963 SC 1760 (1777) = (1964) 3 SCR 787.

(25) A tax can be imposed by the State Legislature on an article of luxury. This is even though "in respect of and in relation to" the same article an excise duty may be imposed by the Central legislature under Entry 84, List 1, Schedule 7. AIR 1966 Ker 46 (51) = 1965 Ker LT 418. (Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act, 1964 does not lack legislative competence.)

(26) Nature of cess imposed under Section 3 (2) of Produce Cess Act (1966) is a tax by way of excise duty and comes under Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 84. AIR 1969 Ker 176 (177, 178) = 1968 Ker LT 665  1969 Ker LR 503 (504) (DB).

2. Goods.— (1) Article 366 (12) defines 'goods' as including all materials, commodities and articles, and coal comes within this definition. AIR 1957 Cal 326 (328).

(2) Levy of sales tax on incorporeal movable property is not ultra vires Article 366 (12). AIR 1969 Mad 234 (291) = (1968) 1 Mad LJ 480 (DB).

3. "Manufactured or produced".— (1) Coal is not said to be manufactured in a colliery as coke is. But it is produced. AIR 1957 Cal 326 (328).

(2) To speak of coal as produced in the sense of its being made a material of consumption by human skill and labour is entirely correct and has a sanction of approved usage. AIR 1959 Cal 222 (226) (DB). (1928 AC 358, Ref.)

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 85 — Note 1

(1) A tax in order to be deemed a corporation tax must be payable by corporations alone. Mere fact that incidence of sales tax falls on corporation does not make tax corporation tax. AIR 1960 Bom 470 (475, 476) = 62 Bom LR 187. (C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act is intra vires State Legislature — Mere fact that incidence of Sales tax falls on corporation does not make tax corporation tax.)

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 1, ENTRY 86 — SYNOPSIS

1. Entry 86, List I and Entry 49, List II.

2. 'Assets' — Meaning of.

3. 'Individual' — Meaning of.

1. Entry 86, List I and Entry 49, List II.— (1) There is a real and vital distinction between tax on lands and buildings on the basis of their capital value (List II, Entry 49) and tax on such capital value itself treating lands and buildings as an item of asset (List I, Entry 86). There is really no conflict and no overlapping of jurisdictions in the case of the two entries. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (113, 114, 115) = 1961 Ker LT 905  ILR (1969) 1 Ker 268  AIR 1968 Guj 124 (140) (DB)  (1967) 11 Law Rep 40 (54) = (1968) 1 Mys LJ 524 (DB)  AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (130, 131) = 30 Cut LT 299 (DB).

(2) Capital means excess of assets over liabilities as understood in accountancy practice. (Obiter.) (1967) 11 Law Rep 40 = (1968) 1 Mys LJ 524 (DB)  AIR 1968 Guj 124 (140) (DB).

(3) Imposition of Wealth-tax on non-agricultural lands and buildings under Wealth Tax Act (1957) is constitutional as it is not directly a tax on land and buildings. AIR 1969 SC 59 (61, 62) = (1968) 2 SCJ 790. (Observation made in AIR 1960 All 136 held were obiter and did not correctly interpret Entry 86 of List 1.)  AIR 1961 All 487 (497, 499, 500) = 1961 All LJ 408 (FB)  AIR 1962 Ker 110 (113, 114, 115) = 1961 Ker LT 905.

[See also AIR 1969 Ker 69 (72) = 1968 Ker LJ 422].

(4) But such a result flows. There is no principle of public finance in support of the view that a tax on the capitalised value of assets can be levied only once. The location of Entry 86 in List I may be a mere accident of draftsmanship and too much importance should not be given to the collocation of the Entries. AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (132) = 30 Cut LT 299 (DB).

(5) Section 4 of the Wealth Tax Act has been enacted in exercise of the ancillary power of preventing evasion. Section is within the legislative competence of Parliament conferred by Entry 86. AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (133) = 30 Cut LT 299 (DB).

(6) Municipalities — M. P. Nagriya Sthavar Sampati Kar Adhiniyam (XIV of 1964) Section 4 levies not a tax on income or on capital value of the assets but tax on lands or buildings. It is therefore one falling under Entry 49 of List II and not under Entry 86, List 1. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 268 (271) = 1967 MPLJ 47 (DB).

(7) Madras Urban Land Tax Act (XXXIV of 1963), is validly enacted by State Legislature as subject falling within Entry 49 in List II in Seventh Schedule in Constitution and does not trench upon Entry 86 in List 1. (1966) 2 Mad LJ 172 = ILR (1966) 2 Mad 604 (DB).

(8) Gujarat Imposition of Taxes by Municipalities (Validation) Act 1963 is intra vires the State Legislature and does not trespass or purport to trespass upon the legislative field delineated by Entry 86. AIR 1968 Guj 124 (140) (DB).

(9) It was held that the Explanation to S. 75 of the Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925) and Rule 350A framed by the Corporation were not ultra vires, as they did not fall within Item 55 of List 1 of the Government of India Act, 1935 (corresponding to the present entry) but under Item 42 of List 2 of the Government of India Act, 1935 (corresponding to Entry 49 of List 2 of the Constitution of India). It was held that the power to adopt the basis of the capital value of certain properties in levying tax could not be said to be excluded from Item 42 of List 2 of the Government of India Act, 1935, that the adoption of this method or basis did not alter the character of the tax and that it still continued to be a tax on land and could not be mistaken to be a tax on capital value of assets. AIR 1954 Bom 188 (191, 192, 193, 195, 202) = ILR (1954) Bom 41 (DB).

(10) Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (VII of 1922), Section 82 (1) (ff) and Sch. 4 — Falls under Item 60 of List II and not under Item 86 of List 1 of Sch. 7. AIR 1962 Pat 465 (467) = 1962 BLJR 515 (DB).

(11) Law enabling Municipalities to levy tax imposed on buildings is covered by Entry 49 of List II and not by Entry 86 of List 1 — Andhra Pradesh Urban Areas Surcharge on Property Tax Act (13 of 1958), Section 3 — Act is validly enacted. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 379 (380) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 267 (DB).

(12) Acts relating to taxation on lands and buildings — Competency of State Legislature to enact — Madras Urban Land Tax Act 12 of 1966, is not beyond competence of State Legislature. AIR 1970 SC 169 (175) = (1969) 2 SCA 26.

2. 'Assets'. — Meaning of — (1) The word 'assets' in Entry 86 List 1 is not qualified by any limiting expression. On the other hand, by excluding agricultural lands only it is made absolutely clear that all other assets would come within the scope of Entry 86. AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (130, 131) = 30 Cut LT 299. (AIR 1960 All 138 Not foll.)  AIR 1968 Guj 124 (140) (DB)  AIR 1963 Mys 111 (111) = 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 365 (DB).

[But see AIR 1960 All 136 (144, 145, 147) = 1959 All LJ 754 (FB). (Observations in this case in this respect held obiter and not correctly interpreting Entry 86, List 1 in AIR 1969 SC 59.)

(2) The expression 'assets' can also include a portion thereof. AIR 1968 Guj 124 (140) (DB)  AIR 1952 Bom 261 (263) = 54 Bom LR 184.

(3) It is open to the Legislature to levy a capital tax under this entry in respect of only some of the assets or assess the tax on a value which is not the total value of the assets, after making certain deductions. AIR 1952 Bom 261 (263) = ILR (1953) Bom 446 (DB).

(4) Land used as an airfield cannot be termed agricultural land though originally it was agricultural land. AIR 1963 Mys 111 (112) = 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 365 (DB).

(5) Test to determine whether it is agricultural or non-agricultural land — Capacity of land for being put to agricultural use is not determining factor — Plots situate in residential Town-planning Scheme area, lying uncultivated for many years, though assessed for agricultural purposes held not agricultural land. AIR 1965 Guj 259 (262) = (1965) 56 ITR 608 (DB).

(6) Words 'Agricultural Land' should be liberally interpreted. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 345 (355) (FB).

3. 'Individuals' — Meaning of. — (1) The expression 'individuals' cannot merely mean individual human beings but is wide enough to comprehend individuals forming a unit. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 355 (357, 358) = (1961) 1 Andh WR 272.

(2) The word 'individual', occurring in Entry 86 of List 1 of the Sch. 7 covers a Hindu undivided family which composes of several individuals. Hence, Section 3 of the Wealth Tax Act authorising the Wealth Tax Officers to assess the capital assets of Hindu undivided families is valid. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 355 (357, 358) = (1961) 1 Andh WR 272 (DB)  AIR 1965 SC 1387 (1392) = (1965) 2 SCR 355  AIR 1964 Orissa 128 (132, 133) = 30 Cut LT 299  AIR 1962 Ker 110 (118, 119) = 1961 Ker LT 905 (DB)  AIR 1960 Bom 191 (192) = 61 Bom LR 1433 (DB).

87. Estate duty in respect of property other than agricultural land.

88. Duties in respect of succession to property other than agricultural land.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 56.]

89. Terminal taxes on goods or passengers, carried by railway, sea or air; taxes on railway fares and freights.

90. Taxes other than stamp duties on transactions in stock exchanges and future markets.

(3) A Mappila Marumakkatayam Tarwad is included in the term 'individual' occurring in S. 3 of Wealth Tax Act (1957) passed by Central Government. AIR 1966 Ker 77 (88) = 1965 Ker LT 1238 (FB).

(4) Income-tax and Excess Profits Tax Amendment Act (22 of 1947) was valid either as a whole if 'individuals and Companies' comprised all the categories of assessee or in any case to the extent that it applied to individuals and companies. AIR 1952 Bom 261 (264, 265) = ILR (1953) Bom 446 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 87 — Note 1

(1) There is a distinction between estate duty and duty in respect of succession. An estate tax is levied on the inheritance as a whole, and a succession duty or share tax is levied on the separate portions going to the different beneficiaries. The Estate Duty is a more productive and efficient source of revenue while Inheritance Tax may be said to be more equitable. AIR 1944 FC 73 (77, 78, 79) = 1944 FCR 317.

(2) Entries 86 & 87 of List 1 do not preclude the State Legislature from taxing capital value of land and buildings under Entry 49 of List II. AIR 1970 SC 169 (175) = (1969) 2 SCA 26.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 88 — Note 1

(1) There is a general presumption that the Legislature does not exceed its jurisdiction. Thus when the Legislative Assembly passed the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, 1937, it must be presumed that the word "Property" used in the Act must have been used as referring to property other than agricultural land, because the power to legislate in respect of succession to agricultural land was vested in the Provincial Legislature and not in the Central Legislature. AIR 1941 FC 72 (75) = 1941 FCR 12 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 148.

(2) Bengal Finance (Sales-tax) Act (VI of 1941) (as amended by Bengal Act XIX of 1954), Section 17 — Validity — Section not a law with respect to Entry 88 of Union List — Falls within purview of Entry 54 of State List — State competent to enact section. AIR 1963 Cal 578 (580) = 67 Cal WN 510 (DB).

(3) Entries 86 to 88 of List 1 do not exclude any power of the State Legislature to implement the principle embodied in Art. 39 (c). AIR 1970 SC 169 (175) = (1969) 2 SCA 26.

(4) For distinction between estate duty and duty on succession, See Notes under Entry 87 of List 1.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 89 — Note 1

(1) The terminal tax must have reference to some activity within the municipal area, i. e., the entry for the purpose of remaining within that area or commencement of journey from that area. AIR 1958 SC 341 (347) = 1958 SCR 1102. (AIR 1947 FC 14, Rel. on; AIR 1950 Nag 169 (FB), Reversed.)

(2) A terminal tax is not leviable by the Municipality on goods which are in transit and are only carried across the limits of the Municipality and are neither loaded nor unloaded within the Municipal area. AIR 1958 SC 341 (347, 349) = 1958 SCR 1102.

(3) While terminal taxes are leviable on goods imported or exported from the municipal limits denoting thereby that they were connected with the traffic of goods, Octroi is leviable in respect of goods brought into a municipal area for consumption or use or sale. AIR 1963 SC 906 (911) = (1963) Supp 2 SCR 216.

(4) Where tax is clearly imposed on goods which enter and leave the municipal limits and the tax has no relation to transport of goods as such, it cannot fall within Entry 52 List II. AIR 1967 Bom 413 (416) = 69 Bom LR 303 (DB).

(5) The tax under Entry 30 of List 1 is entirely different from a tax covered by Entry 86, List 1, Sch. 7. AIR 1967 Bom 413 (416) = 69 Bom LR 303 (DB).

(6) The expression "goods" includes incorporeal movable property. AIR 1969 Mad 284 (285) = (1968) 1 Mad LJ 480 (DB).

(7) Tax levied by Rajasthan Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (18 of 1959), Section 3 is tax on passengers and goods and not on income or on fares and freights — Not ultra vires. AIR 1961 SC 1480 (1484, 1485) = (1962) 1 SCR 517.

91. Rates of stamp duty in respect of bills of exchange, cheques, promissory notes, bills of lading, letters of credit, policies of insurance, transfer of shares, debentures, proxies and receipts.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 57.]

92. Taxes on the sale or purchase of newspapers and on advertisements published therein.

[Cf. Government of India Act, 1935, List II, Item 48.]

^a[92A. Taxes on the sale or purchase of goods other than newspapers, where such sale or purchase takes place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce.]

[Cf. List II, Entry 54.]

[a] Inserted by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, Section 2 (a), [11-9-1956].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

See under Article 269.

93. Offences against laws with respect to any of the matters in this List.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 91 — Note 1

(1) The States have exclusive power to make laws in respect of rates of stamp duty on matters other than those enumerated in Entry 91 of List 1. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (65) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 467 (SB).

(2) Parliament has no power to make laws with respect to rates of stamp duty payable on an application for enrolment as an advocate which is not one of the matters enumerated in List 1, Entry 91. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (65) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 467 (SB)  AIR 1966 Mys 138 (140) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 119 (DB).

(3) Rajasthan Stamp Law (Adaptation) Act (VII of 1952), S. 6—Second proviso is not hit by Art. 14. AIR 1961 Raj 181 (181) = 1960 Raj LW 647.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 92-A — Note 1

(1) "Inter-State trade or commerce" is not confined to mean trade or commerce between the States as such between a seller-State and purchaser-State. It is inter-State trade where goods sold or purchased move from one State to another, though the trade is very often between individuals, firms, companies or corporations. AIR 1963 Cal 442 (450).

(2) The sale of a thing "in the course of inter-State Trade or Commerce" and the intra-State sale of a thing which is of special importance to inter-State Trade or Commerce are not identical transactions. AIR 1965 Cal 498 (505).

(3) The States retained their power to tax intra-State sales under Entry 54 of List II even after the introduction of Entry 92-A of List 1. AIR 1965 Cal 498 (505).

(4) Sales effected between 11th September 1956 and 4th January 1957 in which goods moved from outside into Mysore State were inter-State sales understood in its ordinary natural sense unaided by any other statutory provision — State of Mysore had no power to tax such sales in view of Art. 269 (1) (g) read with Sch. VII, List 1, Item 92-A and List II, Item 54. AIR 1967 SC 585 (587) = (1963) 14 STC 416.

(5) The expression "goods" includes incorporeal movable property. AIR 1969 Mad 284 (285) = (1968) 1 Mad LJ 480.

(6) The sale of animate things will not fall within Entry 54 of List 2 or Entry 92-A of List 1. It would therefore fall within Entry 97 of List 1 and tax on such sales would be within the competence of Parliament. AIR 1960 Ker 360 (360) = 1960 Ker LT 538.

(7) Taxing authorities have power to select commodities for taxation — Discrimination to be shown before the act can be struck down. 1968 All LJ 802.

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 93 — Note 1

(1) Parliament had full competence, by virtue of this entry to legislate with regard to election offences in the manner provided by S. 131 (1) (b) and S. 136 (1) of the Representation of the People Act 1951. AIR 1954 Pat 356 (357) = 1954 Cri LJ 1132.

(2) Legislation in respect of insurance and creation of new offences in respect of insurances comes exclusively within Parliament's legislative jurisdiction. AIR 1944 FC 25 (28) = 1944 FCR 143 = 46 Cri LJ 332.

(3) Under the provisions of S. 10 (2) of Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act (1956) a person is detained in lieu of a term of imprisonment or imposition of fine. The Parliament can legislate in respect of this matter both under Art. 35 (i) and (ii) and also under Entry 93. AIR 1959 All 57 (66) = 1959 All WR (HC) 509. [Overruled on another point in AIR 1964 SC 416.]

94. Inquiries, surveys and statistics for the purpose of any of the matters in this List.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 43.]

95. Jurisdiction and powers of all courts, except the Supreme Court, with respect to any of the matters in this List; admiralty jurisdiction.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Items 21, 53.]

96. Fees in respect of any of the matters in this List, but not including fees taken in any Court.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 59.]

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 94 — Note 1

(1) The words 'for the purpose of' indicate that the scope of the inquiry is not necessarily limited to the particular or specific matters enumerated in any of the entries in the list concerned but may extend to inquiries into collateral matters. AIR 1958 SC 538 (544, 545). (59 Bom LR 769, Reversed.)

(2) Corruption charges against an officer of All India Service allotted to the State of J & K have to be enquired into under the All India Services Act and not under the J & K Government Servants' Prevention of Corruption (Commission) Act since the former covers all the aspects of the officers of All India Services. AIR 1967 J & K 37 (42) = 1967 Kash LJ 197 (FB).

Schedule 7, List 1, Entry 95 — Note 1

(1) The effect of Entry 65 of List 2 and Entry 95 of List 1 is that while legislating with regard to the matters in their respective legislative lists, the two Legislatures are competent also to make provisions in the several Acts enacted by them, concerning the jurisdiction and powers of Courts in regard to the subject-matter of the Acts. AIR 1951 SC 69 (70, 71) = 1951 SCR 51.

[See also AIR 1961 Ker 226 (229) = 1961 Ker LT 275 (FB).]

(2) Entry 95, List 1 only enables jurisdiction and power to be given in respect of matters enumerated in List 1. AIR 1957 Cal 534 (543) = 61 Cal WN 630.

(3) Section 45-B of the Banking Companies Act, 1949, inserted by Act 52 of 1953, is within the plenary powers of Parliament under Art. 246 of the Constitution read with Entries 43 and 95 of List 1. AIR 1958 Mad 279 (280) = ILR (1958) Mad 502.

(4) Sections 45-A and 45-B were inserted in Banking Companies Act by the Amending Act 1950. The Legislature did not purport to legislate in regard to the subject covered by item 18 of List II. The Court deciding the claim of banking company may only incidentally have to decide other matters. This is why the phrase "with respect to" has been used in Entry 95 of List 1 and Entry 65 of List II. AIR 1958 Mad 403 (410) = 71 Mad LW 291.

(5) The word "powers" was added to the word "jurisdiction" in this entry and the corresponding entries in the other two lists in order to enable the Legislature to grant special powers to the Courts which are to deal with the subject-matter of any special legislation. AIR 1951 SC 69 (71) = 1951 SCR 51.

(6) A scrutiny of Entry 95 of List 1 and Entry 46 of List III would clearly show that the power to legislate conferred on the concerned legislatures is only in relation to the subjects which are assigned to the respective legislatures in those lists. These entries do not in any way derogate from the general powers given to the State Legislatures under Item 3 of List II. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 (DB).

(7) The 95th entry does authorise legislation on jurisdiction and powers of Courts with respect to the constitution and organisation including vacations of the High Courts. Whatever else may be a law which Parliament may make in respect to that matter under the 95th entry, it is clear that within the field of that entry, there can be no power in Parliament to make a legislation on the jurisdiction which a High Court may exercise after its constitution and organisation for the administration of justice. AIR 1965 Mys 76 (82, 83) = (1965) 1 Mys LJ 158 (DB).

(8) Money claim based on promissory note — Nyaya Panchayat has jurisdiction to try such a claim. 1968 All LJ 236 = 1968 All WR (HC) 211 (DB).

(4) The entries in List 3 of Schedule VII are to be given a broad and liberal interpretation and each item regarded as including ancillary matters. (16) Even if it be held that Sections 2 (6-A) (e) and 12-B of Income Tax Act (1922) as amended by Finance Act (1955) impose tax not on the income but on loan and thus outside the ambit of Entry 82, List I the legislative authority could be derived therefor under Entry 97, List I. AIR 1961 Mad 146 (151) = (1961) 1 Mad LJ 93 (DB).

(17) It is obvious that Entry 97 in List I, Schedule 7 among other things includes tax not mentioned in either List II or III and the Parliament has not otherwise enacted. Therefore the Travancore Cochin State can claim the benefit of Articles 372 and 277 of Constitution and continue the tax imposed under Travancore Cochin General Tax Act. AIR 1964 SC 207 (217) = (1964) 4 SCR 280. (AIR 1962 Ker 72 (FB), Reversed.)

(2) The Constitution recognises a clear distinction between a tax and a fee. In the lists I and II entries conferring taxation powers are separately enumerated after entries conferring general legislative powers. A fee may be levied even under an enactment relating to imposition of tax. AIR 1965 SC 1107 (1122, 1123) = (1965) 2 SCR 477.

(3) State Legislature is competent to enact law under the various provisions of the list. AIR 1967 SC 1512 (1519) = (1967) 1 SCR 548.

(4) The object of setting out various items and assigning them to separate lists is to make division of power as clear cut and as exhaustive as possible, though overlapping in the same list between various items and overlapping between items in different lists was inevitable to some extent. ILR (1965) Bom 899 (909), 910 = 67 Bom LR 484 (DB).

(5) Constitution makes a clear division of authority between the Centre and the States and each one is supreme in its own sphere. The question of repugnancy can arise only in respect of list III. 1968 Cri LJ 557 (559) (Cal) (DB).

(6) Article 246 has nothing to do with question of interpretation of the Union or State Entries. AIR 1968 Guj 124 (139) (DB).

(7) Entries in the Legislative Lists in Schedule VII should be given the widest scope of which their meaning is fairly capable and each general word should accordingly be held to extend to all

(NOTE.—Unless mentioned otherwise, the item numbers under this heading refer to the item numbers of List 2 of Schedule VII of the Government of India Act, 1935.)

(8) Within its own sphere the powers of State Legislatures are as large and as complete as they are in a sovereign Parliament. So, a State Legislature can exercise that power as many times as it may consider necessary and can pass successive enactments by way of repeal, amendment of former enactments. (1967) 33 Cut LT 263 (319) = 9 Orissa JD 41 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 1 — Note 1

(1) The expression 'public order' in this entry is an expression of wide connotation and signifies that state of tranquillity prevailing among the members of a political society as a result of the internal regulations enforced by the Government which they have instituted. AIR 1950 SC 124 (127) = 1950 SCR 594 = 51 Cri LJ 1514  AIR 1955 All 193 (219) = ILR (1955) 1 All 355 = 1955 Cri LJ 623 (DB).

(2) Maintenance of public order within a State is primarily the concern of that State and subject to certain exceptions the State Legislature is given plenary power to legislate on all matters which relate to or are necessary for maintenance of public order. AIR 1950 FC 59 (63) = 1949 FCR 693 = ILR 29 Pat 185 = 51 Cri LJ 921.

(3) 'Public order' includes public safety in its relation to maintenance of public order, both of them being interdependent. AIR 1943 FC 75 (83) = 1944 FCR 1 = ILR (1943) Kar (FC) 103 = 45 Cri LJ 341  AIR 1949 Pat 369 (375) = ILR 28 Pat 476 = 50 Cri LJ 730 (FB)  AIR 1953 Trav-Co 540 (540, 541) = 1953 Cri LJ 1786.

(4) Any law imposing reasonable restrictions on the Fundamental Right granted under Article 19 (1) (a) to (c) of the Constitution, in the interest of public order is expressly saved and such law cannot be said to be void on ground of violation of Fundamental Rights. AIR 1955 All 193 (217) = ILR (1955) 1 All 355 = 1955 Cri LJ 623 (DB).

(5) Section 3, U. P. Special Powers Act, 1932, is inconsistent with Article 19 (1) (a) of the Constitution and the restrictions imposed by it were not in the interest of public order. AIR 1952 All 193 (223) = ILR (1955) 1 All 355 = 1955 Cri LJ 623 (DB).

(6) If a law made by the State Legislature falls in pith and substance under this entry, it cannot be declared ultra vires merely because it incidentally trenches upon a subject assigned to the Union Parliament under List 1 of the Constitution. AIR 1948 Nag 199 (203) = ILR (1947) Nag 579 = 49 Cri LJ 230 (DB).

(7) If a law made by the Parliament falls in pith and substance under one of the subjects enumerated in the Union List it cannot be declared invalid merely because there is an incidental encroachment on the subject of public order under this Entry. AIR 1957 Pat 252 (255) = ILR 34 Pat 855 = 1957 Cri LJ 648 (DB).

(8) Parliament has power to legislate with respect to election offences by virtue of Article 327 read with Entries 72 and 93 in List I, even though such offences may relate to 'public order'. AIR 1954 Pat 356 (357) = 1954 Cri LJ 1132.

(9) The Bombay District Police Act deals with the question of public order. An order of externment passed under Section 46 (3) of the Act is not void under Art. 13 as it does not place an unreasonable restriction on the fundamental right under Article 19 (1) (d) and (e) of the Constitution. AIR 1950 Bom 374 (375) = ILR (1950) Bom 564 = 52 Cri LJ 1059 (FB).

(10) Section 9, Punjab Security of the State Act deals primarily with the question of public order and not with the question of contempt. The entire provisions of Section 9 fall within the ambit of Item 1 of List II and therefore there is nothing repugnant in this section to the Contempt of Courts Act, 1952. AIR 1956 Punj 169 (170, 171) = ILR (1956) Punj 1146 = 1956 Cri LJ 1015 (DB).

(11) Ajmer (Sound Amplifiers Control) Act (III of 1953), Section 2 is within the powers of Entry 6 and also conceivably within Entry 1 of the State List. AIR 1959 SC 544 (547) = 1959 Cri LJ 660 = (1959) Supp 1 SCR 904.

(12) The object of preventing the occurrence of fire and preventing of consequent danger to life and property evidently falls within entry No. I of List II. ILR (1965) Bom 899 (918) = 67 Bom LR 484 (DB).

are specifically State subjects under List II yet, Police Act (1861) being an existing law within Article 372 still continues in force and any action taken by the Parliament or the Central Government under the Act will not be ultra vires. AIR 1958 Cal 365 (372).

(14) An insult to national honour like the kind mentioned in Section 5 of Madras Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act (14 of 1957) falls under "Public order" and hence State Government was competent to enact the statute under Entry 1 List II. AIR 1965 Mad 11 (13) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 49 = (1964) 2 Mad LJ 530 (DB).

(15) Appointment of a Committee to inquire and investigate into the activities of Christian Missionaries was within the competence of State Government and falls within Entry 1 of List II. 1957 MPLJ (Nag) 1 (18) (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 2 — Note 1

(1) The word "police" in its general sense connotes the department of the Government or the civil force charged with duty to maintain internal peace and order. AIR 1955 All 370 (372) = 1955 Cri LJ 901.

(2) Under this entry it is within the powers of the State Legislature to legislate with regard to police including its strength, its manner of recruitment and other incidental matters. AIR 1955 All 370 (372) = 1955 Cri LJ 901.

(3) The fact that 'police' is exclusively a State subject under this entry does not affect the Police Act of 1861, which as a 'law in force' has been saved by Article 372 (1). AIR 1957 Raj 28 (29) = ILR (1956) 6 Raj 636 (DB)  AIR 1958 Cal 365 (372).

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 3 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. Court.

3. Fees taken in Courts.

1. Scope.— (1) Administration of justice is a subject on which only the State Legislature can legislate. AIR 1951 SC 69 (70) = 1951 SCR 51.

(2) "Administration of justice" is a conception of the most general nature. The following words, "constitution and organisation of all Courts, except the Supreme Court and the High Court" are not words of limitation but of explanation or illustration. AIR 1954 Pat 97 (99) (DB).

(3) The entry includes "administration of justice" and "constitution and organisation" of Courts but does not include their jurisdiction and powers. But, it has been held that the language of these expressions is of the widest amplitude and would include within its ambit legislative power in respect to jurisdiction and powers of Courts for the purpose of administration of justice and that this general power conferred by Entry 3 is not curtailed or limited by Entries 95, 65 and 46. AIR 1951 SC 69 (82, 85) = 1951 SCR 51  AIR 1949 Bom 197 (202) = ILR (1950) Bom 260 (DB).

(4) Since a State Legislature is competent under this entry to confer by legislation general jurisdiction and powers upon a Court, the mere fact that, while doing so, there is an incidental encroachment upon any Central subject will not make the law invalid. AIR 1951 SC 69 (85) = 1951 SCR 51  AIR 1957 Cal 534 (545)  AIR 1949 Bom 197 (202) = ILR (1950) Bom 260 (DB).

(5) The expression "administration of justice" includes the power to try suits and proceedings of a criminal nature, as also the power of defining, enlarging, altering, amending and diminishing the jurisdiction of the Courts and defining their jurisdiction territorially and pecuniarily. AIR 1951 SC 69 (70) = 1951 SCR 51. (Per Fazl Ali J.)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 (DB).

(6) Bombay City Civil Courts Act (40 of 1948) and the Calcutta City Civil Courts Act (21 of 1953) are intra vires of the Provincial Legislatures. AIR 1951 SC 69 (85) = 1951 SCR 51  AIR 1949 Bom 197 (202) = ILR (1950) Bom 260 (DB)  AIR 1957 Cal 534 (543).

(7) Section 22 of the Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (17 of 1950), the amendment of Section 15 of the Mysore High Court Act by Act 35 of 1951, and the Travancore Cochin High Court (Amendment) Act (1 of 1952) are intra vires as they fell under this entry. AIR 1954 Raj 252 (256) = ILR (1954) 4 Raj 958 (DB)  AIR 1952 Mys 75 (76) = ILR (1952) Mys 279  AIR 1953 Trav-Co 53 (54, 55) = ILR (1952) Trav-Co 605 (DB).

(8) Though the expression "administration of justice" is capable being understood in a very wide sense, it should not be understood as including a provision for appeal and that every case of conferment of a right of appeal would not amount to the "constitution and organisation of Courts". AIR 1949 Mad 481 (487) = ILR (1949) Mad 739 = 50 Cri LJ 684 (FB).

(9) The validity of the Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953) cannot be challenged on the ground that it has sanctioned the appointment of an elective judiciary, because the State Legislature has power under entries 3 and 5 of List 2 to pass such legislation. AIR 1957 Punj 149 (150) = ILR (1957) Punj 334 = 1957 Cri LJ 796 (DB).

(10) The expression "administration of justice" is wide enough to include in it not merely "administration of justice" through Courts properly so called, but "administrative justice" through the machinery of administrative tribunals. AIR 1954 Pat 97 (99) (DB).

(11) The legislature had powers under this entry to make a provision like Section 37 of Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (11 of 1952). AIR 1960 SC 796 (800) = (1960) 3 SCR 106.

(12) The enlargement of the pecuniary jurisdiction of a Civil Court comes within the purview of the expression "administration of justice Courts" in Entry 3. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 (DB).

(13) Entry 95 List I and Entry 46 List III do not in any manner derogate from the general powers given to the State Legislature under Entry 3. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 (DB).

(14) The Parliament has no power to legislate with respect to vacation which matter falls under Entry 3. The power to regulate sittings includes the power to regulate the recess of the sittings, or the termination of the sittings. This power is exclusively with State Legislature under Entry 3. AIR 1961 Cal 545 (549, 553) = 65 Cal WN 920 (SB).

(15) Bengal Public Demands Recovery (Validation of Certificates and Notices) Act (11 of 1961) falls under Entries 3 and 45 of State List — Does not fall under Entry 43 of Concurrent list. AIR 1964 Cal 165 (172) = 1962 Cal LJ 210 (DB).

(16) Kerala State Legislature was fully competent to pass Kerala High Court Act (5 of 1959) by virtue of powers under Articles 225, 246 (3) read with Sch. VII, List II, Entry 3 and hence the Act is valid. AIR 1961 Ker 96 (97) = 1960 Ker LT 1091 (FB).

(17) So far as the High Courts are concerned, the topic of jurisdiction and powers in general is not separately mentioned in any of the entries. But administration of justice as a distinct topic, finds a place in Entry 3 of List 2, even though this Entry excludes constitution and organisation of the High Court. The enactment of a law to regulate the practice and procedure in the High Court will fall within the residual power of the State Legislature. Provisions regulating the exercise of the jurisdiction of the High Court and the powers of the Judges thereof either sitting alone or in Division Courts have a direct bearing on the administration of justice. It will be within the competence of the State Legislature to enact a law governing those matters. AIR 1961 Ker 226 (230, 231, 232) = 1961 Ker LT 275 (FB).

(18) Where a surety bond entered into by a surety was not in accordance with form No. 42, Sch. V of Criminal P. C. as applied to Part B State and was to be forfeited, the bond could not be held to be void, as administration of justice was a subject of Entry 3 of List II and it was competent for the State Government to recover fine also. AIR 1954 Madh B 142 (143) = 1954 Cri LJ 1205 = Madh BLJ 1954 HCR 61.

(19) Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1955) was within the legislative competence of the State Legislature in view of Entry 3. AIR 1959 Mad 261 (268) = 1959 Cri LJ 731 = (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123 (DB).

(20) Provisions of Sections 19 and 29 (2) (c) of Mysore Civil Courts Act (21 of 1964) are within the legislative competence of the State Legislature by virtue of Entry 3, List II. AIR 1965 Mys 76 (82) (DB).

(21) Rajasthan Civil Courts Laws (Extension) Act (2 of 1957) falls under List 2, Item 3 of Sch. 7 and not under List 3, Item 13 and does not conflict with Ajmer Courts Regulation (9 of 1926) — It is intra vires. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1678 (DB).

(22) Section 12 (4) of Saurashtra Rent Control Act (22 of 1951) imposes upon tenants the obligation to deposit in Court such amount as may appear to the Court to be reasonably due as arrears and continue to pay future rent. The pith and substance of the Act is listed as Item 3 in State List. AIR 1956 Sau 58 (62) = 9 Sau LR 199 (DB).

(23) It is open to a State Legislature to define a "foreign judgment" and how it is to be enforced within its State subject to any legislation by the Parliament. AIR 1959 Punj 265 (269) = 61 Pun LR 418 (FB).

from the sovereign power. AIR 1950 SC 188 (195) = 1950 SCR 459  AIR 1956 Orissa 7 (10) = ILR (1955) Cut 529 (DB).

(3) The Constitution distinguishes between Courts and tribunals, and it is clear that in Entry 3, the word "Courts" cannot include all tribunals. AIR 1956 All 258 (265) = ILR (1956) 1 All 656 = 1956 Cri LJ 679 (DB).

(4) The test to determine whether a tribunal is a Court is whether it exercises sovereign judicial power of the State and whether it is a place where justice is judicially administered. AIR 1956 Orissa 7 (10, 11) = ILR (1955) Cut 529 (DB).

(5) There is power in the State Legislature under Entry 3 of List II to constitute the Sessions Court of Madras and to invest it with a part of the jurisdiction then existing in Original or Appellate side of the High Court. AIR 1959 Mad 261 (268) = 1959 Cri LJ 731 = (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123.

3. Fees taken in courts. — (1) The Mysore Legislature was fully competent under this entry to pass the Mysore Court Fees (Amendment) Act (9 of 1954). AIR 1954 Mys 161 (162) = ILR (1954) Mys 255 (DB).

(2) Andhra Legislature having power under this entry to enact the Andhra Court-fees and Suits Valuation Act (7 of 1956), the provision in that Act prescribing court-fee payable on a writ petition should prevail over the rule made by the High Court for the same purpose. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 123 (126) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 229 (DB).

(3) The Assistant Collector or the Revenue Commissioner exercising powers under the Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947) is not a judicial tribunal functioning as a court, therefore, the State Legislature has no power under this entry to levy court-fees on petitions filed before him. AIR 1956 Orissa 7 (11) = ILR (1955) Cut 529 (DB).

(4) The levy imposed by the provisions of Section 4 and Sch. II, Article 1 (e) of Court-fee Act (1870) as amended by U. P. Act (10 of 1959) is a fee and not a tax and comes within the purview of Entry 3. AIR 1960 All 462 (463) = 1960 All LJ 170 (FB).

(5) The power has been specifically conferred on State Legislature by Entry 3, to make law in regard to fees taken in all Courts except Supreme Court. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 271 (272) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 85 (DB).

(6) The Assam Sales-Tax Act was enacted under List II, Entry 48. So, no rule enacted under Section 52 (1) of the Act derives its legislative competence from Entry 3 of List II. AIR 1959 Assam 216 (220) = (1960) 11 STC 125 (DB).

(7) In order to avoid confusion and in order to avoid provision being made for fees taken in Court at two places — One specifically under Entry 3 and the other generally under Entry 66 — Fees taken in Court are specifically excepted from the general entry under Entry 66. AIR 1960 Bom 96 (99) = 61 Bom LR 996.

(8) Levy imposed under Bombay Court-Fees Act (36 of 1959), Sch. 1, Article 16 is neither tax nor fee in the strict sense — It is within legislative competence of the State under Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 3. AIR 1962 Bom 106 (113) = 63 Bom LR 834 (DB).

(9) Article 1 of Sch. 1 of the Madras Court-fees and Suits Valuation Act of 1955 and Rule 1 of Order 2 of the High Court Fees Rules, 1956, in so far as they set out for the levy of Court-fees in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, are invalid and ultra vires as an impost in excess of the powers conferred on the State Legislature by Entry 3 of List II of the 7th Schedule to the Constitution of India. (1968) 1 Mad LJ 37 = 81 Mad LW 110 (DB). (AIR 1960 All 462 (FB) and AIR 1962 Bom 106, Dissented.)

(1) The entry is very wide in its terms and legislation is permissible to the State Legislature with regard to any subject of local Government. AIR 1955 Bom 185 (187) (DB)  AIR 1966 Bom 15 (18) = 67 Bom LR 286 (DB)  AIR 1962 Manipur 28 (30).

(2) The mere fact that the Constitution has not provided for any reservation for women in Parliament or in State Legislatures cannot be used as an argument against competency of the State Legislature to make provision for reservation of seats for women in local bodies. AIR 1953 Bom 311 (312, 313) = ILR (1953) Bom 842 (DB).

(3) State Legislature has no power to confer upon a local authority the power-to tax, which power it itself does not possess. AIR 1955 Bom 185 (187) (DB).

(4) The fact that the State Legislature has authorised a local body to levy a tax within its power does not prevent the State Government from levying again a tax on the same subject-matter. AIR 1954 Bom 261 (265) = ILR (1954) Bom 647 (DB).

(5) The State Legislature is competent to confer upon the local authority the power to tax and its competency cannot be affected because the power that has been conferred is an unlimited power. AIR 1955 Bom 185 (187) (DB).

(6) The pith and substance of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is industrial and labour disputes. The enactment trespasses upon or invades this entry so far as it applies to disputes between a municipality and its employees. But, the Act is not ultra vires the Central Legislature because it invades to a slight extent upon an entry in the State List. AIR 1950 Cal 457 (462) (DB).

(7) In enacting the U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (26 of 1947) constituting Panchayat Adalats, defining their powers, laying down the procedure and regulating the rules of evidence, the U. P. Legislature purported to act under the relevant entries of the Concurrent List. AIR 1954 All 655 (657) = 1954 Cri LJ 1399 (DB).

(8) The power conferred by this entry on the State Legislature necessarily carries with it all ancillary and incidental powers. The Rules framed by the State Government under Section 112 (2) (1) of the Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), constituting the Election Commissioner to hear the election disputes are, therefore, intra vires and valid. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 393 (400, 403)  1955 Andh WR 754 = 1955 Andh LT 532.

(9) The State Legislature cannot authorise a Municipal body, a power higher than it itself possesses. Entry 5, List II cannot be understood in the light of Legislative practice and Legislative practice cannot prevail over limitation imposed upon the Legislature. AIR 1965 SC 1107 (1135, 1136) = (1965) 2 SCR 477.

(10) From a conjoint reading of Entries 5, 17 and 66 of List II it could be clear that U. P. State Legislature is competent, after coming into force of the Constitution, to enact a law with respect to fees in relation to water supply by a Municipality to its inhabitants. AIR 1961 All 583 (584) = 1961 All LJ 386.

(11-12) The contention cannot be accepted which in effect urges that since the word "constitution" in Entry 5, List 2 of Sch. 7 of the Constitution includes dissolution, the power of dissolution is a legislative function and incidental to the power to constitute, a similar construction should be given to that word in Section 3 (1) of the Andhra Pradesh Panchayat Samithis and Zilla Parishads Act, 1959, as to confer a power on the Government to abolish Panchayat Samithis. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 40 (48) = (1965) 1 Andh WR 317 (DB).

(13) State Legislature can confer on a local body power to tax "Land" under Entry 5. The Legislature has this power under Entry 49. AIR 1959 Assam 221 (227) (SB).

(14) Entry 5, List II does not stand in conflict with Entry 53 in List I. (1965) 67 Bom LR 484 = ILR (1965) Bom 899 (DB).

(15) State Legislature is competent under Entry 5 to enact Ch. 14 of Maharashtra Zilla Parishads and Panchayat Samitis Act (5 of 1962). AIR 1967 Bom 482 (503) = 1968 Lab IC 368 = 69 Bom LR 218 (DB).

(16) Under Entry 5 the delegation to a Municipality or local body of a power to impose or levy a tax enumerated in List II for purposes of local self-government is permitted. AIR 1959 Cal 704 (734) (DB).

(17) The term "local authority" in Article 12 is to be understood as referring to the authorities mentioned in Entry 5 of List II. AIR 1962 Cal 10 (11) = 65 Cal WN 1172.

(18) Licence fee on purchasers of entrails and offals at slaughter house — No provision in Act or Bye-laws authorising its imposition — Corporation is statutory body and its powers to realise fees, charges and taxes have been defined and created by statute and unless there is clear provision in statute or in Bye-laws framed thereunder imposition of fee is unlawful. AIR 1967 Cal 174 (178).

(19) Under Entry 5, it is permissible for the State Legislature to create Janpad Sabhas, Municipalities and to authorise them to levy taxes which the Legislature could levy. AIR 1963 Madh Pra 74 (84) = 1963 MPLJ 92 (FB).

(20) The word "powers" used in Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 5 of the Constitution, which is unqualified, includes the powers of making laws and imposing taxes. When the Constitution enabled the Legislature of a State to make laws about the constitution and "powers" of local authorities for the purpose of local self-Government, it authorised the Legislature to confer on the local authorities, by such laws made for that purpose, limited powers of making laws and imposing taxes. AIR 1963 Madh Pra 74 (81, 82, 85) = 1963 MPLJ 92 (FB).

(21) It is not necessary to read Entry 5 in conjunction with Entry 49 of List 2 to interpret Entry 49. (1966) 2 Mad LJ 172 = ILR (1966) 2 Mad 604 (DB).

(22) Though the law enacted under Section 262-A of Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920) and justified as coming within the purview of Entry 5, List II, any provision therein delegating

6. Public health and sanitation; hospitals and dispensaries.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 14].

7. Pilgrimages, other than pilgrimages to places outside India.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 15].

8. Intoxicating liquors, that is to say, the production, manufacture, possession, transport, purchase and sale of intoxicating liquors.

[Compare List I Entry 84 — Government of India Act, 1935, Item 31].

to a local body the authority to levy a tax or a licence-fee must be related to one or the other of the topics in List II. AIR 1966 Mad 20 (21) = (1965) 2 Mad LJ 223 (DB).

(23) The Bombay Village Panchayats Act (6 of 1933) falls under List 2, Entry 5 of Sch. 7. AIR 1961 Mys 257 (259) = 1961 (2) Cri LJ 789 = 39 Mys LJ 638 (DB).

(24) Under Entry 5, the State Legislature can provide for other disqualifications other than those provided in Representation of the People Act (1950) subject to the provision of the Constitution. AIR 1968 Mys 198 (200) = 10 Law Rep 653.

(25) Validity of Sections 388 to 390 of Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), need not be tested for its validity with reference to Entry 5, as the Act has continued as a valid law. AIR 1954 Pat 346 (DB).

(26) The true nature and character of the Minimum Wages Act (1948) in making provision for minimum wages and machinery for the payment of the same is to bring that statute strictly and squarely within the ambit and scope of Entry 27, List III (Entry 24, List III, Sch. VII Constitution of India) only and merely because in one respect it shades into the field of Entry 13, List II (Entry 5, List II Sch. VII of Constitution) it cannot be held unconstitutional. (1963-64) 24 FJR 194 (197) (DB) (Punj).

(27) Entry 3 and Entry 5 of List 2 confer ample power on State Legislature to provide for administration of justice and constitution of local authorities. The mere fact that Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953) does not lay down the criteria for determining the qualification of the Panchas it would not contravene the Constitution. AIR 1957 Punj 149 (151) = 1957 Cri LJ 796 = 59 Pun LR 49.

(28) By virtue of Entry 5 read with Entry 11 of List II, the Punjab Legislature has power to pass laws in respect of taking over management and control of aided schools run by Local Authorities. AIR 1966 Punj 232 (238) = ILR (1966) 2 Punj 241 (DB).

(29) The definition of the term "the State" in Article 12 read with Entry 5 of List II clearly shows that Gram Panchayats also are included in the expression "the State". AIR 1966 Raj 125 (127) = 1966 Cri LJ 584.

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 6 — Note 1

(1) Ajmer (Sound Amplifiers Control) Act (3 of 1953) is within Entry 6. AIR 1959 SC 544 (547) = 1959 Cri LJ 660 = (1959) Supp (1) SCR 904.

(2) Entry 6, List II is not in conflict with Entry 53 in List I of Sch. VII. (1965) 67 Bom LR 484 (497) = ILR (1965) Bom 899 (DB).

(3) West Bengal Fire Services Act (18 of 1950) is not repugnant to provisions of Petroleum Act, 1934 — The Fire Services Act certainly comes within Entry 6 of List II, while the Petroleum Act falls under Entry 53 of List I. AIR 1960 Cal 219 (225).

(4) West Bengal Cattle Licensing Act (1 of 1959) and Rules framed thereunder in 1960 were framed with the object to improve public health, and were within powers under Entry 6. Neither the Act nor the Rules violate Art. 301 of Constitution. AIR 1964 Cal 409 (415) = 68 Cal WN 669.

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 8 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. "Intoxicating liquors."

3. This Entry and Entry 41 of List I.

4. Duties on intoxicating liquors.

1. Scope. — (1) The power to legislate with respect to intoxicating liquors is expressed in wide terms and includes the power to prohibit intoxicating liquors throughout the State or in any specified part of the State. AIR 1951 SC 318 (321) = 1951 SCR 682 = 52 Cri LJ 1361  AIR 1942 FC 17 (19) = 1942 FCR 17 = ILR 21 Pat 587 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 21 = 43 Cri LJ 481  AIR 1950 Bom 221 (223) = ILR (1950) Bom 290 = 51 Cri LJ 1207 (DB)  AIR 1951 Nag 58 (73) = ILR (1951) Nag 646 = 52 Cri LJ 1140 (FB).

(2) The words "that is to say, the production, manufacture, possession, transport, purchase and sale of intoxicating liquors" explain or illustrate and do not amplify or limit the words "intoxicating liquors" immediately preceding them and cover the whole field of possible legislation on the subject. AIR 1942 FC 17 (20) = 1942 FCR 17 = ILR

21 Pat 587 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 21 = 43 Cri LJ 481.

(3) Provisions of Section 129-A Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949) are only ancillary to the legislative power of the State Legislature to make a law relating to matter under Entry 8. The ancillary provisions cannot be considered separately from the enactment and fall under the same head of Legislation. AIR 1964 Bom 253 (258) = 1964 (2) Cri LJ 523 = 66 Bom LR 230.

(4) Power to tax cannot be deduced as ancillary power from legislative entries. AIR 1969 Mys 23 (35) = (1968) 2 Mys LJ 78 (DB).

2. "Intoxicating liquors." — (1) The words "intoxicating liquors" cover not only those alcoholic liquids which are generally used for beverage purposes and produce intoxication, but also all liquids containing alcohol. AIR 1951 SC 318 (325) = 1951 SCR 682 = 52 Cri LJ 1361  AIR 1951 Nag 58 (73) = ILR (1951) Nag 646 = 52 Cri LJ 1140 (FB)  AIR 1956 Bom 304 (309) (DB)  AIR 1954 Mad 643 (645) (DB).

(2) The definition of liquor in Section 2 (24) of the Bombay Prohibition Act (29 of 1949) and in Section 3 (14) of the Punjab Excise Act (1 of 1914) does not contravene the provisions of the Constitution. AIR 1951 SC 318 (325) = 1951 SCR 682 = 52 Cri LJ 1361. (AIR 1951 Bom 210 (FB), Reversed.)  AIR 1953 Punj 77 (78) = ILR (1953) Punj 618 = 1953 Cri LJ 549 (DB).

(3) The State Legislature is competent to make a law with respect to liquor even as broadly defined. AIR 1951 SC 318 (329) = 1951 SCR 682 = 52 Cri LJ 1361  AIR 1954 Mad 643 (645) (DB).

(4) The regulation in respect of liquors, other than consumable liquors, cannot exceed the legitimate purpose of assuring that non-beverages would not be consumed to produce intoxication but would be used in legitimate manner. AIR 1951 Nag 58 (73) = ILR (1951) Nag 646 = 52 Cri LJ 1140 (FB).

(5) The scheme of regulation introduced by the amended Bombay Prohibition Act, 1949, in so far as it relates to medicinal and toilet preparations which are fit for the use as intoxicating liquors is reasonable and it is reasonable in regard to preparations which are unfit for such use, with the result that the whole of that scheme is reasonable; and since it is reasonable, it leads to the further consequence that Sections 12 (c) and (d) and 13 (b) of the Act which were declared to be void in the unamended Act by the Supreme Court in AIR 1951 SC 318 are valid qua such preparations in the amended Act. AIR 1956 Bom 304 (318, 319) (DB).

(6) Provisions of the Madras Prohibition Act, 1937, except Section 23 (2), in so far as they relate to medicinal preparations, are regulatory and reasonable in character. AIR 1954 Mad 643 (646) (DB).

(7) The Punjab Intoxicating Spirituous Preparations Import, Export, Transport, Possession and Sale Rules, 1952, were held not ultra vires the Constitution. AIR 1953 Punj 77 (80) = ILR (1953) Punj 618 = 1953 Cri LJ 549 (DB).

(8) The Assam Liquor Prohibition Act 1 of 1953, was within the legislative competence of the State Legislature. AIR 1961 Assam 16 (17) = ILR (1960) 12 Assam 396. (AIR 1951 SC 318, Foll.)

(9) Words "Intoxicating liquors" must include all preparations made from alcohol whether denatured or not — French Polish and Varnish fall within that expression. AIR 1964 Guj 59 (66, 67, 68) = (1963) 4 Guj LR 1033 (DB). (AIR 1951 Bom 210 (FB), Not foll.)

3. This Entry and Entry 41 of List 1.—

(1) The legislative powers given to Provinces under Item 31, List 2, Sch. VII of the Government of India Act, 1935 (corresponding to Entry 8, List 2, Sch. VII of the Constitution) were expressed in wide terms and there was nothing in Item 19 of List 1 to lead the Court to cut down the full meaning of the Provincial Entry by excluding foreign liquor from its purview. AIR 1950 FC 69 (71) = 1949 FCR 650 = 51 Cri LJ 1013.

(2) The Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), in so far as it purported to restrict possession, use and sale of foreign liquor, was not an encroachment on the field assigned to the Federal Legislature under Item 19, List 1, Schedule VII, Government of India Act, 1935. AIR 1951 SC 318 (322) = 1951 SCR 682 = 52 Cri LJ 1361.

(3) If the true nature and character of the legislation or its pith and substance is not import or export of intoxicating liquor but its sale and possession, etc., then such a legislation cannot be declared invalid. AIR 1951 SC 318 (323) = 1951 SCR 682 = 52 Cri LJ 1361  AIR 1950 FC 69 (71) = 1949 FCR 650 = 51 Cri LJ 1018  AIR 1951 Nag 58 (73) = ILR (1951) Nag 646 = 52 Cri LJ 1140 (FB)  AIR 1950 Bom 221 (224) = ILR (1950) Bom 290 = 51 Cri LJ 1207 (DB)  AIR 1941 Mad 621 (621) = ILR (1941) Mad 701 = 42 Cri LJ 672 (DB).

(4) It is true that Entry 8, in List 2, does not expressly mention imports, but it is well settled that entries in such list are enumerative and not exhaustive, and, therefore, legislation with regard to import of intoxicating liquor would be included within the purview of the entry. AIR 1964 Guj 59 (65) = (1963) 4 Guj LR 1033 (DB).

4. Duties on intoxicating liquors. —

(1) The duty on the spirit contents of medicinal preparations is in reality a

9. Relief of the disabled and unemployable.

10. Burials and burial grounds; cremations and cremation grounds.

12. Libraries, museums and other similar institutions controlled or financed by the State; ancient and historical monuments and records other than those^a [declared by or under law made by Parliament] to be of national importance.

duty on intoxicating liquors which has always been within the competence of the State Legislature. The duty imposed on bulk gallon of potable medicinal preparations is clearly excise duty on medicinal preparations and is within the exclusive competence of the Union. The two duties are so dissimilar that it is not possible to treat the one as substantially identical with the other. AIR 1954 Mad 643 (649) (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 9 — Note 1

(1) Where the question arose whether the Bombay Refugees Act (22 of 1948), the pith and substance of which was the relief and rehabilitation of displaced persons, fell within the head "relief of the poor" in Item 32 of List 2 in the Government of India Act, 1935, it was held that though some of the refugees were poor, others were just evacuees, and it could not be said that the Act fell within the legislative head "relief of the poor." AIR 1953 Bom 415 (416, 417) = ILR (1953) Bom 836.

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 11 — Note 1

(1) Per Majority:— Use of the expression "subject to" in Entry 11 of List II clearly indicates that legislation in respect of excluded matters cannot be undertaken by the State Legislature. Entry No. 11 List II and Entry 66 in List I must be harmoniously construed. The two entries undoubtedly overlap but to the extent of overlapping Entry 66 List I must prevail. AIR 1963 SC 703 (715) = (1963) 2 SCR 26. (AIR 1962 Guj 88 (FB), Reversed.)

(2) Per Majority:— State Government has power to prescribe machinery and criteria for admission of qualified students to Medical and Engineering Colleges run by Government and with consent of management to aided Colleges also. This power of State Government under Entry 11 will be good only so long as it does not contravene other laws. AIR 1964 SC 1823 (1833) = (1964) 6 SCR 368.

(3) Subject-matter of Sections 16-A to 16-I added by U. P. Act 35 of 1958 to U. P. Intermediate Education Act (2 of 1921), falls within the scope of Entry 11 of List II. AIR 1966 SC 1307 (1310, 1311) = (1966) 3 SCR 328.

(4) The Constitution permits State Legislature to legislate on trusts and trustees, and such State Legislatures are constitutionally competent to pass a statute like the Jadavpur University Act, which comes under Entry 11 of List 2 and Entry 10 of List 3 and to modify an existing trust. AIR 1960 Cal 120 (123) = 63 Cal WN 914.

(5) Entries 11 and 14 do not authorise a State Legislature to enact a law that authorises Government to compulsorily transfer a Government servant from one department to another. 1969 Lab IC 730 (734) = (1968) 2 Mys LJ 479 (DB).

(6) Bihar High Schools (Control and Regulation of Administration) Act (13 of 1960) is a valid law by virtue of entry 11. 1965 BLJR 844 (848) = ILR 45 Pat 411 (DB).

(7) The power of State Legislature to promulgate State Legislation with regard to subject-matter of education under Entry 11 includes the ancillary and subsidiary power to validate doubtful executive action on the same subject. AIR 1961 Pat 274 (275) = 1961 BLJR 100.

(8) A State Legislature by virtue of Entry 11 read with Entry 5 has power to pass laws in respect of taking over of the management and control of aided schools run by Local authorities. AIR 1966 Punj 232 (238) = ILR (1966) 2 Punj 241 (DB).

(9) University of Rajasthan Act (46 of 1956) is a special Act made by the State Legislature in exercise of powers under Entry 11. 1968 Lab IC 1605 (1617) = 1969 Raj LW 47 (DB).

13. Communications, that is to say, roads, bridges, ferries, and other means of communication not specified in List I; municipal tramways, ropeways; inland waterways and traffic thereon subject to the provisions of List I and List III with regard to such waterways; vehicles other than mechanically propelled vehicles.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 20.]

16. Pounds and prevention of cattle trespass.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 20.]

17. Water, that is to say, water supplies, irrigation and canals, drainage and embankments, water storage and water power subject to the provisions of Entry 56 of List I.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 19.]

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 13 — Note 1

(2) The legislative head under this entry has to be read as a legislative category or head comprising land and land tenures and all matters concerned therewith other than acquisition of land. AIR 1955 SC 504 (520) = (1955) 2 SCR 303  AIR 1954 SC 251 (253) = 1954 SCR 779  AIR 1952 SC 252 (283) = 1952 SCR 889, 1020, 1056 = ILR 31 Pat 565  AIR 1951 All 674 (679) = ILR (1952) 2 All 46 (FB)  AIR 1951 Pat 91 (103) = ILR 30 Pat 454 (SB).

(3) Administration of evacuee property has been treated separately in Entry 41 of List 3. 2. SYNOPSIS

1. State Acts covered by this Entry.

2. Entry 36 of List 2 and Entry 42 of List 3.

3. Public purposes.

4. Acts not covered by Entry 36.

1. State Acts covered by this Entry.—

(1) Item 36 provides both for acquisition and requisition of property. AIR 1953 Mad 252 (256) = (1952) 2 Mad LJ 761  AIR 1952 SC 252 (283) = 1952 SCR 889  AIR 1954 Hyd 121 (123) = ILR (1954) Hyd 143 (DB).

(2) The words 'acquisition of property,' in Entry 36 must be understood in their natural sense of the act of acquiring property, without importing into the phrase an obligation to pay compensation or a condition as to existence of a public purpose. AIR 1969 SC 453 (459) = (1969) 1 SCJ 854  AIR 1955 Bom 28 (34) = 56 Bom LR 1062 (DB).

(4) As the estates were acquired under the Ajmer Abolition of Intermediaries and Land Reforms Act (6 of 1955) for the purposes of the State of Ajmer the Act would be within the competence of the Ajmer Legislature. AIR 1959 SC 475 (479) = 1959 Supp 1 SCR 478.

(5) The State Government will be competent to acquire land in the State for rehabilitating persons from East Pakistan. AIR 1961 All 520 (521).

the sweep of Entry 36, List II. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 328 (329) = (1961) 1 Andh WR 266 (DB).

(8) Bihar Land Reforms (Amendment) Act (16 of 1959), Section 1 providing for acquisition of right to hold melas on Bakasht lands was within competence of State Legislature. AIR 1961 SC 1649 (1654) = (1962) 2 SCR 382.

(9) The State Legislature is competent to enact legislation for the acquisition or requisition of property for the object of providing office accommodation for the National Cadet Corps. AIR 1957 Pat 109 (111) = 1957 BLJR 562 (DB).

(10) Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) — Pith and substance of Act falls within item 36 of the State list and the Act would be constitutionally valid though it incidentally trenches on matters reserved for Union Legislature. AIR 1957 Pat 270 (274, 275) = 1957 BLJR 165 (DB).

(11) State Legislature has power to acquire trust properties. AIR 1952 SC 252 (278) = 1952 SCR 889.

(12) The pith and substance of the Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) is transference of ownership of estates to the State Government and falls within ambit of Entry 36 of List II and is valid. AIR 1952 SC 252 (270) = 1952 SCR 889

(13) A law made under Entry 36 of List 2 can authorise acquisition of choses in action like arrears of rent from tenants. The arrears are covered by the term property. AIR 1952 SC 252 (254) = 1952 SCR 889.

(14) Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), except as regards Section 4 (b) and Section 23 (f), Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act (1 of 1951) and Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951) were held to be valid. (17) The word "acquisition" in Entry 36 means and implies the acquiring of the entire title of the expropriated owner whatever the nature or extent of that title might be. Under the Constitution of India, taking possession of a right or rights short of the entire title to property is regarded as 'requisition'. Hence, the necessity for the addition of the word 'requisition' in Item 36, List 2 of Sch. 7 in the Constitution of India. AIR 1953 Assam 84 (86, 87) (DB).

(18) It is not correct to say that apart from Entry 36 of List II, there is no power in the State to legislate with regard to deprivation of property. AIR 1953 Cal 695 (698).

2. Entry 36 of List 2 and Entry 42 of List 3.— (1) The limitations as to public purpose and payment of compensation cannot be read by implication into Entry 36 of List II alone or in conjunction with Entry 42 of List III. AIR 1952 SC 252 (264, 271) = 1952 SCR 889  (1967) 1 Mad LJ 206 = 80 Mad LW 184 (DB)  AIR 1955 Bom 28 (34) = 56 Bom LR 1062 (DB).

(2) The State Legislature is competent to legislate for acquisition or requisition of land not only for 'State purposes' but also for 'other public purpose' within meaning of item 42 of List III. AIR 1957 Pat 109 (111) = 1957 BLJR 562 (DB).

(3) The argument that on the basis of Entry 36 in List II and Entry 42 in List III the State Legislature had no power to make a law for acquisition of property without fulfilling the condition of public purpose did not hold good after deletion of those entries by the Constitution (7th Amendment) Act. AIR 1961 SC 1649 (1652, 1653) = (1962) 2 SCR 382.

(4) Entry 36 in List II and Entry 42 in List III are merely heads of legislation and are neither inter-dependent nor complementary to each other. AIR 1969 SC 453 (460) = (1969) 1 SCJ 854  AIR 1952 SC 252 (271, 272) = 1952 SCR 889  AIR 1955 Sau 80 (84) = 8 Sau LR 70 (DB).

(5) The Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights Act 1951, is covered by this Entry and Entry 42 of List III. ILR (1953) Nag 1 (FB).

(6) If there was a Central Act dealing with compensation then the State Law, in conflict with it, may become bad as Item 36 in List II was subject to Item 42 of List III. (1959) 63 Cal WN 751.

(7) The only limitation placed upon the State Legislature under List II, Entry 36 is that it cannot legislate with regard to acquisition or requisitioning of property for purposes which are for the purposes of the Union. The legislative competence of the State Legislature under List II, Entry 36 is not controlled by Entry 42 in List III. AIR 1952 Bom 16 (25, 26) = 53 Bom LR 837 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1955 SC 41.)

(8) Acquisition by the State under item 36 in list II was not necessarily connected with item 42 in List III. (1959) 63 Cal WN 751.

3. Public purpose:— (1) The requisition of a house for housing a Government servant is a public purpose. AIR 1953 Mad 252 (256) = (1952) 2 Mad LJ 761.

(2) Land acquired for the purpose of the Union or of a State must necessarily be for a public purpose. All State purposes

(4) The Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Proprietary Rights Act, 1951 is not invalid on the ground that it does not acquire the malguzari estates for a public purpose. ILR (1953) Nag 1 (FB).

(5) The legislature can make a law empowering the authorised officer to requisition the property of a person for a public purpose if the law provides for compensation. AIR 1953 Mad 252 (256) = (1952) 2 Mad LJ 761.

(6) Effect of Article 31 (2) and Items 33 of List I, 36 of List II and 42 of List III is that neither the Central Legislature nor the State Legislature have any power to legislate in respect of compulsory acquisition for private purposes. AIR 1952 Cal 554 (555, 556) (DB).

AIR 1953 Cal 695 (699).

(2) Mining Leases (Modification of Terms) Rules, 1956 — Validity of Rules must be judged with reference to Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act (1957), in view of S. 29 of the Act and not under Entry 36, List II. AIR 1967 SC 887 (892) = (1967) 1 SCR 707.

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 37 — Note 1

(1) The words "subject to the provisions of any law made by Parliament" occurring in this entry only mean that the Parliamentary statute would have preference over a State law in case of repugnancy and that whenever a law is made by the State Legislature in exercise of its legislative powers under this entry, that law will be subject to the provisions of a Parliamentary statute. The Representation of the People Act, 1951, is such a Parliamentary statute. AIR 1954 Madh B 111 (112) = ILR (1954) Madh B 440 (DB).

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 39.]

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 45 SYNOPSIS

1. "Land revenue."

2. Scope.

2-A. "Maintenance of land records."

3. This entry and Article 31 (1) and (2).

4. Acts falling under this entry — Instances.

1. "Land revenue."— (1) The definition of land revenue given in Section 2 of the Bengal Land Revenue Sales Act (11 of 1859) and Sec. 1 of the Bengal Land Revenue Sales Act (7 of 1868) include "malikana." (1904) 31 Cal 256 (258) = 31 Ind App 52 (PC).

(2) The expression as defined in the Bombay Revenue Jurisdiction Act (10 of 1876) was held not to include the duties leviable on the manufacture of spirits or the taxes on the tapping of toddy trees. (1885) 9 Bom 462 (466, 467) (FB). (Per Birdwood J.)

(3) There is now a general consensus of opinion that land-revenue should be regarded as a tax and not a rent. Any chunk or slice cut off from profits of an individual is a tax. All bits of income or profits taken by the State in the exercise of its sovereign powers are in reality taxes, no matter under what name they appear. AIR 1956 Assam 33 (43) (SB). (Per Ram Labhaya, J.) AIR 1960 Andh Pra 461 (464) = 1960 Andh LT 251 (DB). (Expression "revenue assessment" connotes tax.)

(4) The expression "land revenue" in Entry 45 means a share in the produce of land. Given that meaning it only empowers the State to charge a share in computed money value of the produce of land. The entire entry deals with the characteristic of this tax. (1967) 1 Andh WR 399 = (1965) 2 Andh LT 297. (Andhra Pra. Land Revenue (Additional Assessment and Cess Revision) Act (22 of 1962) (as amended by A. P. Act 23 of 1962) — No indication in Acts that additional assessment is share of produce of land — Sections 3 to 5 of Act 22 of 1962 also unconstitutional as offending Articles 14 and 19 (1) (f).)

2. Scope.— (1) This entry empowers the State Government to legislate in regard to land revenue, acting directly in the matter and enacting in respect of all or some existing assessments that the same should be increased as from a specified date to a specified amount. AIR 1944 FC 62 (65) = 1944 FCR 284 = ILR (1944) Nag 614 = ILR (1944) Kar (FC) 165.

(2) No grant, whether with or without consideration, can affect the legislative power of the State, nor can any legislative Act bind the same or the succeeding Legislatures. [See 1960 Ker LJ 112. (Imposition of land tax on Edavagai lands under T. C. Land Tax Act (15 of 1955).]

(3) The State has a sovereign right to impose land revenue on the proprietors who are full and absolute owners of their lands and this revenue is a part of a statutory liability. AIR 1956 Assam 33 (44) (SB). (Per Ram Labhaya J.)

(4) Legislation on resumption of Jagirs is one relating to lands and land revenue and falls under Entries 18 and 45 of List II. AIR 1962 SC 1305 (1313) = (1962) Supp 3 SCR 346. (Punjab Resumption of Jagirs Act (39 of 1957).)  (1963) 2 Mys LJ 164 (FB). (Bombay Merged Territories and Areas Jagirs Abolition Act (1953).)  AIR 1966 Guj 149 (157) (DB). (Bombay Merged Territories and Miscellaneous Alienations Act (22 of 1955).)

(5) The power to legislate on a subject includes power to repeal, modify or amend any previous law on the subject. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 372 (374) = 1960 MPLJ 906 (DB). (C. P. and Berar Revocation of Land Revenue Exemptions Act (37 of 1948).)  AIR 1962 SC 1305 (1313) = (1962) Supp 3 SCR 346. (Punjab Resumption of Jagirs Act (39 of 1957) — Amendment of, by Amending Act of 1959 — Amendment held intra vires.)

(6) Taxes on lands and buildings — Interpretation of Statute imposing tax on lands only — Falls under Entry 49 and not under Entry 45. AIR 1970 SC 169 (176, 177) = (1969) 2 SCA 26.

2-A. "Maintenance of land records."

(1) It would be within the scope of Entry 45 to enact the law relating to records showing how the lands have been dealt with in the past; what are the rights and liabilities pertaining to these lands, how the records are to be maintained and preserved, where they should be kept and in whose custody they should be lodged. The expression "maintenance of land records" would mean not only the act of maintaining them but all things incidental to the keeping and maintenance of such land records. AIR 1962 Guj 18 (19) = (1961) 2 Guj LR 594.

3. This entry and Article 31 (1) and (2).— (1) The mere increase of an assessment for land-revenue does not involve any acquisition of the land or any right in or over immovable property. In such a case there is no transference to the State Government or any other person of any land or rights in or over immovable property, which remain in the same possession or ownership as immediately before the increase of the assessment. AIR 1944 FC 62 (65) = 1944 FCR 284 = ILR (1944) Nag 614 = ILR (1944) Kar (FC) 165. (C. P. (Andhra Inams (Assessment) Act (17 of 1955) — No contravention of Articles 19 (1) (f) and 31 (2).)

(2) The right to enjoy land free from land revenue is not property in the eye of law. There can therefore be no acquisition of the right to enjoy landed property free of land-revenue and no question of paying compensation arises when the land is assessed to land-revenue. AIR 1956 Assam 33 (36, 38, 45, 48) (SB). (Assam Assessment of Revenue Free Waste Land Grants Act (24 of 1948) not hit by Article 31 (2) or Article 19 (1) (f). (1) This entry and Entry 82 of List 1 are complementary to each other. AIR 1942 FC 8 (14) = 1942 FCR 1 = 21 Pat 521 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 1 Sup.

(1-A) Taxation is considered as a distinct matter for the purpose of legislative competence and the power to tax cannot be deduced from a general legislative entry as an ancillary power. AIR 1969 Mys 23 (35) = (1968) 2 Mys LJ 78 (DB).

(2) The imposition of agricultural income-tax by the Bihar Agricultural Income Tax Act (7 of 1938) on income derived from permanently settled estates does not in any manner whittle down or derogate from the assurances given to the zamindars and landholders by the Bengal Permanent Settlement Regulation (1 of 1793). The reason is that the two pieces of legislation do not deal with the same subject-matter. AIR 1942 FC 8 (13, 14) = 1942 FCR 1 = 21 Pat 521 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 1 Sup AIR 1930 PC 209 (214) = 57 Ind App 228 = 58 Cal 430. (AIR 1925 Cal 598, Affirmed.)

(3) For the meaning of the term 'agricultural income,' the Courts have got to look to the terms of the definition in S. 2 (1), Income-tax Act, 1922, and construe the same regardless of any other considerations. (3-A) The income derived from the sale of tea grown and manufactured by the seller is not solely derived from agriculture. It is partly derived from land by agricultural operations and partly from business. The power of State Legislature to make law in respect of taxes on agricultural income arising from tea plantations is limited to legislating with respect to agricultural income determined in accordance with Rule 24 of the Income-tax Rules (1922). (Explanation 2 to Section 5 of Kerala Act should be so construed as to make it harmonious with explanation to sub-cl. (2) of Cl. (a) of Section 2).

(4) Taxes on agricultural income would comprise within their scope even income from forestry operations provided it falls within the definition of agricultural income in Section 2 (1). Income-tax Act, 1922. AIR 1957 SC 768 (772) = 1958 SCR 101. (Affirming on appeal AIR 1954 Cal 225).

(5) A State Legislature is entitled to impose a tax on some categories of agricultural income and not impose it on others. AIR 1942 FC 8 (10) = 1942 FCR 1 = 21 Pat 521 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 1 Sup.

(6) A State law relating to agricultural income-tax cannot be held to be invalid merely because the definition of 'agricultural income' in that Act is narrower than the one given in the Income-tax Act, 1922. AIR 1942 FC 8 (10) = 1942 FCR 1 = 21 Pat 521 = ILR (1942) Kar (FC) 1 Sup.

(7) The Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act (4 of 1944) does not increase the jurisdiction of the Legislature which it does not possess. It does not provide for assessment of an income which is not agricultural income. AIR 1958 Cal 585 (591).

(8) The levy of agricultural income-tax on the income derived from the cultivation of tobacco under the T. C. Agricultural Income-tax Act (22 of 1950) is not beyond the powers of the State Legislature. AIR 1961 Ker 111 (112) = 1960 Ker LT 820 (DB).

(9) Section 65 (4) of the Madras Agricultural Income-tax Act (5 of 1955) is not beyond the Legislative competence of the State, provision is also not unconstitutional on ground of being repugnant to Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1964 Mad 556 (559) = 77 Mad LW 422 (DB).

(1) The words "devolution" or "succession" imply passing of property to another on death of a person and cannot apply to transfers inter vivos. Tax on gifts of agricultural land sought to be levied by the Gift Tax Act (1958) does not come within the ambit of either Entry 18 or Entry 47. AIR 1962 Ker 97 (104) = 1961 Ker LT 859 (DB)  AIR 1963 Mad 419 (423) = (1963) 2 Mad LJ 192 (DB)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115 (119) = (1960) 1 Andh WR 153 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 48 — Note 1

(1) The expression "agricultural land" has not been defined either in the Estate Duty Act (1953) or in the Constitution. "Agricultural land" is a land on which a prudent owner will under take any of the processes of farming in its widest sense. The fact that a particular area is being used for agriculture may indicate that the land is agricultural in character. But the current user is by no means conclusive. 1966 Ker LT 1149 = ILR (1966) 2 Ker 567 (DB).

(2) There is no warrant for the assumption that entries 86, 88 of List 1 and Entry 48 of List II form a special group embodying any particular scheme. AIR 1970 SC 169 (175) = (1969) 2 SCA 26.

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 49 SYNOPSIS

1. Tax on land.
2. Basis of Tax.
3. Entries 49, List 2 and Entry 86, List 1 — Distinction.

1. Tax on Land.— (1) In order to see under what entry a particular tax falls, Courts must examine the essential features of the tax and consider the pith and substance of the legislation. AIR 1949 FC 81 (86) = 1948 FCR 207  AIR 1940 Bom 65 (70) = ILR (1940) Bom 58 (FB)  AIR 1954 Bom 188 (191, 192) = ILR (1954) Bom 41 (DB).

(2) It is not the name of the tax but its real nature which determines into what category the tax falls. AIR 1948 All 382 (386, 389) = ILR (1949) All 26 (FB).

(2a) Taxes on lands and buildings — Scope of entries — Statute imposing tax on lands only — Falls under Entry 49 and not under Entry 45. AIR 1970 SC 169 (177) = (1969) 2 SCA 26.

(3) A tax on property is confined to immovable property and clearly falls within the jurisdiction of the State Legislature by virtue of item 49, List II U. P. Town Areas Act (2 of 1914) is within the competence of State Legislature. AIR 1969 All 40 (42) = 1968 All LJ 665 (FB).

(4) The word 'lands' in Entry 49 of List 2 is wide enough to include all lands whether agricultural or not, and it would be plainly unreasonable to assume that it includes non-agricultural lands but does not include agricultural lands. AIR 1962 SC 1563 (1568) = (1963) 1 SCR 220  AIR 1964 Mad 556 (560) = 77 Mad LW 422 (DB)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115 (118) = (1960) 1 Andh WR 153 (DB).

(5) Land in entry 49 includes land on which forest stands — Taxation on land on which forest stands is permissible and legal under Entry 49 — Entry 49 and entry 18 deal with entirely different subjects. AIR 1961 SC 552 (564) = (1961) 3 SCR 77  AIR 1963 Ker 31 (42) = 1962 Ker LT 826.

(6) Imposition under Section 62, Assam Local Self Government Act of tax on land used as market is tax on land though its incidence which falls upon land depends upon the use of land as a market and is within competence of State legislature. AIR 1965 SC 1561 (1563) = (1965) 3 SCR 47  AIR 1959 Assam 221 (226) (SB).

(7) If the State Legislature had power to levy a tax only on land and buildings the same could not be levied on machinery contained in or situate on the building even though the machinery was there for the use of the building for a particular purpose. Therefore, Rule 7 (2) of the rules framed under the Bom. Act LIX of 1949 was beyond the legislative competence of the State. AIR 1967 SC 1801 (1814) = (1967) 2 SCR 679.

(8) Whether tax on lands and buildings has acquired the special meaning as tax on buildings for local purposes imposed by local authorities only (Quaere). AIR 1966 Ker 14 (16).

(9) It cannot be contended that property tax be levied on lands and buildings from which owners derive gains and profits only. AIR 1963 Punj 354 (357) = 65 Pun LR 197 (DB).

(10) Section 128 (1) (x) of the U. P. Municipalities Act makes it clear that a water-tax is imposed on buildings or lands or both. The fact that water-tax under the Municipalities Act is in reality a tax on land and buildings finds further support from the provisions of Cl. (a) of Section 129 of the Act. The State Government has power under Entry 49 in List 2 of Sch. VII to the Constitution of India to make laws in respect of such tax. AIR 1962 All 83 (86) = 1961 All LJ 976 (DB).

(11) As agricultural lands are included in entry 49 of List 2, the validity of the U. P. Large Holdings Tax Act would be beyond challenge, as in substance and in fact, it imposes a tax on land holding and as such, is within the competence of the State Legislature. AIR 1962 SC 1563 (1569) = (1963) 1 SCR 220.

(12) Power to tax lands and buildings — Cannot be used arbitrarily and in a manner inconsistent with fundamental rights. AIR 1969 SC 378 (379) = 1968 Ker LT 649. (Kerala Buildings Tax Act (19 of 1961), Section 4 is ultra vires.)

(13) A tax on lands and buildings is distinctly different from a tax on gift of lands and buildings with the result that legislation in respect of the latter cannot fall under Entry 49, List 2. AIR 1967 All 19 (23) = 1966 All LJ 622 (DB). (AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115, AIR 1965 Punj 65, AIR 1962 Ker 97, AIR 1963 Mad 419 Rel. on.)  AIR 1965 Punj 65 (67, 68) = (1964) 54 ITR 632 (DB)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115 (117) = (1960) 1 Andh WR 153 (DB).

[But see AIR 1962 Mys 269 (275) = 1962 Mys LJ (Sup) 442 (DB). (AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115, Dissented from.)]

(14) 'A' taking agricultural land on lease and giving it for cultivation to various tenants and was thus working as contractor — Punjab District Board levying Professional Tax on 'A' for this — Held the tax could not be regarded as a tax in respect of any property within the meaning of Section 30 (b) of the Punjab District Boards Act. It was essentially a tax on profession, trade or calling. (1959) 61 Pun LR 309 (313).

(15) Fee under Section 284 of Indian Railways Act, 1890 cannot be considered as tax on land under Entry 49, List 2 of Sch. 7 of Constitution of India. 1967 Ker LT 848 = 1967 Mad LJ (Cri) 799 (DB).

(16) Travancore Cochin Land Tax Act (15 of 1955), Sections 11 and 12 — Levy referred to in Section 12 is under Entry 45 of List 2 of the Seventh Schedule to Constitution and not under Entry 49. AIR 1963 Ker 31 (42) = 1962 Ker LT 826.

(17) There are no words to suggest that a tax on land and buildings is to be levied only for the purpose of local Government. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 268 (271) = 1967 MPLJ 47 (DB).

(18) Not worded to suggest that tax must be paid only by occupier or by both. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 268 (275) = 1967 MPLJ 47 (DB).

(19) The tax under this entry may be levied either on the owner or the occu-pier of the land and building. AIR 1949 FC 81 (84) = 1948 FCR 207. (Case under Government of India Act, 1935, Sch. VII List 2, Entry 42.)

2. Basis of Tax.— (1) Validity under Items 49 and 60 of List 2 of Constitution. State cannot legislate in respect of tax on sources other than those mentioned therein — But U. P. Act 10 of 1922 which was valid under Government of India Act, is valid under the Constitution by virtue of Article 277 and Item 82 of Union List — Sections 108 and 44 are not void. 1955 All WR (HC) 520 (523) = 1955 All LJ 630 (DB).

(2) This entry which confers power on the State Legislature to levy tax introduces no terms of limitation and does not provide for any particular manner in which the tax should be levied. AIR

1954 Bom 188 (191) = ILR (1954) Bom 41 (DB). (Case under Entry 42, List 2, Government of India Act, 1935).

(3) A tax on land may be based on the annual value of the land and would still be a tax on land and would not be beyond the competence of the State Legislature. AIR 1965 SC 1561 (1562) = (1965) 3 SCR 47  AIR 1960 All 136 (149) = 1959 All LJ 754 (FB)  AIR 1966 Ker 14 (17).

(4) There is nothing in Entry 49 which indicates that the tax is limited only to the rateable values i.e. annual letting values of lands and buildings — Under the entry tax can be levied on a variety of bases — The extent of lands, floor areas, number of storeys etc. AIR 1968 Guj 124 (140) (DB).

(5) Where on a plain reading of a section it can be gathered that the tax which it levies is a tax on lands and buildings the fact that either the annual value or its market value is taken as the basis for calculation of the tax cannot make any difference to the essential character of the tax itself. (1967) 11 Law Rep 40 (54) = (1968) 1 Mys LJ 524 (DB).

(6) The unit of taxation under Section 4, Mysore Buildings Tax Act (4 of 1963) is building and is levied on the basis of total floorage of all buildings owned by an assessee in the same rating area. The tax levied is a tax on buildings and the State Legislature had full competence to enact the same. AIR 1965 Mys 170 (178) = (1964) 2 Mys LJ 470 (DB).

(7) The use to which the land is put can be taken into account in imposing a tax on it within the meaning of Entry 49, List 2. AIR 1965 SC 1561 (1562) = (1965) 3 SCR 47.

(8) The power of a Municipal Corporation to levy a tax on open land is similar in extent to the power of the local Legislature. AIR 1954 Bom 188 (191) = ILR (1954) Bom 41 (DB).

(9) The yard-stick for computation of rates and taxes imposed by municipalities and other public bodies is primarily based upon the value of the property which the assessee has within the jurisdiction of the public body concerned. AIR 1964 Cal 590 (592) = 68 Cal WN 1132.

(10) It is open to a Municipal Corporation to take into account the value of the land as such without reference to encumbrances and levy rate on the value of land so determined. Municipal tax is not concerned with real economic value of land but to find out its market-value from its real capital value in the economic sense. AIR 1954 Bom 188 (191) = ILR (1954) Bom 41 (DB).

(11) Annual letting value can be adopted as an artificial standard for determining, for purpose of income-tax,

But from this it does not follow that every tax imposed in relation to annual letting value of lands and buildings is a tax on income or on the capital value of the assets. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 268 (271) = 1967 MPLJ 47 (DB)  AIR 1968 J and K 105 (109) = 1968 Kash LJ 144 (DB).

(12) Entry 49 of the State List has imposed constitutional limitations on the legislative power of the State to impose tax on buildings except on the normal basis of the annual value based on the rent at which the building may reasonably be expected to be let, or any other reasonable standard of apportionment of tax burden, and such tax could be levied only for the exclusive utilisation of the local Governments (Municipalities). AIR 1965 Mys 170 (206) = (1964) 2 Mys LJ 470 (DB).

(13) Imposition of tax on lands and buildings on basis of percentage of their capital value — State legislature is competent — Gujarat Imposition of Taxes by Municipalities (Validation) Act 1963 (2 of 1964) is validly enacted. AIR 1970 SC 192 (196) = (1969) 2 SCC 283.

3. Entry 49, List 2 and Entry 86, List 1 — Distinction.— (1) For the purpose of levying a tax under Entry 49, List 2 State Legislature may adopt for determining the incidence of tax the annual or the capital value of the lands and buildings. But that will not make the field of legislation under Entry 49, List 2 and Entry 86, List 1 overlapping. AIR 1969 SC 59 (61) = (1968) 2 SCJ 790.

(2) A construction of the two entries does not reveal a conflict in the legislative fields. The fields appear to be separate and well-defined. If lands and buildings are totally unburdened, then, they may have to bear the burden of a tax, not only under entry 86, but also under entry 49. But, the fact that such a thing can happen cannot change the real character or nature of the tax under one or the other entry. AIR 1968 Guj 124 (141) (DB).

(3) To allocate the legislative power to impose a tax on capital value of lands and buildings treating them as assets entirely to the Entry 86, List 1 is not to rob Entry 49, List 2 of its contents. The field is still open under Entry 49 for legislation for other taxes on lands and buildings. There is therefore no conflict and no overlapping of jurisdiction in the case of Entry 86, List 1 and Entry 49, List 2. AIR 1962 Ker 110 (114) = 1961 Ker LT 905 (DB)  ILR (1960) 1 Ker 268. (Kerala Municipalities Act (XIV of 1961), S. 99 (3) is not ultra vires powers of State Legislature.)

(4) The pith and substance of Entry 49, List 2 and Entry 86, List 1 are fundamentally different. Entry 86 deals with capitalised value of assets whereas Entry 49, List 2 is not directly concerned with the capitalised value of lands and buildings though in a particular piece of legislation the capital value may be taken as a basis for levying tax. AIR 1964 Orissa 123 (131) = 30 Cut LT 299 (DB).

(5) Tax on lands and buildings under Entry 49, List 2 is not the same as, but quite different and distinct from, the tax on capital value of the assets referred to in Entry 86 of List 1. The former is imposed directly on lands and buildings which are the object of taxation whereas in the case of the latter what is taxed is not the asset but the capital value of the assets of an individual as a company. (1967) 11 Law Rep 46 (54) = (1968) 1 Mys LJ 524 (DB)  AIR 1969 SC 59 (61) = (1968) 2 SCJ 790  AIR 1962 Ker 110 (114) = 1961 Ker LT 905 (DB).

(6) Levy of tax on capital value of non-agricultural lands and buildings — Parliament can legislate therefore under List 1, Entry 86 — Imposition of Wealth tax on non-agricultural lands and buildings under Wealth Tax Act (1957) is constitutional — Not conflicting with entry 49 of List 2. AIR 1969 SC 59 (62) = (1968) 2 SCJ 790. (Observations made in AIR 1960 All 136 held were obiter and did not correctly interpret Entry 86 of List 1.)  AIR 1963 Mys 111 (111) = (1963) Mys LJ (Supp) 365 (DB)  AIR 1962 Ker 110 (113) = 1961 Ker LT 905 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 50 — Note 1

(1) Land cess imposed under provisions of Sections 78 and 79, Madras District Boards Act is in truth a 'tax on lands' within Entry 49 and not a tax on minerals within Entry 50. In a very remote sense it has relationship to mining as also to the mineral won from the mine under a contract by which royalty is payable on the quantity of mineral extracted. But that does not stamp it as a tax on either the extraction of the mineral or on the mineral rights. AIR 1965 SC 177 (181) = (1964) 6 SCR 666. (Sections 78 and 79 do not stand repealed after passing of Central Act (53 of 1948) or Central Act (67 of 1957) — There is no question of overlapping between the two.)

51. Duties of excise on the following goods manufactured or produced in the State and countervailing duties at the same or lower rates on similar goods manufactured or produced elsewhere in India :—

(a) alcoholic liquors for human consumption;

(b) opium, Indian hemp and other narcotic drugs and narcotics; but not including medicinal and toilet preparations containing alcohol or any substance included in sub-paragraph (b) of this entry.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 40.]

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 51 — Note 1

(1) Excise tax and sales tax are two different taxes which under Entries 51 and 54 of List 2 the State Legislature is empowered to levy and there is no prohibition against the imposition, at one and the same time, of an excise tax and a sales tax. AIR 1951 All 858 (858) = ILR (1952) 1 All 867 (DB). (AIR 1939 FC 1, Foll.)

(2) One of the essential characteristics of an excise duty is uniformity of incidence. Secondly, the duty must be closely related to production or manufacture of goods. It does not matter if the levy is made not at the moment of production or manufacture but at a later stage. Thirdly, if a levy is made for the privilege of selling an excisable article and the excisable article has already borne the duty and the duty has been paid, there must be clear terms in the charging section to indicate that what is being levied for the purpose of privilege of sale is in fact a duty of excise. AIR 1967 SC 1512 (1521) = (1967) 1 SCR 548  1967 Cur LJ 460 = ILR (1967) 2 Punj 757 (DB).

(3) Shop rent for exclusive privilege of selling toddy or arrack from certain shops is not excise duty — Levy of health cess on shop rent under Mysore Health Cess Act (28 of 1962) does not fall within Item 1 of Sch. A of the Act or within Entry 51 of List 2 of Sch. VII — State of Mysore had no authority to levy or collect the same. AIR 1967 SC 1512 (1522, 1523) = (1967) 1 SCR 548 (Per Majority (Hidayatullah J. Contra); (1966) 1 Mys LJ 554, Reversed.)

(4) As chloral hydrate is a narcotic drug or a narcotic within the meaning of Entry 51 and is an intoxicating drug and narcotic substance within Section 2 (1) (iv) of A. P. (Telangana Area) Intoxicating Drugs Act (4 of 1333 F) (as amended by Hyderabad Act 22 of 1953), it could be notified under the amended Act and the A. P. (Telangana Area) Chloral Hydrate (Chloral) Rules (1962) which provide for the manufacture of chloral hydrate under a licence and for payment of excise duty on such manufacture could be validly framed. AIR 1966 SC 713 (717) = (1966) 2 SCR 110.

(5) The introduction of the Dangerous Drugs Act (1930) in the Part B State of Hyderabad in 1950 did not result in complete effacement of the Andhra Pradesh (Telangana Area) Intoxicating Drugs Act (4 of 1333F). It remained alive even so far as opium, charas, bhang and ganja were concerned for the purpose of collection of duties of excise thereon. It also remained alive with respect to other substances which could be notified as intoxicating drugs under 1333F Act. AIR 1966 SC 713 (717) = (1966) 2 SCR 110.

(6) The Drugs Act (1940) which controls the manufacture, sale and distribution of drugs has nothing to do with duties of excise and with their imposition on narcotics and narcotic drugs. The fact that the Drugs Act was introduced in the Part B State of Hyderabad in 1951 would not, therefore, affect in any way that part of Andhra Pradesh (Telangana Area) Intoxicating Drugs Act (4 of 1333F) which dealt with collection of duties of excise and provided for licences in respect of any drugs which are narcotics or narcotic drugs. The 1333-F Act thus continued in existence and could be amended by Hyderabad Act 22 of 1953. AIR 1966 SC 713 (717) = (1966) 2 SCR 110.

(7) The excise duty, if any, imposed before the Constitution came into force by the Provincial Government on medicinal preparations containing alcohol is saved by Art. 277 of the Constitution and Section 29-A of the Bengal Excise Act (5 of 1909) as amended by the West Bengal Adaptation of Existing Laws Order. Accordingly, if any duty on medicinal preparations was lawfully leviable by the West Bengal Government before the Constitution came into force, it will continue to be leviable and any evasion of such duty will be punishable under the provisions of the Bengal Excise Act. ILR (1956) 2 Cal 22.

(8) The Bengal Excise Act (5 of 1909) and the Rules thereunder do not deal with international trade or inter-State trade. The Act and the Rules and the notifications thereunder even after the Constitution are covered by the State subjects in Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 8 and 51. AIR 1958 Cal 203 (207) = 62 Cal WN 278.

(9) The duty under the Punjab Excise Act (S. 3 (6-b)) is, under the Constitution confined to alcoholic liquors for human consumption under Entry 51. Denatured spirit indisputably does not fall in this category and cannot constitutionally be subject to excise duty. (1967) 19 STC 389 = ILR (1967) 1 Punj 525 (DB).

52. Taxes on the entry of goods into a local area for consumption, use or sale therein.

(10) (Majority view, Hidayatullah J. dissenting)—The expression "countervailing duties" means a duty levied with a view to equalise the burden on alcoholic liquors imported from outside the State and the burden placed by excise duties on alcoholic liquors manufactured or produced in the State. It means that countervailing duties can only be levied if similar goods are actually produced or manufactured in the State on which excise duties are being levied. AIR 1966 SC 1686 (1690) = (1966) 1 SCR 865.

(11) Notification issued in 1937 under S. 27, Bihar and Orissa Excise Act (2 of 1915) imposing countervailing duty on foreign liquor imported into State — Later notification in 1961, enhancing the duty—Held, existence of countervailing duty was made dependent upon manufacture of foreign liquor in State — But the Act and previous notification being 'existing law' were saved by Arts. 305 and 372 and notification was valid — Later notification was not 'existing law' and must be struck down as invalid as it violated Arts. 301 and 304. AIR 1966 SC 1686 (1690, 1691) = (1966) 1 SCR 865. (Per Majority (Hidayatullah J. dissenting); ILR (1963) Cut 93 partly Reversed).

(12) Since the levy imposed by Rule 36 (23A) of the Punjab Liquor Licence Rules and condition No. 8 of the conditions of the licence is in respect of sale and not production of country liquor the same must be struck down as being ultra vires entry 51. 1967 Cur LJ 460 = ILR (1967) 2 Punj 757 (DB).

(13) In so far as incorporeal movable property is concerned, there might be difficulties in levying the appropriate tax under the entry, but that cannot control the definition of "goods" in Art. 366 (12). The word "goods" in that article has not been defined in an exhaustive manner so as to exclude incorporeal movable property. AIR 1969 Mad 284 (291) = (1968) 1 Mad LJ 480 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 52 — Note 1

(1) A State law imposing octroi duty on entry of goods in a municipal area in the public interest would be valid under Article 304 read with this entry. AIR 1954 Raj 260 (262) = ILR (1954) 4 Rai 417 (DB).

(2) The existence or non-existence of a provision or system of refunds is not an essential criterion of the tax under this entry. AIR 1947 FC 14 (17) = 1947 FCR 17 = ILR (1947) Kar (FC) 43.

(3) Although the term 'octroi' is not used in the Constitution, the tax itself, which goes by that name, is covered by entry 52. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 363 (365) = (1967) 1 Andh LT 4. (Hyderabad District Municipalities Act (18 of 1956), Section 96 — Octroi tax under — Not restrictive of freedom of trade.)

(4) Entry 52 differs from Entry 54 in many respects. Under Entry 52 tax can be imposed on the entry of goods not only for sale, but also for consumption and use; while under Entry 54 only on sale or purchase. Entry 54 is not restricted to local areas. It can be imposed for areas or units similarly placed. (1969) All LJ 218  AIR 1953 Mad 116 (127) = (1952) 2 Mad LJ 614 (DB).

(5) The aim and object of entries 41 and 42 of List 1 is altogether different from that of Entry 52 of List 2. Taxation was intended to be included in those items which deal with general subjects. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 234 (242) = ILR (1960) 1 Andh Pra 42 (DB). (Hyderabad Municipal Corporation Act (2 of 1956) — Levy of octroi duty Act held within competence of State Legislature.)

(6) Octroi duty comes under List 2, Item 52 and is unconcerned with List 1, Item 83. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 234 (241) = ILR (1960) 1 Andh Pra 42 (DB).

(7) Under Section 11 of Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), the market committee is empowered to levy fees on the notified commercial crop or crops brought and sold in the notified area at such rates as it may determine and ordinarily they are to be paid by the purchaser of the commercial crop concerned. It is not, therefore, a tax on the entry of goods into a local area, within the meaning of Entry 52. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (401) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 285 (DB).

(8) The levy of tax on refunds of octroi upon exportation of imported goods is illegal after 15-2-1950 when the Bombay Provincial Municipal Corporation Act (59 of 1949) came into force. Section 127 of the Act does not authorise the corporation to impose tax on refunds of octroi duty paid. Nor is it a tax which the State Legislature has power under the Constitution to impose. AIR 1965 SC 555 (558) = (1964) 8 SCR 178. (62 Bom LR 71, Affirmed.)

(9) A mere custom unrelated to anything else by which a village community makes collections in respect of goods brought for the sale within its limits or goods taken out of its limits for sale outside cannot be said to be valid. AIR

1968 Mad 271 (274) = (1968) 1 Mad LJ 417. (Levy of tax by Panchayat under Section 58, Madras Village Panchayat Act (10 of 1950) on basis of custom -- Not valid.)

(10) Article 276 has no effect on Entry 52. AIR 1962 SC 562 (565) = (1961) 3 SCR 707.

"Goods"

(11) In so far as incorporeal movable property is concerned, there might be difficulties in levying the appropriate tax under the entry but that cannot control the definition of "goods" in Article 366 (12). The word "goods" in that article is not defined in an exhaustive manner so as to exclude incorporeal movable property. AIR 1969 Mad 284 (291) = (1968) 1 Mad LJ 480 (DB).

Terminal tax and octroi tax

(12) The essential features of an octroi tax under this entry are (a) the entry of goods into a definite local area and (b) the goods should enter for the purposes of consumption, use or sale therein. But there is no limitation on the manner by which goods may be imported into a local area. AIR 1958 SC 341 (349, 350)  AIR 1947 FC 14 (16) = 1947 FCR 17 = ILR (1947) Kar (FC) 43.

(13) The terminal tax and octroi tax are so distinct that they may be imposed simultaneously on the same goods. AIR 1958 SC 341 (349, 350)  AIR 1947 FC 14 (16) = 1947 FCR 17 = ILR (1947) Kar (FC) 43.

(14) Terminal tax and octroi tax cannot be imposed on goods in transit which are only carried across the limits of a local area. AIR 1958 SC 341 (349, 350).

(15) Octroi and terminal taxes were different taxes though they resembled in one respect, namely, that they were leviable in respect of goods brought into a local area. While terminal taxes were leviable on goods 'imported or exported' from the Municipal limits denoting thereby that they were connected with traffic of goods, octroi were leviable in respect of goods brought into a Municipal area for consumption or use or sale. AIR 1963 SC 906 (910) = (1963) Supp (2) SCR 216  AIR 1967 Bom 413 (416) = 69 Bom LR 303 (DB).

Excise duty and octroi tax

(16) In the case of octroi duty or tax the levy is because the goods enter a particular area and in the case of excise duty the tax is on the manufacture of goods. AIR 1950 SC 11 (14) = 1950 SCR 15  AIR 1957 All 159 (172) (DB).

(17) The imposition of cess under Section 29(2), U. P. Sugar Factories Control Act (1 of 1938) (Since repealed) on the entry of sugarcane in a local area was a tax falling under this entry and not an excise duty and was valid. AIR 1942 All 156 (169) = 43 Cr L Jour 674 (2) = 1942 All LJ 112. (Overruled on another point in AIR 1961 SC 652.)

Local area

(18) Majority view (Ayyangar J. contra): The proper meaning to be attached to the words "local area" in Entry 52 (when the area is a part of the State imposing the law) is an area administered by a local body like a municipality, a district board, a local board, a union board or the like. The premises of a factory is not a local area. AIR 1961 SC 652 (658, 662) = (1961) 3 SCR 242. (U. P. Sugarcane Cess Act (22 of 1956), Section 3 — Section not within entry and is ultra vires — AIR 1942 All 156. Overruled; Writ Petn. No. 327 of 1956 D/- 29-10-1956 (All), Reversed.)

"Consumption, use or sale".

(19) The coupling of three words "consumption", "use" and "sale" connotes that the underlying common idea was that either the title of the owner is transferred to another or the thing or commodity ceases to exist in its original form. The onus that octroi is leviable upon the entry of wool brought by a person to his dyeing factory lies upon the notified area committee. The question has to be decided on evidence whether by the process of dyeing a new commodity is brought into existence. The question is one of fact and largely depends upon the intention of the person importing wool and his dealings therewith. AIR 1969 NSC 37 = 1969 Cur LJ 458.

(20) The goods must be regarded as having been brought in for purposes of consumption when a person brings them either for his own use or consumption, or to put them in the way of others in the area, who are to use and consume. In this process the act of sale is merely the means for putting the goods in the way of use or consumption. So, even though the word 'sale' was not used in Section 73 (1) (iv) of the Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925) (as it stood before amendment by Bombay Act 35 of 1954), the sale by a person did not save him from liability to tax if he brought the goods into the local area for consumption or use. AIR 1963 SC 906 (912) = (1963) Supp 2 SCR 216.

(21) Word 'use' in the context of octroi does not only mean 'using up' or consumption. AIR 1969 Guj 344 (348) (DB).

53. Taxes on the consumption or sale of electricity.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 48B.]

^a[54. Taxes on the sale or purchase of goods other than newspapers, subject to the provisions of Entry 92A of List I.]

[a] Substituted for the original Entry 54 by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, S. 2 (11-9-1956).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

See under Art. 269.

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 53 — Note 1

(1) The word "consumption" should be 'interpreted' in a broad way. A producer consuming electrical energy generated by him is also a consumer, that is to say, he is a person who consumes electrical energy supplied by himself. Such a person is liable to pay duty under Section 3, C. P. and Berar Electricity Duty Act (10 of 1949) (as amended by M. P. Act 7 of 1956). Such duty cannot be regarded as duty of excise falling within Entry 84 of List I. AIR 1963 SC 414 (416) = 1962 Supp (1) SCR 282. (AIR 1959 Madh Pra 365, Affirmed.)

(2) The entry confers powers on State Legislature to make laws for imposition of taxes on consumption or sale of electricity—But the laws will be operative in the territory of that State only — Punjab Electricity (Duty) Act (1958), Section 3 — Operation of Punjab Act cannot be extended to the territory of Himachal Pradesh — Mere fact that petitioners are employees of Punjab State Electricity Board is insufficient for establishing territorial nexus as levy is not pertaining to the connection of employment — Levy and collection of electricity duty, under Section 3 of Punjab Act on the petitioners, in Himachal Pradesh, being violative of Article 265, is illegal. AIR 1966 Him Pra 59 (61).

(3) The separate mention in Items 53 and 54 of List 2 cannot by itself justify a conclusion that the Constitution intended to draw any distinction between electricity and goods. AIR 1970 Cal 75 (77) = 73 Cal WN 701.

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 54 SYNOPSIS

1. Taxes on the sale or purchase of goods.
2. Excise duty and sales tax.
3. Provisions incidental to levy of sales tax.
4. Enactments held constitutional.
5. Enactments held unconstitutional.

1. Taxes on the sale or purchase of goods.— (1) This entry authorises the imposition of a tax only when there is a complete sale involving transfer of title and not when there is a mere agreement to sell. AIR 1958 SC 909 (912) = 1959 SCR 427  AIR 1958 SC 682 (685) =

1959 SCR 445  AIR 1958 SC 560 (577) = 1959 SCR 379  AIR 1953 SC 274 (276) = 1953 SCR 677 = 1953 Cri L Jour 1105  AIR 1958 SC 452 (458) = 1958 SCR 1355 = 37 Pat 27  AIR 1954 SC 459 (460, 461, 462) = 1955 SCR 243 = ILR (1955) 1 All 346  AIR 1958 Assam 169 (170) (FB)  AIR 1968 SC 599 (602, 603) = (1968) 1 SCR 705.

(2) Entries must be given widest possible interpretation — Legislature is competent to enact provisions to check evasion of tax. AIR 1968 SC 59 (64) = (1968) 1 SCR 148.

(3) Explanation to Section 2 (12) of the Assam Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947) is within legislative competence. The Act only taxes completed sale, the Explanation only locates the sale and does not enlarge the meaning of the word 'sale', so as to tax transactions which are mere agreements to sell and not sales. AIR 1960 Assam 116 (119) (DB).

(4) Expression 'taxes on sales or purchase of goods' must be interpreted in broad sense. AIR 1967 Mys 25 (28) = (1965) 1 Mys LJ 65 (DB).

(5) Item 54 authorises the imposition of taxes on the sale and purchase of goods. (1955) 59 Cal WN 872 (876).

(6) The sales tax is a levy on the price of the goods and such a levy should not be made unless the stage has been reached when the seller can recover the price under the contract. AIR 1954 SC 459 (460, 461, 462) = 1955 SCR 243 = ILR (1955) 1 All 346.

(7) Having regard to the definition of 'sale', 'goods' and 'sale price' in the C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act, the consideration is a part and parcel of sale of goods. In fact, the definition of turnover read in the light of the above definition shows that what is taxed is the amount of the sale price or part of sale price in respect of the sale or supply of goods and therefore the consideration is inseparably a part of the transaction which is sought to be taxed. AIR 1960 Bom 470 (476) = 62 Bom LR 187 (DB).

(8) Definition of sale cannot be enlarged so as to include within it forward contracts. AIR 1954 SC 459 (460, 461, 462) = 1955 SCR 243 = ILR (1955) 1 All 346.

(9) The definition of the term 'sale' in Section 2 (h) of the U. P. Sales Tax Act

(15 of 1948) is ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature in so far as it includes transfer of property in goods for "other valuable consideration" also within its purview. AIR 1964 All 284 (287) = 1967 All LJ 506 = 19 STC 400 (DB).

(10) What under Entry No. 54 the State Legislature can tax are transactions which are in substance sales. It cannot by extending definition of sale include transactions which are not sales. (1965) 67 Bom LR 138 (163) = ILR (1965) Bom 458 (DB).

(11) The supply of goods, by a co-operative society to its members amounts to sale of goods within Section 2 (g) of Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947) and the society being a 'dealer' as defined in the Act is liable to be assessed to sales tax. (1968) 34 Cut LT 745 (758) = 22 STC 460 (DB).

(12) The expression 'taxes on the sale of goods' is very general and means taxes upon the event of sale of proceeds thereof, taken individually or collectively. It cannot be confined to a turnover tax on the gross sale proceeds only. AIR 1939 FC 1 (27) = 1939 FCR 18 = ILR (1939) Kar (FC) 6  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 297 (298) (DB)  AIR 1952 Nag 378 (383) = ILR (1953) Nag 332 (DB).

(13) Expression 'sale of goods' in Entry 54 has same meaning as in Sale of Goods Act — Hire-purchase agreement is not 'sale' — Legislation by State legislature making agreement or transaction in which property does not pass from seller to buyer, a sale, is beyond legislative competence. AIR 1965 SC 1082 (1089) = (1965) 2 SCR 112. (AIR 1958 Mad 561, Reversed.)

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Taxes on goods and passengers.
3. "Carried."
4. "Roads or inland waterways."

1. Scope. — (1) This entry and Entry 89 of the Union List distribute the field of taxation between the Union and the States with respect to taxes on goods and passengers carried by the different modes of transport. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (262) (SB).

(2) The words of this entry have to be given their full effect and have to be construed in a natural and liberal sense. But at the same time they have not to be so construed as to destroy the very significance of the context in which they appear. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (256) (SB).

2. Taxes on goods and passengers. —

(1) The term "goods" would mean trade goods or goods of a commercial character and would not include in its ambit luggage and personal effects. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (260) (SB).

(2) The entry is an enabling one and empowers the Legislature to tax goods and passengers either individually or collectively. The use of the word "and" between the two objects does not mean that the tax cannot be levied on one to the exclusion of the other. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (256) (SB).

(3) The nature or the quality of the tax would not depend on what measure is adopted for fixing the amount payable in each case — It may be the distance travelled or the weight as the measure for purposes of taxation. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (273) (SB).

(4) The fact that the tax is to be measured in proportion to the fares and freight realised does not alter the nature of the tax upon the goods and passengers or affect its intrinsic character. AIR 1952 Pat 359 (364) = 31 Pat 493 (SB) AIR 1945 PC 98 (101) = 72 Ind App 91 = ILR (1945) Kar (PC) 153 = 1945 FCR 179.

(5) The mere fact that the State has decided to charge a heavy tax when it easily could have charged a lighter one would not detract from the validity of the tax. AIR 1954 Punj 264 (267) = ILR (1955) Punj 58 (DB).

(6) Taxation under this entry is of the indirect variety. It ultimately falls on the consumer. The tax can be collected through the carrier or the producer and the manufacturer. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (262) (SB).

(7) The tax levied by the Assam Taxation (On Goods Carried by Roads or Inland Waterways) Act (13 of 1954) is a tax on the transportation of goods and not in the nature of excise duty. There is, therefore, no encroachment on Entry 84 of List 1 and the Act is not ultra vires on that ground. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (255) (SB).

(8) Where the pith and substance of the Assam Act 10 of 1961 is the levy of a tax on tea which is carried in the State of Assam, the right to levy such a tax cannot be said to have been taken away merely by the fact that a Tea Act had been passed by the Central Legislature which is referable to the relevant Entry in List 1 of Schedule 7. The power to levy a tax which has been conferred on the State Legislature by Entry 56 cannot, therefore, be said to be controlled by the Tea Act in question. There is, therefore, no substance in the argument that the State Legislature has no power to levy a tax on tea which is carried over a part of the area of the State of Assam, because one of the objects taxed under the Assam Act has been covered by the Central Tea Act of 1953. AIR 1964 SC 925 (943) = (1964) 5 SCR 975.

(9) A tax on motor vehicles entering or leaving the limits of a municipality is not a tax on passengers carried by road within the meaning of this entry though the amount of the tax is to be calculated with reference to the number of passengers. AIR 1958 All 430 (431) (DB).

(10) Power of Municipality to levy toll tax is limited to cases covered by Section 128 (1) (vii), U. P. (1) A toll is a payment taken in return for some benefit and it is not necessary to collect it at the very moment when the person from whom it is collected commences to enjoy the benefit. It can be collected even when the person is about to leave after enjoying the benefit. The only limitation that lies on the power to collect tolls is that they cannot be collected twice for the same benefit. Therefore where a municipality imposes toll tax on motor vehicles entering or leaving the municipal limits with passengers the levy cannot be condemned on the ground that it was ultra vires the powers of the municipality to collect tolls from vehicles going out of municipal limits. AIR 1958 All 430 (432) (DB).

(2) Consideration for imposition — Specific advantage from every toll levied not necessary — Factory connected with main railway line by its own side line for carrying materials — Enjoyment of amenities provided by Municipality is sufficient consideration — Imposition of tolls on wagons held valid under Section 128, U. AIR 1967 All 15 (19).

(4) Entries 59 and 66 give power to State Legislature to legislate on tolls and fees respectively and hence it cannot be said there is no legislative competence to enact Section 140 of the Assam Municipal Act (1 of 1923). AIR 1958 Assam 156 (159) (DB).

(5) Toll imposed by Municipal Committee on vehicles entering its Municipal limits under Sec. 61 (2), Punjab Municipal Act (8 of 1911) covered by the term "toll" — "Stand tax" already being charged for parking vehicles at stand — No double taxation — Toll being on vehicles and not on goods, no infringement of Art. 301 — Toll imposed not unconstitutional. SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 60

1. Scope of the entry.2. Acts falling or not falling within this Entry.

1. Scope of the entry. — (1) An obvious distinction exists between a tax on trades, callings or professions and a tax on income arising from a trade, calling or profession. A tax, by whatever name it may be known, if it is based on the income derived from a trade, calling or profession, can be questioned on the ground that it being an income tax could not be imposed by the State Government. It is to save such a tax that Art. 276 appears to have been enacted. AIR 1957 All 433 (436) (DB).

(2) There is nothing unconstitutional in the requirement of the taking out of a licence for a trade, for the requirement is only a mechanism or device for the collection of the tax and is not consequently hit by Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1957 Pat 386 (389) = 36 Pat 973 (DB).

(3) A tax on the trade of husking, milling or grinding of grains is a tax falling under this entry. AIR 1949 Nag 190 (192) = ILR (1949) Nag 87 (DB).

(4) Tax on receipt of pension — Not a tax on employment. AIR 1964 SC 1172 (1178) = (1964) 6 SCR 962.

(5) List 1. Item 84 deals with taxes on goods manufactured or produced and List 2. Item 60 deals with the carrying on trade i. e. an activity in the nature of buying and selling and the Finance Act (1951) in its pith and substance relates to duty on goods manufactured or produced and has no relationship with item 60. AIR 1962 SC 1006 (1028) = 1962 Supp (2) SCR 1.

(6) Test to determine whether tax is tax on 'calling' or tax on 'entertainments' is to ascertain incidence of tax — Theatre tax on cinema show is not hit by Art. 276 (2) — It is a tax on entertainment. AIR 1955 Sau 90 (91) = 8 Sau LR 120 (DB).

(7) The object of Item 60, List 2 of Sch. 7 of the Constitution, from which the power to levy the tax in question by the Municipality is derived, is to enable the State Legislature to tax persons, who are carrying on any professions, trades, callings and employments. Those four words overlap one another and have been used by way of abundant caution in order to make these provisions broad-based and comprehensive. None of those words has any particular technical meaning and even if they had any definitive significance the object of putting them altogether is to ensure that no particular category of persons is being eliminated. AIR 1960 Punj 669 (671, 672) = 62 Punj LR 816 (DB).

(8) Levy under Entry 60 far in excess of amount specified in Art. 276 (2) — Levy to be struck down. AIR 1965 Ker 8 (10) = 1964 Ker LT 189.

(9) License fee for storing jute imposed by resolution of Municipality under Section 370 (1) (xii) of Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932) — Imposition held beyond competence of municipality. (1955) 59 Cal WN 872.

(10) Section 30 (b), Punjab District Boards Act (20 of 1883), has reference to taxation on property itself as such, and does not debar the imposition of tax on profession, trade, calling or employment which fall under a separate item in State List Schedule to the Constitution. (1959) 61 Pun LR 309.

(11) U. P. District Boards Act (10 of 1922), Sections 108, 114 — Tax on circumstances and property is tax on income and not on financial status — Items 49 and 60 of List 2 of Constitution — State cannot legislate in respect of tax on sources other than those mentioned therein — But U. P. Act 10 of 1922 which was valid under Government of India Act, is valid under the Constitution by virtue of Art. 277 and Item 82 of Union List — Sections 108 and 44 are not void. 1955 All LJ 630 = 1955 All WR (HC) 520.

(12) Liability to pay professional tax under Punjab Professions, Trades, Callings and Employments Taxation Act (7 of 1956) — Situs of trade, business, calling or profession has to be considered — Where no business is carried on by a dealer at a certain place, mere delivery of goods from godown situated there cannot be equated to doing business at that place. AIR 1968 Punj 289 (291) = ILR (1967) 2 Punj 772 (DB).

(13) Khandwa Municipality imposing tax on trade of ginning and pressing cotton in excess of Rs. 50 — Tax held to be illegal — Khandwa Municipality (Validation of Tax) Act, 16 of 1941, providing that tax in question shall be deemed to have been validly recoverable by the Municipal committee, Khandwa, in respect of the period from 21-11-22 to 31-3-38, held not repugnant to Section 142A, Government of India Act. AIR 1956 Nag 167 (173) = ILR (1956) Nag 83 (DB). (Case under Section 142A, Government of India Act, 1935.

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 62
SYNOPSIS*1. Luxuries.*2. Entertainments and amusements.*3. Betting and gambling.*4. Quantum of tax.*1. Luxuries. — (1) This Entry contemplates a tax on certain articles or goods constituting luxuries and not legislation controlling an activity which may not be a necessary activity but may be unnecessary and in that sense a luxury.

AIR 1956 Bom 1 (11) = ILR (1955) Bom 680 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 699.)

(2) Tobacco has invariably been considered an article of luxury throughout the world. The levy of an annual fee for a licence under the rules framed in 1951 under Section 31 of the Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1957) is, therefore, a luxury tax coming under this entry. AIR 1958 Ker 129 (134) = ILR (1958) Ker 148 (FB).

(3) Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act (9 of 1964) is not a colourable exercise of power — Imposition falls under Item 62 in List 2, Sch. 7 of the Constitution. AIR 1966 Ker 46 (53) = 1965 Ker LT 418.

(4) Private individual conducting stall on railway platform under licence from railway authorities. S. 135 (1) (i) of Indian Railways Act, 1890 does not confer immunity on him from payment of licence fee under Section 284, Kerala Municipalities Act (14 of 1961) — Fee under Section 284 cannot be considered as tax on land under Entry 49, List 2 of Sch. 7 of Constitution of India — Activity for which licence has to be taken under Section 284 is not for storing or selling luxury articles alone and hence licence fee thereunder is not a tax on luxuries under entry 62, List 2 of Sch. 7 of Constitution of India. 1967 Ker LT 348 = 1967 Mad LJ (Cri) 799 (DB).

2. Entertainments and amusements. —

(1) Although it may be said that a person who solves a cross-word puzzle is amusing or entertaining himself, this is not the amusement or entertainment contemplated by this entry. AIR 1956 Bom 1 (11) = ILR (1955) Bom 680 (DB).

(2) The word "entertainments" is used in the plural, which means that the word is used as a common noun and not as an abstract noun and as a common noun it must necessarily mean, in the case of cinema, a show, in the case of drama, a performance and in the case of cricket, a match. AIR 1954 Bom 261 (264) = ILR (1954) Bom 647 (DB).

(3) The levy of entertainment tax on cinema shows is a tax on entertainment which falls under this entry and not under Entry 60 of List 2 and can be collected from the cinema exhibitor. AIR 1956 Punj 203 (204) (DB). (AIR 1953 Madh B 145, Dissented from.) AIR 1955 Sau 90 (91) (DB). [But see AIR 1953 Madh B 145 (146, 147) = ILR (1952) Madh B 301 (DB).]

(4) If in substance an entertainment tax is a tax upon a show or performance, it makes no difference whether it is levied from the person who obtains admission to the entertainment or from the person who gives it, it being always permissible for a person from whom the charge is levied to pass on the duty to a person who obtains admission. AIR 1954 Bom 261 (263, 264) = ILR (1954) Bom 647 (DB).

(5) The tax is not a tax on "calling" within the meaning of Entry 60 of List 2. AIR 1955 Sau 90 (91) (DB) AIR 1959 SC 894 (895, 896).

(6) The fact that each exhibition is separately taxed, or that the tax, being payable in advance, is refundable if the show is not held, also goes to show clearly the nature of the tax, namely, that it is a tax on entertainment and not on profession, trade or calling. AIR 1956 Punj 203 (204) (DB) AIR 1955 Sau 90 (91) (DB).

(7) The provisions of Section 4-A, Madras Entertainments Tax Act (10 of 1939), fall within the contents of Entry 62 and hence it is within the legislative competence of the State Legislature and is not ultra vires. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 461 (467) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 347 (DB).

(8) A tax levied by a Cantonment Board on the lessee of a Cinema theatre on each show of the film exhibited by him is a valid tax. In the Province of Bombay, Cantonment Boards had the same powers under Section 60 Cantonments Act (2 of 1924) as a borough municipality under Section 73, Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925). AIR 1959 SC 582 (584, 585) = (1959) Supp (2) SCR 63.

(9) Theatre tax imposed by Allahabad Nagar Mahapalika—Reasons for or basis of impugned tax is not possession of particular profession or calling but giving of one or more shows or exhibitions and the tax is more properly referable to entries other than No. 60 of List II — It is covered by Entries 33 and 62 of this list — Therefore, it is not hit by Art. 276. 1969 All LJ 295.

3. Betting and gambling. — (1) Tax on gambling is an indirect tax which is demanded from the promoter in the expectation and with the intention that he shall indemnify himself at the expense of the gamblers who sent entrance fees to him. AIR 1957 SC 699 (710, 711) = 1957 SCR 874.

(2) Where it is held that the impugned Act is on the topic of betting and gambling under Entry 34 of List 2, the tax imposed by such statute would be a tax on betting and gambling under this entry. Thus, the Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948), as amended by Bombay Act, 30 of 1952, being a law with respect to betting and gambling under Entry 34, the taxing provisions of Section 12A of the Act must be held to impose a tax on betting and gambling.

63. Rates of stamp duty in respect of documents other than those specified in the provisions of List I with regard to rates of stamp duty.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 51.]

64. Offences against laws with respect to any of the matters in this List.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 37.]

65. Jurisdiction and powers of all courts, except the Supreme Court, with respect to any of the matters in this List.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 2.]

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 62 — Note 3 (contd.)

under this entry, it cannot be held to impose a tax on trade under Entry 60 of List 2. AIR 1957 SC 699 (710) = 1957 SCR 874. (AIR 1956 Bom 1 (DB), Reversed.)

(3) Resolutions by State Legislatures as required by Art. 252 surrendering control and regulation of prize competitions to the Parliament — Power to tax betting and gambling under Entry 62 cannot be said to have been surrendered to Parliament. AIR 1962 SC 594 (599) = (1962) 3 SCR 230.

(4) The words 'forward contract' as defined in the Act do not set out all the elements which are necessary to render a contract a wagering contract and so the impugned legislation to tax forward contracts as defined does not come within Entry 62 and is beyond the legislative competence of the State Legislature. The notification made under the rules promulgated under the Act and the Rules are also void. The Legislature did not contemplate wagering contracts at all in defining "forward contract" in the way it did.

Assuming that the definition of forward contract in Section 2 is wide enough to include wagering contracts, the portion of the Act which would then be valid is not severable from the portion which would remain invalid and the whole Act must be held to be invalid. AIR 1961 SC 268 (269, 270, 271, 272) = (1961) 1 SCR 668.

4. Quantum of tax. — (1) There is no constitutional limit to the quantum of tax which can be imposed by law made under this entry. AIR 1957 SC 699 (711) = 1957 SCR 874.

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 63 — Note 1

(1) Parliament has no power to make laws in respect of rates of stamp duty payable on an application for enrolment as an advocate inasmuch as it is not one of the matters provided for in that List. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (65) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 467 (SB).

(2) The proviso to Section 8 (2) (b), Bar Councils Act, 1926, is not ultra vires the legislative competence of Parliament because the pith and substance of the legislation was to prescribe a machinery for constituting Bar Council for enrolment of advocates and for taking proceedings for professional misconduct against them (see List 1, Entry 78) and the payment of stamp duty on the application for enrolment as provided in the proviso was only incidental to the main object. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (65) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 467 (SB). (It was provided that the applicant for enrolment should pay the stamp duty payable under the Stamp Act — Held valid.)

(3) State Legislature was competent to enact Art. 17 of Mysore Stamp Act (34 of 1957) (as amended by Mysore Stamp (Amendment) Act, 1962) prescribing stamp duty on enrolment as advocate. AIR 1966 Mys 133 (140) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 119 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 2, Entry 64 — Note 1

(1) The Madras General Sales-tax Act falls squarely within Item 54 of List 2. It follows that the State Legislature under Item 64 could prescribe what acts or conduct would be regarded as offences in relation to taxes on the sale or purchase of goods. AIR 1958 Mad 544 (551) = ILR (1958) Mad 750 = 1958 Cri L Jour 1413 (FB).

(2) Section 5 of Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act (14 of 1957) is within the competence of State Legislature under the head 'Criminal Law' in List 3, Item 1 of Constitution. (1966) 2 Mad LJ 194 = 79 Mad LW 542 (DB).

(3) Mysore Sales Tax Act (1948), S. 22 is not ultra vires Art. 14 of Constitution or Criminal P. C. AIR 1958 Mys 143 (147) = 1958 Knt LJ 1 = 1958 Cri LJ 1327 (DB).

(4) Madras Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), Rule 160-C — Does not encroach upon field of State Legislature — (Madras Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (3 of 1931), S. 5). AIR 1956 Andh Pra 129 (139) = 1956 Andh WR 142 (DB).

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 2, ENTRY 65

1. Scope. — (1) This entry confers on the State Legislature power, when dealing with particular subjects within its exclusive legislative field, to make laws in respect to the jurisdiction and powers of Courts that will be competent to hear causes relating to those subjects; in other words, this is a power of creating a special jurisdiction only as opposed to general jurisdiction conferred by Entry

3 of this List. AIR 1951 SC 69 (85) = 1951 SCR 51.

(2) The words used in the entry are no doubt words of wide import, but the generality of those words is restricted and controlled by the words "with respect to any matters in this list" occurring at the end of the entry. AIR 1949 Mad 481 (487) = ILR (1949) Mad 739 = 50 Cri L Jour 684 (FB). (Subject-matter of Criminal Procedure Amendment Act, 1943, held did not fall under Entry 2, List 2, Government of India Act.)  AIR 1943 All 26 (31) = ILR (1943) All 238 = 44 Cri L Jour 216 (FB).

(3) "Criminal law, including all matters in the Indian Penal Code" being a matter enumerated in Entry 1 of the Concurrent List, the power to make laws dealing with jurisdiction and powers of Courts as regards that matter is not within the exclusive competence of the State Legislature. AIR 1943 All 26 (31) = ILR (1943) All 238 = 44 Cri L Jour 216 (FB).

(4) Under this entry, it is within the competence of the State Legislature to take away the jurisdiction of the Court. AIR 1952 Pat 166 (172, 173) = 30 Pat 1085 (DB).

(5) State Legislature can affect the jurisdiction and power of the High Court with respect to questions relating to tenancy legislation. AIR 1949 Bom 42 (45) = ILR (1949) Bom 398 (DB).

(6) State Legislature has no power to reverse the decisions of any Court, because such a power, in its nature, is essentially judicial and has not been conferred on the Legislature by the Constitution, either expressly or impliedly. AIR 1952 Pat 166 (173) = 30 Pat 1085 (DB). (S. 3, Barahiya Tal Lands (Declaration of Possession), Act (26 of 1950), which in effect reversed the decisions of the courts was held to be void and ultra vires the State Legislature.)

(7) This entry empowers the State Legislature to remove, by legislation, any doubts as to the validity of decrees passed by Courts where such doubts are caused by the failure of the State Government to observe a legal formality. The Bihar (Munsiff's Proceedings) Validation Act (7 of 1945) is a legislation of this type. AIR 1952 Pat 282 (282) = 30 Pat 1119 (DB).

(8) The State Legislature was competent to constitute the Calcutta City Civil Court under the Calcutta City Civil Court Act (21 of 1953) and to vest it with general jurisdiction, since that matter came specifically within Entry 3 of List 2 or Entry 3 read with this entry. AIR 1957 Cal 534 (544).

(9) Entry 3 of List II read with this entry can cover Section 15 (3) of the Mysore Chief Court Act (1 of 1884) which provided for a reference to a Full Bench by a single Judge of the Chief Court. AIR 1955 Mys 65 (74) = ILR (1955) Mys 43 (FB).

(10) When the legislature of a State has the competence to make a law pertaining to taxes on sales or purchases it has also the competence to provide punishments in that law for the non-compliance or contravention of the provisions of that law and may also for the purpose of the enforcement of that law vest jurisdiction in Courts. AIR 1958 Mys 143 (146) = 1958 Cri LJ 1357 = 1958 Knt LJ 1 (DB).

(11) Mysore High Court Act, Section 15 (as amended by Act 35 of 1951) — Amendment to procedure for disposal of second appeals — Amendment is 'intra vires' the State Legislature. AIR 1952 Mys 75 (76) = ILR (1952) Mys 279.

(12) Money claim based on promissory note—Nyaya Panchayat has jurisdiction to try such a claim under Section 64 (a), U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (1947). 1968 All LJ 236 = 1968 All WR (HC) 211 (DB).

(13) Companies Act (1913), Ss. 202, 235 — Misfeasance proceedings — Company Judge directing some of Directors of company to appear and give evidence — Appeal to Division Bench is maintainable under Section 202 of the Companies Act, 1913 read with Sec. 4 of the Mysore High Court Act, 1961. AIR 1964 Mys 75 (78) = (1963) 33 Com Cas 839 (DB).

(14) Sections 19 and 29 (2)(c) of the Mysore Civil Courts Act, 1964 are not susceptible to the denouncement that they were enacted without the requisite legislative competence — They are perfectly valid provisions. AIR 1965 Mys 76 (84) (DB).

2. This entry and Entry 18. — (1) This entry is sufficient to give express powers to the States to create and determine the powers and jurisdiction of Courts in respect of land, as a matter ancillary to the subject of Entry 18. AIR 1947 PC 72 (74) = 74 Ind App 12 = 1947 FCR 77 = ILR (1947) Kar (PC) 151. (Case under Government of India Act, Sch. VII, List 2, Items 2 and 21.)  AIR 1955 Pat 1 (15) = 33 Pat 690 (SB)  AIR 1957 Madh B 63 (63) (DB).

(2) The words of this entry and Entry 18 are comprehensive enough to include the remedial as well as the procedural provisions concerned with reliefs in respect of the several rights and remedies enumerated in Entry 18. AIR 1955 Pat 1 (15) = 33 Pat 690 (SB). (Bihar Land Encroachment Act, 31 of 1950 is within the competence of the State Legislature.)  AIR 1946 Cal 48 (49) (DB).

(3) The two entries together cover any restriction that may be imposed on the jurisdiction and powers of Courts,

66. Fees in respect of any of the matters in this List, but not including fees taken in any court.

with respect to land, land tenures, relation of landlord and tenant, and collection of rents. AIR 1941 FC 16 (32) = 1940 FCR 110 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 72. (AIR 1940 All 272 (FB), Reversed.)

(4) Section 168A of the Bengal Tenancy Act (8 of 1885) is clearly a piece of legislation covered by the words of Entry 18 or by the words of this entry if the section were regarded as a procedural section. AIR 1947 FC 19 (21) = 1947 FCR 1 = ILR (1948) 1 Cal 1 = ILR (1947) Kar (FC) 31 AIR 1942 Cal 587 (591) (DB)  AIR 1942 Cal 470 (472) = ILR (1942) 2 Cal 325 (DB).

(5) Section 163A of the Bihar Tenancy Act (8 of 1885) comes within this entry. AIR 1944 Pat 54 (58) = 23 Pat 61 (FB). (Obiter.)

(6) In view of the subjects enumerated in these entries, Entries 6 and 7 of the Concurrent List cannot be held to prohibit a piece of legislation like the Mysore Tenancy Act (13 of 1952). ILR (1955) Mys 360 (363) (DB).

(7) A suit under Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1948) for issue of pattas against a Banking Company against which liquidation proceedings are in progress in the High Court is not triable by the Deputy Collector by virtue of Ss. 45-A, 45-B and 45-C of the Banking Companies Act (as amended) read with Banking Companies (Amendment) Act, 1950, S. 11. AIR 1958 Mad 403 (405, 411) = 71 Mad LW 291

SYNOPSIS

1. Fees and taxes.

2. Scope of the entry.

3. Illustrations.

1. Fees and taxes. — (1) Debenture trust deed — Properties of value of Rs. 2.50 crores — Registration fee demanded held was not fee but was tax — Notification was ultra vires. AIR 1964 Punj 492 (496, 497) = ILR (1964) 2 Punj 681 (DB).

(2) The phrase 'fees taken in all Courts' in entry 3 includes those impositions which can properly be described as 'Court-fees' and the word 'fees' in entry 66 will not include such Court-fees. AIR 1960 All 462 (463) = 1960 All LJ 170 (FB).

(3) As there is no question of rendering any service to the Mulgirasia who has been made liable to pay cess, such cess cannot be called a fee falling within Entry 66 of List 2. AIR 1959 Bom 43 (46) = 60 Bom LR 1191 (DB).

(4) Bombay Court-fees Act (36 of 1959), Sch. 1, Art. 16 — Levy imposed is neither tax nor fee in the strict sense — It is within legislative competence of the State under Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 3. AIR 1962 Bom 106 (113, 114) = 63 Bom LR 834 (DB).

(5) Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (27 of 1952), Sec. 4 — Cess levied under is neither a tax nor a duty of excise but is a fee. AIR 1961 SC 459 (469) = (1961) 2 SCR 537.

(6) From a conjoint reading of Entries 5, 17 and 66 of List 2 it would be clear that the State legislature is competent after the coming into force of the Constitution to enact a law with respect to fees in relation to water supply by a municipality to its inhabitants. AIR 1961 All 583 (586) = 1961 All LJ 386.

(7) See also Note 4 under Art. 265.

2. Scope of the entry. — (1) This entry gives power to the State Legislature to levy fees in most general terms in all matters which are within their legislative field. AIR 1942 All 156 (166) = ILR (1942) All 302 = 43 Cri L Jour 674 (2). (Case under Item 54, List II, Government of India Act, 1935.)

(2) Fees including those for licenses are leviable in the course of the levy or collection of taxes. AIR 1958 Mad 158 (169) = ILR (1958) Mad 35 (DB).

(3) The "fees" in this entry can only mean fees other than court-fees, as the latter has already been provided for in Entry 3 of List 2. AIR 1954 Mys 161 (162) = ILR (1954) Mys 255 (DB).

(4) In order to avoid confusion and in order to avoid provision being made for fees taken in Courts at two places — One specifically under Entry 3 and the other generally under Entry 66 — Fees taken in Courts are specifically excepted from the general entry being Entry 66 because the same had already been provided for specifically under Entry 3. AIR 1960 Bom 96 (99) = 61 Bom LR 996.

(5) When any levy is being justified under Item 66 of List 2 or Item 47 of List 3 as a fee it should be shown that it is for some service rendered by the State or by the Municipality to the particular person concerned and that its incidence is such as to meet the expense of the service rendered more or less. There can be no fee under Item 66 which is for the purposes of local Government because that would not be fee strictly so called but a tax which is not provided, anywhere in List 2. AIR 1960 Raj 135 (136, 137, 138) = 1958 Raj LW 159 (FB).

(6) When entries 96 of List 1 or 66 of List II speak of any of the matters in

LIST III CONCURRENT LIST

1. Criminal law, including all matters included in the Indian Penal Code at the commencement of this Constitution but excluding offences against laws with respect to any of the matters specified in List I or List II and excluding the use of naval, military or air forces or any other armed forces of the Union in aid of the civil power.

[NOTE.—Unless mentioned otherwise, the item number under this heading refers to the item number of List III of Schedule VII of the Government of India Act, 1935.]

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

For Entry 1, the following entry shall be substituted, namely:—

“1. Criminal law (excluding offences against laws with respect to any of the matters specified in List I and excluding the use of naval, military or air forces or any other armed forces of the Union in aid of the civil power) in so far as such criminal law relates to offences against laws with respect to any of the matters specified in this List.”

—See the Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (22) (c) (as substituted by C. O. 69 and C. O. 70).

List 3, they necessarily include also the entries relating to taxation. In other words, a fee may be levied even under an enactment relating to the imposition of tax. AIR 1965 SC 1107 (1123) = (1965) 2 SCR 477.

3. Illustrations. — (1) The contribution levied under Section 49 of the Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (4 of 1939) was held to be a fee and not a tax and Section 49 was not ultra vires the Provincial Legislature. AIR 1954 SC 400 (403) = 1954 SCR 1046 = ILR (1954) Cut 334. (AIR 1950 Orissa 47, Affirmed.)

(2) Section 76 (1) of the Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951) imposed a tax and not a fee and was therefore void as being beyond the legislative competence of the Madras Legislature. AIR 1954 SC 282 (297) = 1954 SCR 1005. (AIR 1952 Mad 613, Affirmed.)

(3) Bye-law No. 6 framed by the District Board of Saharanpur under Section 174 (2) (k) of the U. P. District Boards Act (10 of 1922) imposing a licence fee for working of factories was held ultra vires the District Board, since the amount of licence fee was fixed not merely for meeting the expenses of the bye-laws but with a view to enhance the general revenue of the District Board. AIR 1954 All 675 (680).

(4) Cess imposed under Section 29 of the U. P. Sugar Factories Control Act (1 of 1938) was treated as a fee under the corresponding Item 54 of List 2 of the Government of India Act, 1935. AIR 1942 All 156 (169) = ILR (1942) All 302 = 43 Cri L Jour 674 (2).

(5) Entries 59 and 66 of List II give power to legislate on tolls and fees respectively. Hence it cannot be said that there is no legislative competence to enact Section 140 of the Assam Municipal Act (1 of 1923). AIR 1958 Assam 156 (159) (DB).

(6) Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), Section 370 (1) (xii) — Licence fee — Imposition to be characterised as fee, must not be raised for general revenue — Licence fee for storing jute imposed by resolution of Municipality — Imposition held beyond competence of municipality. (1955) 59 Cal WN 872.

(7) The fares charged by the Calcutta Tramways Company Ltd., cannot be called ‘fees’ chargeable by the State Government in terms of Item 66. The power to fix the rate of fares is based on legislative sanction. AIR 1960 Cal 396 (399).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 1 — Note 1

(1) The power under this entry extends to the creation of new offences by legislation. AIR 1939 FC 58 (62) = 40 Cri LJ 403 = 1939 FCR 124 = ILR (1939) Kar (FC) 98  AIR 1931 PC 94 (99) = 32 Cri LJ 899.

(2) Legislature can for the purpose of effecting desirable social reforms pass laws making acts, which came in the way of the success of such reforms, offences and punishable. AIR 1949 Bom 168 (169, 170) = ILR (1949) Bom 25 = 50 Cri LJ 635 (DB). (Removal of social disabilities of Harijans.)  AIR 1953 Bom 183 (187). (Prevention of practice of excommunication.)

(3) The Legislature where it is competent to create new offences is also competent to provide for the destination of the fines imposed and realized in respect of those offences. AIR 1939 FC 58 (62) = 40 Cri LJ 403 = ILR (1939) Kar (FC) 98 = 1939 FCR 124.

(4) A State Legislature has no power to legislate to make an offence of an act committed outside its territory. AIR

2. Criminal procedure, including all matters included in the Code of Criminal Procedure at the commencement of this Constitution.

[Government of India Act, 1935, Item 2.]

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

Omit Entry 2—See the Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (22) (c) (iii) (as substituted by C. O. 72 and amended by C. O. 74).

Schedule VII, List 3, Entry 1 — Note 1 (contd.)

1958 Bom 68 (72) = ILR (1957) Bom 380 = 1958 Cri LJ 161 (FB).

(5) If a law made by the State Legislature is entirely covered by an entry in the State List the creation of offences under that law and the making of provision in that law for governing other ancillary matters would also fall within the same list under Entry 64 thereof. In such a case it is not necessary for the State Legislature to act under Entry 1 of the Concurrent List to enact those provisions. AIR 1950 FC 59 (64) = 1949 FCR 693 = 29 Pat 185 = 51 Cri LJ 921  AIR 1954 Mad 993 (996) = ILR (1955) Mad 887 = 1954 Cri LJ 1521 (DB)  AIR 1954 All 655 (657) = 1954 Cri LJ 1399 (DB).

(6) The Constitution has given the appropriate legislature, whether Parliament or the State Legislature, power to derogate from the existing jurisdiction of High Court as can be seen from Articles 200, 225, and Item 78, List I, Item 3, List II and Items 1, 2 and 46 of List III, Sch. 7. Law like Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1955) transferring cases pending before Presidency Magistrate to Sessions Judge can therefore be passed by the State Legislature without amending the Constitution. AIR 1959 Mad 261 (268) = 1959 Cri LJ 731 = (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123 (DB).

(7) The head of power under the 'criminal law' in List III includes all matters included in the Indian Penal Code at the commencement of the Constitution some of which are offences against public tranquillity and affecting public safety. Burning copy of Constitution may affect public safety. Madras Prevention of Insult to National Honour Act 15 of 1957 therefore falls under Entry 1 of List III and is valid. AIR 1965 Mad 11 (14) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 49 = (1964) 2 Mad LJ 530  (1966) 2 Mad LJ 194 = 79 Mad LW 542.

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 2 — Note 1

(1) It is reasonable to assume that the framers of the Constitution intended to convey by the words "Criminal procedure" all that was being commonly treated as part of criminal procedure in the legislative enactments of the Indian Legislatures before the date of the Constitution. AIR 1949 Mad 481 (485) = ILR (1949) Mad 739 = 50 Cri LJ 684 (FB).

(2) The word "including" has been used in the entry as a word of enlargement and not as a word of restriction. AIR

1949 Mad 481 (486) = ILR (1949) Mad 739 = 50 Cri LJ 684 (FB).

(3) Under this entry not only matters which strictly related to procedure but also those matters which although are not matters of procedure were included in the Criminal Procedure Code when the Constitution came into force would be concurrent legislative subjects. AIR 1949 Mad 307 (312) = ILR (1949) Mad 377 = 50 Cri LJ 405 (SB). (Provisions relating to appeals and "directions of the nature of habeas corpus.")  (1950) 54 Cal WN 753 (755) (DB). (Legislation relating to jurisdiction of Courts.)

(4) Parliament can introduce an amendment to the Criminal Procedure Code by including a suitable provision in any of the Acts it may pass. AIR 1954 Mad 704 (705) = 1954 Cri LJ 1126.

(5) The word 'matters' in the entry is of wider import than the word 'provisions' and hence it cannot be said that while an amendment of an existing provision would be valid the introduction of a new provision is ultra vires the powers of Parliament. AIR 1949 Mad 481 (486) = ILR (1949) Mad 739 = 50 Cri LJ 684 (FB).

(6) The expression 'criminal procedure' in Entry 2, List III, Sch. 7 includes investigation of offences. Bombay Prohibition Act 25 of 1949 was reserved for consideration of the President and has received his assent. Sections 129-A and 129-B of the Act will therefore prevail in the State of Bombay by virtue of Article 254 (2) of Constitution to the extent of inconsistency with the Code but no more. AIR 1963 SC 1531 (1541) = 1963 (2) Cri LJ 418 = (1964) 1 SCR 926.

(7) The Constitution has given the appropriate legislature, whether Parliament or the State Legislature, power to derogate from the existing jurisdiction of the High Court as can be seen from Articles 200, 225 and Item 78 of List I, Item 3 of List II and Items 1, 2 and 46 of List III, Sch. 7. Law like Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1955) derogating from powers of High Court can therefore be passed by State legislature without amending the Constitution. AIR 1959 Mad 261 (268) = 1959 Cri LJ 731 = (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123 (DB).

(8) No provision in the Civil Procedure or Criminal Procedure Code gives a party to a litigation any right to question the language used by the Court and hence no party can challenge in petition under Article 226 the notification issued under Section 3 (2) of the Madhya Pradesh

3. Preventive detention for reasons connected with the security of a State, the maintenance of public order, or the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community; persons subjected to such detention.

AIR 1950 SC 27 (42) = 1951 Cri LJ 1383 = 1950 SCR 88.

(3) There is no authoritative definition of preventive detention in Indian Law. The word preventive is used in contradistinction to the word punitive. AIR 1950 SC 27 (91) = 1951 Cri LJ 1383 = 1950 SCR 88.

(4) A State must exercise due care and attention in framing laws such as preventive detention lest it may be accused of bad faith on account of any hasty or ill-advised move taken in that direction. AIR 1950 Pat 332 (345) = 51 Cri LJ 1251 = ILR 29 Pat 410.

3. Security of a State. — (1) The Constitution requires a line to be drawn between those serious and aggravated forms of public disorder which are calculated to endanger the security of the State and the relatively minor breaches of the peace of a purely local significance. AIR 1950 SC 124 (128) = 1950 SCR 594 = 51 Cri LJ 1514  AIR 1955 Raj 6 (9) = ILR (1954) 4 Raj 51 = 1955 Cri LJ 95 (DB).

AIR 1954 SC 276 (277) = 1954 Cri LJ 735.

5. "Maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community." — (1) Where with regard to an essential commodity there is a system of controls on which the maintenance of supplies and services depends, evasion of the control orders will prejudicially affect the maintenance or upkeep of the supplies and services essential to the community. AIR 1952 Pat 185 (188) = 31 Pat 97 = 1952 Cri LJ 493 (FB).

(2) For the meaning of the words "succession", "inheritance" and "devolution" see the following case. AIR 1941 FC 72 (78, 79) = 1941 FCR 12 = ILR (1941) Kar (FC) 148.

(3) From the present entry the words "save as regards agricultural land" which were found in Item 7 of List 2 in the Government of India Act, are omitted. In view of this change the Hindu Succession Act, 1956, would apply to agricultural lands also. AIR 1957 Orissa 1 (4) = ILR (1956) Cut 599 (DB)  AIR 1960 Punj 462 (463).

(4) Before Constitution Central Government had no power to affect the devolution of agricultural land within Governor's provinces. Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act therefore did not apply to devolution of agricultural land. After Constitution Parliament has power under Entry 5, List III, Sch. 7 to legislate in the matters of wills, intestacy and succession in respect of agricultural land. But unless fresh legislation is made in that respect the old law could not govern the devolution or succession to agricultural land. AIR 1965 Punj 254 (256) = 65 Pun LR 1103  AIR 1968 Cal 83 (85) = 71 Cal WN 321 (DB).

(6) If the subject matter is marriage, the State Legislature can only legislate with regard to that marriage which is contracted within the limits of the State. If it legislates with regard to marriages contracted beyond those limits, there is no territorial nexus between the State and the marriages to confer jurisdiction, although the parties to such marriages are domiciled in that State. AIR 1958 Bom 68 (71, 72, 74) = ILR (1957) Bom 880 = 1958 Cri LJ 161 (FB). (S. 4 (b) of Bombay Act 25 of 1946 held ultra vires.)

(7) Under this entry the State Legislature is empowered to make laws regarding marriage, succession, etc. But these laws, in order to be valid, must not offend against the Fundamental Rights guaranteed to the citizens by the Constitution. AIR 1953 SC 91 (93, 94) = 1953 SCR 404 = ILR (1953) Hyd 98. (Hyderabad Wali-ud-Daula Succession (Decision of Disputes) Act infringed Article 14.)  AIR 1952 Mad 193 (195, 196) = ILR (1953) Mad 78 = 1952 Cri LJ 434 (DB). (Madras Hindu (Bigamy Prevention and Divorce) Act (6 of 1949) does not offend Articles 15 and 25.)

(8) Power of State Legislature to make laws respecting intestacy and succession extends to make laws respecting succession to agricultural lands. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 11 (13) = 1965 MPLJ 150 (DB).

(9) Item 5, List III read with Item 46 shows that the Parliament as also the Legislature of the State specified in Part A and Part B of the first schedule has power to make laws with regard to jurisdiction and powers of High Courts in respect of intestacy and succession and therefore the Succession Act of 1925 made applicable to the State of Mysore on 1-4-1951 could and did confer on High Court the jurisdiction in respect of AIR 1962 SC 458 (478) = 1962 Supp (1) SCR 156.

(9) Subject-matter of U. P. Intermediate Education Act (2 of 1921), Sections 16-A to 16-I, added by U. P. Act 35 of 1958, falls within List II, Entry 11 — Act is intra vires and because it incidentally trenches upon or affects a charitable institution or powers of trustees of the institution it cannot on that account be beyond legislative competence. AIR 1966 SC 1307 (1310) = (1966) 3 SCR 328.

(10) Under Entry 10, List III the existence of a trust alone gives the power to legislate upon trusts. It cannot be combined with Entry 28, List III to say that religious institutions shall be regarded as public trust for purpose of exercising control over it by legislation. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 362 (365) = 1958 MPLJ 611 (DB).

(11) Bombay Public Trusts Act (29 of 1950), Sections 2 (13) and 18 (1) is intra vires of State Legislature falling under Entries 10 and 28 of List III. AIR 1962 Bom 12 (21) = 63 Bom LR 379 (DB).

(12) The State Legislature has power to levy a fee under the Constitution of India, Seventh Schedule, List III, Entry 28 read with S. 47. The Legislature is, therefore, competent to levy a fee for rendering services in connection with the maintenance, supervision and control over the religious institutions and it is competent to levy the fee retrospectively. AIR 1963 SC 966 (971, 972) = (1963) Supp (2) SCR 216.

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 33 — Note 1

(1) Since raw materials used are not the products of the industry, their production, distribution and supply, however, will not be covered by clause (a) of this entry. The regulation of production, supply and distribution of sugarcane used as raw material in the controlled sugar industry would not, therefore, be covered by this entry as it stood before the amendment but fell under Entry 27

- interest, and imported goods of the same kind as such products;
- (b) foodstuffs, including edible oilseeds and oils;
 - (c) cattle fodder, including oilcakes and other concentrates;
 - (d) raw cotton, whether ginned or unginned, and cotton seed; and of the State List and therefore, the U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (24 of 1953) was fully intra vires of the U. P. Legislature. AIR 1956 SC 676 (690) = 1956 SCR 393.
 - (e) raw jute.]

(2) After the amendment by the addition of Cl. (b) to the entry it was possible for Parliament also to legislate in relation to sugarcane but that in no way affected the legislative competence of the State Legislatures to legislate on the same subject-matter. AIR 1956 SC 676 (690, 691) = 1956 SCR 393.

(3) The effect of the amendment was only to enlarge the scope of the entry but not to affect the legislative competence of Parliament and State Legislatures. AIR 1956 SC 676 (690) = 1956 SCR 393.

(4) The Essential Commodities Act, 1955, was enacted by Parliament in exercise of its concurrent jurisdiction under this entry and not in exercise of its jurisdiction under Entry 52 of List 1. AIR 1956 SC 676 (695) = 1956 SCR 393  AIR 1969 Ker 154 (161) = 1968 Ker LT 652 (FB)  AIR 1969 Pat 8 (9) (DB).

(5) Entry is wide enough to include supply and distribution of foodstuff and their storage for all classes of persons including paddy lender—Hence the provisions of the Foodgrains Dealers Licensing Order passed under the Essential Commodities Act (1955), must be held to relate in pith and substance to Entry 33, List III. AIR 1968 Pat 346 (351) = ILR 47 Pat 409 (DB).

(6) The production, distribution and supply of wheat and wheat products would fall within Clause (b) of Item 33 List III, Sch. 7 and the validity of the Defence of India Rules especially R. 35 (5) defining wheat and wheat products as essential commodities cannot be questioned as unconstitutional. AIR 1964 Cal 279 (283) = 1964 (1) Cri LJ 662 (DB).

(7) Law relating to control of sugarcane — Parliament is competent to enact law by virtue of Entry 33 of List III — Power conferred on Government under Section 3 of Essential Commodities Act and Sugarcane (Control) Order (1955), cannot be challenged as invalid. AIR 1970 SC 267 (269) = (1969) 2 SCC 34.

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 34 — Note 1

(1) There was no item in the Government of India Act, 1935, corresponding to this entry. Item 29, List 2, Sch. VII to the Government of India Act, 1935, referred, inter alia, to distribution of goods and it was held that fixation of price was involved in regulating the distribution of articles. AIR 1946 Cal 197 (204) = ILR (1947) 2 Cal 95 (DB).

(2) Madras Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (29 of 1949) (As Amended by Andhra Act 1 of 1955), Section 3 is applicable to Government when it distributes the electrical energy produced or generated by it. Consequently it is empowered to control the price of electrical energy despite the fact that it is the only purveyor of the energy to the consumers. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 538 (543) = (1959) 2 Andh WR 156 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 35 — Note 1

(1) Entry 21 covers grant of monopolies — Powers under Entry 21 not restricted by Entry 26 in State List — Ch. IV-A of Motor Vehicles Act — Held validly enacted by Parliament. AIR 1960 SC 1073 (1078) = (1960) 3 SCR 742  AIR 1961 SC 82 (86) = (1961) 1 SCR 642.

(2) Assam Motor Vehicles Taxation (Amendment) Act (15 of 1963) and (12 of 1966) do not fall within Entry 35 of List III but are solely concerned with taxes on vehicles within the meaning of Entry 57, List II. They thus do not come in conflict with the Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (9 of 1936) and there is no scope for application of Article 254 (2) of the Constitution. AIR 1967 SC 1575 (1576, 1577) = (1967) 3 SCR 611. (ILR (1966) 18 Assam 494, Reversed.)

(3) Madras Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), Rule 160-C — Does not encroach upon field of State Legislature — The mere fact that a permit-holder may be compelled to pay his tax under Madras Motor Vehicles Taxation Act in time cannot make the rule any the less a rule made for the control of the plying of Motor Vehicles within the Item 35 of List III. AIR 1956 Andhra 129 (139) = 1956 Andh WR 142 (DB).

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

with the question of taxes on vehicles and not with the matter of the principles on which taxes on mechanically propelled vehicles are to be levied, falls under Entry 57 of List II and not under Entry 35, List III and is not ultra vires for want of assent of the President. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 131 (133) = 1966 MPLJ 229 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 36 — Note 1

(1) The Legislature can insert a taxing clause in the legislation under this entry in order to recoup itself for any expenditure incurred in carrying out the scheme embodied in it. AIR 1942 All 156 (166, 167) = ILR (1942) All 302 = 43 Cri LJ 674 (2).

(2) The fee levied under Section 6, Factories Act (1948), is not a tax but a fee meant for meeting the expenses of supervision, which became necessary in view of the various regulatory provisions of the Act. Resort to Entry 97 of List I is not necessary for justifying the provisions of Section 6. The section can be justified under this entry itself. AIR 1954 Raj 178 (181) = ILR (1954) 4 Raj 982 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 38 — Note 1

(1) The Madras Electricity Supply Undertaking (Acquisition) Act (43 of 1949) passed by the Madras Legislature was in pith and substance an Act to provide for the acquisition of electrical undertakings and could not be justified as a legislation coming under this entry. AIR 1954 SC 251 (252) = 1954 SCR 779. (AIR 1951 Mad 979, Reversed.)

(2) Electricity is a concurrent subject and hence Bombay Legislature is competent to provide for levy of surcharge so long as the relevant provisions do not conflict with any provision in the Central Act (Electricity Act) — No conflict in Clause 12 of Schedule in Electricity Act (1910) and Sections 3 and 4 of Bombay Electricity Surcharge Act — Notification issued by Chief Commissioner of Ajmer levying surcharge is not ultra vires the provisions of Electricity Act. AIR 1969 SC 227 (234) = (1969) 1 SCJ 355. (First Appeal No. 67 of 1956 D/- 22-9-1964, Reversed.)

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 39 — Note 1

(1) The Press (Objectionable Matters) Act, 1951, passed by Parliament deals with "newspapers, books and printing presses" mainly and substantially and, therefore, falls under this entry. The Act also incidentally deals with "public order" which is a State subject, but such trespass is a very minor and incidental trespass which will not render the Act unconstitutional. AIR 1954 Bom 508 (511) = ILR (1954) Bom 1245 = 1954 Cri LJ 1549 (DB).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 41 — Note 1

[a] Substituted for the original entry by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, S. 26 (1-11-1956).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

With respect to the amendment by substitution of this entry it is stated in S. O. R. : "The existence of three entries in the legislative lists (33 of List I, 36 of List II and 42 of List III) relating to the essentially single subject of acquisition and requisitioning of property by the Government gives rise to unnecessary technical difficulties in legislation. In order to avoid these difficulties and simplify the constitutional position, it is proposed to omit the entries in the Union and State Lists and replace the entry in the Concurrent List by a comprehensive entry covering the whole subject."—Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Extra., Pt. II, Sec. 2, page 222.

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

Omit Entry 42 — See Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (22) (c) (iii).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 41 — Note 1 (contd.)

of legislation and it has been treated as such by the Constitution, namely, in Article 31 (5) (b) (iii) and in this entry. AIR 1953 Sau 73 (75) (DB).

(2) If by the Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950, the Legislature has not only legislated with regard to the custody, management and disposal of evacuee property, but it has also by that very piece of legislation declared what property is evacuee property, it was acting within its legislative competence. AIR 1951 Bom 440 (446, 447) = ILR (1952) Bom 378 (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 389 (390) (DB).

(3) Though some of the matters to which Section 12 of the Administration of Evacuee Property Act relates might come within the ambit of Entry 18 of List 2, the precise entry under which the matter dealt with in Section 12 falls is this entry. AIR 1952 Pepsu 12 (14) = 3 Pepsu LR 465.

(4) Section 10 (a) (iii) of the Evacuee Interest (Separation) Act, 1951, which allows non-evacuee property to be sold cannot be held to be ultra vires the Parliament, because even if non-evacuee property is affected, it is affected incidentally and the Act does not in pith and substance deal with non-evacuee property. AIR 1957 All 561 (573) (DB).

(5) Question of administering evacuee property cannot involve judicial determination of complicated question of title between ex-evacuee and Custodian — The words "custody, management and disposal" in Entry 41 of List III do not indicate conferment of any such power, as only a civil Court can have. AIR 1958 Punj 384 (385) = 60 Pun LR 307.

(6) The term "management" in this entry includes all ancillary questions of taking possession of evacuee property, etc. AIR 1953 Sau 73 (75) (DB).

(7) The expression "disposal" appearing in this entry is wide enough to cover the extinguishment of a mortgage. AIR 1954 Punj 261 (263) = ILR (1955) Punj Punj 509 (DB).

(8) A law concerning the property of an evacuee cannot be made under this entry, for it empowers a law to be made in respect of property which has been declared by law to be evacuee property. AIR 1954 Punj 261 (263) = ILR (1955) Punj 509 (DB).

(9) List 3 refers to "property declared by law to be evacuee property" and not to "property belonging to an evacuee". Property declared to be evacuee property under S. 7, Administration of Evacuee Property Act is covered by this entry and such property does not cease to be within ambit of Entry 41, merely because the evacuee to whom it belonged at the date of the declaration or vesting has later on died or ceased to be an evacuee. Hence Section 43 of the Act is not ultra vires the Constitution. AIR 1963 All 101 (104).

(10) E. P. Evacuees (Administration of Property) Act (14 of 1947) and Administration of Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioners' Provinces) Ordinance (12 of 1949) are valid as regards property in the nature of land but are invalid so far as property other than land is concerned. AIR 1960 Punj 341 (345) = 62 Pun LR 475 (FB).

(11) Punjab Consolidation of Land Proceedings (Validation) Act (6 of 1957), Sections 3 and 4 are within the competence of State Legislature — Even if it is not covered by Entry 18, List II it would fall under Item 27 and Item 41 of List III. AIR 1959 Punj 8 (12) = 60 Pun LR 461 (FB). (Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 519.)

SCHEDULE 7, LIST 3, ENTRY 42 SYNOPSIS

1. Acquisition and requisition of property.
2. Provision for payment of compensation.
3. Entry 42, List III and Entry 18, List II.

1. Acquisition and requisition of property.— (1) Entry 42 in List 3 is merely a head of legislation. The power to legislate is given by Articles 245 and 246. AIR 1952 All 88 (89) (DB).

(2) Acquisition means and implies the acquiring of the entire title of the expropriated owner, and the entire bundle of rights which were vested in the original holder would pass on acquisition to the acquirer, leaving nothing to the former. AIR 1951 SC 41 (54) = 1950 SCR 869 = ILR (1951) Hyd 461  AIR 1944 FC 62 (65, 66) = ILR (1944) Kar (FC) 165 = 1944 FCR 284 = ILR (1944) Nag 614  AIR 1951 All 674 (679) = ILR (1952) 2 All 46 (FB).

(3) Mere increase of an assessment for land revenue does not involve any acquisition of the land or any rights in or over immovable property. AIR 1944 FC 62 (65, 66) = ILR (1944) Kar (FC) 165 = 1944 FCR 284 = ILR (1944) Nag 614. (Case under Government of India Act (1935).)

(4) Amalgamation or merger of certain companies would not amount to acquisition of property. AIR 1953 Cal 695 (699).

(5) There is a distinction between acquisition of property and resumption. While resumption implies that the person or authority which resumes the property has pre-existing rights over it, acquisition carries no such implication and in general while the effect of resumption is to extinguish the interests of the person whose property is resumed, that of the acquisition is to vest that interest in the acquirer. AIR 1955 SC 504 (518) = 1955-2 SCR 303.

(6) There is also a distinction between acquisition and requisitioning of property. In requisitioning the property dealt with is not acquired by the State but is taken out of the control of the owner for the time being for certain purposes. AIR 1955 Nag 153 (157) = ILR (1955) Nag 364 (DB)  AIR 1953 Assam 177 (181) (DB)  AIR 1953 Mad 252 (256).

(7) The effect of Seventh Amendment Act, 1956 in Entry 42, List III is that the power of acquisition and requisitioning of property falls in the concurrent list and it makes no reference to the principles on which compensation for acquisition or requisitioning is to be determined. AIR 1969 SC 634 (650) = (1969) 2 SCJ 322.

(8) After deletion of Item 36 in List II and amendment of Item 42 in List III in 1956 the State Legislature is permitted to enact a law of acquisition even without a public purpose and the only obstacle to such a law was Article 31 (2). That obstacle also disappeared if the law in question was within Article 31-A. AIR 1961 SC 1649 = (1962) 2 SCR 382. (AIR 1958 Pat 31, Reversed.)  AIR 1964 Cal 587 (589, 590).

(9) Parliament has legislative competence to enact laws for compulsory acquisition by the Union of land and other properties vested in or owned by the State. The State of W. B. is not sovereign authority such as to disentitle the Union Parliament to exercise its legislative power under Entry 42, List III — The Coal Bearing Areas (Acquisition and Development) Act (1957) Act is not ultra vires the legislative competence of Parliament. AIR 1963 SC 1241 (1266) = (1964) 1 SCR 371.

(10) Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (26 of 1948), Section 1 does not deal with succession to impartible estate — It is validly enacted under Sch. 7, List II, Item 9, of Government of India Act 1935. AIR 1963 SC 842 (848) = 1963 Supp (2) SCR 280.

(11) The provisions of new Rule (7-a) inserted by Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamavali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3 of 1965), S. 3, do not pertain to contracts, partnership, agency or commercial and industrial monopolies or acquisition and requisitioning of property falling under Items 7, 21 and 42 of the concurrent list or to any matter falling under other items of that list. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 110 (114) = 1965 MPLJ 994.

(12) The taking over of Oriental Gas Co., under Oriental Gas Company Act 15 of 1960 is within the field of requisition under Entry 42 in List III. Act does not come in conflict with Union Act 65 of 1951 and is intra vires. AIR 1961 Cal 267 (279) = 1961 (1) Cri LJ 639 = 62 Bom LR 869. (Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 1044.)

(13) Mining Leases (Modification of Terms) Rules made for regulation of mines and development of minerals (1956), do not come within Entry 42 of List III dealing with acquisition or requisitioning of property — They fall within Entry 54 of List I. AIR 1967 SC 964 (968) = (1967) 1 SCR 695.

(14) By the amendment of the Constitution in 1956 the distinction between the Union purpose and the State purpose is abolished and a power has been given to the State Government to acquire land for any public purpose so long as the property is within its territorial jurisdiction. A State Government can therefore acquire property for the Union Government under the Central Act. AIR 1961 Assam 133 (138) (FB).

(15) Rehabilitation of persons displaced from East Pakistan falls under Entry 27, List III and since the U. P. Government is competent to legislate for that matter it is competent to acquire land for rehabilitation in U. P. of persons displaced from East Pakistan. AIR 1961 All 520 (521). (As it stood before Amendment in 1956.)

(16) The word acquisition in Entry 42 includes deprivation of property even when there is no transfer of title as such. Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Cash Grants Act (16 of 1963), Ss. 2 (1) and 3, not providing transfer of any title of the grantee but depriving them of their cash grants are regarding 'acquisition of property' — State Legislature competent to enact such legislation under Item 42. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 77 (80, 81) = 1964 MPLJ 874 (DB).

(17) The supremacy of the legislature in India within the constitutional limits of their jurisdiction is complete — Legislature had power to validate past acquisitions by getting over discriminations caused by two existing procedures. Bangalore Acquisition of Lands (Validation) Act 19 of 1963 held valid. AIR 1969 SC 477 (482) = (1969) 1 SCJ 709. (AIR 1962 Mys 218, Reversed on basis of subsequent event.)

(18) Entry 42 of List III which deals with acquisition does not speak where the property should vest after acquisition. AIR 1959 SC 475 (479) = 1959 Supp 1 SCR 478.

(19) The provisions of the City of Bangalore Improvement Act modifying the provisions of the Acquisition Act are provisions of an existing law with respect to one of the matters enumerated in the concurrent List. The provisions of Section 2 of Ordinance (1 of 1960) and Amending Act (13 of 1960) and Section 27-A sought to be introduced in the Improvement Act are repugnant to the provisions with respect to the same matters in the Improvement Act and are invalid as not complying with the Art. 213 as having reserved for the consideration of the President. AIR 1962 Mys 218 (229, 231).

2. Provision for payment of compensation. — (1) The entry does not, by itself, import any condition as to the existence of a public purpose or the payment of compensation. These conditions under the Indian Constitution are the subject of a specific enactment in the body of the Constitution in Article 31, Clause (2). AIR 1955 SC 810 (811, 812) = 1955-2 SCR 867  AIR 1952 SC 252 (284) = 1952 SCR 889 (1020 and 1056) = 31 Pat 565. (On appeal from AIR 1951 Pat 91 (SB).)  AIR 1951 All 674 (678) = ILR (1952) 2 All 46 (FB)  AIR 1955 Bom 28 (34) = ILR (1955) Bom 127 (DB). (AIR 1952 SC 252 and AIR 1952 Bom 16, Foll.)  AIR 1955 Sau 80 (85) (DB). (AIR 1952 SC 252, Foll.)  (1967) 1 Mad LJ 208 (277) = 80 Mad LW 184 (DB)  AIR 1966 Assam 51 (55) (DB)  (1959) 63 Cal WN 751.

(2) In view of the clear provisions of Article 31-A of the Constitution a law providing for acquisition without payment of compensation cannot be questioned. It cannot therefore, be said that Section 9 of Mysore Inam Abolitions Act constitutes a fraud on the Constitution inasmuch as it is a colourable exercise of the powers under Entry 42 of List III of Sch. 7. AIR 1959 Mys 222 (224, 225) = 37 Mys LJ 312 (DB).

(3) Legislation based on Entry 36 of List II need not necessarily be based simultaneously on Entry 42 of List III. The words "subject to Entry 42 in List III" do not mean that there can be no legislation on the basis of Entry 36, List II without there being also legislation along with it based on Entry 42, List III. (1968) 2 Andh WR 427 (447) (DB). (Hyderabad Inams Abolition Act (VIII of 1955) (as amended by X of 1956). Section 3 (2) (g) is valid.)  AIR 1969 SC 453 (459) = (1969) 1 SCJ 854  AIR 1952 SC 252 (272) = 1952 SCR 889.

[See also ILR (1953) Nag 1 (42) (FB).]

(4) Entry 42, List 3 is merely a description of a legislative head and in deciding about the competency of a legislation under this entry the court is not concerned with justice or propriety of principles upon which the determination of the compensation was to be made or the form and manner in which it was to be paid. But even then the legislation must rest upon some principles of giving compensation. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (406) (FB).

(5) It is not necessary for purposes of Entry 42 of List 3, that the compensation should be the just equivalent of the property taken or even adequate. The requirement of the entry is that the legislation should relate to acquisition and that it should be acquisition on payment of compensation and not merely a thinly or thickly veiled attempt at seizure or confiscation. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (415, 433) (FB).

3. Entry 42, List III and Entry 18, List II. — (1) Entry 18 in List 2 refers to "land, that is to say, rights in or over land." The provisions of Entry 42 in List 3 with respect to the powers of the State Legislature limit the extent of Entry 18 in List 2. Entry 18 in List 2 will exclude from its scope what is mentioned in Entry 42 in List 3. See AIR 1951 All 674 (679) = ILR (1952) 2 All 46 (FB).

(2) The argument that Sections 18, 50 and 55 of Madras Land Reforms (Fixation of Ceiling on Land) Act is a colourable exercise of power under List III, Entry 42 is not open in view of the Seventh Amendment to the Constitution relating to the power of acquisition and of the terms of Article 31-B. It does not provide a power to compel transfer of land from one person to another. AIR 1967 Mad 352 (359) = (1967) 1 Mad LJ 179.

(3) Kerala Agrarian Relations Act (IV of 1961) — Act is not a colourable piece of legislation on the ground of being a device to take money from landowners.

43. Recovery in a State of claims in respect of taxes and other public demands, including arrears of land-revenue and sums recoverable as such arrears, arising outside that State.

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

Omit Entry 43 — See Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (22) (c) (iii) (as amended by C. O. 72).

44. Stamp duties other than duties or fees collected by means of judicial stamps, but not including rates of stamp duty.

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

Omit Entry 44—See Constitution (Application to J. and K.) Order, 1954, Para. 2, sub-para. (22) (c) (iii) (as amended by C. O. 72).

45. Inquiries and statistics for the purposes of any of the matters specified in List II or List III.

[Government of India Act, 1935 — Item 24.]

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

In its application to the State of Jammu and Kashmir, in Entry 45, for the words and figures "List II or List III", the words "this List" shall be substituted.

—See Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Order, 1954, Para 2, sub-para. (22) (c) (iv) (as renumbered by C. O. 74).

46. Jurisdiction and powers of all Courts, except the Supreme Court, with respect to any of the matters in this List.

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 42 — Note 3 (contd.)

The main provisions of the Act clearly fall within Entry 42, List III and Entry 18, List II, Sch. 7. AIR 1962 SC 723 (727) = 1962 Supp (1) SCR 829.

(4) Scope — Assam Fixation of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1957) is of composite character, providing for a limit of land tenure and also for acquisition by State of excess land — State legislature has ample authority to enact it under Entry 18, List 2 and Entry 42 of List 3 read with Articles 245 and 246. AIR 1959 Assam 147 (152) (DB).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 43 — Note 1

(1) This entry authorises Parliament as also the States to legislate in respect of recovery of all claims, whether they accrue before or after the Constitution. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 518 (520) = ILR (1954) Trav-Co 1005 (FB).

(2) It has been held that the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act (2 of 1913), does not fall within this entry since the subject-matter of the Act is not the realisation of a tax which might arise outside the State. AIR 1954 Cal 447 (451) = ILR (1956) 1 Cal 49.

(3) Bengal Public Demands Recovery (Validation of Certificates and Notices) Act (II of 1931) falls under Entries 3 and 45 of State List and does not fall under Entry 43 of Concurrent list — State Legislature was competent to enact it — Assent of President under Article 254 (2) was not necessary. AIR 1964 Cal 165 (171, 173) = 1962 Cal LJ 210 (DB).

(1) It is true the Parliament has no power to make laws in respect of rates of stamp duty payable on an application for enrolment as an advocate. But the payment of stamp duty on such an application under the Bar Councils Act, 1926, was incidental to the object of the Act. In this view, it cannot be held that the proviso to Section 8 (2) (b) of the Act was not within the legislative competence of the Parliament. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (65) = ILR (1957) Andh Pra 467 (SB).

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 45 — Note 1

(1) The words "for the purposes of" indicate that the scope of inquiry is not necessarily limited to the particular or specific matters enumerated in any of the Entries in the List concerned but may extend to enquiries into collateral matters which may be necessary for the purpose, legislative or otherwise, of those particular matters. It cannot, therefore, be held that the inquiry which may be set up by law made under this entry is, in its scope and ambit, limited to future legislative purposes only. AIR 1958 SC 538 (545). (59 Bom LR 769, Reversed.)

Schedule 7, List 3, Entry 46 — Note 1

(1) The State legislature is competent to take away the jurisdiction of all Courts, including the High Court but excluding the Supreme Court, with respect to any matter in List 3. But it is not competent to reverse the decisions and orders of Courts and to nullify their effect in exercise of such powers. AIR 1952 Pat 166 (172) = 30 Pat 1085 (DB).

(2) The Constitution has given the appropriate legislature, whether Parliament or State legislature, power to derogate from the existing jurisdiction of High Court as can be seen from Articles 200, 225 and Item 78, List I, Item 3 List II

47. Fees in respect of any of the matters in this List, but not including fees taken in any court.

and Items 1, 2 and 46, List III, Sch. 7. Law like Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1935) derogating from powers of High Court can, therefore, be passed by the State Legislature without amending the Constitution. AIR 1959 Mad 261 (268) = 1959 Cri LJ 731 = (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123 (DB).

(3) The amendment of the Mysore High Court Act by Mysore Act, 35 of 1951, effecting a change in the number of Judges by whom a second appeal is to be decided is not ultra vires of the State Legislature inasmuch as the matter falls either under Entry 3 or Entry 65 of List 2, or under this entry read with Entry 13. AIR 1952 Mys 75 (76) = ILR (1952) Mys 279.

(4) Scrutiny of Entry 95, List I and Entry 46, List III would clearly show that the power to legislate conferred on the concerned legislatures is only in relation to subjects assigned to the respective legislatures in those lists. These entries do not derogate from the general power given to the State legislature under Item 3 of List II. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 (DB). (It is within competence of Provincial or State Legislature to amend the Madras Civil Courts Act 3 of 1873 by Madras Civil and Village Courts (Amendment) Act (16 of 1951).)

(5) Item 5 of List 3 read with Item 46 shows that Parliament as also the State Legislature specified in Part A or Part B of 1st Schedule has power to make laws with regard to jurisdiction and powers of High Courts in respect of intestacy and succession and therefore the Succession Act, 1925 which was made applicable to the State of Mysore on 1-4-1951 used and did confer such jurisdiction. AIR 1959 Mys 83 (85) = 36 Mys LJ 208 (FB).

(6) M. B. Muafi and Inam Tenants and Sub-tenants Protection Act is a law relating to special jurisdiction about inam tenants and cannot be said to be repugnant to any provision of C. P. C. and is valid. AIR 1957 Madh B 63 (64) = Madh BLR 1956 (Civ) 797.

(7) The Central Legislature is competent to enact a law regarding the jurisdiction of Courts to try offences under the Penal Code as matters included in the Penal Code are covered by Item 1 of this List. See AIR 1943 All 26 (31, 32) = ILR (1943) All 238 = 44 Cri LJ 216 (FB).

(1) Each of the entries relating to the levy of fees is to be read as an adjunct to every legislative power including the entries conferring the power to levy particular taxes. This indicates that the Constitution makers conceived of fees being leviable in the course of the levy or collection of taxes, including fees for licences, which, however, must satisfy the test of reasonableness. AIR 1958 Mad 158 (169) = ILR (1958) Mad 35 (DB).

(2) Entry 47 List III enables the legislature to impose fees in respect of any of the matters in that list but not including fees taken in any court. This is in terms identical with Entry 96 List I and Entry 66 List II. A fee may be levied even under an enactment relating to imposition of tax. AIR 1965 SC 1107 (1122, 1123) = (1965) 2 SCR 477.

(3) The State Legislature has power to levy a fee under Entry 28 List III read with Entry 47 List III for rendering services in connection with the maintenance, supervision and control over the religious institutions and it can be levied retrospectively. AIR 1963 SC 966 (971, 972) = (1963) Supp 2 SCR 302  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 216 (218) = (1960) 2 Andh WR 347 (FB). (W. P. No. 58 of 1953 (Andh) and W. A. No. 68 of 1956 (Andhra), Overruled.)

(4) State legislature was competent to enact Section 58, Bombay Public Trusts Act 29 of 1950, under Entry 47, List 3, Constitution which has got to be made by public trusts which are registered do not constitute a tax but is a fee. AIR 1953 Bom 242 (249) = 55 Bom LR 86 (DB). (Point affirmed but case Reversed on another point in AIR 1954 SC 388.)

(4-A) The Constitution does not contemplate to be an essential element of a fee that it should be credited to a separate fund and not to the consolidated fund. AIR 1960 All 462 (465, 466) (FB). (Court-fees Act (1870), Section 4 and Schedule II, Article 1, Clause (e) (U. P. Amendment) — Court-fee imposed by Amendment is not a tax but a fee — Section 4 and Schedule II, Article 1 (e) as amended by Court-fees (U. P. Amendment) Act (10 of 1959), are within legislative competence of U. P. Legislature.)

(5) There is an inherent limitation on the legislative power under this entry, namely that the levy should bear a just and reasonable proportion to the services rendered for which the fee is exacted. AIR 1956 Mad 491 (503, 505) (DB) **

1. Application of Vienna Convention.—(1) Subject to sections 2 and 3 (2) of this Act, the provisions set out in Schedule 1 to this Act (being Articles or parts of Articles of the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations signed in 1963) shall have the force of law in the United Kingdom and shall for that purpose be construed in accordance with sub-sections (2) to (11) of this section.

(2) In those provisions—

“authorities of the receiving State” shall be construed as including any constable and any person exercising a power of entry to any premises under any enactment (including any enactment of the Parliament of Northern Ireland);

“grave crime” shall be construed as meaning any offence punishable (on a first conviction) with imprisonment for a term that may extend to five years or with a more severe sentence;

“Ministry for Foreign Affairs” shall be construed as meaning the Department of the Secretary of State concerned;

“national of the receiving State” shall be construed as meaning a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies, a person who is a British subject by virtue of section 2, 13 or 16 of the British Nationality Act, 1948 or the British Nationality Act, 1965, or a British protected person within the meaning of the said Act of 1948.

(3) The reference in paragraph 2 of Article 17 to any privileges and immunities accorded by customary international law or by international agreements shall be construed as a reference to any privileges and immunities conferred under the International Organisations (Immunities and Privileges) Act, 1950.

(4) The references in Article 44 to matters connected with the exercise of the functions of members of a consular post shall be construed as references to matters connected with the exercise of consular functions by consular officers or consular employees.

(5) For the purposes of Article 45 and that Article as applied by Article 58 a waiver shall be deemed to have been expressed by a State if it has been expressed by the head, or any person for the time being performing the functions of head, of the diplomatic mission of that State or, if there is no such mission, of the consular post concerned.

(6) The exemption granted by Article 48 with respect to any services shall be deemed to except those services from any class of employment which is insurable employment, or in respect of which contributions are required to be paid, under the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Acts, 1965 to 1967, the National Insurance Acts 1965 to 1967, any enactment for the time being in force amending any of those Acts, or any enactment of the Parliament of Northern Ireland corresponding to any of those Acts or to any enactment amending it, but not so as to render any person liable to any contribution which he would not be required to pay if those services were not so excepted.

(7) Article 48 shall not affect any agreement made between the United Kingdom and any other State before the commencement of this Act and shall not be taken to prevent the making of any such agreement after the commencement of this Act.

2. Restriction of privileges and immunities.—If it appears to Her Majesty that the privileges and immunities accorded to a consular post of the United Kingdom in a territory of any State, or to persons connected with such a consular post, are less than those conferred by this Act on a consular post of that State or on persons connected with such a consular post, Her Majesty may by Order in Council withdraw such of the privileges and immunities so conferred from all or any of the consular posts of that State or from such persons connected therewith as appears to Her Majesty to be proper.

3. Agreements providing for additional or reduced privileges and immunities.—(1) Where any agreement made, whether before or after the passing of this Act, between the United Kingdom and any other State provides for according to consular posts and persons connected with them privileges and immunities not accorded to them by the other provisions of this Act, Her Majesty may by Order in Council exercise, with respect to the consular posts of that State and persons connected with them, the powers specified in Schedule 2 to this Act so far as may be necessary to give effect to that agreement.

(2) Where any agreement made, whether before or after the passing of this Act, between the United Kingdom and any other State provides for according to consular posts and persons connected with them some but not all of the privileges and immunities accorded to them by the other provisions of this Act, Her Majesty may by Order in Council provide for excluding, with respect to consular posts of that State and persons connected with them, any of those privileges and immunities which are not provided for by the agreement.

4. Civil jurisdiction concerning service on board ship or aircraft.—Her Majesty may by Order in Council make provision for excluding or limiting the jurisdiction of any Court in the United Kingdom to entertain proceedings relating to the remuneration or any contract of service of the master or commander or a member of the crew of any ship or aircraft belonging to a State specified in the Order, except where a consular officer of that State has been notified of the intention to invoke the jurisdiction of that Court and has not objected within such time as may be specified by or under the Order.

5. Jurisdiction over offences committed on board ship.—(1) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make provision for securing that, where an offence is alleged to have been committed on board any ship by the master or a member of the crew and the ship belongs to a State* specified in the Order, proceedings for the offence instituted otherwise than at the request or with the consent of a consular officer of that State are not entertained by any Court in the United Kingdom, unless—

- (a) the offence is alleged to have been committed by or against a person who is a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies or is otherwise comprised in the definition of “national of the receiving State” in section 1 (2) of this Act, or against a person other than the master or a member of the crew; or
- (b) the offence is one involving the tranquillity or safety of a port or the law relating to safety of life at sea, public health, oil pollution, wireless telegraphy, immigration or customs or is of any other description specified in the Order; or
- (c) the offence is one comprised in the definition of “grave crime” in section 1 (2) of this Act.

(2) For the purposes of this section, an offence which affects the property of any person shall be deemed to have been committed against him.

(3) For the purposes of this section, any document purporting to be signed by or on behalf of a consular officer and stating that he has requested or consented to the institution of any proceedings shall be sufficient proof of that fact unless the contrary is shown.

[*] See S. 16 (2) infra, for when can a ship be treated as belonging to a State.

6. Detention on board ship for disciplinary offences.—Her Majesty may by Order in Council designate any State for the purposes of this section; and where a State is so designated, a member of the crew of a ship belonging to that State* who is detained in custody on board for a disciplinary offence shall not be deemed to be unlawfully detained unless—

- (a) his detention is unlawful under the laws of that State or the conditions of detention are inhumane or unjustifiably severe, or
- (b) there is reasonable cause for believing that his life or liberty will be endangered for reasons of race, nationality, political opinion or religion, in any country to which the ship is likely to go.

[*] See Section 16 (2), infra.

7. Nationality of children of consular officers, etc.—(1) A person born within the United Kingdom and Colonies at any time after the coming into operation of this section shall not, by virtue of section 4 of the British Nationality Act, 1948, be a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies by birth if he is the child of a person who, at that time—

- (b) was a national of that State;

unless he is the child of a father who at that time was a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies.

- (a) bought in the United Kingdom; and
- (b) used for such purpose that, had they been imported for that use, exemption from customs duty thereof would have been required to be granted by virtue of Article 50 in Schedule 1 to this Act or by virtue of an Order under Section 3 (1) of this Act or Section 1 (2) of the Diplomatic Immunities (Commonwealth Countries and Republic of Ireland) Act, 1952.

(2) Any arrangements made under this section may impose conditions subject to which any refund is to be made.

10. Right of diplomatic agents and consular officers to administer oaths and do notarial acts in certain cases.—(1) A diplomatic agent or consular officer of any State may, if authorised to do so under the laws of that State, administer oaths, take affidavits and do notarial acts—

(2) Her Majesty may by Order in Council exclude or restrict the provisions of the preceding sub-section in relation to the diplomatic agents or consular officers of any State if it appears to Her that in any territory of that State diplomatic agents or consular officers of the United Kingdom are not permitted to perform functions corresponding in nature and extent to those authorised by that sub-section.

(3) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make provision for applying Section 6 of the Commissioners for Oaths Act, 1889 (powers as to oaths and notarial acts abroad) to countries within the Commonwealth or the Republic of Ireland by requiring the section to be construed as if—

- (a) the references therein to a foreign country or place included such country or place as may be specified in the Order; and

(b) the diplomatic ranks specified in that section included such ranks of any United Kingdom mission in a country specified in the Order as may be so specified in relation to that country.

(4) In this section "diplomatic agent" has the same meaning as in the Diplomatic Privileges Act, 1964.

11. Evidence.—If in any proceedings any question arises whether or not any person is entitled to any privilege or immunity under this Act, a certificate issued by or under the authority of the Secretary of State stating any fact relating to that question shall be conclusive evidence of that fact.

any enactment passed before the passing of this Act which confers any function on consular officers shall be construed in accordance with the following provisions of this section.

(3) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make provision—

(a) for requiring references to a consular officer in any enactment passed before the passing of this Act to be construed as including a consular officer appointed as mentioned in sub-section (1) (a) of this section (or as including a consular officer so appointed in any country or place specified in the Order) or for the exercise by a consular officer so appointed (or so appointed in any such country or place) of any functions conferred by the enactment on some other officer;

(b) for making in the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1894 to 1967 or the Consular Conventions Act, 1949 such adaptations of any provision referring to a consular officer of a foreign State as appear to Her to be necessary or expedient to make the provision applicable to consular officers appointed as mentioned in sub-section (1) (b) of this section and to dispense with any requirement as to the conclusion of a consular convention.

(4) The preceding provisions of this section shall not apply to the Consular Salaries and Fees Act, 1891, but the expression "consular officer" in that Act shall include, in addition to the persons mentioned in Section 3 of that Act, any person authorised by Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom to exercise consular functions in another country within the Commonwealth or in the Republic of Ireland and to take fees under that Act.

14. Orders in Council.—(1) No recommendation shall be made to Her Majesty in Council to make an Order containing such provision as is mentioned in Section 1 (11) or Section 3 (1) of this Act unless a draft thereof has been laid before and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament.

(3) Any power to make an Order conferred by this Act includes power to vary or revoke such an Order by a subsequent Order.

15. Validation of certain provisions in colonial laws.—Notwithstanding anything in the Colonial Laws Validity Act, 1865, no colonial law within the meaning of that Act shall be void or inoperative as being repugnant to the Admiralty Offences (Colonial) Act, 1849, the Territorial Waters Jurisdiction Act, 1878 or Section 685 or Section 686 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 by reason only of making provision corresponding to Section 5 of this Act.

16. Short title, interpretation, commencement and repeal.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Consular Relations Act, 1968.

(2) For the purposes of Sections 4, 5 or 6 of this Act a ship, and for the purposes of Section 4 an aircraft, shall be treated as belonging to a State in such circumstances as may be specified by an Order in Council under that section; and different circumstances may be so specified with respect to different States and different classes of ship or aircraft.

A consular employee or a member of the service staff shall not, except in the cases mentioned in paragraph 3 of this Article, decline to give evidence. If a consular officer should decline to do so, no coercive measure or penalty may be applied to him.

2. The authority requiring the evidence of a consular officer shall avoid interference with the performance of his functions. It may, when possible, take such evidence at his residence or at the consular post or accept a statement from him in writing.

3. Members of a consular post are under no obligation to give evidence concerning matters connected with the exercise of their functions or to produce official correspondence and documents relating thereto. They are also entitled to decline to give evidence as expert witnesses with regard to the law of the sending State.

Article 45

Waiver of privileges and immunities

1. The sending State may waive, with regard to a member of the consular post, any of the privileges and immunities provided for in Articles 41, 43 and 44.

2. The waiver shall in all cases be express, except as provided in paragraph 3 of this Article, and shall be communicated to the receiving State in writing.

3. The initiation of proceedings by a consular officer or a consular employee in a matter where he might enjoy immunity from jurisdiction under Article 43 shall preclude him from invoking immunity from jurisdiction in respect of any counter-claim directly connected with the principal claim.

4. The waiver of immunity from jurisdiction for the purposes of civil or administrative proceedings shall not be deemed to imply the waiver of immunity from the measures of execution resulting from the judicial decision; in respect of such measures, a separate waiver shall be necessary.

Article 48

Social security exemption

1. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 3 of this Article, members of the consular post with respect to services rendered by them for the sending State, and members of their families forming part of their households, shall be exempt from social security provisions which may be in force in the receiving State.

2. Members of the service staff shall be exempt from dues and taxes on the wages which they receive for their services.

- (a) articles for the official use of the consular post;

Such inspection shall be carried out in the presence of the consular officer or member of his family concerned.

In the event of the death of a member of the consular post or of a member of his family forming part of his household, the receiving State:

- (b) shall not levy national, regional or municipal estate, succession or inheritance duties, and duties on transfers, on movable property the presence of which in the receiving State was due solely to the presence in that State of the deceased as a member of the consular post or as a member of the family of a member of the consular post.

Article 52

1. Every member of the consular post shall enjoy the privileges and immunities provided in the present Convention from the moment he enters the territory of the receiving State on proceeding to take up his post or, if already in its territory, from the moment when he enters on his duties with the consular post.

2. Members of the family of a member of the consular post forming part of his household and members of his private staff shall receive the privileges and immunities provided in the present Convention from the date from which he enjoys privileges and immunities in accordance with paragraph 1 of this Article or from the date of their entry into the territory of the receiving State or from the date of their becoming a member of such family or private staff, whichever is the latest.

3. When the functions of a member of the consular post have come to an end, his privileges and immunities and those of a member of his family forming part of his household or a member of his private staff shall normally cease at the moment when the person concerned leaves the receiving State or on the expiry of a reasonable period in which to do so, whichever is the sooner, but shall subsist until that time, even in case of armed conflict. In the case of the persons referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article, their privileges and immunities shall come to an end when they cease to belong to the household or to be in the service of a member of the consular post provided, however, that if such persons intend leaving the receiving State within a reasonable period thereafter, their privileges and immunities shall subsist until the time of their departure.

4. However, with respect to acts performed by a consular officer or a consular employee in the exercise of his functions, immunity from jurisdiction shall continue to subsist without limitation of time.

5. If a consular officer passes through or is in the territory of a third State, which has granted him a visa, if a visa was necessary, while proceeding to take up or return to his post or when returning to the sending State, the third State shall accord to him all immunities provided for by the other Articles of the present Convention as may be required to ensure his transit or return. The same shall apply in the case of any member of his family forming part of his household enjoying such privileges and immunities who are accompanying the consular officer or travelling separately to join him or to return to the sending State.

2. In circumstances similar to those specified in paragraph 1 of this Article, third States shall not hinder the transit through their territory of other members of the consular post or of members of their families forming part of their households.

3. Third States shall accord to official correspondence and to other official communications in transit, including messages in code or cipher, the same freedom and protection as the receiving State is bound to accord under the present Convention. 2. The consular premises shall not be used in any manner incompatible with the exercise of consular functions.

3. The provisions of paragraph 2 of this Article shall not exclude the possibility of offices of other institutions or agencies being installed in part of the building in which the consular premises are situated, provided that the premises assigned to them are separate from those used by the consular post. [THE] CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1952(ACT XXXII OF 1952)

[The text of the Act printed here is as on 1-3-1970.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Constitution recognises the power of High Courts to punish for contempts of them; but there is no specific provision of law which enables a High Court to exercise this power in respect of a contempt committed beyond its territorial jurisdiction. It is desirable that a High Court, as a Court of record, should be able to punish for contempt of itself and of Courts subordinate to it irrespective of whether the contempt is committed within or outside its territorial jurisdiction and irrespective of whether the alleged contemner is for the time being at a place within or outside such jurisdiction. The Bill seeks mainly to achieve this object. Incidentally the Act is sought to be made applicable to Part B States also, the local laws on the subject being repealed"—Gaz. of Ind., 12-5-1951, Pt. II, Sec. 2, p. 344.

[THE] CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1952(ACT XXXII OF 1952)

[14th March, 1952.]

An Act to define and limit the powers of certain Courts in punishing contempts of Courts

Be it enacted by Parliament as follows:—

[°] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1951, Pt. II, Sec. 2, p. 344.

The Act has been extended to the Union Territory of Pondicherry by Reg. 7 of 1963 (1-10-1963).

Preamble — Note 1

(1) Contempt of Courts Act cannot be held nugatory on the ground of absence of a definition of the term "contempt". AIR 1954 Pat 203 (206) = 32 Pat 1069 = 1954 Cri L Jour 533 (DB)  AIR 1969 Delhi 201 (207) = 1969 Cri LJ 884 (FB)  1968 Ker LT 299 = 1968 Ker LJ 197 (FB)  AIR 1968 Ker 301 (309) = 1968 Cri LJ 1424 = 1968 Ker LT 157 (DB).

(2) Contempt of Courts Act does not put any unreasonable restriction on the fundamental rights of a citizen granted by Article 19 (1) (a) of the Constitution. AIR 1954 Pat 203 (206) = 32 Pat 1069 = 1954 Cri L Jour 533 (DB)  AIR 1969 Delhi 201 (206) = 1969 Cri LJ 884 (FB)  1968 Ker LT 299 = 1968 Ker LJ 197 (FB).

(3) Contempt of Courts Act is not violative of Article 19 (1) (a) of the Constitution merely because by practice the High Courts do not take evidence in contempt cases. The very nature and purpose of contempt proceedings require speedy disposal. Court is bound to consider contemner's affidavit and follow the principles. Contemner has ample safeguards. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 299

(311, 312) = 1967 Cri LJ 1470 = ILR (1968) Andh Pra 42 (DB).

(4) Procedure provided for the summary trial of the contempt of Court is not violative of Article 14. AIR 1968 Punj 217 (230) = 69 Pun LR 673 (FB).

(5) There is nothing invalid in practice and procedure followed in matters of contempt prior to Constitution on account of Article 21. AIR 1960 Pat 430 (440) = 1960 Cri LJ 1254 = 1960 BLJR 622 (FB).

(6) There is no inconsistency of any kind between the Contempt of Courts Act (1952) and Article 13 inasmuch as Article 19 (2) forms part of Part III of the Constitution itself. AIR 1960 Pat 430 (440) = 1960 Cri LJ 1254 = 1960 BLJR 622 (FB).

(7) Section 3 is not ultra vires the Constitution. AIR 1966 Bom 19 (29) = 1966 Cri LJ 9 = 67 Bom LR 380 (DB).

(8) Expression 'contempt of Court' though not statutorily defined, is not vague or indefinite. There is nothing unconstitutional in judicial determination by Courts as to the meaning of that expression. AIR 1969 Delhi 201 (206, 207) = 1969 Cri LJ 884 (FB).

1. Short title and extent.—(1) This Act may be called THE CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1952.

(2) It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

SECTION 1 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Essentials of contempt.
3. Scandalizing the Court.
4. Disobedience to orders of Court.
5. Interference with due course of justice in pending proceedings.
6. Comments and reports on pending cases.
7. Attempts to influence decision in pending cases.

1. Scope.— (1) The Contempt of Courts Act is not a codifying and consolidating Act — It creates no new powers but merely recognises the powers which already exist and seeks to define and limit them. AIR 1939 Oudh 131 (136, 137) = 14 Luck 492 = 40 Cri L Jour 421.

(2) The Contempt of Courts Act has been enacted in order to remove doubts which had arisen as to the powers of a High Court but does not imply that the Legislature recognised that no such power did in fact exist. AIR 1926 All 623 (632) = 48 All 711 (SB).

(3) The Act does not deal with the offence of contempt of Courts which is prejudicial to the security of the State. Hence a State legislation dealing with such a kind of special contempt cannot be struck down as being repugnant to this Act which is one passed by the Parliament. AIR 1956 Punj 169 (171) = ILR (1956) Punj 1146 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1015 (DB).

(4) The intention of contempt proceedings is solely not the enforcement of orders but to see that a person who has brought the authority and administration of law into disrespect is punished. (1968) Mad LJ (Cri) 766 = (1968) 2 Andh WR 587 (DB).

(5) The law of contempt of Court is a special law within the meaning of Section 41, I. P. C. Section 4 of that Act makes a contempt of Court punishable. Contempt of Court is, therefore, an offence within the meaning of Ch. IV of the I. P. C. and a defence such as, mistake of fact under Section 79, I. P. C. would be open. ILR (1968) 1 Ker 384 (406) = 1968 Ker LJ 197 (FB).

(6) A law which, after fair trial, punishes, out of public necessity, the great public mischief of obstructing the course of justice, cannot be regarded as an unreasonable restriction on the right of freedom of speech either with regard to its substance or with regard to the procedure by which it is enforced. It is, therefore, a valid law. ILR (1968) 1 Ker 384 (419) = 1968 Ker LJ 197 (FB).

2. Essentials of contempt.— (1) Contempts can be classified into two broad categories namely the criminal and civil contempts. AIR 1957 All 37 (43) = 1957 Cri L Jour 18 (DB)  1969 Ker LT 513 = 1969 Ker LJ 453 (DB)  AIR 1960 All 231 (234) = 1960 Cri LJ 442 = 1960 All LJ 247 (DB).

(2) Criminal contempt consisting of words or acts obstructing or tending to obstruct the administration of justice; and contempt in procedure consisting of disobedience to judgments, orders or process of Court and involving private injury. AIR 1953 Cal 627 (628) = 1953 Cri L Jour 1414 (DB).

(3) Except to the extent that certain forms of contempt in the face of the Court are described in Sections 175, 178, 179, 180 and 228, I. P. C., there is no statutory definition of the offence of contempt of Court although, of course, there is statutory recognition of such an offence in the Contempt of Courts Act, 1952. ILR (1968) 1 Ker 384 (404) = 1968 Ker LJ 197 (FB).

(4) Contempt is of two kinds: (a) that which interferes with the due course of justice and pollutes the stream of justice in so far as it concerns parties to a cause, as for instance, when comments are made on a pending case; (b) that which is calculated to bring a Judge into contempt or lower his authority or to interfere with the lawful process of the Court. AIR 1953 Orissa 33 (38) = 1953 Cri L Jour 349 (DB).

(5) A civil contempt is a failure to obey the order issued for the benefit of the opposite party and the principal object of action taken in respect of it is to secure the enforcement of the order. AIR 1951 Pat 443 (444) = 52 Cri L Jour 558 (DB)  AIR 1955 Mad 121 (129) = ILR (1955) Mad 1084 = 1955 Cri LJ 505 (DB)  AIR 1954 Orissa 167 (170) = ILR (1954) Cut 467 = 1954 Cri L Jour 988 (DB)  1964 (1) Cri LJ 449 (451) = 68 Cal WN 693 (DB)  (1961) 65 Cal WN 722 (DB).

(6) Disobedience of judgments and orders of the Court and breach of undertakings given to Courts come in the category of civil contempt. 1969 Ker LT 513 = 1959 Ker LJ 453 (DB).

(7) Contempts which are criminal consist in a conduct which offends the majesty of law and undermines the dignity of Court. AIR 1951 Pat 443 (444) = 52 Cri L Jour 558 (DB)  AIR 1954 Orissa 167 (170) = ILR (1954) Cut 467 = 1954 Cri L Jour 988 (DB).

(8) In a general way contempt of Court may be said to be constituted by any conduct that tends to bring the authority and administration of law into disrespect or disregard or to interfere with or prejudice parties to action or their witnesses during litigation — Unfailing criterion is whether or not there has been an interference or a tendency to interfere with administration of justice. AIR 1970 Mad 14 (16) (DB)  AIR 1969 Delhi 291 (293) (DB).

(9) There can be no comprehensive or final definition of what would constitute contempt of Court; but any conduct which has the effect of diminishing the prestige and authority of the Court, which is likely to lower the esteem of the Court in the minds of the public and which gives an impression that, with impunity, the orders of the High Court could be disobeyed by mere stratagem or contrivance, would certainly amount to contempt. (1969) Mad LW (Cri) 25 (27, 28) (DB).

(10) The gravamen of the offence of contempt is the interference or the likelihood of interference with the course of justice. AIR 1935 Cal 419 (435) = 36 Cri LJ 1053 (FB)  AIR 1958 Punj 377 (381) = ILR (1958) Punj 1723 = 1958 Cri LJ 1225  AIR 1958 Punj 273 (282) = ILR (1958) Punj 1272 = 1958 Cri L Jour 952  AIR 1956 Andhra 84 (86) = ILR (1955) Andhra 545 = 1956 Cri L Jour 475 (DB)  AIR 1956 Sau 102 (103) = 1956 Cri L Jour 1355 (DB)  AIR 1955 Pat 135 (138) = 1955 Cri L Jour 520 (DB)  AIR 1962 Ker 52 (54, 55) = 1962 (1) Cri LJ 336 = 1961 Ker LT 608 (DB).

(11) Contempt jurisdiction is reserved and exercised for what essentially brings the administration of justice into contempt or unduly weakens it, as distinguished from a wrong that might be inflicted on a private party by infringing a decretal order of Court. AIR 1970 Mad 14 (16) (DB).

(12) Acts which are calculated to interfere with the course of justice including libels or insults to Judges and publications prejudicing the fair conduct of proceedings fall within the category of criminal contempts. AIR 1955 Mad 121 (129) = ILR (1955) Mad 1084 = 1955 Cri L Jour 505 (DB)  AIR 1969 Pat 140 (144) = 1969 Cri LJ 631 = 1968 Pat LJR 589  AIR 1965 Mad 415 (415, 416) = 1965 (2) Cri LJ 371 = (1965) 1 Mad LJ 322 (DB)  AIR 1961 Pat 217 (221, 222) = 1961 (1) Cri LJ 698 = 1961 BLJR 331 (DB)  1964 (1) Cri LJ 449 (451) = 68 Cal WN 693 (DB)  (1961) 65 Cal WN 722 (DB). (Entry upon land in disobedience of order of injunction.)

(13) Any act which is calculated to disturb the confidence of the public in the unquestioned effectiveness of the orders of the Court even against the highest executive authority is contempt of Court. AIR 1953 Orissa 33 (38) = 1953 Cri L Jour 349 (DB).

(14) Altercation in the Chambers of the Munsiff-Magistrate between Advocate and Court clerk S—Held that it was no more than a mere small tiff of which no one should have taken any serious notice S.'s complaint demonstrates that what next happened in the Court hall was a mere verbal wrangle when the Court was not in session. Such small skirmishes through which there is no 'deposing of the authority, justice or dignity of the Court', do not constitute contempt of Court. (1969) MLJ (Cri) 659 (661) (Mys) (DB).

(15) Obstruction to justice must be understood in a very wide sense and it would amount to contempt. — It would include even anything done to prevent the police from investigating into a complaint regarding an offence or the subsequent Magisterial enquiry into the complaint. AIR 1955 All 638 (653) = ILR (1956) 2 All 470 = 1955 Cri L Jour 1451 (DB).

(16) Actual obstruction to or interference with the course of justice is not necessary to constitute an act or conduct into a contempt — It is enough if the act or conduct in question is calculated to do so or is likely to have that effect. (21) Contempt is an offence not because of its capacity to cause damage to the party but because of its adverse effects to the cause of justice itself. AIR 1953 All 153 (157) = 1953 Cri L Jour 402.

AIR 1955 Andhra 156 (159) = ILR (1955) Andhra 57 = 1955 Cri L Jour 1028 (DB).

(24) A person cannot be prosecuted for committing contempt of Court if he is instrumental in the breach of a convention which is against the law for, such a convention creates no legal obligation and cannot bind parties — Wrong information supplied by a party to his counsel with a view to secure wrongful gain cannot per se be declared to be contempt of Court. (6) Contempt is not confined to cases which directly interfere with the administration of justice in pending cases. If witnesses are prevented from giving evidence by dissuading or frightening them, it is contempt. Publications which have a tendency to poison the minds of the general public and threaten witnesses or parties would make the atmosphere impossible for administration of justice. Mobilising public opinion for or against parties to pending cases would certainly interfere with the administration of justice. 1969 Ker LT 513 (518) = 1969 Ker LJ 453 (DB).

An editor takes the responsibility for all that is published in the newspaper. Editing, printing and publishing of newspapers and making speeches have to be done prudently and cautiously with a full sense of responsibility. It is no excuse for the editor to say that he had no knowledge of the contents. (7) Writing recommendatory letter to a judicial officer about the facts of a case is a communication for the purpose of influencing his decision and hence amounts to a high contempt of Court. AIR 1953 SC 185 (187) = 1953 SCR 581 = ILR (1953) 2 All 904 = 1953 Cri L Jour 911.

(8) When a person communicates to a Judge his opinion or decision on the facts of a case, which is sub judice, it constitutes contempt and his motive in so communicating is irrelevant. AIR 1955 Andhra 156 (161) = ILR (1955) Andhra 57 = 1955 Cri L Jour 1028 (DB).

(13) When there is no judicial proceeding pending, a letter written to a Magistrate requesting him to take steps in his executive capacity for ensuring peaceful celebration of certain ceremonies likely to be obstructed by certain persons not containing any prayer to bind over such persons, does not amount to contempt of Court. 2. Definition.—In this Act, “High Court” means the High Court for [a State], and includes the Court of the Judicial Commissioner in a †[Union territory]*.

[°] Substituted for “a Part A State or a Part B State”, by 3 A. L. O., 1956.

[†] Substituted for “Part C State”, ibid.

[Note.—There are only 3 Judicial Commissioners’ Courts at present: (1) Manipur, (2) Tripura, and (3) Goa, Daman and Diu. Two Union Territories, Delhi and Himachal Pradesh, have a common High Court, i.e., Delhi High Court, established from 31-10-1966.]

3. Power of High Court to punish contempts of subordinate Courts.—(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), every High Court* shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, powers and authority, in accordance with the same procedure and practice, in respect of contempts of Courts subordinate to it as it has and exercises in respect of contempts of itself.

Section 2 — Note 1

(1) The common High Court of Punjab and Haryana is a High Court for the State of Punjab, a High Court for the State of Haryana and a High Court for the Union Territory of Chandigarh and thus it is within the definition of the expression ‘High Court’ in Section 2 and is competent to proceed with the proceedings for contempt of subordinate Court in Haryana. In view of Section 13 (2) of the General Clauses Act, 1897 the words ‘a State’ in Section 2 can be read as States. AIR 1968 Punj 217 [231] = 69 Punj LR 673 (FB).

1. Power of High Court to punish contempts — Inherent powers. — (1) The power of a High Court to institute proceedings for contempt and punish where necessary is a special jurisdiction which is inherent in all Courts of Record. AIR 1954 SC 186 (187) = 1954 SCR 454 = 1954 Cri L Jour 460  AIR 1957 All 37 (41, 42) = 1957 Cri L Jour 18 (DB)  AIR 1955 All 638 (640) = ILR (1956) 2 All 470 = 1955 Cri L Jour 1451 (DB)  AIR 1955 Orissa 36 (40) = ILR (1955) Cut 204 = 1955 Cri LJ 547 (DB)  ILR (1946) 2 Cal 499 (506)  AIR 1945 Oudh 266 (267) = 20 Luck 442 = 47 Cri LJ 294 (DB).

(2) Power of High Court to punish for contempt is to safeguard dignity of Courts and to create an atmosphere in which judges can dispense justice with equal hand and fearlessly perform functions which they are called upon to discharge. AIR 1969 Delhi 319 (320) (DB).

(3) The power to punish for contempt which is inherent in the very nature and purpose of Courts of justice may be exercised in civil or criminal cases or independently of both and either solely for the preservation of the authority of the Court or in aid of the rights of the litigant or for both these purposes combined. AIR 1957 Pat 528 (533) = 36 Pat 955 = 1957 Cri LJ 1156.

(4) Powers which the High Court has as a court of record in relation to contempt are powers exercisable by one or more judges of the court and not merely or only by all the judges sitting together. AIR 1959 Bom 182 (187) = 1959 Cri LJ 567 = 60 Bom LR 873 (DB).

(5) The inherent power of the High Court to punish contempt is in no way diminished or restricted by the Code of Civil or Criminal Procedure. ILR (1937) 1 Cal 345 (354).

(6) No notion of the liberty of the press can stand in the way of the inherent power of Court to punish any publication which amounts to contempt. Article 19 (2) of the Constitution makes it clear that reasonable restrictions could be imposed on the fundamental right to freedom of speech and expression, inter

(2) No High Court shall take cognizance of a contempt alleged to have been committed in respect of a Court subordinate to it where such contempt is an offence punishable under the Indian Penal Code.

Power to punish its own contempt.

(7) The power of the High Court to commit for any contempt of itself is an inherent power and it arises from the fact that it is a Court of Record. AIR 1930 Cal 759 (760) = 58 Cal 458 = 32 Cri LJ 352 (DB)  AIR 1942 Lah 105 (107) = ILR (1942) Lah 411 = 43 Cri LJ 599 (FB)  AIR 1957 Hyd 17 (17) = ILR (1956) Hyd 468 (DB)  AIR 1952 Ajmer 33 (33) = 1952 Cri LJ 1234  AIR 1951 Vindh Pra 14 (16)  AIR 1959 Cal 106 (108, 109, 110) = 1959 Cri LJ 172 (DB)  AIR 1959 Bom 182 (186, 187) = 1959 Cri LJ 567 = 60 Bom LR 873 (DB).

(8) The Contempt of Courts Act, whether the one of 1926 or the one of 1952 which repealed it, should not be interpreted as conferring any new jurisdiction on the High Courts, but must be taken as having assumed the existence of such jurisdiction even from before. At least in so far as the power of the High Court in relation to contempt of itself has been vested in the High Courts by the Constitution itself the new Act cannot be interpreted to have taken away that jurisdiction and conferred it again on the High Courts by virtue of its own authority. AIR 1954 SC 186 (190) = 1954 SCR 454 = 1954 Cri LJ 460.

(9) The inherent power which the High Court possesses to commit for contempt of itself is ancillary to the exercise of its various jurisdictions and it may be expedient to exercise it in or in relation to any one of those jurisdictions. AIR 1930 Cal 759 (760) = 58 Cal 458 = 32 Cri LJ 352 (DB).

Power to punish contempts of subordinate Courts.

(10) Before the Contempt of Courts Act of 1926 was passed the High Courts in matters of contempt possessed the same jurisdiction as the King's Bench in England and as such could punish contempts of the inferior Courts. AIR 1955 Andhra 156 (159) = ILR (1955) Andhra 57 = 1955 Cri LJ 1028 (DB)  AIR 1922 Bom 52 (62) = 46 Bom 592 = 23 Cri LJ 177 (DB). (Per Mac Leod, C. J.)

(11) A High Court is a Court of Record and as such has an inherent power and authority to protect its subordinate Courts from interference with the course of justice administered by them, in any way which may be necessary. AIR 1939 Oudh 131 (139) = 14 Luck 492 = 40 Cri LJ 421 (FB)  AIR 1952 Ajmer 33 (33) = 1952 Cri LJ 1234  AIR 1952 Kutch 74 (76) = 1952 Cri LJ 1482.

(12) High Court cannot deal with matters alleged to be of contempt of the Supreme Court. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 299 (305) = 1967 Cri LJ 1470 = ILR (1968) Andh Pra 42 (DB).

(13) The applicability or otherwise of the Contempt of Courts Act to a superior Court of Record does not affect its right to exercise the power which is inherent in every superior Court of Record to punish contempts of Courts subordinate to it. AIR 1951 Vindh Pra 14 (16).

(14) The Contempt of Courts Act only gives a statutory recognition to the already existing inherent powers of the High Courts to punish contempts of subordinate Courts also. AIR 1957 Hyd 17 (17) = ILR (1956) Hyd 468 (DB)  AIR 1939 Oudh 131 (139) = 14 Luck 492 = 40 Cri L Jour 421 (FB)  AIR 1955 Andhra 156 (159) = ILR (1955) Andhra 57 = 1955 Cri L Jour 1028 (DB).

(15) Article 215 of the Constitution which vests in the High Court all the powers of a Court of Record including the power to punish for contempt of itself does not limit the powers which the High Court possessed before to punish contempts of subordinate Courts either as a superior Court of Record or under the Contempt of Courts Act of 1926 which has been replaced by the present Act of 1952. AIR 1953 All 342 (345) = ILR (1953) 1 All 796 = 1953 Cri LJ 733  AIR 1950 All 556 (558) = ILR (1952) 1 All 131 = 52 Cri LJ 1062 (FB)  AIR 1960 Pat 430 (442, 443, 444, 445, 446) = 1960 Cri LJ 1254 = 1960 BLJR 622 (FB)  AIR 1964 Cal 572 (582, 583) = 1964 (2) Cri LJ 660 = 69 Cal WN 82 (DB)  AIR 1959 Bom 182 (187) = 1959 Cri LJ 567 (DB).

(16) The inherent power of the High Court to punish contempts of subordinate Courts and tribunals has not been touched by Article 227 of the Constitution, just as such power was left untouched by Section 15 of the High Courts Act of 1861 which Article 227 replaced. AIR 1955 Mad 1 (18) = ILR (1955) Mad 1 = 1955 Cri LJ 1 (FB).

(17) Contempt of Court is contempt of the authority of the sovereign State exercised through its Courts duly constituted for the administration of justice and the power which the High Court exercises to punish contempt of itself and the Courts and tribunals subordinate to it is the power of the sovereign State. AIR 1955 Mad 1 (20) = ILR (1955) Mad 1 = 1955 Cri LJ 1 (FB).

(18) It is open to the Parliament of India which exercises the sovereign authority of the State in the legislative field to provide specifically for the exercise of the power of the sovereign State to punish contempts of any specified classes of Courts or tribunals. AIR 1955 Mad 1 (20) = ILR (1955) Mad 1 = 1955 Cri LJ 1 (FB).

(19) Where a subordinate tribunal can protect itself or when any statutory provision is made for its protection from contempts the High Court cannot invoke its inherent powers to punish contempt of that tribunal. AIR 1955 Mad 1 (20) = ILR (1955) Mad 1 = 1955 Cri LJ 1 (FB).

(20) Subordinate Courts which are not Courts of Record have no power to entertain proceedings in contempt. AIR 1943 Nag 334 (334) = 45 Cri LJ 407.

(21) Apart from there being inherent jurisdiction in the High Court to punish for contempt of subordinate Courts such jurisdiction has now been expressly conferred upon them by the Contempt of Courts Act in all cases of contempts other than those which amount to an offence under the Penal Code. AIR 1935 All 117 (118) = 57 All 573 (DB)  AIR 1953 All 419 (430, 431) = ILR (1953) 1 All 84 = 1953 Cri LJ 943  AIR 1952 All 86 (87)  AIR 1951 All 667 (674) = ILR (1951) 2 All 521 = 52 Cri LJ 984 (2) (DB).

(22) The absence of a definition for the term 'Contempt of Court' either in this Act or the Constitution creates in no way any difficulty in the High Court exercising the power conferred by them to punish contempts of subordinate Courts. Since the term had long since been judicially interpreted both in England and in this Country it is reasonable to assume that it has been used in that sense both in the Act and the Constitution. AIR 1955 Orissa 36 (42) = ILR (1955) Cut 204 = 1955 Cri LJ 547 (DB).

(23) That the Court or tribunal in relation to the proceedings in which the contempt was committed has ceased to exist, does not deprive the High Court of its power to punish the contempt. AIR 1955 Mad 1 (21, 22) = ILR (1955) Mad 1 = 1955 Cri LJ 1 (FB).

(24) The High Court of Jammu and Kashmir has a statutory power given to it by the Constitution of the State itself to punish contempts of itself as well as any Court subordinate to it. AIR 1955 J and K 30 (31) = 1955 Cri LJ 1595 (FB).

2. Subordination of Courts.— (1) The expression "Courts subordinate to the High Courts" would prima facie mean the Courts of law subordinate to the High Courts in the hierarchy of Courts established for the purpose of administration of justice throughout the Union. AIR 1956 SC 66 (69) = 1955-2 SCR 955 = 35 Pat 65 = 1956 Cri LJ 156  AIR 1968 Madh Pra 253 (254) = 1968 MPLJ 354 (DB)  AIR 1968 Madh Pra 232 (233) = 1968 Cri LJ 1433 = 1968 MPLJ 507 (DB)  1964 (1) Cri LJ 362 (364) (All). (AIR 1956 All 258, Rel. on.)

(2) For the purposes of this section the position of the subordinate Court must be considered in its totality in relation to the High Court and not with reference to a particular Act or provision of law under which it may be acting at the time its contempt has been committed. AIR 1953 All 419 (433) = ILR (1953) 1 All 84 = 1953 Cri LJ 943.

(3) Chapter VI of the Constitution is not exhaustive of the Courts which are subordinate to the High Court much less does the provision apply to the interpretation of the expression as used in the Act. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 115 (116) = 1960 Cri LJ 484 = 1959 MPLJ 1139 (DB).

(4) Subordination contemplated by the Act is not the subjection to the mere administrative control of the High Court. AIR 1950 All 556 (558) = ILR (1952) 1 All 131 = 52 Cri LJ 1062 (FB).

[See also AIR 1956 All 258 (266) = ILR (1956) 1 All 656 = 1956 Cri LJ 679 (DB).]

(5) The subordination contemplated by the Act is judicial subordination. AIR 1950 All 556 (558) = ILR (1952) 1 All 131 = 52 Cri LJ 1062 (FB)  AIR 1956 All 258 (266) = ILR (1956) 1 All 656 = 1956 Cri L Jour 679 (DB)  AIR 1955
